Section 17 was read, as follows :

SEC. 17. There shall be but one form of civil action, and law and equity may be administered in the same action, in Courts of Record.

Mr. BANKS. What is the object of those words "in Courts of Record?" They are not contained in the old Constitution.

Mr. BROSNAN. I move to strike out those words. They were not in the original section, but for some reason they were added in committee.

Mr. KENNEDY. I would like to have those words left in, to keep certain blockheads, who are Justices of the Peace, from undertaking to administer equity. They do try it sometimes, down in Lyon County.

The question was taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Brosnan, and on a division the vote was—ayes, 8; noes, 4.

The CHAIRMAN. I think that is rather too light a vote.

Mr. DELONG. The idea of incorporating these words, it strikes me, is this: We have expressly declared already that the District Courts shall have original jurisdiction in all cases in equity, and in all cases at law where the amount involved exceeds the sum of three hundred dollars; and now this section provides that law and equity may be administered in the same action, but only in Courts of Record. The object simply is to prohibit any attempt at administering equity by Justices of the Peace.

The CHAIRMAN. It seems to me very proper.

Mr. BANKS. This is merely the report of the Judiciary Committee. They conceived that those words were necessary to be incorporated, and they have added to the original section these words—"in Courts of Record." Now I do not pretend, as was intimated this morning, to be a lawyer, but I know that equity and law are not so clearly defined as to admit of the use of such words as are contained in this section.

The question was again taken on the amendment to strike out the words "in Courts of Record," and upon a division the vote was—ayes, 5; noes, 11. So the amendment was not agreed to.

Mr. DELONG. I move that the gentleman from Humboldt (Mr. Banks) be added to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. BANKS. I second the motion.

Mr. DELONG. I withdraw it.

Mr. BANKS. I withdraw the second. [Merriment.]

No further amendment being offered—

SALARIES OF JUDGES.

Section 18 was read, as follows :

SEC. 18. The Justices of the Supreme Court, District Judges and County Judges, in counties wherein such officers shall have been elected, as provided for in this Constitution, shall each receive quarterly, for their services, a compensation to be fixed by the Legislature, and which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which they shall have been elected. And the Legislature shall provide for setting apart from each year's revenue a sufficient amount of money to pay such compensation; provided, that District Judges and County Judges shall be paid out of the county treasuries of their respective districts and counties.

Mr. NOURSE. I move to amend by striking out of the section all relating to County Judges, so that it will read :

"SEC. 18. The Justices of the Supreme Court, and District Judges, shall each receive quarterly, for their services, a compensation," etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. NOURSE. It seems to me that there was some provision adopted elsewhere in the Constitution, in regard to salaries. I may be at fault in regard to that. This section, however, seems to contemplate that the compensation shall be fixed by the Legislature. If so, I think there is a conflict.

Saturday,] KENNEDY—NOURSE—BANKS—BROSAN—LOCKWOOD—DELONG—DUNNE. [July 23.

The CHAIRMAN. The previous action of the Convention has only been to fix the salaries of the first incumbents. No provision has been made further than that.

Mr. KENNEDY. I suggest that we strike out, at the end of the section, the words "and counties."

Mr. NOURSE. I think it would be better to amend the last clause, so as to read "out of the county treasuries of the counties comprising their respective districts." I will make that motion. Then the proviso will read:

"Provided, That District Judges shall be paid out of the county treasuries of the counties composing their respective districts."

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

No further amendment being offered, the section, as amended, was adopted.

SPECIAL COURT FEES.

Section 19 was read, as follows:

SEC. 19. The Legislature, at its first session, shall prescribe that upon the institution of each action, and other proceeding, and also upon the perfecting of an appeal in any action or proceeding, in the several Courts of Record in this State, a special court fee or tax, to be fixed by law, shall be advanced to the clerks of said courts respectively, by the party or parties bringing such action or proceeding, or taking such appeal; and the money so paid in shall be accounted for by such clerks, and applied towards the payment of the compensation of the judges of said courts, as shall be directed by law.

Mr. BANKS. I move to strike out the words "at its first session," in the first line. It seems to me those words would imply that after the first session the Legislature could not pass a law of this character, or do anything in regard to it. I see no necessity for using such words. If it reads "the Legislature shall prescribe," and so on, it is all that is necessary.

Mr. BROSAN. The object was, if I understand the idea of the committee, to require the Legislature to do this at the first session; not to inhibit the Legislature from passing such a law afterwards.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I propose to strike out "shall," and insert "may." Then, if we find that the plan does not work well, or if the State shall become so prosperous that it is no longer necessary, the tax may be dispensed with.

Mr. BANKS. Is it the opinion of the Committee on the Judiciary that this language would not, by implication, prevent legislation on the subject, after the first session?

Mr. BROSAN. I understand it to be so.

Mr. DELONG. I guess no question was raised on the subject in the committee. I should be a little inclined to the opinion that in whatever manner it might be fixed at the first session it would have to remain—that it could not afterwards be changed.

Mr. NOURSE. Could not a subsequent Legislature repeal the law?

Mr. DELONG. Yes, sir; but it would not be authorized under the Constitution to pass another statute on the subject. Any law could be repealed, but here it says the Legislature shall at its first session pass an act providing for a certain tax. What is the inference? Why, the passage of that act exhausts the whole power conferred on the Legislature. That is my construction.

Mr. NOURSE. That would be so, if the Legislature depended upon this wording as a grant of power; but I take it the true doctrine is that the Legislature has power over all proper subjects of legislation, and the power here given to pass such a law at its first session, is merely designed to compel such legislation, and it does not have the effect to prevent a subsequent repeal or modification of the law. I think nobody will deny that without a provision like this, the Legislature might establish a docket fee by law. Now the gentleman from Storey (Mr. DeLong) admits that it does not prevent a repeal, at the second session, and if that is the case there is nothing to prevent the Legislature from reënacting it at the third session.

Mr. BROSAN. I cannot assent to the views stated by my colleague (Mr. DeLong.)

Mr. DELONG. I will qualify my position a little, if you will allow me. I will say that it does not operate as a mandatory provision, after the first session.

Mr. NOURSE. That is so.

Mr. BROSAN. Then we shall have no disagreement on the subject. Now, as has been said before, the Legislature of a State has absolute power in regard to the regulation of its policy, by the enactment of laws. Its power is absolute in all cases except one. The language of the law writers is that the Legislature is omnipotent. It has power to pass all laws, unless in a case where it is inhibited by express written Constitutions, except that if the Legislature pass a law against natural justice it is not held to be valid. Now I say that the intent and meaning of this language under consideration, as I understand it, and as I did understand it when it was before the Judiciary Committee, is this: conceiving and holding as I do that the Legislature has power to make these regulations always coëxtensive with its existence, the words "at its first session" were inserted ex industria—out of abundance of caution—for the sake of compelling the Legislature to do it at the first session. That is the way I understand it, and whether those words were in or out, the Legislature would still have that power.

Mr. DUNNE. It is now but three minutes before five o'clock, and in order that we may be able to finish this article now, I move that the Committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again. I make the motion for the purpose of extending the time for taking a recess.

Saturday.]

DUNNE—DELONG—WETHERILL—NOURSE.

[July 23.]

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to; and the committee accordingly rose.

IN CONVENTION.

The SECRETARY reported that the Committee of the Whole had had under consideration Article VI, entitled Judicial Department, had made some progress therein, and had instructed him to ask leave to sit again.

The report was accepted, and leave was granted accordingly.

Mr. DUNNE (at two minutes before five o'clock) moved that the time for taking the recess be extended until half-past five o'clock.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

Mr. DUNNE. I move that the Convention resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for the further consideration of Article VI.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

Mr. DELONG. I rise to a point of order, that the time for recess has arrived.

The PRESIDENT. It is not well taken.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE—JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

The Convention accordingly resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, (Mr. DUNNE in the chair,) and resumed consideration of Article VI, entitled Judicial Department.

SPECIAL COURT FEES—AGAIN.

Section 19 was again read.

Mr. DELONG. I do not know but it is essential to amend this section by incorporating a provision directing the manner in which the money paid in shall be accounted for.

The CHAIRMAN. The question now is upon the amendment offered by the gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Banks,) to strike out the words "at its first session."

Mr. DELONG. Then I suppose it is in order to move a further amendment. It is proper, of course, that the money to be paid in to the District Courts, shall be applied to the payment of the salaries of the District Judges; and the money paid in to the Supreme Court clerk ought to go into the State treasury, and be set apart for the salaries of the Supreme Court judges; and the clerks should be required to account for the moneys they receive. There ought to be some provision as to when they should pay it, and to whom.

The CHAIRMAN. The first question is on the amendment to strike out the words "at its first session."

Mr. WETHERILL. I hope that will not be adopted. The fact is, we want the first Legislature to make this provision. That is the time we need it.

The question was taken on the amendment proposed by Mr. Banks, and it was not agreed to.

Mr. NOURSE. It appears to me that the word "and," in the second line, as printed, should be "or." I will move to make that amendment, so as to read: "upon the institution of each action, or other proceeding." etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

No further amendment being offered, the section, as amended, was adopted.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Section 20 was read, as follows:

SEC. 20. The Legislature shall have no power to grant leave of absence to a judicial officer, and any such officer who shall absent himself from the State for upwards of ninety consecutive days, shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

No amendment being offered, the section, as read, was adopted.

COURTS AND JUDICIAL OFFICERS CONTINUED.

Section 21 was read, as follows:

SEC. 21. In order that no inconvenience may result to the public service from the taking effect of this article, no judicial officer shall be superseded, nor shall the organization of the several courts be changed thereby, until the election and qualification of the several officers provided for in the same.

No amendment being offered, the section, as read, was adopted.

The SECRETARY was instructed, by unanimous consent, to re-number the several sections of the article.

JUSTICES' COURTS—AGAIN.

Mr. NOURSE. Would it now be in order to move an amendment to a previous section?

The CHAIRMAN. It would. The article having been read by sections, amendments generally are in order.

Mr. NOURSE. I wish to make a motion, then, in regard to Justices of the Peace. It will be an amendment to the section numbered 11 in the printed copy, now Section 8. I move to amend, by inserting after the words "duties and responsibilities," in the first sentence, the following language:

"Justices of the Peace shall have jurisdiction in all civil cases, wherein the amount in controversy does not exceed, exclusive of interest, the sum of three hundred dollars; and in all criminal cases, except where the offense charged amounts to felony."

Mr. DELONG. You had better say, "all civil cases at law."

Mr. NOURSE. Very well; I will accept that.

Mr. DELONG. I move to add "except as herein otherwise provided."

Mr. NOURSE. I will accept that also, if there is no objection. Now read it as modified.

The SECRETARY read the amendment, as modified, as follows:

"Justices of the Peace shall have jurisdiction in all civil cases at law, wherein the amount in controversy does not exceed, exclusive of interest, the sum of three hundred dollars, and in all criminal cases, except

Saturday.]

BROSNAN—NOURSE—COLLINS—DELONG.

[July 23.

where the offense charged amounts to felony, except as herein otherwise provided."

Mr. BROSNAN. Is it intended by this amendment that Justices of the Peace shall try misdemeanors, without the intervention of a jury, or an indictment?

Mr. NOURSE. I suppose the provision guaranteeing the right of trial by jury will secure that right, as a constitutional provision, in all cases.

Mr. BROSNAN. Does the gentleman intend that the Grand Jury shall send indictments to Justices' Courts?

Mr. NOURSE. I do not intend that, and I may not have given the subject consideration enough. I think the objection suggested by the gentleman from Storey is a good one.

Mr. BROSNAN. I suppose a Justice of the Peace has no jurisdiction to call a jury for the trial of an indictment.

Mr. NOURSE. I did not intend to give him such jurisdiction.

Mr. BROSNAN. I suppose the gentleman does not intend it, but I take it that the language of the amendment would tolerate that idea. There are many criminal acts that are not felonies, but only misdemeanors, and still they are subjects of indictment.

Mr. NOURSE. Suppose, then, we strike out of the amendment all relating to criminal cases, and leave only that which refers to civil cases.

Mr. BROSNAN. I have no objection to that.

Mr. COLLINS. I would inquire of the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, whether it is the design, by the provision in this section, to force parties into the District Courts, in litigations regarding real estate of merely a trifling value? I refer to that portion of the section which reads as follows:

"And further, that such Justices' Courts shall have no jurisdiction in the trial of cases wherein the title to real estate or mining claims, or the right of possession, is or may be involved."

Mr. BROSNAN. That is the intention.

Mr. COLLINS. Then I trust that the section will not be allowed to pass without very material amendment in that respect. I hope that some provision will be made by which a man may be enabled to collect a small debt, without expending twice as much as the amount of the debt for the costs of litigation. I hope some regard will be shown here to the interests of litigants, as well as the interests of lawyers. I will move to amend by substituting for the clause which I have just read, the following:

"And further, that such Justices' Courts shall have jurisdiction in all civil cases, except where the amount involved shall exceed in value the sum of three hundred dollars."

I wish to make a few remarks on this point, and I think they will be such as will commend themselves to the judgment of this body. There are in Storey County, and in most of the other counties, a great many lots of land and small mining claims. They have prospectively, in many cases, undoubtedly, great value; inasmuch that the men who own them would not take a large sum in exchange, but at their present actual valuation in the market, they would not, perhaps, be worth fifty dollars. Now I ask if it is just or proper, in the County of Storey, for example—and I refer to that county solely because I know more about the situation of property there than I do in other portions of the Territory—is it right or just, when an individual jumps a lot or claim so situated, and claims a right to it by possession, to force the owner to go as complainant into the District Court to seek for redress, where it will cost him probably four times as much money as the lot is worth, and where he is likely to be delayed one or two years, since this article has assumed the shape it has, before he can get a trial and judgment in his case? I ask if this is just towards that small class of litigants who surely ought to have some rights under the jurisdiction of this State Government? I am willing to admit that when the amount claimed is worth several thousands of dollars, a man may have a right to force the adverse parties into the District Court to respond; but it occurs to me that where the original amount involved does not exceed in value the sum of three hundred dollars, in justice to the parties who own those small lots and claims, we ought to provide for a cheaper jurisdiction, in these Justices' Courts; and here is the proper place to make such a provision. I hope the amendment will be adopted.

Mr. DELONG. For some reason, which I presume to be a wise one, every State has acted on this subject exactly as the Judiciary Committee proposes that we shall act at this time. They have conferred no power upon Justices' Courts, and this section confers no power, to try either the title or the right of possession to real estate. On the contrary, in every State it is provided that in cases of unlawful entry and forcible detainer, when it appears that the title to real estate must become involved, the case must be certified for trial up to the higher court. The universal concentration of opinion throughout all the States upon this subject, has resulted in a uniform expression, to the effect that Justices of the Peace should not try the right of possession of real estate, or the title to realty in any form.

Now there are certain reasons for this: Justices' Courts are not Courts of Record; they are courts instituted for the trial of cases involving small sums of money, or damages in small amounts, and their proceedings are not surrounded with that degree of dignity and solemnity which causes the judgments of a court to be referred to subsequently for the matters determined therein. It is a court where the pleadings need not be made in writing, where the allegations and answers may be stated orally, and not placed on any record, and where nearly all the formalities which are observed in the higher courts may be dispensed with. But in the trial of a cause involving realty, those matters are essential, because, though the realty may not at the time be worth three hundred dollars, yet, bye and bye, it may perhaps be worth a hundred thousand, and then the judgment rendered will become of great importance. Around the judgments of Justices of the Peace there are no vouchers of authenticity, and nothing to afford security for that future regard and respect which should be attached in the minds of all citizens to judgments of the courts practically affecting the title to real estate.

Saturday.]

BANKS—DELONG—MURDOCK—BROSNAN.

[July 23.]

I think the amendment would be a dangerous innovation upon past practice. And one thing is certain, that if we adopt it, we shall have to revise this whole article, because we have declared, for instance, in another and preliminary section, that the District Courts shall have original jurisdiction—

“In all cases in equity—also, in all cases at law—which involve the title to or the right of possession of real property, or mining claims, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, and in all other cases in which the demand (exclusive of interest) or the value of the property in controversy exceeds three hundred dollars.”

Now if we adopt the proposed amendment in this section, we shall have to go back and amend the other, and reconstruct the article, so as to render the whole harmonious with this provision. I could not, myself, support it in such a form.

Mr. BANKS. I have watched the progress of the consideration of this article with a good deal of interest; and, sir, it seems to me that I have observed a disposition to throw all the business possible into the District Courts, however trivial it may be, and leave as little as possible in the hands of the Justices of the Peace. I concede the correctness of the proposition of the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. DeLong,) that all matters involving the title to real estate should be left with the District Courts, but I think we can very properly make a distinction between the right of occupying, and the title to real estate. For example, suppose that A enters upon B's property, not by process of law, but forcibly; why not leave the question of whether he did so enter or not to be decided by a Justice of the Peace? If, however, a matter involving the title to real estate appears in the case, then, like the gentleman from Storey, I would be in favor of transferring it to a Court of Record. When the simple question to be determined is—Did A go and enter upon the premises, and hold possession in a manner not according to law? I do not see why it cannot be left to a Justice of the Peace, and I would like to have that done.

Mr. DELONG. Then, if that is to be done, we have a few minutes ago declared a very great humbug.

Mr. MURDOCK. While speaking of the practices of other States, I will ask the gentleman from Storey (Mr. DeLong) if he is not aware of the fact that in California mining claims, and matters concerning them, are left to be regulated by the miners' meetings, and they have the right to dispose of them, and to dispossess those who do not conform to their rules, and can hold the possession? They have also often been levied upon and sold under justices' executions, issued from the offices of Justices of the Peace.

Mr. DELONG. In the mining communities they have frequently taken possession, but the exercise of such a power, on the part of Justices of the Peace, is not recognized by legislation.

Mr. BROSNAN. On the contrary, in California Justices of the Peace have jurisdiction in actions of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, and they have undertaken to exercise jurisdiction touching mining claims; but the Supreme Court has declared that notwithstanding jurisdiction was given them in cases of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, they could exercise no jurisdiction in respect to the possession of mining claims.

Mr. DELONG. That is the law there.

A MEMBER. Time!

Mr. DELONG. I hope I may be allowed a minute more.

The CHAIRMAN. If there is no objection, the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. DELONG. Now, sir, we have taken particular pains, as a committee, and the Convention has already ratified our action on that, to deprive Justices of the Peace of jurisdiction in cases of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, and for this reason—that if we give them such jurisdiction in this State, we shall find them clothed with authority to determine who shall have the immediate possession of property worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. You cannot limit the amount, for it goes to the form, and applies to anything where the entry is forcible and the detainer unlawful. I assure the gentleman from Humboldt (Mr. Banks) that there is no disposition on the part of the Committee to throw all the business we can into the District Courts. On the contrary, I was opposed, as well as some others, to the limitation of the jurisdiction of justices of the peace to three hundred dollars, and we reported the section without a limitation, against the remonstrance of those who wished to limit it. I had no objection to giving them jurisdiction to the extent of four hundred dollars, but the proposition to fix the limit at three hundred dollars finally prevailed, and I compromised by letting down to three hundred.

The question here is, Shall we give Justices of the Peace jurisdiction in cases affecting the title to realty, or not? The gentleman from Humboldt says he would like to give them jurisdiction in regard to the right of possession, outside of forcible entry and unlawful detainer; but the right of possession is title, because the right of possession is vested, either in some party holding the fee, or in a lessee. I say we have got to do the one thing or the other; we must either pass the section as we have it now, or adopt this amendment, and then go back and revise the whole article, because we have expressly taken away the jurisdiction of justices in forcible entry and unlawful detainer, and also in equity, so that this proposed change would necessitate corresponding changes throughout the whole article. I think the only proper place to try questions of possession, or title to realty, is in the District Court, because around the proceedings of that Court are thrown that degree of solemnity and perpetuity which alone can give character and standing to judicial decisions.

Saturday,] BANKS—DELONG—COLLINS—JOHNSON—CRAWFORD—KENNEDY—DUNNE, ETC. [July 23.

Mr. BANKS. Suppose a question arises in regard to a party holding possession of a house, possession having been obtained under a lease, and the lease having expired? Would you take that to the District Court?

Mr. DELONG. That would be a right of possession in common law. The case would depend upon the law in regard to landlords and tenants. Justices of the Peace have also jurisdiction in actions between landlords and tenants, but even that is by a special provision, and is contrary to the common law rule. If the tenant holds over, in violation of the provisions of his lease, under the common law the landlord must bring his action of ejectment. But, at present, under our Territorial Statutes, we have to proceed under the action of unlawful detainer.

Mr. COLLINS. I do not know really how we stand here in regard to the past, but it seems to me that we are not bound to follow in the gray footsteps of the past—that in framing this Constitution, and in organizing a new State, we are not bound to be governed and controlled by all the legal technicalities that have existed, or been established, in all the old States. I have great respect for the institutions of the past, whenever those institutions are such as to commend themselves to my judgment; but when I examine them fully and fairly, in the light of their bearing upon the rights of men, I think I have a right, and I believe it is the right of every other member, to pronounce upon them according to his convictions, regardless of the precedents of the past. I have yet to be made to understand clearly, Mr. Chairman, what peculiar sacredness there is about a mining claim, that although it may not be worth more than ten or fifteen dollars, yet all litigation in regard to it must be carried up to a District Court, with the increased expense necessarily attendant upon litigation in a higher court.

Mr. JOHNSON. I rise to a point of order, which is this, that the gentleman has exceeded his allotted time. I would not have raised the point under other circumstances, but the time for the recess is just at hand.

Mr. COLLINS. I thought I had one minute longer; nevertheless I yield the floor.

Mr. JOHNSON. I move that the committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again.

Mr. DELONG. I move, as an amendment, that we rise and recommend the passage of the article.

The question was taken on Mr. DeLong's motion, and it was not agreed to.

The question was taken on Mr. Johnson's motion, and it was agreed to; and the committee accordingly rose.

IN CONVENTION.

The PRESIDENT having resumed the chair, The CHAIRMAN reported that the Committee of the Whole had had under consideration Article VI, entitled Judicial Department, had made some progress therein, and had instructed him to ask leave to sit again.

The report was accepted, and leave was granted accordingly.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I move that the time for taking the recess be extended until six o'clock.

The question was taken, and, upon a division, the vote was—ayes, 2; noes not counted. So the motion was not agreed to.

Mr. KENNEDY. I move that we now take a recess until seven o'clock, P. M.

Mr. DELONG. I move that the Convention adjourn. That takes precedence, I believe.

Mr. KENNEDY. Then I move to amend so as to adjourn until seven o'clock this evening.

Mr. DUNNE. I rise to a point of order, and I will state it very slowly. [Merriment.] It is, that the motion of the gentleman from Storey (Mr. DeLong) cannot be in order, because the time for the recess has arrived.

The question was taken on Mr. DeLong's motion to adjourn, and, upon a division, the vote was—ayes, 8; noes, 10. So the motion was not agreed to.

The hour for the recess (half-past five o'clock) having arrived.

The PRESIDENT declared the Convention at recess until seven o'clock this evening.

— EVENING SESSION.

The Convention reassembled at seven o'clock, P. M., and was called to order by the President.

Mr. BELDEN. Inasmuch as there is no quorum present, I move that the Convention adjourn to meet at nine o'clock, Monday morning.

Mr. CHAPIN. Oh, no! I move a call of the House.

CALL OF THE HOUSE.

The motion to adjourn not being seconded—

The question was taken on Mr. Chapin's motion that there be a call of the House, and it was agreed to.

The roll was called, and the following members responded to their names: Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Crosman, Dunne, Frizell, Gibson, Hawley, Kennedy, Kinkead, Mason, Proctor, Tagliabue, Wetherill, and Mr. President—16.

On motion of Mr. CHAPIN, the Sergeant-at-

Saturday,]

CHAPIN—CHAIRMAN—JOHNSON—COLLINS.

[July 23.

Arms was directed to arrest and bring in members who were absent without leave.

Messrs. McClinton, Collins, Murdock, Crawford, DeLong, and Parker, severally appeared, stated their excuses, and were allowed to take their seats.

On motion of Mr. CHAPIN, (a quorum being in attendance,) further proceedings under the call were dispensed with.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Mr. CHAPIN. I move that the Convention go into Committee of the Whole for the further consideration of the Article on the Judicial Department.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

The Convention accordingly resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, (Mr. Chapin in the chair,) and resumed the consideration of Article VI, entitled Judicial Department.

JURISDICTION OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

The CHAIRMAN. The question before the committee is upon an amendment offered by the gentleman from Washoe, (Mr. Nourse,) to Section 8, relative to Justices of the Peace, the amendment being, as subsequently modified, to insert after the words "duties and responsibilities," the following :

"Justices of the Peace shall have jurisdiction in all civil cases at law, wherein the amount in controversy does not exceed, exclusive of interest, the sum of three hundred dollars, except as herein otherwise provided."

To that the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Collins) was understood to offer a further amendment;—the chair does not recollect the exact words.

Mr. JOHNSON. I hope the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Collins) will have an opportunity of concluding his remarks. He had the floor when the article was last under consideration, and I was under the necessity of calling him to order, because the time had nearly arrived for the recess.

The CHAIRMAN. If there is no objection, the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Collins) will have leave to proceed.

Mr. COLLINS. In order that I may have something to speak to, I suppose it is necessary that I should present my amendment in writing.

Mr. JOHNSON. There is no necessity of formally offering any amendment; the whole subject is open for consideration, under the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Washoe (Mr. Nourse.)

Mr. COLLINS. Mr. Chairman, we are now considering, in my estimation, one of the most important articles that has come before this body, and I am very sorry that it should have been among the last subjects presented for the action of the Convention, for it is a matter of too great moment to be passed by lightly. The whole of this article is comparatively novel in its leading features. There are a great many things in it which I heartily endorse, and there are some things in it which I consider unnecessarily hard upon the class of smaller litigants. The fact is, that our judicial system has been framed more with a view to providing for the trial and determination of important cases, than with regard to the much more numerous class of cases of an inferior grade.

My colleague, (Mr. DeLong,) for whose judgment upon all legal matters I entertain very great respect, has objected to my proposition to give jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace in cases affecting real estate, as well as other property, where the value in controversy does not exceed three hundred dollars, whether the title be involved or not; and he brings into the argument to sustain his opposition the old doctrine, which may pass current among unthinking men, which may be good enough for those who are willing to be governed by the authority of precedents, but which is not good among men who are in the habit of thinking for themselves; namely, that the proposition I have submitted is contrary to the usage of all the States in the Union. Well, let us admit that it is, for the sake of the argument—although I would prefer to have the gentleman demonstrate that fact, if it be a fact—yet what of it? Are we, here, bound to follow in the wake of other States? Why should not we show that we are possessed of some originality? Why may we not take hold of the usages of the past, analyze them, examine their constituent parts, and see of what they are made, why they have been established, and what the uses are to which they are put, and their value to society in the jurisprudence of one condition and stage of progress, as contrasted with the jurisprudence of another condition and another stage of progress.

Now my colleague talks about the sacredness and solemnity that must be thrown around the judicial system in respect to every thing which concerns the holding of title to, transferring and possessing of real estate. Sir, if the gentleman will examine the present system in regard to real estate, and then go back and compare it with the old baronial system of England, from which it sprung, and mark the periods when those larger estates gradually became absorbed, passing into the hands of tenants, and ultimately into the hands of freeholders, he will find that vast changes have been made in respect to the transferring of estates. The difference between the old system and that of the present day is as great as that between light and darkness, although the change has been so gradual that you may defy any man to point out the precise time when it happened. The system which was suited to one stage of social development was not such as was suited to the next stage, and consequently modifications and changes have been in progress up to the present day. The time was formerly when men might carry their title-deeds in their pockets, or keep them in secretaries, or in cases made expressly for the purpose; but in more modern times there has been introduced the system of recording, by which it is advertised to all men that A owns so and so, and B owns so and so, the system adapting itself to a more advanced stage of progress, and so lessening the difficulty, risk, and expense which was formerly attendant upon transfers of real estate. Thus progressive steps have been taken from time to time, until we have at present a system far better adapted to the wants of modern society than was the old baronial system, or even the modified system as it existed at later periods of time. There are books which tell us about the laws of primogeniture and entail, which were once fastened upon society, and even found their way to this continent, but which happily no longer exist among us.

Saturday,]

DELONG—COLLINS—TAGLIABUE—JOHNSON—MURDOCK.

[July 23.

Why, sir, there are a hundred, if not a thousand things, that have at one time or another been adopted and incorporated into State Constitutions, but from which, to-day, my colleague would shrink. It is but a few years since that it was scarcely tolerable anywhere to talk against the system of slavery. That institution was regarded as something too sacred, even to be named. Yet now we have a whole nation that from the Cimmerian darkness of slavery, has, by one elastic bound, vaulted into the broad light of universal emancipation. Then why cannot this one step in the march of improvement be taken? Why cannot the Legislature throw all the guards that are necessary around the inferior courts, even providing, if it is deemed advisable, that a judgment affecting title to lands shall be entered upon the books of the Recorder? We can leave it in the power of the Legislature to throw all the guards that are necessary around such proceedings, so as to insure all the sacredness and solemnity that gentlemen may desire. I believe the Legislature already has full power to meet the exigency, and were I a member of a legislative body, I think I would find no difficulty in framing such a law.

But this is what I regard as the important point: Why should we take from the smaller courts all the business of any importance, and carry it up to the higher courts, where the expense and time involved is so great as to be virtually a denial of justice to the parties litigant? I am speaking now in regard to suits for small houses and lots, such as may be worth perhaps no more than two hundred, two hundred and fifty, or three hundred dollars. If I own such a house or lot, and another man claim it, though he may have no title whatever, must I be forced, in order to defend my right, to carry the matter up to the higher court, there to wait two years, perhaps, before it is reached, and to pay in costs of litigation four times as much, it may be, as the property is worth? I ask if gentlemen would impose such a burden upon the poorer classes of the community, whenever they desire to go into the courts to seek for justice?

Mr. DELONG. Does the gentleman wish to incorporate a provision giving jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace in forcible entry and unlawful detainer, where the amount involved is not worth more than three hundred dollars? Or does he desire to allow them to have jurisdiction in all cases where the value is not over three hundred dollars?

Mr. COLLINS. I claim that jurisdiction should be given to Justices' Courts upon all questions affecting the right of property, of any kind, where the value does not exceed three hundred dollars.

Mr. DELONG. You mean in actions at law?

Mr. COLLINS. Certainly. I see no reason why, if a justice is capable of deciding in an action of assumpsit, he may not also take the testimony and balance evenly the scales of justice in an action of this kind. If he can decide justly between man and man in the one case, he can in the other. If I bring suit for a horse, the title may be as complicated as it would be for a house or lot, and yet if the horse does not exceed three hundred dollars in value, the matter may pass in review before a Justice of the Peace, and no one complains. I would like to understand what the distinction is between a horse, and a house, or lot, of the same value. At the present time it is in accordance with the genius of our institutions that every possible inducement should be held out to encourage our citizens in the securing of homesteads, in town lots and farms, because just in proportion as they become interested in the soil do they manifest a permanent interest in the State.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I rise to a question of order, that the gentleman has exceeded his time. He has spoken twelve minutes already.

Mr. JOHNSON. But my motion was to give him sufficient time to conclude his remarks, and it was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. COLLINS. I do not wish to bore the Convention. I will now offer my amendment, and ask to have it read.

The SECRETARY read as follows:

Resolved, That Section 8, of Article VI, be referred to the Judiciary Committee, with instructions to so change the same as to give Justices of the Peace jurisdiction in all cases where the amount or the value of the property involved does not exceed three hundred dollars, including the title to, and the possession of, real estate and mining claims.

Mr. DELONG. I suppose you mean the title, and also the right of possession.

Mr. COLLINS. That was handed to me, and I accept it in place of my amendment.

Mr. MURDOCK. I do not know as I would be able to go quite so far as my friend from Storey (Mr. Collins) in relation to extending the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace; but this one thing I have learned from experience, that men of the legal profession, and legislators, who are profound jurists, and see much further than I can, sometimes fail to apply their rules of law practically to the actions of men: and the people are sometimes losers by having too much of law and legislation. I am in favor of giving to Justices of the Peace a sufficient amount of power and jurisdiction. I would like to go so far as to give them jurisdiction in the matter of the right of possession and leasehold, and full jurisdiction in regard to all property, where the jurisdiction of the higher court would not reach the same property.

Saturday.]

TAGLIABUE—MURDOCK—FRIZELL.

[July 23.

I recollect the time of the first discovery of gold in California, when the subject was agitated in that State, as to what course ought to be adopted by Congress, or by the Legislature, to regulate the right of possession of mining claims, and I know it was finally agreed upon by the people of California that the proper way was to leave it to the people living in the mines, and consequently knowing better than anybody else their own wants and necessities, to make such rules and regulations as they required, in order to govern themselves. This the mining people did, and I believe I was one among the first of them. I was not learned and able in the law, but I have since had about ten years experience myself, in one way or another, either as a defendant or plaintiff, and I have associated with lawyers so much that if I had been an apt scholar, I might, in fact, have become a good lawyer, without any reading. But, to my sorrow, I have sometimes come across thick, muddy-brained lawyers, that could not apply their legal knowledge to the actions of men in every-day life.

I hope that in this article we shall so arrange the matter of jurisdiction that in small cases men may obtain justice without incurring great expense. There are a great many small cases coming up, as everybody knows, in little communities, in which it would be a great burden to compel the parties to go to a higher court than that of a Justice of the Peace. If we give them jurisdiction in all cases under three hundred dollars, then anybody who is dissatisfied with a decision of a Justice's Court, may take his appeal. We may however get Justices of the Peace intelligent enough to make a correct decision where the case is plain and simple, and when we get such a man, he may entertain hopes afterwards of being chosen to sit on the bench of the higher court. I know that if he should happen to be such a man his elevation would not expand his brain much, but still it would give him more power by enlarging his jurisdiction. All I want is the adoption of some provision for the cheap and speedy disposition of these small cases which so frequently arise. For instance: A owes B fifty or a hundred dollars, and B has no way of getting it, perhaps, except by attaching A's property. In such a case he ought not to be compelled to go to the District Court.

I know of instances in my county, where, in consequence of having no court there, men have suffered wrong without making any attempt to secure redress. Sometimes men have gone upon the land of other men and cut hay, with revolvers at their side while at work, and the owners could get no relief. If they were to obtain a restraining order, what would be the result? Why, both parties would be equally restrained, and the property would then be in the custody of the law, so that it could not be touched by either; and in such a case, how much would it be worth by the time of the meeting of the court next winter? By that time the hay would be worth precious little. Now I say we want, and I insist upon the necessity of having, a more extended jurisdiction of our Justices' Courts, and I think the ends of justice will thereby be promoted. It is true that a great deal of business would in that way be taken out of the higher courts, but if we should happen to select for Justice of the Peace a blockhead, without sense enough to decide between right and wrong, in these petty cases, the parties interested could carry their cases up. The decision of a Justice of the Peace is not final; you can appeal in a case involving twenty dollars, as well as in a larger case, I suppose. I hope this Convention will leave our constitution in such a shape that the Legislature can in the future arrange the matter of the jurisdiction and power of the courts in such manner as will best meet the wants of the people in each county.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. The gentleman's time is up, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. MURDOCK. Very well; I am willing to talk to time, although I have not occupied so much of the time of the Convention as some other members.

Mr. FRIZELL. I was not present when this proposition was first mooted, or when the amendment was first submitted to the committee; nevertheless, I think I understand it sufficiently. I have no doubt that in some respects it is an innovation to give jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace for the trial of title to realty, but I have known in the course of the session of this Convention, other acts to be accomplished, other rules to be established by us, which were no less innovations. We have been attempting to frame a Constitution to suit our own peculiar wants, and we have not regarded old rules and wise saws, but have rather adapted our constitutional provisions to our own situation and requirements.

Now the question resolves itself into this: Is it safe, or is it not, for a man to go before a Justice of the Peace, with the right of trial by jury, which men will certainly have in all cases, to have anything tried in his court affecting either real or personal property, where the value does not exceed three hundred dollars? If the proceeding is safe, then I think that every member will admit that we should say—"Away with precedents and old forms, that stand in the way," because it will most assuredly be an accommodation to the people. There can be no doubt of that. I suppose that every member understands the proposition as I have stated it. If we can feel safe in going into a Justice's Court to try an amount of three hundred dollars, with the right of trial by jury, and the subsequent right of appeal, then in my opinion, this proposed amendment is a good one.

Saturday.]

DELONG—FRIZELL—BROSNAN—JOHNSON—COLLINS.

[July 23.

Then, again, so far as relates to the stability of the matter, by means of a permanent record, I think there can be no valid objection raised, for every lawyer very well knows that although the Justices' Courts are not Courts of Record; nevertheless you can take a transcript in any case from the docket, and enter and record it on the docket of the District Court.

Mr. DELONG. For what purpose?

Mr. FRIZELL. For any purpose.

Mr. BROSNAN. For the purpose of making a lien, for example.

Mr. FRIZELL. At any rate, that which I have stated is the most important point, and if there be anything lacking, the Legislature can surely fill up the vacuum.

Now I started out by saying that this was to some extent an innovation, but I will state in that connection that from 1850 to 1856, Justices of the Peace in the State of California tried the right and title to mining claims, regardless of their value.

Mr. JOHNSON. Not the title; only actions of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, in which title is not involved.

Mr. DELONG. They took jurisdiction in the early days of anything they had a mind to.

Mr. JOHNSON. Such were not even under the forms of law.

Mr. FRIZELL. I will say this, that trials of the right and title to property, and the adjudication of the rights of men in that respect, were brought about sooner, and generally in a more satisfactory manner, than they have been since, in that State. I think that this amendment is a good one, because it will relieve the District Courts and prevent their being overcrowded. Gentlemen have been remarkably anxious to procure the establishment of District Courts, and now I want, if possible, to relieve them from an overpressure of business. I am willing to go before a Justice of the Peace and try title to an amount of three hundred dollars, and that will relieve the District Courts, which are otherwise, by technical rules, the only Courts in which title can be tried.

Mr. BROSNAN. I am willing to go as far as any member in the advocacy of any specific line of policy, even though it may be new, provided I can see my way clear. I have, however, upon this question, not only my own experience to guide me, but also the experience of the jurists and legislators of former times, in all the old States of the Union, and I find that in nearly, if not quite all of the older States, this particular jurisdictional power is inhibited to Justices of the Peace. And I will say frankly, here, that there is one species of jurisdiction which I think we might properly entrust to those officers, but not perhaps to the extent that has been advocated by my colleagues who have just now addressed the committee. The jurisdiction to which I allude, is where the relation of landlord and tenant exists between the parties in a suit. We might, perhaps, with safety, grant such jurisdiction, but beyond that I think the experiment would be very dangerous.

Here, let me remark that it is not correct to say that any decision by a Justice of the Peace, touching the question of the right of possession to mining grounds, has ever been tolerated in the State of California by any judicial tribunal speaking authoritatively in that State. On the contrary, I state it as a fact, that wherever Justices of the Peace have assumed to act touching that species of property known as mining claims, as soon as the question was taken to the Supreme Court that tribunal declared Justices' Courts had no jurisdiction. And even in that case the statutes of the State had given to Justices of the Peace jurisdiction in actions of forcible entry and unlawful detainer.

Again, one of the most complicated branches of legal science is that which relates to the investigation of title to real property, and it makes no difference whether such property be of small or of great value, so far as relates to the correctness of a decision, because it may not be worth more than one hundred, or three hundred dollars, or it may be worth thirty thousand dollars; and yet a decision in the one case involves the consideration of questions as nice, as delicate, and as intricate, and requiring as much of legal learning and acumen, as in the other. It matters not, therefore, whether the property involved be worth only two or three hundred dollars, or be of ten-fold more value. Hence, legislators hitherto have thought, in their wisdom, that this class of judicial officers, being generally men who have not been educated in the abstruse science of conveyancing, and the investigation of titles to real estate, who have not been so trained as to render them competent to deliver enlightened judgments upon questions of that kind, upon which those who are most learned in the law sometimes differ, ought not to be intrusted with such jurisdiction. And there is no good reason, in my judgment, Mr. Chairman, why we should give them jurisdiction over questions of this kind, in cases where the property involved is of no more value than three hundred dollars, any sooner than we would give it to them if it were worth three hundred thousand dollars, because it is not the value of the property, but the nature of the questions to be decided, that should be taken into consideration; and as much legal knowledge and skill are required for a correct decision in the one case as in the other.

Mr. COLLINS. I am free to admit that.

Mr. BROSNAN. Then I have to say again that my friend and colleague, whom I so highly regard, for whom I entertain the most pro-

Saturday.]

FRIZELL—BROSNAN—JOHNSON.

[July 23.]

found sentiments of respect, and whose heart is always right, has, in my judgment, committed an error of the head on this question. He desires to give this jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace, because he thinks that it opens the field of legal controversy to the humble and the lowly—that it will be cheaper for them, in the vindication of their legal rights. I will say that I believe that to be practically a mistake, for in the whole course of my legal practice and experience I have never known a question of this character, involving the right of possession to real property, to be commenced before a Justice of the Peace, that was not ultimately appealed to a higher court. No matter what the amount in controversy may be, in every case it is sure to be carried up by appeal. Therefore, if you give this power to Justices' Courts, aside from what I have already advanced, you have this further objection, that you are thereby multiplying, increasing, aggravating the expense and costs to be paid in the end by the loser.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman's time has expired.

Mr. FRIZELL. There seems to be between my respected colleague (Mr. Brosnan) and myself an apparent question of veracity. I said that in California for a number of years, questions affecting the right to mining claims were allowed to be tried by Justices of the Peace. Now my colleague, I understand, says that is not correct—

Mr. BROSNAN. I beg the gentleman's pardon; I said that if they did try them they were never taken to the Supreme Court but what they were overthrown by that Court, on the question of jurisdiction.

Mr. FRIZELL. The history of that matter is this: Mining claims were held in an uncertain way in California for a number of years, and it was not till 1855 or 1856 that they were considered as having assumed the nature of realty. I know that for four or five years the right to mining claims was tried in Justices' Courts, because I have tried them myself. I have, as a Justice of the Peace, issued writs of restitution, and put men in possession of claims worth ten thousand dollars.

Mr. JOHNSON. I am opposed to the amendment, but not for the reason that Justices in California did or did not have this jurisdiction, nor do I know that it makes any difference with us whether such jurisdiction has been conferred in other States or not. I do not oppose it merely because it is in opposition to the usages, as they have been settled, and the Constitutional features as they have prevailed in other States, for I am as ready and willing as any other member of the Convention to adopt new propositions, whenever I think they will be productive of benefit. But when a change is proposed which is radical in its character, and which does not in my judgment give an earnest of some resulting benefit, but on the contrary, to my mind; is fraught with much of evil, I do not think it necessary to invoke the precedents of other States in order to find reasons for my opposition, as I find it in the subject matter itself. And so it is in this instance.

Sir, there are several good and sufficient reasons why we should not confer on Justices of the Peace jurisdiction to the extent proposed. One of them has already been suggested by the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Brosnan,) namely, that in a case where the amount in controversy does not exceed three hundred dollars, if it involve a question of title to realty, as much judicial learning and ability are required for its correct determination as if the amount involved were tens of thousands of dollars. Now I would be pleased to learn, from the observation and experience of gentlemen who are advocating this amendment, about what proportion, among those who, in a new country, are generally found occupying positions as Justices of the Peace, would in fact be competent to pass upon those difficult questions? And admitting that they have some legal understanding—although every one must concede that they do not always understand even the elementary principles of law—yet, to pursue the inquiry still further, how many of them will be found to have even the mental capacity to understand propositions of such nature when presented?

Now as to the matter of capacity and fitness for place, if that were the only consideration for our guidance, I would very much prefer to reduce the limit of jurisdiction considerably below the figure which has been fixed upon by the report of the Judiciary Committee, and also to diminish still further the classes of cases in which Justices of the Peace may exercise jurisdiction. But there is something more to be considered, and that is, the convenience of the people. I am therefore willing, in order to give the people all proper facilities in the matter of litigation, particularly where they reside in communities at considerable distance from the county seats, where the District Courts are held, to confer upon Justices of the Peace jurisdiction to the amount of three hundred dollars, except in cases involving realty.

But there are other reasons besides the mere incapacity of nine-tenths of those who usually are incumbents of this office, why land cases and mining suits should be without their jurisdiction. For example, in a mining suit, the party bringing the action may allege in his complaint that the property does not exceed in value three hundred dollars, but the defendant may be very reluctant to admit the correctness of such valuation. The plaintiff may be content to make oath that it is not worth more than three hundred dollars, yet we know that there is great variance of opinion as to the value of property, and especially so in relation to mining claims, and other realty. That which you, as plaintiff, may be willing to swear is not worth three hundred dollars, I, as defendant, may be equally as conscientious in swearing

Saturday.]

JOHNSON—COLLINS—DELONG—FRIZELL—WETHERILL.

[July 23.

that the same property is worth ten-fold that amount, as in the case adverted to by the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. DeLong.) We have known instances in this Territory of property, which for a long time might not exceed in value a sum which would place the subject matter within the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace, under this amendment, but which in a few months has risen in value a hundred fold. And yet, perchance, if by this amendment a Justice of the Peace has authority conferred to try causes in regard to such class of property, he might, before its rise in value, award it to one claimant, although soon afterwards it might so greatly enhance in value as to place it beyond the jurisdiction of a Justice's Court.

These are the primary objections in my mind, to the proposed amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman's time is up. ["Go on, go on!"]

Mr. JOHNSON. I will not avail myself of the courtesy of members, so as to infract the rule of the committee relative to the limitation of speeches, for when occupying the chair, I intend to hold every member to a strict observance of the rule.

Mr. COLLINS. If the committee will indulge me one moment, I merely want to say one or two words in regard to the proposition of my excellent friend and colleague, (Mr. Bro-nan,) which is indorsed by the gentleman from Ormsby, (Mr. Johnson,) to the effect that as much legal knowledge and talent is required to decide in regard to property in real estate, when it only amounts to three hundred dollars, as when it amounts to thirty thousand dollars. I admit it. We are perfectly parallel and harmonious in our views upon that point. And I think those gentlemen will also agree with me when I say that it requires as much legal knowledge and ability to decide a case of assumpsit, the property concerned being in wheat, corn, wood, or anything else, where the amount is only three hundred dollars, as it does where the amount is thirty thousand dollars.

Mr. JOHNSON. I enter a disclaimer on my own part. I maintain that the law of realty is more intricate and difficult than the law of personal property.

Mr. COLLINS. But that has no bearing on my proposition. I propose that Justices of the Peace shall have jurisdiction in all cases within the limitation of three hundred dollars, including real estate and mining claims, and I see no good reason why the limitation should have reference to value in one class of cases, and not in another. In California, Justices of the Peace attempted to exercise jurisdiction in these matters, but the subject was brought before the Supreme Court, and their action was decided unconstitutional. That is exactly what we want to prevent here. The necessity of the times demanded that the Justices' Courts in California should have such jurisdiction, and the courts acted upon such demand. I contend that the same necessity exists here.

Mr. DELONG. Let me suppose a case of this sort: A suit is commenced before a Justice of the Peace for a mining claim, and the plaintiff avers that the value is less than three hundred dollars. The defendant does not deny that averment, and the case goes to trial. One party or the other, of course, wins, and then the case goes to the District Court on appeal, but, pending the appeal, the property increases in value to thirty thousand, or even three hundred thousand dollars. The District Court finds error, and consequently remands the case. Then would my colleague have the case, involving thirty thousand, or three hundred thousand dollars, tried before a Justice of the Peace? If not, what does he think should be done in such a case?

Mr. COLLINS. I think it would be a very lucky thing for the one who obtained the property. [Merriment.] I really do not see the point of my colleague's question.

Mr. DELONG. The question is, who should try the case?

Mr. FRIZELL. The defendant could bring it up to the District Court by writ of certiorari.

Mr. COLLINS. It may be difficult for me to answer satisfactorily all the questions that might be propounded by my colleague, or other gentlemen, and it would be difficult for almost any man to answer every question that gentleman might see fit to propound. But that does not affect the merits of the argument, and I am speaking here in behalf of what I conceive to be a great principle. I enter my protest against the adoption in our Constitution of such a provision, that if a man has a claim to real estate of the value of fifty dollars, it will cost him four times its value to get it settled. I enter my protest against the reasoning of gentlemen on that point. They may be able to see the applicability of their arguments and illustrations, but I do not see it. I know that professional men must have an eye to precedent and past usage, and naturally place reliance upon, and attach great value to, such things; but I stand here outside of all those influences, and I say that, though this may be an innovation, in my judgment the way is clear to make such an innovation.

Mr. WETHERILL. So far as relates to the objection regarding the difficulty of ascertaining the value of property in controversy, that objection may appear good and valid on its face, at first sight, but I do not believe it will stand a close examination. For instance, when you have a suit which brings in controversy the price of a horse, in a Justice's Court, the first duty of the Justice, if the question of jurisdiction be raised, is to ascertain the amount in controversy. The statutes and decisions of California will show that to be the case. Then if the plaintiff makes his election as to the Court in which he will try the case, and does not wish to bring his action in the higher court, but waives his right to do so, that gives jurisdiction to the Justice's Court; although the horse may be really worth a thousand dollars, yet if the party sues in a Justice's Court, and the matter is decided there, he can only recover three hundred dollars; that is conclusive and final, so far as he is concerned. Consequently that objection, it seems to me, must fall to the ground.

Saturday,]

BANKS—DELONG.

[July 23.]

Now let us take this matter of town lots. There are numerous instances in Aurora of controversies in regard to town lots, the value of which is perhaps from ten or fifteen up to one hundred dollars. Are we going to force men into the higher courts in cases of that sort? To do that is tantamount to saying to the plaintiff: "You cannot have justice in the courts." If men must go and spend five times the amount of their property in order to defend it, they are effectually barred out of the courts, and we may as well say to them at once: "Arm yourselves and defend your property, because if you depend upon judicial decisions it will cost you five times its value."

The question was taken on the resolution offered by Mr. Collins, and on a division the vote was—ayes, 9; noes, 10. So the resolution was not agreed to.

Mr. BANKS. I move that the committee rise and report Article VI back to the Convention, with the following resolution by way of recommendation:

Resolved, That Article VI be referred to the Judiciary Committee, with instructions to so amend the same as to give to Justices of the Peace jurisdiction in all cases of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, and mechanics' liens, where the amount involved does not exceed three hundred dollars.

The question was taken on the motion that the committee rise and recommend the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. BANKS. It is now quite evident, Mr. Chairman, that this Convention is indisposed to give jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace, in cases where the title to real estate is involved, but actions of forcible entry and unlawful detainer do not necessarily involve the title to real estate. As, for example, suppose I go upon another man's property, as in the case alluded to by the gentleman from Churchill, (Mr. Murdock,) and proceed to cut hay, or do any other act of the kind, refusing to allow the owner of the property to enjoy it, it is but right that the owner of the property should have some speedy remedy, by the application of which I may be ejected. And in a suit for that purpose, it is not necessary to bring up the question of the title at all; the only question involved between the owner and myself being, did I, or did I not, go there unlawfully and take from him unlawfully the use and enjoyment of that property? And I claim that the man who is competent to exercise the ordinary functions of a Justice of the Peace is quite competent to decide that question.

Then again, there are other cases which may properly be decided by a Justice of the Peace. For example, a man owns a building which may not be very valuable, and he rents it, but when the time for which he rented it expires, the tenant refuses, on some quibble, perhaps, to give it up, or refuses, it may be, to pay the rent. Is it right that in such a case a man should be forced into the District Court, with all the attendant costs, requiring the services of a lawyer to prosecute his case, in order to prove what may be the plainest proposition conceivable? I say it is unfair, and some more speedy means should be provided. In many such cases it would be the rankest injustice to force a man into a District Court, where he may have to wait a year, if there is a crowded calendar, and then have no remedy by which he can obtain the back rents because the defendant may have nothing on which he can secure payment. I hope the article will be amended so that cases of this character, as well as mechanics' liens, where the amount involved does not exceed three hundred dollars, will be referred to Justices of the Peace, and that men will not be forced to go to such expense in litigation that justice will practically be denied.

Mr. DELONG. It appears to me that in attempting to do this thing, gentlemen are falling into an error which they are unable or unwilling to recognize. Now I ask the careful attention of the gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Banks,) as he is an exceedingly earnest man. Suppose we confer jurisdiction, as he proposes, to the extent of three hundred dollars, in cases of mechanics' liens. There may be one mechanic who claims a lien of only three hundred dollars, and he brings his suit before a Justice of the Peace. But the law requires that all other parties holding liens on that property, when he commences to foreclose, shall come forward and present their claims, and it is a principle of equity that the first claimant shall be estopped from proceeding until all the other claims are united with his. Consequently, there are several men having liens, to the amount of ten thousand dollars, perhaps, on the same building. They cannot present that case in a Justice's Court, because the court cannot render a judgment for such an amount—and what are you going to do? It is evident that you cannot settle it by one suit, and consequently you must permit a multiplicity of suits. Suppose we engraft in the article the provision which the gentleman suggests, what is to be done in a case where there is one lien of ten thousand dollars, and another of three hundred dollars? Both liens must be paid, and the proper way is to have them all come in together, that the chancellor may make his decree in such manner that full and fair equity may be done to all; but under this provision, the three hundred dollar man would be obliged to go off and commence suit on his own hook. It would certainly increase the difficulties in the way of obtaining justice for the poor man.

Now take the case referred to by the gentleman from Aurora, (Mr. Wetherill.) He speaks of the expense of trying these three hundred dollar cases in a District Court; but if that argument is a good one, then why not increase the jurisdiction of Justices' Courts to five hundred dollars? It is just as much a hardship to be compelled to go into the District Court with a case involving five hundred dollars, as one involving only three hundred dollars.

Saturday,]

WETHERILL—DELONG—FRIZELL—BANKS.

[July 23.

Mr. WETHERILL. My object is to provide for cheap litigation for poor men, who have not the means to go into the higher courts.

Mr. DELONG. I think, on the contrary, that you are injuring that very class of men, by driving them into an incompetent court, where they will be likely to employ incompetent attorneys. The gentleman says the expense would be greater in the District Courts, but I do not believe it would be as great in the end. The fees would be about the same. The gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Banks,) tells us that before a Justice's Court a man may prove his own case, while he would have to hire counsel in the District Court; but why can he not conduct his own case before the more enlightened judge just as well? He would be just as competent to conduct it in the District Court as in the lower court—and if he desired to do so, he would most decidedly be allowed that right.

And there is another point which my colleague (Mr. Collins) does not recognize, which is this: Suppose you commence a suit for a three hundred dollar lot. It is only worth that amount when suit is brought, and the Justice of the Peace tries it, deciding for the plaintiff, or for the defendant—no matter which; the party defeated appeals, and during the interval, while the appeal is awaiting the action of the higher court, the property rises to be worth thousands of dollars. The District Court then determines that there was error, and sends the case back. The District Judge does not try the case de novo, but decides only that error occurred in the court below, and the case is remanded for a new trial. It then goes back to the Justice's Court, and the justice is called upon to decide a case involving property to the amount, perhaps, of thirty thousand dollars. And his decision must involve rules and principles, in regard to realty, which the law student always finds to be the most intricate and difficult portions of the science. Actions of assumpsit, and classes of cases of that character, are the simpler portions of the practice of law; but the moment the student enters upon the study of realty, of deeds, conveyances, leasehold deeds, leases, and tenure, he enters the great world of legal knowledge—that vast storehouse of information of a legal character, handed down from the past—the whole of which no one man on earth is capable of compassing singly. And every one knows how often men are elected Justices of the Peace, without regard to their legal knowledge, but only by reason of their prominence as citizens; and hence it is that they are very rarely competent to mete out justice in one of those intricate cases, and to render a judgment that would be worthy to stand, as it should do, a monument of title for all time to come.

Mr. FRIZELL. I wish to ask my colleague a question. Is a mechanic's lien transferable?

Mr. DELONG. Yes, sir. By assigning the account, you assign the lien. So, if you indorse a promissory note over to me, the note being secured by a mortgage, I become the owner of the mortgage by virtue of holding the note.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman's time is exhausted.

Mr. BANKS. If I may be allowed one minute, that is all I require. I wish to reply to that portion of the speech of the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. DeLong,) in which he refers to mechanics' liens, and what would be the course of proceeding in such a case as the one to which he has referred. Now suppose, for instance, that this amendment be adopted, and one man brings his suit under the mechanics' lien law, claiming that he is entitled to receive some amount less than three hundred dollars; then others come in with their claims, amounting in the aggregate to a sum which exceeds three hundred dollars. At the very worst, all that is then required is to transfer the case to a court of competent jurisdiction. Such has been the practice in California, and no doubt it will be in this State, if we shall adopt this proposition.

Mr. DELONG. But you could not transfer your case for want of jurisdiction.

Mr. BANKS. It may be provided for by law, or we can even adopt a provision in the Constitution, for transferring such cases. There is no practical difficulty in the way, as the gentleman's legal knowledge convinces him, I am sure.

Mr. FRIZELL. In deciding for myself what I came here for, I have settled upon the conviction that it was to accommodate the people, and to make a Constitution that will come as near as possible to doing justice to all men. Now it is really beautiful, and there is no man to whom it affords more gratification than to me, to hear a talented legal gentleman like my friend from Storey (Mr. DeLong) diving into the intricacies of the old common law, and trying to bring down that ancient lien to the present time. It is something like Dr. Bellows' lecture the other night. Of course lawyers will endeavor to extend these liens, and to adhere to the precedents of the past, down to the end of time; but for all that you will see innovations made almost every year. And I really cannot blame a lawyer, sir; that is his business. I read law once myself, and have been admitted to the bar in two States, but I do not think I would ever make a good lawyer, because I am too honest. [Laughter.]

Now the resolution of my friend from Humboldt is to give Justices of the Peace jurisdiction in cases of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, and in mechanics' liens, to the amount of three hundred dollars. But then my good friend from Storey (Mr. DeLong) gets up in opposition to the resolution, and brings down upon it all the intricacies of the common law, with interest. I cannot see the point. He speaks of the case of one man having a lien of ten thousand dollars, and a poor mechanic having another at the same time of three hundred. Well, in that case, I suppose the mechanic's lien must certainly be the first.

Saturday.] DE LONG—FRIZELL—KENNEDY—WETHERILL—BROSNAN—COLLINS—JOHNSON. [July 23.

Mr. DE LONG. Suppose they are both mechanics' liens?

Mr. FRIZELL. I can see no hardship to result, and I do not believe there is any, that should counterbalance this accommodation to the poorer classes. And the reason why I say no hardship can arise is this: I asked the gentleman a few minutes ago (and I had a special purpose in view) if a mechanics' lien is transferable, and he answered that it is. Then suppose that a man who has a small lien on any particular piece of property brings his suit for foreclosure. If I hold a lien for a larger amount it may be my misfortune, but the only thing I have to do is to come up and buy this poor man's lien. Now is not that plain? And will there really be any hardship in it? I think not.

Then as to giving jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace in the action of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, that is so plainly just and proper, and so simple a matter, that nobody seems to raise an objection to it, and the only question will be in regard to mechanics' liens. I hope the resolution will be adopted, and the article referred accordingly.

Mr. KENNEDY. I desire simply to call attention to one point in regard to these cases of forcible entry and unlawful detainer. I have recently been surprised to hear the gentleman from Humboldt (Mr. Banks) and the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Frizell) say that those are simple cases. Now, sir, any lawyer will tell you—and I am willing to leave it to any lawyer—that a case of that character is more difficult to try than a case of ejectment in the District Court, because there are nicer distinctions to be made, and more careful rules are required, than in almost any case in ejectment. And you will find that those cases, when they are commenced in Justices' Courts, are invariably appealed, so that, instead of saving the parties any expense by such a provision, you are really increasing their expenses. That is the actual practical result. I have not known a solitary case of that character commenced in a Justice's Court, which was not appealed, and I have never seen a Justice of the Peace yet who could make correct rulings in a case of that kind. Consequently, whichever way the decision goes, the case is always appealed.

Mr. WETHERILL. In regard to this matter of the appealing of cases, I know that when either party is dissatisfied with the decision, he is very apt to appeal. But which is preferable, in respect to time and expense, to appeal a case from a Justice's Court to another court, in your own county, or to take an appeal to the Supreme Court, there to be kept waiting, perhaps, month after month, until you despair of obtaining justice? If you can appeal the case to the District Court in your own county, you can have your decision without delay, and the expense must be considerably less.

Mr. BROSNAN. As I said before, there are certain branches of which I would like to give the jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace: as, for example, actions of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, and cases where the relation of landlord and tenant exists. It seems to me that it may be well to give them jurisdiction in such cases, where force is used. But these matters it is practicable for the Legislature to define, and you will find that you have already given the Legislature sufficient power, by authorizing it to prescribe the duties, powers, and responsibilities of Justices of the Peace.

Mr. COLLINS. I think it cuts them off.

Mr. BROSNAN. No, sir. It reads in this wise:

"The Legislature shall determine the number of Justices of the Peace to be elected in each city and township of the State, and shall fix by law their powers, duties, and responsibilities."

Under that clause, it seems to me, all that can be safely intrusted to Justices of the Peace is left to the Legislature.

Mr. JOHNSON. I oppose the resolution offered by the gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Banks,) as I think there has already been a sufficient expression of opinion by members of the Convention who are present, in relation to the propriety of enlarging the powers of Justices of the Peace, and also for the further reason that if the article is recommitted to the Judiciary Committee, under this resolution, it involves the necessity of altering and amending several sections, some of which have been already passed upon. Gentlemen exhibit exceeding earnestness respecting certain features, and if brought up again, controversies may arise which will delay the Convention for a day or more, and this most important article will then be left to the last moment, to be, perhaps, hastily disposed of under such circumstances that gross errors will be very liable to occur for want of time to give it proper scrutiny; wherefore much greater injury might be occasioned than would be offsetted by any possible advantage to be gained by the proposition of the gentleman from Humboldt, even if we concede his theory to be correct. For these reasons I hope the resolution will not prevail.

Mr. COLLINS. It occurs to me that the remarks of the gentleman from Ormsby (Mr. Johnson) are hardly in point here. The question is not whether we have time, but it is whether we shall do an act of very great injustice to a very large class of our fellow-citizens. That is the real question. If we have not time to do this to-night, let us take Monday for it. When we came here to frame a Constitution, we came for the purpose of doing our work faithfully and thoroughly. I did not know, and I do not know now, that there is any time prescribed for finishing our work, and I say, for myself, that I would prefer to stay here six months rather than pass on this, or any other question, with such haste as to do great injustice to a large class of people, and that very class, too, that most needs the protection of the law, if one class can be said to need it more than another. Must we adopt this provision as it stands, because the committee, forsooth, have reported it in this form? If so, then why not adopt the report of the committee in toto, without debate or amendment, if we have no right to examine their work?

Saturday,] JOHNSON—COLLINS—BROSNAN—DELONG—BANKS—FRIZELL—KENNEDY. [July 23.

Mr. JOHNSON. Let me see if I understand the gentleman. I think he errs in one particular, for I have not heard any member defend the report solely because it emanated from the committee. On the contrary, we have already made important changes in matters embraced in the report of the committee.

Mr. COLLINS. I fear I may have done some injustice in that respect, and I would regret, if I know my own feelings, to do injustice to any one. I mean simply to say, on this point, that the committee having made a report, it is urged as a reason why we should not alter it in the manner proposed, that if we do we shall have to undo something else. And I say if we have done wrong, now is the time to undo it. It is better for us to repair the wrong now, although it may require time, than that those who come after us, perhaps for centuries, shall be groaning under burdens which we impose upon them. Let us retrace our steps, and if we have placed anything in the Constitution that is wrong, let us undo it now.

I say again, that the provision as it stands, giving all this jurisdiction to the District Courts, is an act of great injustice, and I do not care how learnedly and profoundly gentlemen may spin out their arguments as to the value of the intricacies of this law in regard to real estate. I remember reading in an old book called the New Testament, about a certain silversmith at Ephesus, who made silver shrines for the worship of the great goddess Diana. And when Paul and others came around preaching the doctrine of Jesus of Nazareth, he attempted to put a stop to it, and for that purpose he and other men of his craft assembled together and cried out "great is Diana of the Ephesians." And so here, the members of the legal profession all at once unite their voices in the cry of "great are the intricacies of the profession." They tell us that no layman has power to comprehend the wonderful properties of a title to a lot of six square feet of ground, even though it is not worth three hundred dollars; that all these intricacies are necessary to be gone into in order to clear up any clouds upon the title. Bah! [Laughter.]

Mr. Chairman, I am not to be frightened by any of these declarations; I am not to be driven from my position by any of these sophistical arguments with which gentlemen, by virtue of their knowledge of the technical terms of the law, endeavor to becloud our judgment. I am going, nevertheless, to hold on to the great fact that this constitutional provision in regard to the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace, in the form in which it is reported by the Judiciary Committee, is going to do to the great mass of litigants of the future State gross injustice. In the future, therefore, and to the last, I am bound to support this resolution, notwithstanding the difficulties which may be presented, and notwithstanding all the powers of mind, and all the legal learning that may be thought to be required, to enable a man to decide whether A has a better right to a little piece of ground than B.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman's time is up. [“Question, question!”]

Mr. BROSNAN. If the gentleman will find one Constitution in the whole number of Constitutions of the States of this Union, in which the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace is distinctly defined, I will agree to vote with him on the subject. If he will find one Constitution within the covers of this book ("American Constitutions") that distinctly defines their jurisdiction, I will go with him.

Mr. DELONG. That book is not authority.

Mr. COLLINS. I do not care a fig whether it be or not. [“Question, question!”]

The question was taken on Mr. Banks's motion, to rise and report the article back and recommend the adoption of the resolution offered by him, and on a division the vote was—ayes, 9; noes, 9.

Mr. BANKS. The Chairman has not voted.

Mr. DELONG. He seemed to vote.

The CHAIRMAN. In Committee of the Whole, when there is a tie vote the question is lost. The motion is therefore lost.

Mr. FRIZELL. But there was not a quorum voting.

Mr. DELONG. It is not necessary in committee.

The CHAIRMAN. The question now is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Washoe, (Mr. Nourse.)

Mr. JOHNSON. The gentleman from Washoe is not here to advocate his bantling. I therefore move that the committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again.

Mr. KENNEDY. I move to amend the motion, so as to rise and recommend the passage of the article.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from Ormsby accept that?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, sir. I am opposed to the article as it stands, and intend to vote against it unless it is amended.

Mr. KENNEDY. Let us hear the amendment of the gentleman from Washoe.

Mr. JOHNSON. I will withdraw my motion for that purpose.

Mr. KENNEDY. I withdraw my amendment.

Saturday.]

JOHNSON—HAWLEY—DELONG—DUNNE.

[July 23.

The SECRETARY read the amendment offered by Mr. Nourse, as follows :

“ Insert after the word ‘responsibilities,’ in line four, the following words : ‘Justices of the Peace shall have jurisdiction in all civil cases at law, wherein the amount in controversy shall not exceed, exclusive of interest, the sum of three hundred dollars, except as herein provided.’ ”

Mr. JOHNSON. I think there is some mistake about this amendment having been offered.

The CHAIRMAN. No, sir ; that is the amendment pending.

Mr. HAWLEY. I rise to a question of order. My point is this, that the amendment is exactly the equivalent of the proposition of the gentleman from Storey. (Mr. Collins.) upon which the Convention has already acted.

Mr. DELONG. No, sir ; it is just what the section means now. The amendment does not affect anything, except the language.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair rules the amendment in order.

Mr. DELONG. I move that the committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to ; and the committee accordingly rose.

IN CONVENTION.

The PRESIDENT having resumed the chair,

The CHAIRMAN reported that the Committee of the Whole had had under consideration Article VI, entitled Judicial Department, had made some progress therein, and had instructed him to ask leave to sit again thereon.

The report was accepted, and leave was granted accordingly.

Mr. DELONG moved (at a quarter before nine o'clock, P. M.) that the Convention adjourn.

The question was taken, and upon a division the vote was—ayes, 7 ; noes, 11. So the Convention refused to adjourn.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE—SCHEDULE.

On motion of Mr. KENNEDY, the Convention resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, (the PRESIDENT remaining in the chair,) and resumed consideration of Article XVIII, entitled Schedule.

TERMS OF FIRST STATE OFFICERS.

The SECRETARY read Section 7, as follows :

SEC. 7. The term of State officers, except judicial, elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall continue until the Tuesday after the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until the election and qualification of their successors.

Mr. DUNNE. That is the section which was originally contained in the article on Miscellaneous Provisions, and which the Convention determined should be incorporated into the Schedule.

No amendment being offered, the section, as read, was adopted.

TERMS OF SENATORS.

Section 8 was read, as follows :

SEC. 8. The Senators to be elected at the first election under this Constitution shall draw lots, so that the term of one-half thereof, as near as may be, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. 1866, and the term of the other half shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. 1868 ; provided, that in drawing lots for all Senatorial terms, the Senatorial representation shall be allotted so that in the counties having two or more Senators the terms thereof shall be divided, as near as may be, between the long and short terms.

Mr. DUNNE. I will state that this section has received a great deal of consideration in the committee. It was a very difficult matter to determine exactly how long a term should be allotted to the Senators first elected, the difficulty being to get such an allotment of terms that a proportionate number of Senators and Assemblymen should be elected at each general election, during the continuance of the annual sessions, and the allotment of the terms of Senators was dependent upon the Assembly, as gentlemen will see when the succeeding sections are reached. The desire of the committee was, that an election of Senators and Assemblymen might be had in the fall, immediately preceding the incoming of another administration, and, to accomplish that, various terms were proposed. One proposition was, that one-half of the Senators should hold office for one year, and the other half for three years, and that then the successors of the Senators holding for one year should be elected for three years, and thereafter for four years, bringing it out in the end so that at each election one-half of the Senators would be elected for four years. After considering all the different propositions, none of them seemed to the committee to meet the case so well as to provide that the Senators first elected should draw lots, one-half for the term of two years, and the other half for four years, and after that all Senators to be elected for four years ; a subsequent provision being made for new Senators.

Mr. DELONG. There is a little objection to the language of the section. Instead of saying one half of the Senators, I think it should be made to read “ one half of the number of Senators.”

Another objection to the section which presents itself to my mind is this : It provides that the Senators' terms shall expire immediately after the general election. That may be in November, or September, and the Legislature convenes in January. Now under such an arrangement the newly elected members, in case of a special session, would not be entitled to be qualified and take their positions. Therefore I think it would be better to provide that the terms shall only expire at the time the Legislature convenes. There may be an emergency which will require the Governor to call a special session between the election and the regular time of meeting, and in that event, one half of the Senators having gone out of office, and those elected in their places not being qualified to enter upon their office, an insurmountable difficulty would be presented.

Then there is another thing which has not been explained, or at least I have not heard the explanation. Take the case of a county which elects but one Senator: with whom would he draw lots, in order to decide when he shall go out and the new Senator come in, or how long shall he hold? These matters have not been explained to me, and I was not present in committee when they were considered.

Saturday.]

DUNNE—DELONG—McCLINTON—JOHNSON.

[July 23.

Mr. DUNNE. It is a very simple matter, if the gentleman will direct his attention to it. There are to be eighteen Senators elected at the first election, and they will draw lots, one against another, so that nine shall hold for two years and nine for four years, and in the arrangement for drawing lots Senators from the same county are to be paired against each other, as far as practicable.

Mr. DELONG. I am satisfied with the explanation on that point; now as to the other?

Mr. DUNNE. In regard to the expiration of the terms, I will state that this is the same provision as that which was contained in the old Constitution. My attention has not been called to it particularly, but I do not see how there can be any very great difficulty.

Mr. McCLINTON. Is there not a provision somewhere that the Senators shall continue in office till their successors are elected and qualified?

[Mr. KENNEDY in the chair.]

Mr. JOHNSON. The terms of Senators first elected expire on the day succeeding the election of their successors, so that at the time when their terms expire, the terms of their successors begin. Thus there can be no interregnum.

Mr. DELONG. But it will take some time to ascertain who are elected.

Mr. JOHNSON. That will not require a great while. I participated somewhat in the preparation of this section in the former Convention, and I believe that some amendment was there made on my suggestion. The consideration which influenced my action was to prevent any abuse of power by the Executive of the State upon the happening of just such a contingency as that which has been mentioned by the gentleman from Storey (Mr. DeLong.) In the event that the Governor should convene an extra session of the Legislature, after the regular election has been held, it is so worded that it can only be those who have last received the indorsement of their constituents who shall constitute the Legislature at such extra session, rather than those whose terms will have expired, having been elected the year before. The object is to prevent the Executive, if so disposed, (as he possibly might be in case of some radical revulsion in the political elements of the State,) from convening the former members of the Legislature in extra session, it may be for the purpose of electing a United States Senator, thus anticipating the convening of the regular session of the Legislature. If the old body were called together its members might be induced to repudiate the recently expressed will of their constituents, and so a great wrong against the wishes of the people would be perpetrated.

The provision as it now stands relative to the expiration of terms, places it practically out of the power of the Governor to convene a session of the Legislature composed of the discarded elements. That is to say, if he shall convene an extra session between the time of the election and that of the assembling of the regular session of the Legislature, it must be composed of those who come fresh from the people. As embraced in my proposition, the terms of the new Senators should commence on the day that the terms of the former expired, and further, that that time should be immediately after the day of election. It would be a very rare circumstance indeed that there should arise a public exigency requiring a session of the Legislature within a less time than ten days after the election, and that is the time ordinarily fixed, I believe, both in this Territory and in California, within which the canvassing of the votes for members of the Legislature occurs, and certificates are issued to the persons elected. We can scarcely anticipate any such extraordinary public necessity as would call for the convening of the Legislature between the day of the election and the time when the canvassing of the votes would be completed.

Mr. DELONG. It is admitted, then, that there may be an interval of ten days' time, during which nobody knows who are members of the Legislature. Now, in California, thirty days are allowed for receiving the returns before the Boards of Supervisors are permitted to open and canvass them. With the necessities of this country in that respect, I am not so familiar. It may be that ten days is sufficient here, and that the officers of election can all get in their returns within that time, but I hardly think it is time enough, when we take into consideration what is likely to be the future state of the country, with a great many remote precincts to be heard from in the larger counties. The returns from all those precincts should be received, before the Board of Canvassers are entitled to open and canvass them. And even after the canvass has commenced, some time will be required to complete it before the certificates can be issued, so that there is a still further interregnum. Now the necessities of the State may be imagined to be such as to require the immediate calling together of the Legislature during that interval of time, and yet the Governor would only be able to assemble a Legislature which would be incompetent to act in support of the executive, no matter how great the emergency.

I perceive the motive of the gentleman from Ormsby, (Mr. Johnson,) and it is a good one. I fully recognize the merit of the proposition to make such provision that the Governor, if disposed to act in opposition to the wishes of the people, may be withheld and restrained by those who have been sent to the Legislature fresh from the people. Yet, in California, they have never yet found any inconvenience resulting from the old system of allowing the terms of the new Senators to commence at the expiration of the terms of the old ones—not at the date of the new election, but after it has been settled and determined who are and who are not members. I never heard of any inconvenience resulting from that system, and as the possibility seems to be very remote of the evil against which the gentleman from Ormsby desires to guard, I would rather prefer to retain that system, for the sake of safety, because we must guard against possibilities as well as probabilities, and we know not what may be the future exigencies of the State. In the formation and adoption of our fundamental law, especially, we must remember that we constitute a part of a nation which is at this time in the very whirlwind and tempest of rebellion, and we should be prepared for whatever exigencies may arise.

Saturday.]

JOHNSON—DELONG.

[July 23.]

Mr. JOHNSON. I desire an opportunity to reply to some of the objections mentioned by the gentleman from Storey. In the first place, according to my present recollection of the territorial law, although I am not quite positive on that subject, the Board of Canvassers is allowed but ten days after the election to canvass the votes cast for members of the Legislature. But independent of all that—and I think this is a sufficient reply to the gentleman's objection—I care not if the Legislature should be convened within three days after the election, the members elected at such election could be admitted, under the provisions of our Constitution. The Governor must issue his proclamation convening the extra session, from ten to thirty days before the Legislature is to assemble; but even if it were only five days—and it would be a most extraordinary emergency, that would require the convening of the Legislature within so short a period after the issuing of the proclamation—still this provision would apply. If it be a single day, or an hour after the election, the old Legislature should go out, and the members newly elected should be entitled to their seats. The gentleman from Storey will bear in mind that we have already adopted a provision in another article declaring that both branches of the Legislature shall be sole judges of the election and qualification of their own members. It is not required that a man shall present as evidence of his right to a seat in such body a certificate of election, or any other particular evidence, but each branch of the Legislature is made the absolute judge of the election and qualification of its own members. Therefore, if it is only five or ten days after the election, that the Legislature is convened, those who have just been elected must be admitted, and the members are immediately vested with authority to judge of the election and qualification of those claiming membership.

Mr. DELONG. But in order to entitle a man, prima facie, to a seat, he must present his credentials. Then the Legislature passes upon his case, if there should be any question raised. Without credentials a man could not take his seat in the first instance. Otherwise a mob might take possession of the legislative halls, secure the seats, and proceed to pass upon the question of who are members and who are not.

Mr. JOHNSON. No, sir; I do not understand that the Constitution requires the production of any paper evidence. If the Legislature were assembled, the gentleman from Storey might walk into the door, claiming to be a member, and without producing any certificate, the Legislature would have authority to pass upon his claim. A mere certificate of election amounts to nothing, if there is any other person who can show a better title to the seat, in the opinion of the body, than he who holds such certificate. How often it occurs that a man comes to a legislative body, with his credentials in due form, and yet is turned away, and his seat given to another. That is a very frequent occurrence in legislative bodies acting under a constitutional provision similar to that which we have adopted. And it must be so, because to make a man's right to a seat depend upon a certificate of election would be giving to the Board of Canvassers, instead of the Legislature, the right of judging of the election and qualification of members.

Mr. DELONG. Will the gentleman from Ormsby allow me to ask him if he ever knew a man to be allowed a seat in a legislative body in the first instance, without the necessary credentials, issued by the proper officers?

Mr. JOHNSON. Why, sir, such instances are numerous. Take the case, for example, of a member who may have lost his credentials. He is never for that reason excluded. Men came into this Convention and said they had left their credentials at home, and I think there are several gentlemen now holding seats on this floor, who never did present any credentials.

Mr. DELONG. I am not speaking of Conventions, but of legislative bodies.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, they are governed by the same rules. Legislatures are always made the judges of the election and qualification of their own members. If the gentleman from Storey had lost his credentials, according to his view, he should be turned from the door; but that is scarcely ever done, because there is no importance attached to the mere credentials. It is not a matter of much consequence whether a man has his credentials or not. It is a form which is generally observed, it is true; but it is merely a form, and if a man happens to have no such paper to show, that fact does not operate to exclude him. If a person has been elected, and claims his seat, the Legislature itself judges of his claim.

But independent of that, I say it would be a most rare and extraordinary case in which the exigency should be so great as to call for the

Saturday.]

DELONG—JOHNSON—FRIZELL—CROSMAN—DUNNE.

[July 23

convening of the Legislature within the time allowed to the canvassing officers to pass upon the rights of parties, and make out their credentials. I foresee none of the practical difficulties which the gentleman from Storey seems to apprehend, and the evil which is sought by this provision to be prevented, would be, in my judgment, far greater than any likely to arise from its operation. If we should change the time for the commencement of the terms of Senators to a later period, we should thereby place it in the power of an unscrupulous Executive to override the expressed will of the people. For instance, the people may have fairly expressed their choice for United States Senator, at the latest election, or their preference upon any other great question of State policy; but nevertheless, it would be in the power of the Executive to convene a Legislature composed of those men whom the people may have condemned and sent into retirement, and they could get together and take such action as would override the will, and set at naught the expressed wish of the people. It is to avoid that evil that I would place it beyond the power of any Executive to call together a Legislature which might be opposed to the will of the people.

Mr. DELONG. I think they would have no right to elect a United States Senator at a special session of the Legislature.

Mr. JOHNSON. That is not by any means an untried experiment, and whatever deference the gentleman may have for precedents, he can find them of such a character in several of the States. He will find one in my own native State, and there are other States in which this great wrong has been perpetrated. I have in my mind a case in point, where such a thing was once done, and when subsequently the people came to revise their Constitution they implanted therein their reprobation of the practice, by placing it beyond the power of the Executive ever to repeat such an act. I hope we shall follow that example, by adopting such restrictive features that a legislative body whose acts have once been passed upon by the people, cannot be called together to the exclusion of those whom the people have more recently elected. ["Question, question."]

Mr. DELONG. I ask for the reading of the section.

The SECRETARY again read the section.

Mr. DELONG. I suggest an amendment in the third line, so as to read "one-half of the number," instead of "one-half thereof." Otherwise you might have to cut a Senator in two. [Merriment.]

The amendment suggested was adopted by unanimous consent.

No further amendment being offered, the section, as amended, was adopted.

TERMS OF SENATORS AND ASSEMBLYMEN.

Section 9 was read, as follows :

SEC. 9. At the general election in A. D. 1866, and thereafter, the term of Senators shall be for four years from the day succeeding such general election, and members of Assembly for two years from the day succeeding such general election, and the terms of Senators shall be allotted by the Legislature in long and short terms, as hereinbefore provided, so that one-half thereof, as nearly as may be, shall be elected every two years.

On motion of Mr. DELONG, and by unanimous consent, the word "thereof," in the last clause, was stricken out, and the words "the number" inserted instead.

Mr. CROSMAN. I am not particularly well posted on this subject, and I would inquire if it was the intention of the Committee on Schedule to provide that the members of the Assembly first elected, shall all of them hold for two years?

Mr. DELONG. The section provides that the Assemblymen shall hold for two years, and the Senators for four years, after 1866.

Mr. DUNNE. The members of the Assembly are to hold their terms annually, for two years. [Laughter.] I mean that for two years their terms are to be annual, and after that the terms are to be for two years.

Mr. FRIZELL. I suggest that the gentleman's explanation be referred to the Committee on Phraseology. [Merriment.]

Mr. DUNNE. I am quite satisfied with it. For two years the terms of the Assemblymen are to be annual terms.

Mr. DELONG. I understood the gentleman to say the terms were to be annual for two years.

Mr. DUNNE. And then, in 1866, the two year terms begin.

Mr. CROSMAN. That is, we elect for only one year, until 1866, and then we elect for two years.

No amendment being offered, the section, as read, was adopted.

TERMS OF ASSEMBLYMEN FIRST ELECTED.

Section 10 was read, as follows :

SEC. 10. The term of members of the Assembly elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. 1865, and the terms of those elected at the general election A. D. 1865, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election A. D. 1866.

No amendment being offered, the section, as read, was adopted.

COMMENCEMENT OF LEGISLATIVE SESSIONS.

Section 11 was read, as follows :

SEC. 11. The first regular session of the Legislature shall commence on the second Monday of December, A. D. 1864, and the second regular session of the same shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1866, and the third regular session of the Legislature shall be the first of the biennial sessions, and shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and the regular sessions of the Legislature shall be held thereafter biennially.

Mr. JOHNSON. I will suggest to the gentleman from Humboldt (Mr. Dunne) that from the reading of the latter clause, there seems to be an omission. Should not the words "commencing on the first Monday in January" be added? As it now reads, the time of the commencement of the biennial sessions seems to be left uncertain.

Saturday.] BANKS—JOHNSON—DUNNE—CROSMAN—DELONG—TAGLIABUE—PROCTOR. [July 23.

Mr. BANKS. I do not see any necessity for a change in that language. It says that the third regular session, which is the session of 1867, shall be the first of the biennial sessions, and shall commence on the first of January, 1867.

Mr. JOHNSON. But it does not state when the succeeding biennial sessions shall commence.

Mr. BANKS. Of course, if the first biennial session commences on the first of January, 1867, the next commences two years thereafter.

Mr. JOHNSON. It may not commence on the same day in the year; it might commence even in February or March.

Mr. BANKS. Can the gentleman suggest more definite language?

Mr. JOHNSON. I have suggested that these words had better be added—"commencing on the first Monday in January."

Mr. DUNNE. I will make the motion to amend by adding those words.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

No further amendment being offered, the section, as amended, was adopted.

CONTINUATION OF COUNTY OFFICERS, ETC.

Section 12 was read, as follows :

SEC. 12. All county officers, under the laws of the Territory of Nevada at the time when this Constitution shall take effect, (except Probate Judges,) whose offices are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Constitution, shall continue in office until the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified. And all township officers shall continue in office until the expiration of their terms of office, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Mr. CROSMAN. I would inquire, for information, what the effect would be, under the operation of this section, upon the county officers not named in this Constitution, such as assessors, coroners, and collectors. The section provides for continuing in office all county officers whose duties "are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Constitution," but there is no provision in the Constitution for assessors, coroners, or collectors.

Mr. BANKS. Then they are not inconsistent.

Mr. DELONG. Certainly not.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I believe no county officers are mentioned.

Mr. CROSMAN. Certainly; you will find that all the county officers are named, in the article on the Executive Department, I think, and provision is made that they shall be elected at a certain time.

Mr. JOHNSON. I did not pay particular attention to the reading, but my opinion would be that those not provided for in the Constitution would be left out.

Mr. CROSMAN. It is in the article on the Legislative Department, I find, that they are enumerated, all but those three to which I have referred, and they are not named at all.

Mr. PROCTOR. This section, it seems to me, should be amended a little, in regard to cases where the parties are elected to office, and their terms expire one year from now; as for instance, in Lander County. There they are to hold office one year from this fall. Would it not be better to provide that they shall continue in office for the terms for which they may have been elected, under the laws of the Territory? Under this section, you keep those officers in office one year longer than the time for which they have been elected.

Mr. JOHNSON. It would be necessary either to shorten the time elsewhere, or to give them the additional year, in Lander County, in order to make the arrangement regular and harmonious, all the officers going out of office at the same period of time throughout the State.

Mr. DELONG. That is the statement I was about to make. There is a lack of harmony in the election of county officers under the territorial law, every county, I believe, electing its officers this fall, with the sole exception of Lander County, where they were elected last fall. Now we have got either to extend the terms of the county officers in Lander County, or to cut them down in all the other counties, for one year, and the committee came to the conclusion that it was better to continue all the officers until 1867. That gives each one elected this fall his full term, so that it makes no difference to the candidates whether the Constitution shall be adopted or defeated, and consequently they will make the canvass in good faith. It will certainly be no invasion of the rights of the people, and no wrong to the officers elected, as they will merely have the form of government over them changed.

In relation to the question raised by the gentleman from Lyon, (Mr. Crosman.) I will call his attention to Section 32 of Article IV, entitled Legislative Department, as already passed and enrolled.

SEC. 32. The Legislature shall provide for the election by the people of a Clerk of the Supreme Court, County Clerks, County Recorders, who shall be ex-officio County Auditors, District Attorneys, Sheriffs, County Surveyors, Public Administrators, and other necessary officers, etc.

Now this section provides that all officers "whose offices are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Constitution shall continue in office." If there is any officer, therefore, not enumerated in the section which I have just quoted, but whose office is not inconsistent, that is, if it is necessary to carry on the administration of public affairs, he will of course be continued, and consequently all the county officers, except the Probate Judges, who are specially named, will hold over, under this section, for the length of time required by law; but any other officer, not elected under the territorial laws, who may be deemed necessary under the State form of government, will have to be elected.

Monday.] PROCTOR—DELONG—CROSMAN—DUNNE—BANKS—COLLINS—KENNEDY. [July 25.

Mr. PROCTOR. There are the Justices of the Peace, who are elected for but one year, and yet this section continues them just one year longer than the term for which they are elected. The County Treasurer, Clerk, Sheriff, Auditor, Assessor, and so on, elected this fall for two years, are all to hold for two years, and those who are not enumerated in this Schedule, I understand, if they come under the head of necessary officers, all hold over. That is, none are legislated out, except unnecessary officers.

Mr. DELONG. Precisely.

Mr. CROSMAN. That was my own understanding, but I thought it better to have the matter understood in the Convention.

Mr. DELONG. That was certainly the understanding in the committee. We debated the matter there, and we finally concluded that this was the best way—that we should either legislate them all out or all in. We thought this plan would be no infringement of the rights of the people, whether the Constitution shall be adopted or not.

Mr. CROSMAN. I think this expression of the Convention will remove all doubt on the subject, if hereafter any question shall arise.

PROBATE JUDGES.

Mr. DUNNE. I move to amend the section by striking out in the third line the words "except Probate Judges," and the parentheses containing those words, and then adding the following at the end of the section:

"Provided, That the Probate Judges of the several counties respectively, shall continue in office until the election and qualification of the District Judges of the several counties or Judicial Districts."

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

No further amendment being offered, the section, as amended, was adopted.

The CHAIRMAN. We cannot do business without a quorum; the Secretary will count the committee.

The SECRETARY reported that only nineteen members were present.

Mr. DELONG. Is it necessary that in Committee of the Whole there shall be a quorum?

The CHAIRMAN. Undoubtedly.

Mr. BANKS. I move that the committee rise.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

IN CONVENTION.

The PRESIDENT having resumed the chair,

The CHAIRMAN reported that the Committee of the Whole had had under consideration Article XVIII, entitled Schedule, had made some progress therein, and had found itself without a quorum.

Mr. COLLINS. I move that the Convention adjourn until Monday morning at nine o'clock.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

Accordingly, at half-past nine o'clock, P. M., the Convention adjourned.

NINETEENTH DAY.

CARSON, July 25, 1864.

The Convention met at nine o'clock, A. M., and was called to order by the President.

The roll was called, and the following members responded to their names: Messrs. Banks, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crosman, Dunne, Fizzell, Folsom, Hawley, Hovey, Kennedy, Kinkead, Mason, McClinton, Murdock, Warwick, Wetherill, and Mr. President. Present, 18; absent, 21.

CALL OF THE HOUSE.

On motion of Mr. WARWICK, no quorum being present, a call of the House was ordered.

By unanimous consent, the roll-call just taken (as above) was adopted as the roll to be used under the call of the House.

The Sergeant-at-Arms was directed to arrest and bring in the absentees.

Messrs. Proctor and Tagliabue appeared, stated their excuses, and were allowed to take their seats.

Mr. DUNNE. As there is now a quorum, I move that further proceedings under the call of the House be dispensed with.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. RILEY.

The journal of Saturday was read and approved.

Messrs. DeLong and Parker came in, and were recorded as present.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. KENNEDY. I ask indefinite leave of absence for Mr. Hudson. I am informed that he has met with a serious misfortune, and cannot attend.

The question was taken, and indefinite leave of absence was granted to Mr. Hudson.

Mr. DUNNE. I ask indefinite leave of absence for myself.

Mr. CHAPIN. Leave off "indefinite," and I will go for it.

Mr. DUNNE. I will state that the next term of our District Court is held on the first Monday in August, and I have cases in court which I must attend to, and consequently I must get back and prepare them. I have remained here now longer than I ought to have staid.

The PRESIDENT. If the gentleman can possibly remain, I think it very important indeed that he should do so, for a few days longer. If two or three members should leave us now, I fear it would be quite impossible to keep a quorum together.

The question was taken on granting Mr. Dunne indefinite leave of absence, and the Convention refused.

Mr. DUNNE. All I have to say is, that I have a very good horse, and that I intend to start at two o'clock. [Laughter.]

Mr. DELONG. I suggest that the Sergeant-at-Arms stand guard over the gentleman.

Monday,]

BANKS—HAWLEY—CHAPIN—WETHERILL—DELONG.

[July 25.]

Mr. BANKS. I shall tell the Sergeant-at-Arms that I have a better horse that I will lend him.

The PRESIDENT. Perhaps it will be best to put the gentleman's good horse in the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms. [Merriment.]

THE ENROLLMENT.

Mr. HAWLEY. I wish to state, for the information of the Convention, that Messrs. Gibson and Lockwood have examined Articles III and IV, and are prepared to report them correctly enrolled. For myself, I have been very busy this morning, but I am able to state further, that probably everything will be enrolled by this evening except the Article on the Judicial Department and the Schedule, and we can get through with everything except those matters to-night. If the Enrolling Clerk shall receive those articles to-night he can doubtless finish them by to-morrow morning, so that we may possibly be able to adjourn to-morrow afternoon or evening.

STATE SEAL.

Mr. CHAPIN introduced the following resolution:

Resolved, That on the adoption of the Constitution by the people, the Secretary of the Territory be authorized to procure a State Seal, (with a press and all necessary appendages,) in accordance with the design adopted by the Convention.

Mr. WETHERILL. That is, in the event of the adoption of the Constitution?

Mr. CHAPIN. The resolution so states. In the event of the adoption of the Constitution, the Secretary of the Territory is instructed to procure a State seal, etc. I have offered the resolution for the reason that the seal will probably be wanted at an early day, and without some such authorization the Secretary cannot procure it and have it ready for use when the State is organized.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted.

CONSTITUTION TO BE FORWARDED.

Mr. CHAPIN offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the President and Secretary of this Convention be directed, in conjunction with the Governor of Nevada Territory, to forward, immediately after the adjournment of this Convention, to the President of the United States, two certified copies of the Constitution and ordinances, as adopted by the delegates to this Convention—one by the overland route and one by steamer; and also to state to the President that if a majority of legal votes shall be cast for said Constitution in said proposed State of Nevada, then in that event the acting Governor of this Territory will certify the same to the President of the United States by telegraph, and request the President to inform the Governor and the President of this Convention, immediately, by telegraph, of his approval, and proclamation declaring the State of Nevada admitted into the Union.

Mr. CHAPIN. I will state briefly the object of the resolution. Our Enabling Act provides for the manner in which the adoption of our Constitution shall be certified to the President of the United States, and I have made use of the exact words of the Enabling Act, so far as that is concerned. But the resolution further provides that the Constitution as adopted by the Convention shall be forwarded, immediately after this Convention adjourns, in order that the President may have it to examine; also that the President be notified that he will be informed by telegraph, in the event that the Constitution is adopted by the people, and requested to inform the Governor and the President of the Convention of his approval, and proclamation declaring the State admitted, so that we may have the earliest possible official information of that interesting event. Then, having official information of the fact, we shall be prepared to act upon it, and govern ourselves accordingly.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted.

Mr. WETHERILL. I move that when we take a recess at twelve o'clock to-day, it be to meet at one o'clock. That gives us one hour, and I think that is sufficient.

Mr. BANKS. I believe there are some committees to meet during the recess.

Mr. CHAPIN. I suggest that if there be any committees that have not finished their business, it will be better to prolong the recess, or at least continue it as long as heretofore, so as to give them time. If there be none, however, I will vote for the motion.

Mr. WETHERILL. For reasons which have been assigned, I will withdraw the motion.

ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE.

Mr. DELONG. Considering that such action would be proper on the part of the Convention, I will submit a motion for the appointment of a committee to prepare an address to the people, the President to designate the number and select the committee. I think it would be legitimate, and most decidedly it would be but just and fair to ourselves, that such a committee should be created, charged with the duty of issuing an address to the people of the State after the work of framing the Constitution shall have been completed by us, setting forth the differences between this instrument and the one heretofore framed and submitted to the people, and presenting such facts in connection with the subject as might otherwise escape general observation, and which may appropriately be set forth in such a document; the whole object being simply to show the facts, as for example, the probable expense of a State Government, as compared with the territorial form of government, and the changes that have been made from the Constitution of last year.

I am induced to submit this proposition because I am aware of the fact that many have made up their minds already to vote against the Constitution, without thinking of even so much as comparing it with the former. I know that the motion is not strictly in order at this time, but I trust that it may be entertained

Monday,]

BANKS—PRESIDENT—PROCTOR—DELONG—CHAPIN.

[July 25.

without objection, and disposed of in such manner as the Convention shall judge best.

Mr. BANKS. How many counties are represented here?

The PRESIDENT. Ten.

Mr. BANKS. I will suggest, then, that we have a special committee of ten.

Mr. PROCTOR. That would be too large. A committee of three would be better.

Mr. DELONG. Let it be a committee of three, then.

The PRESIDENT. I suggest that it would be well to have as large a committee as five. Storey County has a delegation constituting about one-third of the Convention, and I think it would be proper to give that county more than one representative in the committee. Then other portions of the Territory should also be represented in part. I think the committee should consist of at least five or seven members.

Mr. DELONG. I will make the motion, then, for a committee of seven, and I think we can meet and do the business to-morrow. I should like to have a pretty large committee, and then we can subdivide our labors. There will be some duties to perform of a statistical character, and some of the committee can prepare one part of the address and others another part. Then we can possibly get through before the final adjournment, and if any correction be needed it can be made by the Convention.

Mr. BANKS. I hope there will not be anything, even by implication, involved in this motion, by which it will be considered necessary to have the address confirmed before the adjournment or final separation of the Convention. It must be obvious that the address should be framed with great care, so as not to leave a reasonable opening for attack or criticism on the part of the opposition.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair does not understand that the proposition contemplates the preparing of the address before the final adjournment of the Convention.

Mr. BANKS. I understood that to be the suggestion of the gentleman from Storey, and other gentlemen have remarked that it was usual and proper for Conventions to put forth such addresses. Now, I think, all that is necessary is for the friends of the Constitution and State organization to meet together and agree upon the outline and general policy of the address, and then it may be prepared and signed by the members of the committee, and those who may have to leave can attach their names in blank, as is often done in similar cases. Gentlemen may give their assent to certain general propositions, and then they can leave the matter with a clerk, perhaps, to write out those propositions in proper form, and attach their names. I hope the committee will be appointed, and will take all the time that may be necessary, so that they may be able to prepare an address which shall be proper not only in regard to its matter, but in respect to everything pertaining to it. Then it will win the attention and respect of the people of this Territory, and may secure their support for this Constitution.

Mr. CHAPIN. It strikes me that the committee proposed is rather too large. I will move to amend by making it five, and then add the President, which makes six.

The PRESIDENT. I cannot well give any attention to the subject, because immediately after the adjournment there will be other matters demanding my exclusive attention. I have been obliged to neglect my business almost entirely, during the whole session of the Convention.

Mr. DELONG. I hope the President will be willing to sacrifice a little more on the altar of patriotism.

The PRESIDENT. I was on a committee of this kind last year, and I found there was a good deal of labor devolving upon me in consequence. It was impossible, however, to get a meeting of the committee, and therefore no address was ever issued.

Mr. CHAPIN. Do I understand that the proposition of my colleague is that the President shall be one of the committee of seven?

Mr. DELONG. Yes, sir.

Mr. CHAPIN. Then with that understanding I withdraw my amendment.

The question was taken on the motion of Mr. DeLong, and it was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. In naming the committee, for the sake of enabling a majority to get together, the chair will appoint three members from Storey County, although that is rather an undue proportion. The Chair will appoint as the committee, Messrs. DeLong, McClinton, Collins, Banks, Kennedy, and Brosnan.

Mr. BANKS. Of course it is understood that the President is a member of the Committee.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE—JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

On motion of Mr. DELONG, the Convention resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, (the PRESIDENT remaining in the chair,) and resumed consideration of Article VI, entitled Judicial Department.

JURISDICTION OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

The CHAIRMAN stated that the pending question was on the amendment offered by Mr. Nourse, to insert after the word "responsibilities," in Section 8, the following:

"Justices of the Peace shall have jurisdiction in all civil cases at law, wherein the amount in controversy does not exceed, exclusive of interest, the sum of three hundred dollars, except as herein otherwise provided."

The CHAIRMAN. I will state to the Committee that I advised the gentleman from Washoe (Mr. Nourse) of the action taken, or rather about to be taken, by the Committee, upon his amendment, when it was last under consideration, and the Committee rose without taking a vote. I did so in order that he might have an opportunity of appearing here, and presenting his views. He stated in that connection that he did not care particularly about the amendment, that he could not be here any way, and that the members of the Convention must exercise their own judgment on the subject.

Monday,]

COLLINS—BROSNAN.

[July 25.]

Mr. COLLINS. Let us hear the section as it would read with the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Secretary will read the section with the amendment, and it is to be hoped that all the members will give strict attention to amendments as they are presented or read, because in that way a great deal of time will be saved. If gentlemen fail to pay attention, time must be lost, and confusion will be produced, by gentlemen repeatedly calling for the reading of amendments.

The SECRETARY read the section as it would stand with the proposed amendment, as follows :

Sec. 8. The Legislature shall determine the number of Justices of the Peace to be elected in each city and township of the State, and shall fix by law their powers, duties, and responsibilities. Justices of the Peace shall have jurisdiction in all civil cases at law, wherein the amount in controversy does not exceed, exclusive of interest, the sum of three hundred dollars, except as herein otherwise provided. It shall determine the manner and the cases in which appeals may be taken from Justices' and other Courts; Provided, such powers shall not in any case conflict with the jurisdiction of the several Courts of Record; and further, that such Justices' Courts shall have no jurisdiction in the trial of cases wherein the title to real estate or mining claims, or the right of possession, is or may be involved. The Supreme Court, the District Courts, and such other Courts as the Legislature shall designate, shall be Courts of Record.

The question was taken on the amendment proposed by Mr. Nourse, and it was not agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN. Amendments generally are still in order.

Mr. BROSNAN. On Saturday last, Mr. Chairman, there was considerable contention, as you doubtless remember, in regard to this subject of the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace, and I expressed my own views on that occasion, to the effect that there are some instances in which Justices of the Peace might properly have a limited jurisdiction, even in certain cases where the possession of real property may be involved. I have since given the matter some consideration, and am still of the same opinion. I do not mean by possession the right to possession, because, if I understand that subject, the question of right of possession necessarily involves the question of title, especially in cases where there is no actual possession, or what the law calls pedis possessio. In all such cases a controversy about the right of possession involves the title to land, but in cases where there is an actual occupancy, the title is not necessarily involved.

The views on this subject which I propose to present, with the permission of the Convention, may require a little more than five minutes time. In order to obviate the difficulty which appeared to rest in the mind of my colleague, (Mr. Collins,) and also seemed to press upon the mind of the gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Banks,) as well as the difficulty which was presented by my other friend, the gentleman from Esmeralda, (Mr. Wetherill,) I have drawn up a section, or rather an addition to this Section 8, which I think will meet all their objections, although it is necessarily rather long. At the same time, I will say that for myself I am convinced that the section, as it stands now, is amply sufficient to meet all those objections which gentlemen have urged; and for this reason, that the Legislature already has the power to confer upon Justices of the Peace all the powers, duties, and responsibilities that may be deemed proper, provided they do not conflict with the jurisdiction granted to Courts of Record. There is, however, one word omitted in the section, as here printed in the Virginia Union, and, I believe, as read by the Secretary. The word "powers" should occur in the fifth line of the section, as reported, but it appears that it has been omitted, and if so, I desire that the word shall be inserted.

The SECRETARY. It is here in the manuscript report, from which I have read.

Mr. BROSNAN. Very well; then under that term the Legislature has power given it already, to confer upon Justices of the Peace all possible jurisdiction not in conflict with the jurisdiction previously granted to the Courts of Record. That is my own belief, and a belief so positive as to leave not a shadow of doubt in my mind. At the same time, for the satisfaction of other members of the Convention, and to meet the objections which gentlemen have presented, I have drawn up this addition to the section, and in trying to have it very plain and satisfactory to all, I have, perhaps, made it a little longer than it should be. I propose, after the word "responsibilities," to strike out all of the section down to and including the word "involved," and insert in lieu thereof the following :

"Provided, that such Justices' Courts shall not have jurisdiction of the following cases, viz :

First. Of cases in which the matter in dispute is a money demand or personal property, and the amount of the demand, (exclusive of interest,) or the value of the property, exceeds three hundred dollars.

Second. Of cases wherein the title to real estate or mining claims, or questions of boundaries to land, is or may be involved; or of cases that in any manner shall conflict with the jurisdiction of the several Courts of Record in this State.

And provided further, that Justices' Courts shall have such criminal jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law. And the Legislature may confer upon said Courts jurisdiction concurrent with the District Courts, of actions to enforce mechanics' liens wherein the amount, (exclusive of interest,) does not exceed three hundred dollars; and also of actions for the possession of lands and tenements, where the relation of landlord and tenant exists, or when such possession has been unlawfully or fraudulently obtained or withheld. The Legislature shall also prescribe the manner and determine the cases in which appeals may be taken from the Justices' and other Courts."

This amendment, I think, will obviate all the objections that have been urged by my colleague, (Mr. Collins,) and other gentlemen.

Monday,]

CHAIRMAN—BROSNAN—BANKS.

[July 25.

The provision authorizing the conferring of criminal jurisdiction was not in the original section, and I really think it very necessary. For instance, when a complaint is made for assault and battery, or other misdemeanor of small grade, Justices of the Peace clearly should have jurisdiction of the offense.

The CHAIRMAN. In the latter portion of the proviso, relating to actions of possession, is there any limit as to the amount?

Mr. BROSNAN. No limitation is specified, but it only relates to a naked possession, without any reference to the right of possession or title.

Now I will ask the attention of the Committee for a moment to this subject. Our understanding, in this Territory, of the action of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, is in a great measure derived from the manner in which that action has been conducted, and cases under it disposed of, in California. In all well regulated legislation, so far as I understand, the action of forcible entry is made a distinct proceeding and action from that where in the entry is peaceable, but the detainer becomes unlawful. Indeed, from the origin of the action of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, it has been considered in the light of a criminal proceeding, or, as it is termed in the law books, a quasi-criminal proceeding; and in no State that I am aware of, have the two actions—that of forcible entry and that of unlawful detainer—been blended together. In the State of California, however, they are blended in the same legislative act, and our Territory, copying, undoubtedly, from that State, has also blended in its act both proceedings, out of which circumstance much confusion has grown, both in California and in this Territory.

In New York, the action for a forcible entry is proceeded with in this way: complaint is made before a Justice of the Peace, or before a County Judge, that a forcible entry has been made; an inquisition is then directed by him, and a jury is summoned to investigate the matter. In the proceeding before the County Judge, a jury of twelve men investigates the matter, and if they find that a forcible entry has been committed, a writ of entry is issued, and the intruder is placed out of possession. But in actions where the relation of landlord and tenant exists, the Justice of the Peace has jurisdiction of the matter, because the tenant is prohibited from a proceeding to inquire into the right of possession or the title to the property of his landlord. In other words, he is estopped in law from questioning the title or right of possession of his landlord. Having gone in with his permission, and under a contract with him, his mouth is hermetically sealed against alleging anything detrimental to the interest of his landlord, although the landlord may not have the right of possession or title. As between the tenant and the landlord, the tenant is estopped in law from disputing the right of the landlord in cases of that character. I am stating now a general principle of law, and it is manifest that even without any sort of legislative regulation on the subject, Justices of the Peace may safely be entrusted with jurisdiction to that extent, in cases of such a character.

This action of forcible entry, as it has been understood, is an indictable offense. Where one man, or a multitude of people proceed in a threatening manner to take violent possession of any premises, the act is a misdemeanor at common law, but that does not apply except in a case where an actual occupant has been forcibly driven out. It does not apply in cases where there is no occupancy, for there can be no force used in such a case, and therefore the matter cannot be tried before a Justice of the Peace, because where there is an actual occupancy the only way to turn the occupant out is by an action of ejectment, which involves the right of possession. Now I have inserted in this amendment the words "unlawfully or fraudulently." My idea would have been clearly expressed if I had simply used the words "actual possession," but I have employed the word "fraudulently," for the reason that in the course of my experience I have found a case like this—a case in which I was counsel, and which went to the Supreme Court: In the City of San Francisco, down somewhere near Market Street, running out into the water, was a triangular piece of ground leased by a man named Minturn. It was of great value, and he had rented it. On the day that his lease was to expire he gave his tenant notice to quit, and the tenant left the possession at night and another man stepped in and took possession, who was in complicity with the outgoing tenant. In that case, with the complicity of the tenant and the intruder, who came in upon his leaving, a question arose as to whether it was or was not a forcible entry and unlawful detainer. There was much dispute about it, though I never doubted for a moment that it was an unlawful detainer; although even in that view the plaintiff would have had to commence his proceedings again. But it was clearly a fraudulent possession, and it was unlawful. Now in that particular case—and many others might be discovered without much research, where possession has been obtained by fraud, or where the parties holding under a lease have not been willing to give up the premises at the expiration of the lease—the possession not being obtained by force, the parties could not be put out under a proceeding of forcible entry. That is all I desire to say on the subject, and I now submit my amendment.

[Mr. CRAWFORD in the chair.]

Mr. BANKS. I would like to hear the amendment read once from the desk.

The CHAIRMAN. The Secretary will read the section, with the amendment proposed.

The Secretary read as follows:

SEC. 8. The Legislature shall determine the number

Monday.]

COLLINS—BROSNAN—BANKS—JOHNSON—KENNEDY—PROCTOR.

[July 25.]

of Justices of the Peace to be elected in each city and township of the State, and shall fix by law their powers, duties, and responsibilities; Provided, that such Justices' Courts shall not have jurisdiction of the following cases, viz :

First—Of cases in which the matter in dispute is a money demand or personal property, and the amount of the demand, (exclusive of interest,) or the value of the property, exceeds three hundred dollars.

Second—Of cases wherein the title to real estate or mining claims, or questions of boundaries to land, is or may be involved; or of cases that in any manner shall conflict with the jurisdiction of the several Courts of Record in this State;

And provided further, that Justices' Courts shall have such criminal jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law. And the Legislature may confer upon said Courts jurisdiction concurrent with the District Courts, of actions to enforce mechanics' liens, wherein the amount (exclusive of interest) does not exceed three hundred dollars; and, also, of actions for the possession of lands and tenements, where the relation of landlord and tenant exists, or when such possession has been unlawfully or fraudulently obtained or withheld. The Legislature shall also prescribe the manner and determine the cases in which appeals may be taken from Justices' and other Courts. The Supreme Court, the District Courts, and such other Courts as the Legislature shall designate, shall be Courts of Record.

Mr. COLLINS. Will that give a Justice's Court the right of foreclosing a mortgage, in a case where the sum involved is less than three hundred dollars?

Mr. BROSNAN. It will not, sir; nothing but a mechanics' lien.

Mr. BANKS. Then I understand from the gentleman from Storey that in case of the foreclosing of mechanics' liens, suit may be brought within the amount of three hundred dollars, in a Justice's Court. That is, it may be brought either in a Justices' Court, or the District Court, provided the amount involved is less than three hundred dollars.

Mr. BROSNAN. The mechanic having a lien to that amount, has his choice of courts.

Mr. COLLINS. Will the gentleman be kind enough to state, in a few words, the reason why he thinks it would be unsafe to allow the privilege to a Justice of the Peace to foreclose a mortgage for an amount not exceeding three hundred dollars?

Mr. JOHNSON. That question is not involved in this amendment, and I think it has already been sufficiently discussed.

Mr. COLLINS. I think it is directly involved.

Mr. JOHNSON. Then I rise to a point of order, if it comes to that, that the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) has spoken his full time.

Mr. BANKS. I move that the rule be suspended so as to allow him to proceed.

The CHAIRMAN. The rules cannot be suspended in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. JOHNSON. I will state that I do not raise the point for the purpose of preventing the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) from speaking, because, as I think the gentleman himself believes, I would listen to him with great satisfaction; but I make the point for this reason, that the explanation sought for, would only serve to open afresh the discussion of the same question which occupied so much of our time on Saturday night, and which is not necessarily involved in this amendment.

Mr. BANKS. I hope that, by general consent, the gentleman from Storey will be allowed to proceed.

Mr. JOHNSON. I object. If the gentleman will force me into the disagreeable position of making an objection in this instance, then I feel it my duty to object.

The question was taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Brosnan, and it was agreed to.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the section, as amended, and it was adopted.

[The PRESIDENT in the chair.]

The CHAIRMAN. General amendments are still in order.

THE FILLING OF VACANCIES.

Mr. BROSNAN. I will inquire of the President of the Convention, before I offer an additional section to this article, whether or not there is anything already adopted, in this Constitution, which provides for the filling of vacancies in the Judicial Department? I have forgotten whether there is such a provision or not.

The CHAIRMAN. There is a section, I think in the article on Executive Department, to the effect that, in a case where provision is not otherwise made, the Governor may fill the vacancy by appointment, until the next election.

Mr. BROSNAN. I had drawn up a section to add to the article on Judicial Department, because I could not recollect that any such provision had been adopted.

Mr. KENNEDY. In Section 8 of the article on Executive Department, the gentleman from Storey will find the provision.

Mr. BROSNAN. I think that will answer the purpose.

Mr. BANKS. Let the Secretary read the section.

The SECRETARY read, as follows :

SEC. 8. When any office shall, from any cause, become vacant, and no mode is provided by the Constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, the Governor shall have power to fill such vacancy by granting a commission, which shall expire at the next election and qualification of the person entitled to such office.

Mr. BROSNAN. Now in regard to that, suppose that one of the Justices of the Supreme Court should die—a thing which I hope will not happen during his term of office, at least—and the term for which he was elected should not expire for three or four years thereafter. It is not intended, I apprehend, that the Governor shall, in such a case, fill his place for the rest of the term; and yet I do not see why he may not do it under that section.

Mr. PROCTOR. It says the commission shall expire at the next election and qualification of the person elected.

Mr. BROSNAN. Then the office would have to be filled by election, and I do not see but the man elected would hold the office for the next six years. In that manner the whole system might become deranged. The vacancy should only be supplied, by appointment, until the election, and then a judge should be elected merely for the unexpired term of the incumbent who has vacated the office.

Monday.] CHAIRMAN—BROSNAN—BANKS—PROCTOR—MCCLENTON—HAWLEY—KENNEDY. [July 25.

The CHAIRMAN. I have a very strong impression that there is a section other than that—I do not recollect where it is to be found—which provides for filling vacancies.

Mr. BROSNAN. I have drawn a section to be inserted in this article, which I will read for information.

SEC.—In case the office of any Justice of the Supreme Court, or District Judge, shall become vacant before the expiration of the regular term for which he was elected, the vacancy may be filled by appointment by the Governor, until it shall be supplied at the next general election, when it shall be filled by election, for the residue of the unexpired term.

That will make the system harmonious.

Mr. BANKS. That prescribes the manner of filling the vacancies in judicial offices only. Now that, it occurs to me, is just the provision which should be applied in the cases of all other officers. My recollection is, that there is somewhere a provision in relation to filling vacancies, and I ask why not apply the same provision to all the officers in the same section?

Mr. BROSNAN. There is no objection, that I know of. We may say "all other State officers."

The CHAIRMAN. If it is made general in its application, this is probably not the proper place for it. Its more appropriate place, it occurs to me, would be among the miscellaneous provisions.

Mr. BANKS. My recollection was that we had such a section in the article entitled Miscellaneous Provisions, but I do not find it there, and I think I must have been mistaken. I hope the matter will be passed over, so that a section framed in substantially the same language, or at any rate, covering that ground, may be incorporated in the article on Miscellaneous Provisions. Some gentleman present may remember the case of Bodie, in San Francisco, which involved the very question suggested by the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Brosnan.) It is certainly important to obviate any difficulty of that kind, by the incorporation of some such provision in our Constitution.

Mr. PROCTOR. Would not this answer the purpose?

"The tenure of any office not herein provided for, may be declared by law."

The CHAIRMAN. The Constitution does declare the tenure of these officers, and therefore, unless we adopt some section of this character, it would seem to be in the power of the Executive, in case of a vacancy, to supply the residue of the term by appointment, and thus preclude a choice by the people, although one or more general elections may take place in the meantime. I was under the impression that we had already adopted such a section somewhere, so framed as to be applicable to all officers. If such is not the case, the only suggestion I wish to make is by way of inquiry, whether the section should not be incorporated in some other place than the article on Judicial Department, if it is to be made applicable to all other officers.

Mr. BROSNAN. I think it is not very material where it is placed.

The CHAIRMAN. General elections occur usually every year, and it seems to me that in the case of a vacancy, the people should certainly have the power of supplying such vacancy at their first election. If there is no objection, we will suspend action whilst gentlemen are consulting on the subject.

Mr. MCCLENTON. I move that the section introduced by the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) be referred to the Committee on Schedule. I believe that committee has had the article entitled Miscellaneous Provisions under consideration.

The CHAIRMAN. That motion can be entertained by way of a recommendation of the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. HAWLEY. I will move to amend, so as to refer the section to a select committee of three, with instructions to incorporate it among the Miscellaneous Provisions.

Mr. MCCLENTON. I will accept the amendment.

Mr. BROSNAN. Upon consultation with other members, I will withdraw it. I think that is the better way.

The CHAIRMAN. Being withdrawn, it can be offered at a future time, to be placed in the appropriate article. If there be no objection, the gentleman has leave to withdraw his amendment.

Mr. KENNEDY. I move that the Committee rise and report the article back to the Convention, with the amendments which have been adopted.

The question was taken, the motion was agreed to, and the Committee accordingly rose.

IN CONVENTION.

The SECRETARY reported that the Committee of the Whole had had under consideration Article VI, entitled Judicial Department, had made some amendments thereto, and had instructed him to report the article back to the Convention, and recommend its passage with such amendments.

The report was accepted, the several amendments made in Committee of the Whole were agreed to, and the article, as amended, was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE—SCHEDULE.

On motion of Mr. KENNEDY, the Convention resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, (the PRESIDENT remaining in the chair,) for the consideration of the latter portion of Article XVIII, entitled Schedule.

The CHAIRMAN. The committee had progressed last evening as far Section 12, which

Monday.]

CHAIRMAN—DUNNE—FRIZELL—WARWICK—McCLINTON.

[July 25.]

was amended and adopted. The Secretary will read the next section.

THE DEBATES AND PROCEEDINGS.

The SECRETARY read Section 13, as follows :

SEC. 13. At the first regular session of the Legislature, to convene under the requirements of this Constitution, provision shall be made by law for the payment of the publication of six hundred copies of the proceedings of this Convention, in book form, to be disposed of as the Legislature may direct; and the Hon. J. Neely Johnson, President of this Convention, shall contract for, and A. J. Marsh, Official Reporter of this Convention, under the direction of the President, shall supervise the publication of such proceedings. Provision shall be made by law, at such first session of the Legislature, for the compensation of the Official Reporter of this Convention, and he shall be paid in coin, or its equivalent. He shall receive for his services, in reporting the debates and proceedings, fifteen dollars per day during the session of the Convention, and seven and one-half dollars additional for each evening session, and thirty cents per folio of one hundred words for preparing the same for publication; and for supervising and indexing such publication, the sum of fifteen dollars per day during the time actually engaged in such service.

No amendment being offered, the section, as read, was adopted.

CONTINUANCE OF TERRITORIAL OFFICERS.

Section 14 was read, as follows :

SEC. 14. The Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, and Superintendent of Public Instruction of the Territory of Nevada, shall each continue to discharge the duties of their respective offices after the admission of this State into the Union, and until the time designated for the qualification of the above named officers to be elected under the State Government; and the Territorial Auditor shall continue to discharge the duties of his said office until the time appointed for the qualification of the State Controller; provided, that said officers shall each receive the salaries and be subject to the restrictions and conditions as provided in this Constitution; and provided further, that none of them shall receive to his own use any fees or perquisites for the performance of any duty connected with his office.

No amendment being offered, the section, as read, was adopted.

TERMS OF COURTS.

The Secretary next read Section 17, (the sections as numbered in the report of the Committee on Schedule apparently having been transposed,) as follows :

SEC. 17. The terms of the Supreme Court shall be held at the seat of government of the State, and the terms of the District Courts and County Courts respectively, shall be held at the county seats of such counties respectively; and until provision shall be made by law, the terms of the Supreme Court shall be held at such times as a majority of the judges of said court may appoint. The first term of the District Court in each county, and the County Court in Storey County, shall commence on the first Monday of December, 1864. The Legislature shall provide by law for the time of holding the terms of the Supreme, District, and County Courts.

The CHAIRMAN. I call the attention of the gentleman from Humboldt (Mr. Dunne) to this section. The Convention having determined to dispense altogether with the County Courts, that portion relating to a County Court in Storey County should be stricken out, so as to conform to the previous action of the Convention.

Mr. DUNNE. I move to amend by striking out the words "and the County Court in Storey County;" also, in the last line, the words "and County Courts."

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

Mr. FRIZELL. I think there should be a further amendment. It now reads—"The first term of the District Court in each county," but it should be "in each district," because these District Courts are established in districts, and so named, and in some cases a district comprises more than one county; as, for instance, Nye and Churchill Counties together, constitute one district.

The CHAIRMAN. There was some conversation relative to establishing a District Court in each county.

Mr. WARWICK. The County of Roop is attached to Washoe, also.

The CHAIRMAN. Roop County is not an organized county, and it is attached to Washoe for legislative as well as judicial purposes. I think the only way to obviate the seeming contradiction is to make an exceptional case of the district composed of Nye and Churchill, providing, if you please, that in that district the court shall be held in one county in December, and in the other county the following month. The Legislature may regulate the matter thereafter. The language of the section is general, the intention being to organize the courts at once in each county. It reads—"The first term of the District Court in each county shall commence on the first Monday of December," and unless an exception is made in that case, the query would be whether the court should commence in Nye or in Churchill County.

Mr. McCLINTON. Suppose we say—"except in such districts as are composed of more than one county?"

The CHAIRMAN. There is only one such district.

Mr. McCLINTON. But others may be organized hereafter.

The CHAIRMAN. Then the Legislature can provide for the times and places of holding the terms. This section, the gentleman will observe, is only designed to put in operation the machinery of the courts, until such time as the Legislature can fix the terms. I think it will be found that the language here employed can be made to meet the exigencies of the case, by making that one exception.

Mr. FRIZELL. How would it do to let it read "in each county or district?"

The CHAIRMAN. That will not relieve the difficulty. It declares that the term shall commence on the first Monday of December, and the question would then be whether in that district it should commence in Nye, or in Churchill County.

Mr. FRIZELL. If we say "in each county or district," that would leave it to the judge,

Monday,] CHAIRMAN—BANKS—McCLINTON—WARWICK—BROSNAN—PROCTOR—DELONG. [July 25-

I think; though it is not very definite, it is true.

The CHAIRMAN. It is not sufficiently so to make it obligatory. We want to make the language sufficiently definite.

Mr. BANKS. We might amend by a proviso, that in the judicial district composed of the Counties of Nye and Churchill, the first term shall be held on the first Monday of December, in one of the counties to be named.

Mr. McCLINTON. I rise to a question of order. There is not a quorum present.

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary will count the committee.

The SECRETARY reported eighteen members present.

IN CONVENTION.

The PRESIDENT. It will be considered that the Committee of the Whole, being without a quorum, has risen and reported that fact. What is the pleasure of the Convention?

Mr. WARWICK. If the Convention will delay a moment, I think I can bring in a quorum, and so prevent the necessity of a call of the House, or other official action on the subject.

The SECRETARY, (after a few moments' delay,) counted the Convention, and reported that twenty-two members were present.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE—SCHEDULE.

On motion of Mr. McCLINTON, the Convention again resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, (the PRESIDENT remaining in the chair,) and resumed consideration of Article XVIII, entitled Schedule.

The CHAIRMAN. I suggest that there had better be a transposition of these sections. The section providing for the publication of the report of the debates and proceedings, and the compensation of the Reporter, is printed as Section 19 in the old Constitution, and it occurs to me that should properly be the last section in the article, as it appears to be a conclusion of everything else. It had better be placed last, probably, in making up the article for engrossment, and the section we are now considering, (Section 17, as reported,) should be numbered 14.

Mr. BROSNAN. That will make the section to which the Chair refers No. 20.

The SECRETARY. It is Section 13 now.

Mr. BROSNAN. I move to make it the last section in the article.

The CHAIRMAN. If there is no objection that order will be made, and the preceding sections numbered accordingly.

TERMS OF COURTS.

The CHAIRMAN. Section 14, as it is now numbered, which provides for the first terms of the courts, is under consideration.

Mr. PROCTOR. I offer an amendment to that section, to insert after the word "respectively," the following:

"Except in the Fifth District, where the first term of the District Court in the County of Nye shall commence on the first Monday in December, 1864, and in the County of Churchill shall commence on the first Monday in January, 1865."

Mr. DELONG. Is the Nye County delegation unanimous in support of that amendment?

The CHAIRMAN. Perhaps the gentleman means to inquire in regard to the unanimity of the Churchill delegation.

Mr. DELONG. I suggest that the amendment be referred to the delegation from Churchill. [Merriment.]

The question was taken on Mr. Proctor's amendment, and it was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN. I will call attention to the fact that the latter clause of this section has already been adopted in the article entitled Judicial Department. The clause I refer to reads as follows:

"The Legislature shall provide by law for the time of holding the terms of the Supreme and District Courts."

Mr. DELONG. I move to amend by striking out that clause.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

VACANCIES.

Mr. BANKS. Can anybody tell what provision has been made for the filling of vacancies in the county officers? I do not remember of any section in the previous article providing for that matter.

The CHAIRMAN. Such a provision was adopted some time ago. It was provided that the Legislature shall not create any office, the tenure of which shall exceed four years, and power was conferred upon the Governor, I think, to fill vacancies in State offices, the intention being that vacancies in the county offices shall be filled by the respective Boards of County Commissioners.

Mr. BANKS. I think we have adopted no provision for filling vacancies under the State organization.

The CHAIRMAN. An amendment has been prepared, to be offered at a proper time, providing specifically for filling vacancies for a given time. I believe the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) has the amendment ready to be presented.

LANDER COUNTY OFFICERS.

Mr. WARWICK. There is a slight error that occurred in making up the report of the Committee on Schedule, which I wish to have corrected, when it shall be in order. It was deemed necessary, in order to make all the future elections take place at one time, to provide that the election of county officers in the County of Lander shall take place this year, instead of next year. That was agreed to in the committee, but in my absence it was somehow overlooked in making up the report. I desire, therefore, to offer an amendment to Section 12, which provides for the continuance of the territorial county officers, whenever such an amendment will be in order.

Monday,] CHAIRMAN—BANKS—DELONG—PARKER—PROCTOR—COLLINS—BROSNAN. [July 25.

The CHAIRMAN. General amendments will be in order when we have concluded the reading of the article by sections, and then we can recur to Section 12, if necessary. Section 14 is still undisposed of.

TERMS OF COURTS—AGAIN.

Mr. BANKS. Will the Secretary read Section 14, as now amended.

The SECRETARY read Section 14, as amended, as follows :

SEC. 14. The terms of the Supreme Court shall be held at the seat of government of the State, and the terms of the District Courts shall be held at the county seats of such counties respectively, except in the Fifth District, where the first term of the District Court in the County of Nye shall commence on the first Monday in December, 1864, and in the County of Churchill shall commence on the first Monday in January, 1865; and until provision shall be made by law, the terms of the Supreme Court shall be held at such times as a majority of the judges of said Court may appoint. The first term of the District Court in each county shall commence on the first Monday of December, 1864.

Mr. DELONG. I move to strike out "Nye," wherever it occurs. [Laughter.]

Mr. PARKER. And insert "Churchill."

Mr. PROCTOR. No; you had better insert "Storey." [Merriment.]

STATE SEAL.

Mr. DELONG. For information, I wish to ask if the State Seal has been adopted?

The CHAIRMAN. I am informed by the Secretary, that the report of the Committee on State Seal has been adopted, and the resolution reported, providing for a State Seal, was passed. Being simply a resolution, and forming no part of the Constitution, no further action on the part of the Convention appears to be necessary on the subject. The Chair will remind gentlemen that we are now in Committee of the Whole, and Section 14 of the Schedule is under consideration.

TERMS OF COURTS—AGAIN.

Mr. PROCTOR. I offer a substitute for the whole section.

The SECRETARY read the substitute, as follows :

SEC. 14. The terms of the Supreme Court shall, until provision be made by law, be held at such times as the judges of the said court, or a majority of them, may appoint. The first terms of the several District Courts, (except as hereinafter mentioned,) shall commence on the first Monday of December, 1864. The first term of the District Court in the Fifth Judicial District, shall commence on the first Monday of December, 1864, in the County of Nye, and shall commence on the first Monday of January, 1865, in the County of Churchill. The terms of the Fourth Judicial District shall, until otherwise provided by law, be held at the county seat of Washoe County, and the first term thereof be held on the first Monday of December, 1864.

Mr. COLLINS. If my memory serves me correctly, there has been provision made that the Supreme Court shall be held here permanently.

Mr. PROCTOR. Yes, sir; this is simply as to the time of the first term.

Mr. COLLINS. I would like to make a remark upon that when the proper time comes.

The CHAIRMAN. This section is to provide for the time of holding the several terms of the District Courts. In order to render it certain that in the Washoe and Roop District, until otherwise provided by law, the term shall be held in Washoe County, it embraces the places of holding the term for that county, but it only provides for the time of holding the first terms of the other District Courts, and the Supreme Court.

Mr. COLLINS. It seems to me that it will work a hardship upon litigants, since the whole system has been changed by abolishing the County Courts, and giving the District Courts jurisdiction in all cases amounting to over three hundred dollars. It certainly seems to me very hard that a man in Lander County, for instance, should be brought up here on an appeal, in a case amounting to only three hundred dollars, thus eating up over and over again the value of the property in controversy.

Mr. BROSNAN. I will state, by permission of my colleague, that the section we have adopted makes appeals to the District Court final.

Mr. COLLINS. But we had County Courts with original jurisdiction in all cases amounting to between three hundred and five hundred dollars, and now the whole of that jurisdiction is given to the District Courts, and has to come up here, from the District Courts to the Supreme Court, on appeal. The case which would formerly have been tried in the County Court, cannot be taken up on appeal to the District Court, but the appeal must be to the Supreme Court. It seems to me that the arrangement is an admirable one for certain classes, but will work a great hardship to litigants.

Mr. BROSNAN. I am afraid my friend is laboring under a mistake. I understand that under the system which is now in operation, Justices of the Peace do not have as extended a jurisdiction as three hundred dollars. Hitherto I think they have not had jurisdiction over one hundred dollars, and now we propose to extend it to three hundred dollars. Formerly there was an appeal from the Justices' Courts to the County Court of the same county; now there is an appeal from the Justices' Courts to the District Court in the same county, which is equivalent to the appeal to the County Court, heretofore allowed. We extend the jurisdiction of the Justices' Courts, as I have said, and we make the appeal to the District Courts final. Therefore the gentleman's argument in regard to the hardship to litigants, if I apprehend it correctly, is unfounded, because he bases it on the assumption that an appeal from a Justice's Court will lie to the Supreme Court, which is not the case. If a man commences a suit in a Justice's Court in Lander County, it cannot be appealed to the Supreme Court, so that he suffers no such hardship as the gentleman has supposed.

Monday.] COLLINS—BANKS—DELONG—KENNEDY—MCCLINTON—CHAIRMAN—BROSNAN. [July 25.

Mr. COLLINS. The gentleman entirely misapprehends me.

The CHAIRMAN. All this discussion is out of order.

Mr. COLLINS. I wish to put myself right, however. [Leave! Leave!] I certainly did not intimate that there was no appeal from the Justices' Courts to the District Court, or that such an appeal was not final. That is explicitly stated in the article we have adopted. But I say that all cases involving over three hundred dollars in value must be taken up on appeal to the Supreme Court. I was going on to urge, at the proper time, that the Supreme Court should have certain Districts established.

The CHAIRMAN. That would change the whole judicial system.

Mr. COLLINS. Well, I think it had better be changed or abolished.

The question was taken on the substitute offered by Mr. Proctor, and it was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on adopting the section, as amended.

Mr. BANKS. I understood the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) to say, or to intimate, that in cases of appeals from the Justices' Courts to the District Courts, the decision of the District Courts should be final.

The CHAIRMAN. Any remarks upon that subject are out of order at this time, as the Chair has already intimated, and we shall certainly not get through with our business very soon, if discussion is permitted on extrinsic matters. The question is on the adoption of the section, as amended. If the gentleman from Humboldt desires to speak to that question, he can do so.

Mr. BANKS. I do not wish to speak, under the ruling of the Chair, but it certainly seems to be very close.

The CHAIRMAN. It may be necessary to rule closer than that before we get through our business.

Mr. BANKS. The remarks I desire to make I know would be out of order, considered alone, but I wish to say something before I get through, with reference to the section.

The CHAIRMAN. If there is no objection the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. DELONG. I object.

The question was taken on the adoption of the section, as amended, and it was adopted.

TERMS OF FIRST STATE OFFICERS.

Section 15 was read, as follows :

SEC. 15. The Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Controller, Attorney-General, Surveyor-General, Clerk of the Supreme Court, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, to be elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall each be qualified and enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the first Monday of December succeeding their election, and shall continue in office until the first Tuesday after the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until the election and qualification of their successors respectively.

Mr. KENNEDY. I move the adoption of the section as read.

Mr. MCCLINTON. Where will provision be made for the amount of bonds to be given by the State officers for their first terms?

Mr. DELONG. The Legislature will provide for that.

Mr. MCCLINTON. But the Legislature cannot even assemble till after the Governor is sworn in.

The CHAIRMAN. It is not usual for a Governor to give bonds.

Mr. MCCLINTON. But the Secretary of State and Controller must give bonds.

The CHAIRMAN. I will say that the understanding is this, with reference to those officers who are required to give bonds, that before the meeting of the Legislature—and I will mention in that relation, that a section has already been adopted, I think, or, at any rate, it is contemplated, to confine in force the laws of the Territory, so far as they are applicable and consistent with this Constitution, and those laws would certainly be applicable, and not inconsistent, in this matter of prescribing the duties and requirements of all these officers, except those which are not known to the Territorial laws—

Mr. DELONG. The Controller is not.

The CHAIRMAN. But the Territorial Auditor continues till the Controller elected is prepared to enter upon his duties. It might, however, be somewhat a stretch of language to make the Territorial laws apply to the Controller; and it will be remembered that I recommended and advocated the changing of the name of that officer from Controller to Auditor, but the sense of the Convention was adverse to the proposition. It may possibly be necessary to make some special provision relative to the bonds of the Controller, as also of the Surveyor-General.

Mr. MCCLINTON. That is why I made the inquiry. I knew that we had provided for the creation of officers unknown to the Territorial form of government, and the question arose in my mind as to what power there would be to require them to give any bonds at all.

The CHAIRMAN. There is certainly no provision applicable to those officers in the Territorial laws.

Mr. MCCLINTON. Then it would be proper, I suppose, to incorporate here a section making that provision.

Mr. DELONG. Several other questions might arise, as for instance, who are to issue their commissions, and who are to swear them in, if all the Territorial officers are legislated out under the Constitution?

The CHAIRMAN. These are pertinent inquiries, and should receive the attention of the committee, or members of the Convention. At the proper time it will, of course, be in order to move such provisions as have been suggested.

Mr. BROSNAN. I hope that the gentlemen

Monday.] WARWICK—CHAIRMAN—BROSNAN—McCLINTON—BANKS—COLLINS, ETC. [July 25.

making these suggestions will draw up the necessary amendments.

No amendment being offered, the section, as read, was adopted.

COMMENCEMENT OF TERMS OF FIRST JUDGES.

Section 16 was read, as follows :

SEC. 16. The Judges of the Supreme Court, District Judges, and County Judges, provided to be elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall be qualified and enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the first Monday of December succeeding their election.

Mr. WARWICK. Was it not the instruction of the Convention to strike out the words "County Judges" wherever they occur?

The CHAIRMAN. Yes, sir. The Secretary will make that amendment.

No further amendment being offered, the section, as amended, was adopted.

The CHAIRMAN. On examining the section just adopted, I think there is another section contained in the Judiciary article, which is substantially the same.

Mr. BROSNAN. This provides that they shall hold from and including the first Monday in December. That makes it right.

The CHAIRMAN. But the Chair understands that the same provision is made in a section adopted previously. We should avoid a repetition.

Mr. McCLINTON. I move to reconsider the vote by which the section was adopted, and I would like to hear the section read to which the Chairman refers.

Mr. BROSNAN. The provision is contained in Sections 3 and 5 of the article on the Judicial Department.

Mr. BANKS. How are the first Supreme Court Judges to agree upon who shall have the long, and who the short terms?

Mr. BROSNAN. They are to cast lots. I will read that portion of Section 5 which relates to the terms of the first District Judges :

"At the first general election under this Constitution, there shall be elected in each of the respective districts, (except as in this section hereafter otherwise provided,) one District Judge, who shall hold office from and including the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864, and until the first Monday of January, in the year 1867."

A similar provision is made in the section relating to the Justices of the Supreme Court.

The CHAIRMAN. Having some personal knowledge of the matter, I will state, as explanatory of the apparent confusion, that the committee having in charge the Schedule and Miscellaneous Provisions was not advised, when its report was made, of the action taken by the Judiciary Committee on this subject, and in the meantime, after the report had been submitted to the Convention, action was had also by the Convention on the report of the Judiciary Committee.

The question was taken on Mr. McClinton's motion to reconsider the vote adopting Section 16, and the motion was agreed to.

Mr. McCLINTON. Now I move that Section 16 be stricken out.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

COMMISSIONS AND BONDS OF STATE OFFICERS.

Mr. DELONG. I move to amend by adding to the article the following section :

SEC. —. All officers of State first elected under this Constitution, shall receive their commissions from the Governor of this Territory, countersigned by the Secretary of the same, and shall qualify before entering upon the discharge of their duties before one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of this Territory ; and also, the State Controller and State Treasurer shall, before they qualify and enter upon the discharge of their duties, execute and deliver to the Secretary of the Territory an official bond in the sum of fifty thousand dollars each, to be approved by the Governor of this Territory.

Mr. COLLINS. Do I understand that they are not to receive commissions?

Mr. DELONG. Certainly ; all State officers first elected are to be commissioned by the Governor of the Territory.

Mr. COLLINS. That will exclude the District Judges.

Mr. DELONG. I will accept an amendment to include them. Let it read "all officers of State, and District Judges first elected," etc.

Mr. McCLINTON. I suggest that the Surveyor-General should be required to give bonds, also.

Mr. KINKEAD. How long is it proposed that these bonds shall remain in force?

Mr. DELONG. As long as the officers elected hold their offices.

Mr. KINKEAD. There seems to be no proper proportion observed in these bonds. It occurs to me that the Treasurer's bond should be considerably larger, and the Controller's smaller.

Mr. COLLINS. I suggest whether it would not be better to leave the amount of the bonds entirely to the Legislature.

The CHAIRMAN. The Controller and Treasurer, at least, should give bonds before entering upon their duties.

Mr. DELONG. I will accept any amendment which the gentleman from Ormsby (Mr. Kinkead) thinks would be proper in reference to the amount of the bonds. I think that unless we adopt some such provision, those officers cannot be required to give any additional bonds, and consequently we had better fix the specific amount which we think they ought to give.

Mr. KINKEAD. Why not leave it to the Legislature to fix the amount of their bonds?

Mr. CHAPIN. I will move to amend the section so as to provide that it shall remain in force until otherwise provided by law.

Mr. DELONG. As some modifications are clearly necessary, I will withdraw the section for the present.

CONTINUANCE OF COUNTY OFFICERS.

Mr. KINKEAD. I am informed by one of

Monday,]

WARWICK—CHAIRMAN—KENNEDY—DELONG.

[July 25.

the reporters that Section 12 of this article has not yet been adopted.

The CHAIRMAN. The Secretary will read Section 12.

The SECRETARY read Section 12, as heretofore amended, as follows :

SEC. 12. All county officers under the laws of the Territory of Nevada, at the time when this Constitution shall take effect, whose offices are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Constitution, shall continue in office until the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified ; and all township officers shall continue in office until the expiration of their terms of office, and until their successors are elected and qualified. Provided, that the Probate Judges of the several counties respectively, shall continue in office until the election and qualification of the District Judges of the several counties or judicial districts.

LANDER COUNTY OFFICERS—AGAIN.

Mr. WARWICK. I desire to amend the section by adding a proviso that the election of county officers for Lander County shall take place at the general election in November, 1864, at which time the term of the present incumbent shall expire, or as soon thereafter as their successors shall be elected and qualified. This amendment was copied into the Schedule on my motion during the session of the Committee on Schedule, but owing to some oversight in preparing the report, during my absence, it was left out. I believe it is the general desire of the members of the committee that the amendment shall be made.

The CHAIRMAN. I suggest that perhaps the gentleman's amendment had better be varied in phraseology by bringing the term up to the first of January, so as to make it conform to the general system.

Mr. WARWICK. I have no objection, sir ; let it be modified in any manner to make it conform. I will ask that the amendment be read by the Secretary as I have offered it.

The Secretary read Mr. Warwick's amendment, as follows :

“ Provided, further, that the election of county officers in Lander County shall take place at the general election in the month of November, 1864, at which time the term of the present incumbents shall expire, or as soon thereafter as their successors shall be qualified ; and the terms of the several officers of Lander County so elected at the general election in November, 1864, shall continue until the first Monday of January, 1867, and until the election and qualification of their successors.”

Mr. WARWICK. This is done in order to secure a uniformity in the time of election, as we found in the committee that Lander County would be the only one to elect county officers next year. In order to make the elections in all the counties conform to one general rule, all occurring on the same day, this amendment is offered, with the full concurrence of the Committee on Schedule.

The CHAIRMAN. I would suggest whether the amendment might not seem to embrace the office of Probate Judge, as well as the other county officers ?

Mr. WARWICK. It does, undoubtedly, and it was the desire of the committee to change the term of the Probate Judge, as well as the others.

The CHAIRMAN. But would it not be construed as continuing his term of office beyond that of the other Probate Judges ?

Mr. WARWICK. It would, if he is not regarded as a county officer. I do not especially name him in the amendment, however, but consider him as coming within the designation of “ all county officers.”

The CHAIRMAN. Would not the amendment have the effect of extending his term beyond the first Monday of December, when it is proposed that all the Probate Judges shall be in effect superseded ?

Mr. WARWICK. If by any construction or implication that might occur, I should like to have it obviated, by all means. It might be made to read—“ The terms of the several officers of Lander County, Probate Judges excepted,” and so on. If the Chair will allow me a moment, I will endeavor to prepare a substitute.

The CHAIRMAN. Certainly.

Mr. WARWICK. I will move, as a substitute for my former amendment, to add to Section 12 the following :

“ And further provided, that the terms of the present county officers of Lander County shall expire on the first Monday of December, 1864, and until the election and qualification of the successors of such officers as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Constitution. The several county officers of said County of Lander shall be chosen at the general election in November, A. D. 1864.”

The question was taken upon Mr. Warwick's amendment, as modified, and it was agreed to.

The question was stated on the adoption of Section 12, and it was read as amended.

Mr. KENNEDY. It seems to me this section has been changed a little. I understood that the county officers were only to be continued until the expiration of their present terms, but it now seems, according to the reading of the section, that they are to hold till January, 1867.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman is aware that those officers who are elected this fall are elected to hold office till October, 1866. Now it is proposed by this section, upon the recommendation of the Committee on Schedule, to extend the time from October to January.

Mr. KENNEDY. I only wish to understand it.

The question was taken on the adoption of Section 12, as amended, and it was adopted.

COMMISSIONS AND OFFICIAL BONDS—AGAIN.

Mr. DELONG. Now my amendment is prepared. I move to add the following, as an additional section :

SEC. —. All officers of State, and District Judges, shall be commissioned by the Governor of this Territory, which commission shall be countersigned by the Secretary of the same, and shall qualify before entering upon the discharge of their duties, before a Judge of the Supreme Court of this Territory ; and also the State Controller and State Treasurer shall, before they qualify and enter upon the discharge of their duties, execute and deliver to the Secretary of the Territory an official bond, made payable to the people of the State of Nevada in the sum of thirty thousand dollars each, to be approved by the Governor of this Territory, and shall also execute and deliver to the Secretary of State such other or further official bond or bonds as may be required by law.

Monday,] BANKS—CHAIRMAN—DELONG—MCCLINTON—BROSNAN—PARKER—DUNNE. [July 25.

Mr. BANKS. Are District Judges regarded as State officers?

The CHAIRMAN. No, sir; and it was to obviate any difficulty on that account, as I understand, that the words "and District Judges" were inserted.

Mr. BANKS. Then I understand that all of the District Judges will have to come up to the capital, to be sworn in by one of the Supreme Court Judges.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from Humboldt wish to offer an amendment?

Mr. BANKS. It says "before a Judge of the Supreme Court," but that does not help the matter, I think. The difficulty is this, that it involves the necessity of the District Judges coming to the capital, or going elsewhere, and the distance may be quite as great, in order to appear before a Justice of the Supreme Court.

Mr. DELONG. I have no objection to modifying that language.

Mr. BANKS. I will move, then, to substitute the words "before any officer authorized to administer oaths."

The CHAIRMAN. The mover of the section is preparing an amendment.

Mr. BANKS. Very well; I withdraw mine.
Mr. DELONG. I will modify the section so as to read as follows:

SEC. —. All officers of State, and District Judges, first elected under this Constitution, shall be commissioned by the Governor of this Territory, which commission shall be countersigned by the Secretary of the same, and shall qualify before entering upon the discharge of their duties before any officer authorized to administer oaths under the laws of this Territory; and also the State Controller and State Treasurer shall, before they qualify and enter upon the discharge of their duties, execute and deliver to the Secretary of the Territory an official bond, made payable to the people of the State of Nevada, in the sum of thirty thousand dollars each, to be approved by the Governor of this Territory; and shall also execute and deliver to the Secretary of State such other or further official bond or bonds as may be required by law.

Mr. MCCLINTON. My question has not yet been satisfactorily answered—whether the Surveyor-General is to be required to give any bonds at all?

Mr. DELONG. Not till the Legislature meets.
The CHAIRMAN. That is not an important office.

Mr. MCCLINTON. Very well; I am content.
The question was taken on the adoption of the section proposed by Mr. DeLong, as finally modified, and it was adopted.

FILLING VACANCIES.

Mr. BROSNAN. I have two additional sections to the Schedule to propose, and I ask that they be numbered according to their order in the instrument. First, I will offer the following:

SEC. —. In case the office of any Justice of the Supreme Court, District Judge, or other State office, shall become vacant before the expiration of the regular term for which he was elected, the vacancy may be filled by appointment by the Governor, until it shall be supplied at the next general election, when it shall be filled by election for the residue of the unexpired term.

The question was taken, and the section was adopted.

SUPPORT OF LOCAL OFFICERS.

Mr. BROSNAN. I now propose the following:

SEC. —. Each county, town, city, and incorporated village, shall make provision for the support of its own officers, subject to such regulations as the Legislature may prescribe.

The question was taken, and the section was adopted.

Mr. PARKER. I move that the committee rise and report the article back to the Convention, with the amendments adopted.

The question was taken, the motion was agreed to, and the committee accordingly rose.

IN CONVENTION.

The SECRETARY reported that the Committee of the Whole had had under consideration the remaining sections of Article XVII, (as renumbered,) entitled Schedule, had made some amendments thereto, in which the committee asked the concurrence of the Convention, and had instructed him to report the same to the Convention, and recommend the passage of the article with such amendments.

The report was accepted, the amendments made in Committee of the Whole were adopted, in gross, and the article, as amended, was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. DUNNE. I ask leave to say a few words upon a question of privilege. When I asked indefinite leave of absence this morning, many members of the Convention did not understand, as I have since learned, that I made the request for very urgent reasons. Some gentlemen did not know that I gave any reasons, and supposed that I was asking leave of absence merely because I was tired of the Convention, and wanted to get away. I only want to say now that such is not the case, and that on the contrary I have been very much interested in the proceedings of the Convention, and would be willing to remain two weeks longer, if it were necessary, and I could possibly do so; but there are very urgent reasons, indeed, why I should return home. I will now renew my request for indefinite leave of absence.

The question was taken, and indefinite leave of absence was granted to Mr. Dunne, in accordance with his request.

The hour of twelve o'clock having arrived, The PRESIDENT declared the Convention at recess until two o'clock.

Monday.]

CROSMAN—WARWICK—DELONG—CHAPIN—JOHNSON.

[July 25.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention reassembled at two o'clock, P. M., and was called to order by the President.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Mr. CROSMAN, from the Committee on Engrossment, reported correctly engrossed Article VI, entitled Judicial Department.

Mr. CROSMAN. In examining this article, as engrossed, the committee find what we think is an error, occurring in Section 2, to which I desire to call the attention of the Convention.

The PRESIDENT. In consequence of the noise of the falling rain, [a very heavy shower of rain was falling,] it will be necessary for gentlemen to pay particular attention, in order to hear the proceedings.

Mr. WARWICK. With the most intense attention, it is almost impossible, in this part of the chamber, to hear a word that is said. I think it would be the part of wisdom to suspend for a few minutes.

Mr. DELONG. Suspend what? The rain?

Mr. WARWICK. No, sir; the business. [Merriment.]

Mr. CROSMAN. I ask for the reading of Section 2, as engrossed.

The Secretary read, as follows :

SEC. 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and two associate Justices, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum; provided, that the Legislature, by a majority of all the members elected to each branch thereof, or at any time thereafter, provide for the election of two additional associate Justices, and if so increased, three shall constitute a quorum. The concurrence of a majority of the whole Court shall be necessary to render a decision.

Mr. CROSMAN. There is evidently an error in the engrossment of this section. The words "or at any time thereafter," in the opinion of the committee, are out of place, and the committee recommend that those words be stricken out, and the word "may" inserted instead.

The PRESIDENT. In the old Constitution, the reading of the section was, that the Legislature may "at its second session, or at any time thereafter, provide for the election," &c. The restriction as to the particular session of the Legislature having been removed, of course the following words, "or at any time thereafter," are merely surplusage.

The amendment recommended by the Committee on Engrossment was adopted by unanimous consent.

INFORMAL RECESS.

Mr. CHAPIN. I move that we suspend proceedings and take an informal recess, until this glorious shower is over.

The question was taken, the motion was agreed to, and the Convention accordingly took an informal recess.

The Convention was again called to order by the President, at twenty-five minutes before three o'clock.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Article VI, entitled Judicial Department, was taken up, on its third reading.

The Secretary read Sections 1, 2, and 3, as follows :

SECTION 1. The judicial power of the State shall be vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, and in Justices of the Peace. The Legislature may also establish Courts, for municipal purposes only, in incorporated cities and towns.

SEC. 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and two associate Justices, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum; provided, that the Legislature, by a majority of all the members elected to each branch thereof, may provide for the election of two additional associate Justices, and if so increased, three shall constitute a quorum. The concurrence of a majority of the whole Court shall be necessary to render a decision.

SEC. 3. The Justices of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State at the general election, as provided by law, and shall hold office for the term of six years from the first Monday of January next succeeding their election; provided, that there shall be elected at the first election under this Constitution, three Justices of the Supreme Court, who shall hold office from and including the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864, and continue in office thereafter two, four, and six years respectively, and from the first Monday of January next succeeding their election. They shall meet as soon as practicable after their election and qualification, and at their first meeting shall classify themselves, and determine by lot the term of office each shall fill, and the Justice drawing the shortest term shall be Chief Justice, and after the expiration of his term, the one having the next shortest term shall be Chief Justice, after which the senior Justice in commission shall be Chief Justice.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

[Mr. Lockwood in the chair.]

Mr. JOHNSON. I do not propose to renew the discussion regarding the number of the Supreme Court Judges, for I am willing to accept as final the decision of a majority, that for the first term there shall be only three instead of five judges, although it is well known that I would prefer the larger number. I am content with having given to the Legislature power to increase the number, for I think that scarcely two years will have passed, ere the Legislature will provide for such increased number. But the difficulty to which I wish to direct attention is this: I do not find anywhere that the Constitution fixes the tenure of office of those additional Judges, except in this section, where it reads that the Justices of the Supreme Court "shall hold office for the term of six years from the first Monday of January next succeeding their election." Now the point which suggests itself to my mind is in regard to the latter clause of the section, where it is provided that they shall draw lots. It then proceeds thus:

"And the Justice drawing the shortest term shall be Chief Justice, and after the expiration of his term, the one having the next shortest term shall be Chief Justice, after which the senior Justice in commission shall be Chief Justice."

We shall experience no trouble, so long as there are but three Justices, but in the event of an increase of the number to five, there will be two elected at the same time, and the commissions of those two Justices will necessarily bear the same date. Then when the period shall arrive for determining who shall be the Chief Justice, as between those two additional members of the Supreme bench, the query at once presents itself, which shall be regarded as the senior justice in commission? Where is the constitutional provision found, or in what manner can it be determined, under the provisions of the Constitution as we now have it, who shall be the Chief Justice?

Monday,]

BROSNAN—JOHNSON—DELONG—McCLINTON.

[July 25.]

Mr. BROSNAN. I appreciate the remarks of the gentleman from Ormsby. (Mr. Johnson.) but I take it that in case the Legislature shall authorize the election of two additional Justices of the Supreme Court, they will, at the same time when they do so, make provision for that very exigency.

Mr. JOHNSON. I do not see how the Legislature will have the power to do so, unless we adopt some provision conferring such power. All legislation must of course be in conformity with the Constitution, and the only provision on the subject therein contained would be this, that after the terms of the first incumbents the justice having the senior commission shall be the Chief Justice.

Mr. BROSNAN. We might adopt a provision to guard against the occurrence of the difficulty. I think there is such a provision in the old Constitution.

Mr. JOHNSON. Such a provision is contained in the former Constitution. All I desire in regard to this matter, is to carry out the views of the majority of the Convention. In the Judiciary Committee, it appears, the latter portion of the original section was stricken out, and I can very readily understand the reason it was done. It was because the idea at first prevailed in the committee, of having five judges, with power in the Legislature to decrease the number to three, and if that course had been pursued, certainly no difficulty could ever arise. As the section now stands, I submit whether these words are not necessary, as they are contained in the original section of the former Constitution:

"And in case the commission of any two or more of said justices shall bear the same date, they shall determine by lot who shall be Chief Justice."

Mr. BROSNAN. I think the gentleman from Ormsby is correct, and I hope he will offer the amendment.

Mr. JOHNSON. I would prefer that it should emanate from the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. BROSNAN. I will ask unanimous consent to add to the section the words which the gentleman from Ormsby has read.

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

JURISDICTION OF SUPREME COURT.

[The President in the chair.]

Section 4 was read, as follows:

Sec. 4. The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction in all cases in equity; also, in all cases at law in which is involved the title or the possession of real estate or mining claims, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, or in which the demand, (exclusive of interest,) or the value of the property in controversy, exceeds three hundred dollars; also, in all other civil cases not included in the general subdivisions of law and equity, and also in all criminal cases in which the offense charged amounts to felony, on questions of law alone. The Court shall also have power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, quo warranto, and habeas corpus, and also all writs necessary or proper to the complete exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. Each of the justices shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of the State, upon petition on behalf of any person held in actual custody, and may make such writs returnable before himself or the Supreme Court, or before any District Court in the State, or before any judge of said Courts.

Mr. BROSNAN. That language is not right in the first part of the section. It should read: "also in all cases at law in which is involved the title, or the right of possession to, or the possession of real estate," etc. You will find the correct language in Section 6, relative to the District Courts.

Mr. DELONG. What is the difference between "the possession of," and "the right of possession to?"

Mr. BROSNAN. I put in the words "right of possession," because I found them in the old Constitution. I do not think there is much difference. I will ask unanimous consent to amend Section 4 by inserting after "title" the words "or the right of possession to."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. BROSNAN. I have another amendment, of a verbal character. It is to insert in the last clause, after the words "upon petition," the words "by or," so as to read—"shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of the State, upon petition by, or on behalf of any person," etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. McCLINTON. I would like to inquire whether some of these provisions do not now conflict with other provisions contained in this article, whereby we have enlarged the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace, giving them jurisdiction in certain cases where rights of real property are involved?

The PRESIDENT. This section relates only to the Supreme Court, in defining its appellate power. It will be seen that there can be no conflict.

Mr. McCLINTON. But there is some section which provides that all real property, or the right of possession thereto, shall be subject only to the jurisdiction of the District Courts, and the Supreme Court.

The PRESIDENT. I think not, sir. This section, however, only refers to the Supreme Court, defining the appellate power of that court, and I cannot see in this any apparent conflict, the Supreme Court being an Appellate Court, and Justices' Courts being courts of original jurisdiction.

Monday,]

McCLINTON—BANKS—BROSNAN—PRESIDENT—KENNEDY—PARKER.

[July 25.

Mr. McCLINTON. There may be no conflict between the Supreme Court and the Justices' Courts, and yet I think there may be between the District Courts and Justices' Courts.

The PRESIDENT. We have not yet reached the sections relating to those courts.

Mr. BANKS. In this section the words "on questions of law alone," seem to me to stand a great way off. It occurs to me that it would read better and clearer to say—"The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, on questions of law alone, in the following cases."

Mr. BROSNAN. That is not the intention, exactly. The intention is to confine the jurisdictions to questions of law alone in cases of felony; because the Supreme Court must have jurisdiction upon questions of fact in certain other cases, as in equity cases.

Mr. BANKS. The intention is, then, to qualify only the last clause—"also in all criminal cases, etc., on questions of law alone?"

Mr. BROSNAN. Yes, sir.

Mr. BANKS. I submit, then, that the language is certainly liable to the construction of qualifying all that precedes it in the section. I suggest whether it would not be better to transpose the sentence, so as to read—"and also on questions of law alone, in all criminal cases in which the offense charged amounts to felony." Would not that render the meaning more clear? If the gentleman from Storey thinks it is unnecessary, however, I will not offer an amendment.

Mr. BROSNAN. I do not think it is necessary myself, but still I should like to have the opinion of members of the bar upon that sentence as it stands. I will ask the other gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Dunne,) what he thinks of it; and I will state, for the information of the gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Banks,) that in most of the State Constitutions this form of language is employed, and it is the understanding of the bar generally, that the qualification relates simply to questions of felony, or what are indictable offenses.

The PRESIDENT. I think the Convention understands that is the meaning of it—that the qualifying words, "on questions of law alone," apply only to cases of felony. Yet the transposition would certainly render the provision more definite; and the suggestion is not a criticism upon language used by the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, seeing that he has adopted the words of the old Constitution.

Mr. BROSNAN. I will accept the amendment. I certainly have no feeling about it.

The amendment suggested by Mr. Banks was adopted by unanimous consent.

JUDICIAL DISTRICTS AND DISTRICT JUDGES.

Section 5 was read, as follows:

SEC. 5. The State is hereby divided into nine Judicial Districts, of which the County of Storey shall constitute the first; the County of Ormsby the second; the County of Lyon the third; the County of Washoe the fourth; the Counties of Nye and Churchill the fifth; the County of Humboldt the sixth; the County of Lander the seventh; the County of Douglas the eighth; and the County of Esmeralda the ninth. The County of Roop shall be attached to the County of Washoe for judicial purposes, until otherwise provided by law. The Legislature may, however, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each branch thereof, provide by an alteration in the boundaries or division of the districts herein prescribed, or otherwise, for increasing or diminishing the number of the Judicial Districts and judges therein; but no such change shall take effect except in case of a vacancy, or the expiration of the term of an incumbent of the office. At the first general election under the Constitution, there shall be elected in each of the respective districts, (except as in this section hereafter otherwise provided,) one District Judge, who shall hold office from and including the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864, and until the first Monday of January, in the year 1867; after the said first election, there shall be elected at the general election which immediately precedes the expiration of the term of his predecessor, one District Judge in each of the respective Judicial Districts, (except in the first district, as in this section hereinafter provided.) The District Judges shall be elected by the qualified electors of their respective districts, and shall hold office for the term of four years (excepting those elected at said first election) from the first Monday of January next succeeding their election and qualification; provided, that the first Judicial District shall be entitled to and shall have three District Judges, who shall possess co-extensive and concurrent jurisdiction, and who shall be elected at the same times, in the same manner, and shall hold office for the like terms, as herein prescribed in relation to the judges in other Judicial Districts.

The PRESIDENT. I will inquire whether there be any provision to the effect that the County of Roop shall be attached to Washoe, for other than judicial purposes?

Mr. BROSNAN. I think not.

The PRESIDENT. Then I will suggest that should be done. Is it not quite as important to attach it to Washoe County for legislative and revenue as for judicial purposes?

Mr. KENNEDY. Will not the laws govern that matter?

The PRESIDENT. They might, or they might not.

Mr. PARKER. It is provided for in the laws of the Territory.

The PRESIDENT. So it is in regard to judicial purposes. Now we have provided in the Constitution that the County of Roop shall be attached to the County of Washoe for judicial purposes, and if it be important and necessary to provide for the one matter, is it not equally as important to provide that it shall be attached to Washoe for other purposes? If we had left the provision out of this judicial article altogether, so that it would not appear anywhere in the Constitution, it might not have been necessary to make any further provision on the subject than is made by continuing in force the Territorial laws. This, however, is not the proper place for the incorporation of the further provision which I have suggested, and I only call attention to the matter now, in order that it may not be neglected.

There is another clause of this section, however, from which, it seems to me, something must have been omitted. It reads as follows:

"The Legislature may, however, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each branch there-

Monday,]

BROSNAN—PRESIDENT—DUNNE—COLLINS—BANKS.

[July 25.

of, provide by an alteration in the boundaries or division of the districts herein prescribed, or otherwise, for increasing or diminishing the number of the Judicial Districts and judges therein."

The SECRETARY. That is exactly as the original reads.

Mr. BROSNAN. Perhaps the words "for an alteration" would be preferable to "by an alteration."

The PRESIDENT. I suggest that it should read "provide by law for an alteration."

Mr. DUNNE. It seems to me to read correctly now. It says the Legislature may provide, "by an alteration in the boundaries or divisions of the districts," for the creation of any other districts.

The PRESIDENT. But how will the Legislature do that, unless you use the word "law"? In the first place, the question arose as to whether we had given the power to the Legislature to make any such change, and here we confer the power, by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature; but in what manner is the power to be exercised, unless the word "law" is used?

Mr. DUNNE. I do not know that I understand the point. The language is the same as in the old Constitution.

The PRESIDENT. It is true that the same language was employed in the old Constitution, but there may have been an accidental omission, or it may be the result of inattention. I do not wish, however, to take the matter out of the scope of the intention of the majority, but simply to make the meaning more definite.

Mr. BROSNAN. I will accept the gentleman's suggestion, and move to insert the words "law for," so as to read "provide by law for an alteration," etc.

The question was taken on agreeing to the amendment, and Mr. COLLINS voted "no."

The PRESIDENT. If there is a single objection the amendment cannot be made at this stage.

Mr. COLLINS. I will withdraw my objection, but I cannot see the force of the desired amendment. If the Legislature is required to make such a provision by law, and if a bill for that purpose is passed, and not signed by the Governor, the same two-thirds vote which is required to pass it originally can certainly pass it again over his objections. We have made this an exception by requiring a two-thirds majority, and the query seems to be whether the Legislature could exercise the power independent of the Governor.

The PRESIDENT. I think it is very clear that under this provision as it now reads, without the amendment, the Legislature could make such a provision independent of the executive.

Mr. BROSNAN. That was not the intention.

Mr. COLLINS. Well, I withdraw my objection.

The question was again taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Brosnan, and it was agreed to unanimously.

The PRESIDENT. I suggest that as the District Judges first elected are to hold to the first Monday of January, 1867, which does not include that day, the term of their successors should be fixed "from and inclusive of the first Monday of January."

Mr. BROSNAN. I had made a memorandum of an amendment upon that point. I move to insert after "from," the words "and including," so as to read: "and shall hold office for the term of four years (excepting those elected at said first election) from and including the first Monday of January," etc.

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

Mr. BANKS. I do not very well understand the concluding portion of this section, and I will ask as a favor to have the whole section read over.

The SECRETARY read the section, as amended.

[Mr. KINKEAD in the chair.]

Mr. BROSNAN. I wish to propose an amendment to the last part of the section, in relation to the judges of the First Judicial District. I ask unanimous consent to add, at the end of the section, the following:

"Any one of said District Judges may preside on the impaneling of Grand Juries and the trial of indictments, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by law."

Mr. BANKS. That amendment seems to cover the ground, and do away with all such objections as were raised the other day to the especial provision for the Storey County District. It will render clear and definite what some claim to be now the meaning of the section—that each of these three judges may preside as a court, independent of any other court, or any other judicial personage. Each is independent of his fellows in that court. While gentlemen are consulting as to the proper wording of the amendment, I may be allowed to say that, as has been suggested by my friend from Washoe, (Mr. Nourse,) this arrangement of a system for the District Court in the First Judicial District, seems to have a theological origin, being the very embodiment of our theological idea of the Trinity—three in one, and each one the whole. I never did, and do not pretend to understand the metaphysical doctrine of the Trinity, and I am in the same condition in regard to this section.

Mr. JOHNSON. Do you understand that each one is equal to the other two, and himself also?

Mr. BANKS. Yes, sir. Each one is the whole court. [Merriment.]

Mr. BROSNAN modified his amendment, so as to read as follows:

"Any one of said District Judges may preside at the impaneling of Grand Juries, and the presentment and trial on indictments, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by law."

Mr. JOHNSON. I hope this amendment will be adopted. The system provided for the First

Monday.]

BANKS—PROCTOR—BROSNAN—JOHNSON—CHAPIN—DUNNE.

[July 25.]

District certainly does not accord with what I believe would be the best form of a judicial system, but the sense of the Convention has been manifested in opposition to my own views in that particular, and it is not for the minority to throw any obstacle in the way of a system which the majority adopts, or of any amendment calculated to render it as perfect as possible. I think, myself, that the amendment is a very essential and necessary one, and as it is proposed by the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, I hope it will receive that unanimous consent which is necessary at this stage of our proceedings.

Mr. BANKS. The amendment seems to have the effect of empowering the Legislature to direct how those judges shall work. I am in favor of it.

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

Mr. PROCTOR. There is one paragraph upon which I want to get the opinion of the Committee on Phraseology, or somebody else. As I understood the Secretary to read, it says that no such vacancy shall be filled, in the time of a vacancy, or on the expiration of the term of the incumbent, or to that effect.

Mr. BROSNAN. No; it says no such change shall take effect, except in the case of a vacancy.

Mr. PROCTOR. I do not think it was so read. Will the Secretary read it again?

The SECRETARY. It reads—"But no such change shall take effect, except in case of a vacancy, or the expiration of the term of the incumbent of the office."

Mr. PROCTOR. That is right.

Mr. BANKS. The amendment just adopted on the motion of the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Brosnan,) provides, as I understand it, that laws shall be passed regulating the manner of doing that kind of business which pertains to impaneling juries, and the finding and trial of indictments, and it does not go beyond that. I will ask the chairman of the Judiciary Committee if it goes beyond conferring power to make such laws in regard to indictments as the Legislature shall see fit to make?

Mr. BROSNAN. I do not understand that it limits the power of the Legislature in any respect. The Legislature has all the power it ever had, in regard to indictments.

Mr. BANKS. Has the Legislature power to regulate the dividing up of the work of the judges, and to determine whether each of the judges, or any one of them, shall decide a case for the whole court? For instance, can laws be passed to make the decision of either judge the judgment of the whole court?

Mr. BROSNAN. Certainly. And without a law, a decision of one would be a decision, not of all the judges, but of the court.

Mr. JOHNSON. While the gentleman from Humboldt recognizes the doctrine of a united trinity, he forgets the other analogous idea, that each judge is equal to the whole court. They have co-extensive and co-equal powers, as is prescribed in the same section. But the object of the amendment was simply this, that in order to leave no room for mistake or misunderstanding, the Legislature shall have power to prescribe and define the criminal jurisdiction of each of the judges, or to declare which of them shall exercise the criminal jurisdiction of the court. I think it is sufficiently definitive of the authority of the Legislature, and the section makes the jurisdictional power of all three of the judges co-extensive and co-equal. But what I consider the material defect of the system is this: that it is not really one court, and therefore it is a misnomer to designate it the District Court of the First Judicial District, when in fact we provide for three distinct District Courts, and they should have been so named. I see no objection, however, to the amendment, by which the authority of the judges will be rendered more specifically understood.

Mr. CHAPIN. I would like to see a further slight change made in that paragraph, of a single word only. It says the Legislature may "provide by law for an alteration," etc. That, it seems to me, would limit the Legislature to one single alteration, and I suggest that it be made to read, "may provide by law for alterations in the boundaries or divisions of the districts herein prescribed, or otherwise." Then the Legislature certainly would not be limited to one alteration, and I think it would read a little better.

Mr. JOHNSON. There is also one other matter to which I wish to call attention at this time. It will be observed, in the first part of the section, that a two-thirds vote of all the members elected is required either to increase or diminish the number of districts, or the judges thereof. Now I submit whether any such innovation is to be regarded as desirable in this matter—whether the Legislature ought not to have the same power in the passage of a law on this subject, as in the passage of other laws? That is to say, whether the Legislature should not have authority to pass such a law by a majority vote, instead of requiring a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected. Why should we not have it read "the Legislature may provide by law?" Is there any good reason for taking this out of the general scope of the enactment of laws by the Legislature, when we have required, for the passage of any law, the affirmative vote of a majority of all the members elected to each branch?

Mr. DUNNE. I am very much in favor of that suggestion. I noticed the exception made when the section was first read, and would have called attention to it, but that I supposed it had been sufficiently considered, and deliberately determined on by the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. JOHNSON. I will make a motion to strike out so much as requires a two-thirds vote, so that it will read—"The Legislature may provide by law." I understand, however, that the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) is preparing an amendment which will probably cover the objection, and I will withdraw my amendment, at least for the present.

Monday,]

PROCTOR—JOHNSON—CHAPIN—BANKS—BROSNAN.

[July 25.

Mr. PROCTOR. I am in favor of such an amendment, and should have proposed it myself, only I was afraid it might conflict with some other provision.

Mr. JOHNSON. It certainly does not.

Mr. PROCTOR. I really see no reason why it should be necessary to require more than a two-thirds vote for the passage of such a law.

Mr. CHAPIN. I hope the amendment suggested will be carried unanimously, for under some circumstances it might be exceedingly difficult to obtain a two-thirds vote, however desirable the change proposed might be. We have had here, for a long time, no such number present as would constitute two-thirds of our Convention. In Storey County particularly, keeping that county especially in view, the time may not be far distant when two District Judges will be generally conceded to be sufficient, and the third one, very naturally feeling unpleasant about being thrown overboard, would of course do what he could to prevent it, by using his influence with members of the Legislature.

Mr. JOHNSON. The gentleman will observe that the provision cannot affect the right of a person after he has been elected. The only possible instance in which it could affect an incumbent, would be where he can foresee his own reelection. In that case it might affect him, but he cannot be thrown overboard, as the gentleman suggests, after he has been elected, because it is expressly stated that no such change shall take effect, except in case of a vacancy, or the expiration of the term of the office. If a term is about to expire, or a vacancy has occurred, before any election takes place, the Legislature may declare the office vacant, but nothing can be done to affect the incumbency of a judge, after his election.

Mr. CHAPIN. But even looking at the matter in that point of view, it is so easy for an interested party to prevent a change, that I hope the amendment will be made.

Mr. BANKS. I hope it will prevail.

Mr. BROSNAN. I suppose this amendment will cover all the suggestions that have been made. I will move to strike out the words "by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each branch thereof," and also the words "or otherwise," and insert other words in lieu thereof, so that the clause will read as follows:

"The Legislature may, however, provide by law, for alterations of the boundaries or divisions of the districts herein prescribed, and also, for increasing or diminishing the number of the Judicial Districts and judges therein."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. BANKS. I do not like to take so active a part in a matter that would seem to be almost exclusively the business of lawyers, and yet I do feel that we have got this section into a position that does not admit of a clear understanding of it by laymen like myself. Now the suggestion of having three courts in Storey County, made by the gentleman from Ormsby, (Mr. Johnson,) I think is a very wise one. The principal objections, as I understand, that are urged against that proposition, are these, that if there be three courts they will find great difficulty in dividing up the county so as to have the proper proportion of business in each district; that they cannot well divide the property, consisting to a great extent of interests in mining claims, and so on—matters which are so difficult to adjust. And further, it is said that if we provide for but one district and three courts, an arrangement like that of the Fourth and Twelfth District Courts in San Francisco, with which many of us are familiar, then the most popular judge will be likely to secure the greater portion of the business, while the others will have but little to do; and again, that under such a system the plaintiff would have his choice of courts. Now, sir, I recognize the fact that those objections are material, but in fixing upon the system of this court, we have established the singular anomaly of one court consisting of three judges, and each of those judges somehow having the power of the whole court. That seems to be the interpretation put upon the provision generally, by members of the Convention, and I do not know that there can be any other, under that system. I wish simply to make it clear that that, and no other, is the system for which we have provided, and therefore I submit the following as an amendment to this section:

"The business of said court shall be divided, by rule, among the judges thereof, and the decisions of each judge, upon the business assigned to him, shall be the decisions of said First District Court."

I merely offer that for the consideration of the Convention.

Mr. JOHNSON. If I thought the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Humboldt would meet the difficulties which have occurred to my mind, on the discussion of the subject, and at other times when I have had it under consideration, I would cheerfully vote for it; but I really do not think it will aid the matter in the least. I say again, that I think the material error consists in designating this as one district, having three judges, with co-extensive and co-equal powers. It is an anomaly in a judicial system, unlike anything I have ever before seen or read of.

Mr. BANKS. I concur fully in that.

Mr. JOHNSON. I think the trouble lies deeper than the gentleman's amendment would reach. After having adopted such provisions as are contained in this article, as to the power and jurisdiction of the judges of this court, declaring that their power and authority shall be co-extensive and co-equal, one with the other, in my opinion these latter words, which the gentleman from Humboldt proposes, would only be surplusage. The difficulty, I apprehend, will be found in the practical working of the system, and I do not think an amendment, such as he proposes, would be practical. I am free to say that the only effectual remedy I can think of would be to divide the court into first, second, and third districts, the judges to be elected by the people at large; although, as I had occasion to suggest, once at least, during the session of the Judiciary Committee, a provision for two District Courts, with a geographical division of the County of Storey, and a County Court, with certain limited jurisdiction, might operate very well.

Monday,]

JOHNSON—BROSNAN.

[July 25.

I do not make these remarks now, however, with any expectation of influencing the action of the Convention, and I certainly could not entertain such a notion at this stage, when unanimous consent is needed, in order to make any amendment. I am not endeavoring, therefore, by what I say, to influence the vote of any member respecting this feature, as the time for argument is past. Yet, although I am sure it is too late an hour for argument to have any effect in changing the minds of members, I simply desire to say this, that in my judgment neither this amendment, nor a whole batch of amendments, such as might be wrought in the way of detail, and explanatory declarations, would suffice to cure the defects of the system. One or two amendments might have been adopted, at an earlier stage, which I think would have been efficacious, and might have rendered the system one of great practical advantage, so far as Storey County is concerned.

It does not affect me personally, however, for I have no cases, either as attorney or litigant, in the Storey County District Court, and God knows I hope I never will have. But I speak from experience, not of a few years merely, in the profession of the law, experience in the reading of law, and practice in the courts, and I may add, without arrogating any superior knowledge, an experience not limited to the ordinary walks of the profession, in respect to the practical workings of the judicial systems of other States, and as the result of such experience and observation, I repeat that, in my judgment, there were one or two amendments which would have been effective in the formation of an excellent and entirely practicable judicial system, so far as relates to Storey County. The first of these amendments, I think, should have been the one which I have already mentioned, providing for a geographical division of the county into two districts, with two District Judges, with a County Court having intervening jurisdiction between that of the Justices' and District Courts. The second amendment, or rather standing second in order of arrangement, the Convention having determined to dispense with the County Court, should have been to provide for three District Judges, to be elected from the county at large, and their several courts, to be designated by districts, numerically, or by such other term as would be sufficient to distinguish one from the other. Either of these amendments, I think, would have been effectual in relieving the matter of all complication. But a majority of the Convention, including a majority of those gentlemen who so ably and fitly represent the County of Storey in this body, has failed to perceive, or, at least, has not concurred with my views, and we have now reached that stage in the consideration of the subject wherein amendments can only be made by unanimous vote.

The amendment which has been adopted on the motion of the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Brosnan,) I think was a desirable one, because, although it does not fully remove the objections to which I have adverted, yet it renders more certain what the Convention actually means; but I really cannot regard the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Humboldt (Mr. Banks) as material or necessary, nor as adding any force or effect to the section, when it is understood from the language already contained in the section that those judges shall have co-extensive and co-equal powers, and therefore it is not necessary to repeat it—and in language, also, that may not so definitely express this meaning. The amendment does not strengthen or give force to the Constitution, or to the views of members, and hence, although I would cheerfully support it, if I could see in what way it would be of any essential benefit, I am reluctantly compelled to withhold from it my sanction.

Mr. BROSNAN. I regret that my friend from Humboldt (Mr. Banks) does not see that there is any propriety in having but one court in Storey County. Why should there be any hesitation in adopting a system similar to that of other States? For instance, the Constitution of New York, adopted in 1846, gives the City of New York one Judicial District, with one Supreme Court, as it is called, and four judges, the organization being the same as in the other districts in the State, some of which embrace nine, ten, or eleven counties. In the country, the judges travel around in their districts, each holding court in his own circuit, but in the City of New York they have no circuits, but simply divide up the business among the judges, each doing his proportion, precisely as it is proposed shall be done in Storey County. The Constitution does not even define or prescribe the manner in which they shall do business, but simply says the Legislature may prescribe such rules as are necessary. This is the provision:

“SEC. 4. The State shall be divided into eight Judicial Districts, of which the City of New York shall be one; the others to be divided by county lines, and to be compact and equal in population as nearly as may be. There shall be four Justices of the Supreme Court in each district, and as many more in the district composed of the City of New York as may, from time to time, be authorized by law,” &c.

They find no difficulty in that State under

Monday.]

BANKS—BROSNAN—JOHNSON.

[July 25.]

such a system. The judges make their arrangements among themselves, going out into the different counties, or, as in New York, dividing and apportioning the calendar, and holding their four separate courts. If they can do this in New York City, why can we not do the same in Storey County, which is not as large? I can perceive no difficulty in the way, and if I apprehended any, I would certainly endeavor to accommodate my views to those of other gentlemen, so as to avoid it.

Mr. BANKS. In New York, is there not an appeal from either one of those judges, to the whole court?

Mr. BROSNAN. There is an appeal from any one of the judges, to the Supreme Court of the district.

Mr. JOHNSON. The inquiry was, as I understood, whether there was not an appeal from any one of the four judges to the other three.

Mr. BANKS. That is my question. I ask if there is not an appeal from each judge to the whole?

Mr. BROSNAN. I say there is an appeal from each judge to the Supreme Court of the district.

Mr. JOHNSON. I am quite sure that the gentleman from Storey does not understand the question, nor the gentleman from Humboldt the answer.

Mr. BANKS. I inquire whether, under the system prevailing in New York, as stated by the gentleman from Storey, there is not an appeal from any one of those judges to the other members of the court?

Mr. BROSNAN. There is an appeal from the individual judge to the court, composed of four judges, the judge whose decision is appealed from, however, not taking part in the consideration of the appeal.

Mr. BANKS. The system there differs, in that respect, then, from the one proposed for Storey County, because here we provide for no appeal from one judge to the whole three.

Mr. BROSNAN. That is the precise difference, and it simplifies our course of proceeding. Here an appeal from each one of the judges goes directly to the Supreme Court, instead of, as in New York, to the District Judges sitting in bank, and from them, by a second appeal, to the Court of Appeals, which is the court of last resort in that State. There, an appeal goes, in the first place, to the Judges of the District Court, who constitute the Supreme Court of the district, composed of the four judges, sitting at general term; then from that court there is a further appeal to the Court of Appeals, the court of final resort. The difference here is, that there is no appeal from the individual District Judge to his coordinate judges, which avoids the necessity of two appeals.

Mr. BANKS. The delegates from Storey seem to be unanimously in favor of the section as it is. They have utterly failed to convince me that the section is well enough as it stands, or that an amendment of this nature is unnecessary, but in deference to them, and purely in deference to them, I withdraw the amendment.

Mr. BROSNAN. So far as I know, the members of the bar of Storey County have no hesitation whatever about this matter.

JURISDICTION OF DISTRICT COURTS.

Section 6 was read, as follows:

SEC. 6. The District Courts in the several Judicial Districts of this State, shall have original jurisdiction in all cases in equity; also, in all cases at law which involve the title, or the right of possession to, or the possession of real property, or mining claims, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, and in all other cases in which the demand, (exclusive of interest,) or the value of the property in controversy, exceeds three hundred dollars; also, in all cases relating to the estates of deceased persons, and the persons and estates of minors and insane persons, and of the action of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, and also, in all criminal cases, not otherwise provided for in this Constitution, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law. They shall also have appellate jurisdiction in cases arising in Justices' Courts, and such other inferior tribunals as the Legislature may provide. The District Courts and their judges shall have power to issue writs of mandamus, injunction, quo warranto, certiorari, and all other writs necessary to the complete exercise of their jurisdiction; and also, shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, on petition by or on behalf of any person held in actual custody in their respective districts.

Mr. JOHNSON. I will submit to the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee whether there should not be an amendment of the language of that clause which reads—"and also in all criminal cases not otherwise provided for in this Constitution, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law?"

Mr. BROSNAN. That is not right, and I have an amendment to offer. Those words were used with a view to harmonizing with the jurisdiction proposed to be given to the County Court in Storey County, and the Convention having determined to abolish that court, they are rendered superfluous. I will move to amend by striking out the words "in this Constitution, under such regulations as may be prescribed." Then the clause will read, "and also in all criminal cases not otherwise provided for by law." That will be in conformity with the section intended to give certain criminal jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace.

Mr. JOHNSON. There is this difficulty, however, that these courts must be organized before the Legislature will convene, and consequently prior to the time when their jurisdiction can be defined by law. What disposition is to be made, in the meantime, of the jurisdiction hitherto exercised by the Probate Courts?

Mr. BROSNAN. The Probate Courts will continue to exercise the same jurisdiction they now have, until they are superseded.

Mr. JOHNSON. But after they are superseded?

Mr. BROSNAN. All their jurisdiction necessarily devolves upon the District Courts, as soon as they are organized.

Mr. JOHNSON. Under what rule?

Monday,]

JOHNSON—BROSNAN.

[July 25.

Mr. BROSNAN. Under the general rule of the common law. In the first place, they have inherently jurisdiction in all cases of equity and law, and then they have criminal jurisdiction. In fact, they have all the jurisdiction that belongs to the Court of King's Bench in England.

Mr. JOHNSON. In reply, let me say, in the first place, that we propose to define the jurisdiction of those courts, and consequently they become creations, not by virtue of the common law, but by force of the constitutional provision. Hence it is necessary to define their jurisdiction specifically, for as a lawyer, I do not hesitate to affirm that they cannot exercise any jurisdiction independent of that which is conferred by the Constitution itself, unless the language of the Constitution be sufficient to embrace it by implication. Now, in this section we give the District Courts, in the first place, jurisdiction in civil cases; then we declare that they shall also have jurisdiction "in all criminal cases not otherwise provided for by law." Now the question arises, what criminal cases are provided for by law, and gentlemen will remember that the territorial laws are to be continued in force until repealed or amended by the Legislature. For instance, there are the appealable cases from the Justices of the Peace, which at present are transmitted to the Probate Courts; what becomes of that jurisdiction, until the Legislature shall make provision defining the jurisdiction of the courts? After the Probate Court is abolished, and until the Legislature shall have provided for the matter, what court can entertain jurisdiction in the class of cases last named?

Mr. BROSNAN. I am not aware that the Probate Courts have any criminal jurisdiction.

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes, sir, they have. There is appellate jurisdiction in Probate Courts over cases arising in the Justices' Courts. All cases which are triable by Justices of the Peace, are appealable to the Probate Courts.

Mr. BROSNAN. On questions of law alone, or questions of fact, also?

Mr. JOHNSON. On questions of law alone.

Mr. BROSNAN. Well, my idea is this: The District Courts have primary jurisdiction in all matters, no matter what the amount involved, if they be cases in equity or at law, or criminal cases. Then, when you come to divide up that jurisdiction between the District Court and the others which you have established, all that you do not impart to the other courts, whether inferior or superior to the District Court, of course it retains, from the nature of its original character, having comprehension enough to embrace every species of case generally characterized as law case, equity case, or criminal case. That is to say, the District Court retains all the jurisdiction that you do not take from it and give to another court, so that it would still have jurisdiction in all general cases of that description, except what you may have given to Justices of the Peace, in cases of a criminal nature.

Mr. JOHNSON. This is the point I make. Territorial laws being in force, as they will continue to be, until repealed or altered, the Probate Courts are by law invested with this jurisdiction. Now, under this provision, therefore, it is quite apparent to me that the District Courts could not exercise criminal jurisdiction, for the reason that the laws have conferred it upon the Probate Courts. Then, advancing a step, we find that the time arrives when the Probate Courts, so invested by the laws of the Territory, with certain jurisdiction, the exercise of which is inhibited to the District Courts, are abolished. Now can we conclude, when that event takes place, that the District Courts are so far the residuary legatees of the Probate Courts, that they at once become invested with that jurisdiction? If you reply "yes," then I must respectfully dissent, because the constitutional provision continuing in force the territorial laws has invested another court with that jurisdiction. Therefore the criminal jurisdiction, exercised hitherto, and until, say, the first Monday of December next, by the Probate Courts, cannot be exercised by those courts after that time, for they will have ceased to exist.

Mr. BROSNAN. I understand that among the miscellaneous matters contained in the Schedule, is a provision that all criminal proceedings which are in progress in any of the courts of the Territory shall be continued and transferred to the courts having jurisdiction under the State organization. We also provide that the courts and judicial officers shall not be superseded until the State Courts go into operation. I take it, therefore, that the County or Probate Courts will be in existence until the District Courts are organized and established, so that the jurisdiction of the County Courts will not be disturbed until they go out of existence, and that moment the District Courts will have absorbed, if I may use the expression, their natural inherent jurisdiction, which has been taken from them and given to the County Courts by the Territorial laws. They take to themselves again all that jurisdiction which has been conveyed to the County Courts by the territorial laws, under and in virtue of the transfer which is provided for in the Schedule; for it is there declared that all prosecutions, no matter for whatever cause, and all suits of any kind that may have been commenced, no matter how far they may have advanced, if they are not completed, shall go to the court having jurisdiction of the subject matter thereof, and may be continued and prosecuted to final judgment and execution.

Mr. JOHNSON. Here is the point. The case is sent to the court having jurisdiction of the subject matter involved. What court? You respond "the District Court." But I inquire by virtue of what authority? You point to this section declaring that the District Court shall have jurisdiction in all cases not otherwise provided for by law, and then I meet your answer by saying that the Territorial laws, still in force, have not invested the District Court with any such jurisdiction, but that, on the contrary, another court is invested with it. Therefore it is necessary to provide that the District Courts shall succeed to the jurisdiction of the Probate Courts.

Monday.]

BROSNAN—JOHNSON.

[July 25.]

Now this section of the Schedule provides, as the gentleman truly says, that all records and all cases pending shall be transferred to the State Courts. Admit it; but what does the transfer amount to, in any case, unless the Court is invested with authority to try and determine? It is a mere nullity in itself. The records may be transferred, but we may fail, by an oversight or otherwise, to invest the court to which they are transferred with the necessary power and authority to try those cases which are appealed from Justices' to Probate Courts, and there entered of record.

Mr. BROSNAN. Suppose there is a civil case in Storey County involving an amount of four or five hundred dollars, pending, though undetermined, when these District Courts go into operation under the Constitution; what becomes of that case? How is it to be determined?

Mr. JOHNSON. I will answer very readily. No trouble can arise in such a case, because the District Courts have jurisdiction, specifically conferred under this article, in all cases of law and equity, where the amount exceeds three hundred dollars. Consequently in the case stated, there is no difficulty.

Mr. BROSNAN. I think we are getting nearer to understanding each other. I will ask now, suppose it is a case brought on appeal, where the amount is under two hundred dollars?

Mr. JOHNSON. I think we will have to supply some additional words here which will cover that case, or it will be very doubtful if any court will have jurisdiction—exceedingly doubtful. If you limit the jurisdiction of the District Courts to a given sum, unless there be a further provision investing the District Courts with authority to try all cases, civil and criminal, that may be existing in the Probate Courts, irrespective of the amount, I will not say that I question the authority of any Court, but I hold, without hesitation, that there is no court which would have any jurisdiction over such an action, and it must die with the former Court, in a way similar to that which occurred when the Territory of Nevada was created. We had at that time the judicial district of the County of Carson, and no provision was made for the transfer of cases involving these small amounts. Some of the records existed, but there was no provision for their transfer, and the records were claimed as private property, and were retained by the clerk of the Court. Those cases therefore died with the Court, and no attempt was made to resist or prevent that result, for the simple reason that there was no power to prevent it. I take it to be the opinion of the entire body of the lawyers of the Territory that in that instance no power could interpose its authority.

We shall meet with the same difficulty now, unless we make proper provision for a transfer of such jurisdiction. Those cases cannot be transmitted to the Justices' Courts from which they have passed, because such courts are the successors of the Territorial Justices' Courts, with increased jurisdiction. They are placed beyond the power of the Justices' Courts, and for that reason they are beneath the authority of the District Courts, because we have not enacted that the jurisdiction of the District Courts shall embrace this class of cases, but, on the contrary, have thrown them without that jurisdiction.

I am pleased that the gentleman from Storey has asked these questions, for the thought as to the want of jurisdiction in this class of cases had not occurred to my mind, as I was thinking only, in the first place, about the criminal jurisdiction, and these questions have suggested the necessity of adopting an amendment to provide that all cases, civil and criminal, pending in the Probate Courts at the time when they are abolished, shall be transferred to and tried by the District Courts.

Mr. BROSNAN. I am very glad this discussion has arisen, because, during its progress, there has been brought out an important matter, in which I think the gentleman from Ormsby is precisely right. I do not yield my position, however, in regard to criminal proceedings, but I say that in discussing the matter of civil cases, wherein the jurisdiction of the District Court is limited, the fact has been made manifest that there is a vacuum which must be filled. In criminal cases, as I said before, there is, in my judgment, no necessity for any further provision, because there is no limitation of the District Courts whatever upon that subject. There is nothing to take away the jurisdiction of any specific criminal cases from them, but the whole body of the criminal law is within their grasp. We have merely provided that Justices of the Peace may have concurrent jurisdiction with the District Courts conferred upon them by law, in certain criminal cases, so that, in my judgment, (and I speak on that subject with great respect and deference for the opinion of the gentleman from Ormsby,) the District Courts have full jurisdiction over all those cases.

In regard, however, to those civil cases, which occurred to me while the gentleman from Ormsby was speaking, I saw that there was a vacuum which ought to be filled, and the reason of that is, that we have limited the jurisdiction of the District Courts, so that if a case were pending before a County Court, and that court should be superseded before its determination, the amount involved being less than that over which we have given jurisdiction to the District Courts, of course it would have to fall through, there being no court having jurisdiction of the case. Hence, I think it is fortunate that we have entered upon this discussion.

Monday.]

JOHNSON—BROSNAN—BANKS—FRIZELL—CHAPIN.

[July 25.

Mr. JOHNSON. I am preparing an amendment.

Mr. BROSNAN. Probably the Schedule will be the proper place for it.

Mr. JOHNSON. I will prepare an amendment to the Schedule, then, which I will submit at a proper time.

The question was taken on the amendment proposed by Mr. Brosnan, to strike out the words "in this Constitution, under such regulations as may be prescribed," and it was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. BROSNAN. I now move to insert, in the next following clause, the word "final," before the words "appellate jurisdiction," so that it will read—"They shall also have final jurisdiction in cases arising in Justices' Courts," etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. BROSNAN. In the next clause, after the words "all other writs," I move to insert the words "proper and," so as to read—"and all other writs proper and necessary to the complete exercise of their jurisdiction."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. BANKS. We have now provided, I think properly, that the District Courts shall have final appellate jurisdiction, and that, as I understand, covers not only Justices' Courts, but also all other inferior courts which may be established by the Legislature.

Mr. BROSNAN. That is right. The word "final" covers both.

TERMS OF COURTS.

Section 7 was read, as follows:

Sec. 7. The times of holding the Supreme Court and District Courts shall be as fixed by law. The terms of the Supreme Court shall be held at the seat of government, and the terms of the District Courts shall be held at the county seats of their respective counties.

Mr. BROSNAN. The latter clause is an addition to the report, as gentlemen will remember.

Mr. FRIZELL. I would like to call the attention of members of the Judiciary Committee to the last clause in this section, providing that the terms of the District Courts shall be held at the county seats of their respective counties. Gentlemen will recollect that Section 5 gives power to the Legislature to make alterations or divisions in the Judicial Districts, but in case the Legislature, in the exercise of its wisdom and discretion, should see fit to make such alteration or division of any district, there might arise an impossibility, because it would of course be impossible, if a county should be divided into two districts, to hold both courts at the county seat. It seems to me there should be an amendment providing that in such a case one of the District Courts may be held elsewhere than at the county seat. I merely call the attention of the committee to that subject.

Mr. BROSNAN. I do not perceive any danger of inconvenience to result on that account. When a power is given expressly, all further power is given by implication that may be necessary to carry out the intent, and to give full and beneficial scope to the power which is expressed. I take it that the power to which my colleague (Mr. Frizell) refers, may be implied, from the language which is here expressed. When the Legislature is empowered to alter, they are not thereby authorized to destroy. In order to carry out the intention of the power expressly conferred, the Legislature might determine that some other place than the county seat would be more suitable for holding the terms of the District Court, in the new district, and might provide by law for holding the court in that place. But, at any rate, there can be no more appropriate place, generally, for holding the terms of court, than at the county seat, where all the records are necessarily kept. I cannot see that any injury or inconvenience is likely to result from leaving the section as it is.

Mr. BANKS. A county might be divided—

Mr. JOHNSON. If the gentleman from Humboldt will allow me—I think I understand what he is driving at—I will offer an amendment, providing that in case any county shall be divided into two or more Judicial Districts, the Legislature shall have power to provide by law the places of holding the terms of such courts. I will submit that amendment to the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. BROSNAN. I see no objection to the amendment, and will offer it. I move to amend Section 7, by adding thereto the following words:

"Provided, That in case any county shall be hereafter divided into two or more districts, the Legislature may by law provide the places of holding such courts."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. BANKS. I rise to make a suggestion for the benefit of the gentleman from Storey. (Mr. Frizell,) namely, that the moon seems to have changed. [Merriment.]

Mr. CHAPIN. There is one further alteration which I would like to see made in Section 7. Litigants are usually bled to death, as we all too well know who have unfortunately been into the courts, and it does seem to me that a time may come hereafter when it will be very desirable to have a term of the Supreme Court held occasionally in Storey County, where we have two or three District Courts, full of over-running with business, and from fifty to a hundred lawyers constantly engaged in them. The larger law libraries are all located there, and by having the Supreme Court Judges come there once in a while and hold court, immense amounts could be saved simply by saving the cost of preparing transcripts of records. The testimony, and all the other voluminous records, now have to be brought down here, when a case is appealed, and it seems to me that the saving would be enormous by having the terms of the Supreme Court held there once in a while. I therefore move to amend the section by inserting after "at the seat of government," the words "unless otherwise provided by law." Then in case it shall hereafter appear necessary to have a term of the court held occasionally at some other place than the capital, it can be accomplished.

Monday.]

McCLINTON—CHAPIN—JOHNSON—PARKER.

[July 25.]

Mr. McCLINTON. I am opposed to this proposition, and I believe the amendment requires unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Yes, sir.

Mr. McCLINTON. Very well; I enter my protest against it, and for the reason that it makes an invidious distinction in favor of Storey County. I do not see why I might not just as well ask the same thing for Esmeralda County. It is true, she is not at present in the same position, but I believe she will have quite as many cases, in proportion to her wealth, in the Supreme Court.

Mr. CHAPIN. I beg leave to explain. My amendment leaves it open, and makes no invidious distinction, either in favor of Storey or any other county, although I had Storey County particularly in view.

Mr. McCLINTON. It is well understood that the amendment is intended for the advantage of Storey County, and I have Esmeralda particularly in view.

Mr. JOHNSON. There is one objection to that amendment, to which I wish to call the gentleman's attention particularly. We have already provided that the office of the Clerk of the Supreme Court shall be fixed at the capital, and it is impossible to have the term of the court held at one place whilst the court is in another. And again, the gentleman must understand, as certainly every lawyer knows, that it is impossible for the Supreme Court to determine a cause, without having the record before it; and the fact of the court's sitting in Storey County, or Esmeralda County, would not obviate the necessity of having a transcript of the record prepared in each case.

Then there is another objection to having the Supreme Court traveling about the country instead of being permanently fixed in one place, and that is, if there are any good reasons why it should be allowed occasionally to hold its sessions in Storey County, there are the like reasons why it should be held in Esmeralda, Humboldt, and Lander Counties. And the argument of the convenience of counsel and parties litigant would have more especial weight in reference to those more remote counties, because a journey of a single hour will suffice to bring parties or records from Storey County here, whereas communication from those distant counties requires days. The argument in favor of compelling the court to hold sessions in these more remote counties would therefore be much more forcible than that in favor of sending it to Storey County.

If we enlarge and carry out the principle of accommodation proposed by the gentleman from Storey, so as to allow the Supreme Court to hold sessions in the remote counties, for the convenience of parties, we shall provide such a system as will utterly preclude the Supreme Court from ever getting through with its business. We shall thereby be converting the Supreme Court, as I said in the former Convention, into a traveling menagerie, sending it to Esmeralda County, and Nye, and Lander, and Humboldt, and elsewhere through the Territory, where cases may arise, occupying probably half the time of the Court in traveling, to say nothing of the additional expense to which it would subject the members of the Court; an expense so great that no reasonable amount of salary would compensate for it, whilst such an arrangement would save but a trifling amount of expense to litigants.

Mr. PARKER. I rise to a point of order. I am perfectly willing to hear gentlemen talk about a matter which is before the Convention, but this amendment requires unanimous consent, and objection being made, there is consequently no question before the Convention. For one, I do not want to sit here and listen to a useless discussion.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The Chair thinks the point of order is well taken.

Mr. JOHNSON. I submit that the point of order is not well taken, as the only way you can properly ascertain whether or not there is objection to the amendment is to put it to the vote. I do protest against a ruling that places it out of the power of the Convention to discuss an important question like this.

Mr. CHAPIN. I now move to refer Section 7 to a select committee of three, with instructions to amend by inserting the language which I have proposed, namely, to insert after "seat of government," the words, "unless otherwise provided by law."

Before that motion is put, Mr. President, I want to occupy about two minutes of the time of the Convention, and probably I will not consume more time than that upon this subject. I do regard it as very impolitic indeed for us to tie up, by a constitutional provision, the action of our Legislature in matters of this kind. We know not the amount of legal business which may spring up hereafter, in Esmeralda, Humboldt, or Storey County, and in the latter county we know that it is already excessively large. At the present time I venture to say that more than three-fourths of all the cases that are to come before the Supreme Court for trial and adjudication will come from that county. And the time may not be far distant when the same state of things will exist in some other portion of the State. Now I ask, is it wise to put into the fundamental law such a provision, which there will be no power in the

Monday.]

JOHNSON—McCLINTON—TAGLIABUE—BANKS.

[July 25.

Legislature to alter, or in any respect to modify or change, although they might see fit, in their wisdom, to make some other provision? I would be glad, if it were in my judgment consistent with the interests of the people, to have the Supreme Court remain here permanently; but I do not want the thing bound down in such a way as to be utterly irrevocable. I hope there may be no occasion for change, but I trust we shall not prevent the possibility of change in the event that occasion for it shall arise.

Mr. JOHNSON. I have presented to me the possibility of being ruled out of order, but I shall endeavor in what remarks I have to offer to keep within the rules of order. I wish to repeat in part what I before said on this question, and it may be add a word or two more.

This proposition, as I regard it, is but a standing bid to the Legislature to constitute a court of the peripatetic character to which I have referred. But it would be found utterly impracticable to provide for holding a court elsewhere than where the records are kept, so that they, too, would have to follow the judges around the country, at great expense. It would constitute no saving, and no advantage in the world to the public, whilst the litigants themselves, and the members of the court, would be greatly inconvenienced by such an arrangement. If we place it in the power of the Legislature to impose such laborious duties on the judges, it will necessarily involve an increase of their salaries, for if a term is established in one county, another will have to be provided for in another county, and so on in turn till every inconsiderable town in the State shall have been accommodated with the presence of this wandering court. The consequence will be that most of the time of the court, and the entire salary of the judges, will be absorbed in traveling from place to place.

Mr. McCLINTON. I hope this section will not be referred to a special committee, with the instructions proposed by the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Chapin,) for the reasons which have been urged by the gentleman from Ormsby, (Mr. Johnson,) and for another reason, which is, that the lawyers and litigants who may have business to come before the Supreme Court, are the parties whom we certainly ought to require to wait upon the Supreme Court, rather than make the Supreme Court wait upon them, at their own doors. That would be an infringement upon the dignity of the court. I do not want to see so dignified a body as the Supreme Court of the State of Nevada made by a constitutional provision nothing better than a band of Gypsies or nomads, wandering about to every county seat in the State, in some of which the population may not exceed two or three hundred persons. I say if parties litigant have cases to try, let them bring those cases to the court and have them there tried, and do not let them ask that the court shall be brought to them.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I rise to a question of order. I do not think there is a quorum present. The Convention is looking very thin.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The Secretary will count the Convention.

The SECRETARY reported that twenty-one member were present.

The question was taken on the motion of Mr. Chapin to recommit Section 7, with instructions to amend, and it was not agreed to.

JUSTICES' COURTS.

Section 8 was read, as follows:

SEC. 8. The Legislature shall determine the number of Justices of the Peace to be elected in each city and township of the State, and shall fix by law their powers, duties, and responsibilities; provided, that such Justices' Courts shall not have jurisdiction of the following cases, viz.: First—Of cases in which the matter in dispute is a money demand or personal property, and the amount of the demand, (exclusive of interest,) or the value of the property, exceeds three hundred dollars. Second—Of cases wherein the title to real estate or mining claims, or questions of boundaries to land, is or may be involved; or of cases that in any manner shall conflict with the jurisdiction of the several Courts of Record in this State. And provided further, that Justices' Courts shall have such criminal jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law. And the Legislature may confer upon said courts jurisdiction concurrent with the District Courts of actions to enforce mechanics' liens, wherein the amount (exclusive of interest) does not exceed three hundred dollars; and also of actions for the possession of lands and tenements, where the relation of landlord and tenant exists, or when such possession has been unlawfully or fraudulently obtained or withheld. The Legislature shall also prescribe the manner and determine the cases in which appeals may be taken from Justices' and other courts. The Supreme Court, the District Court, and such other courts as the Legislature shall designate, shall be Courts of Record.

Mr. BANKS. I move to amend the last proviso by inserting after "concurrent," the words "or exclusive," so that it will provide that the Legislature may confer concurrent or exclusive jurisdiction. I would like to hear exactly how it will read then.

Mr. JOHNSON. Very badly.

The SECRETARY. The clause will read, if so amended, "and the Legislature may confer upon said courts jurisdiction concurrent or exclusive with the District Courts, of actions to enforce mechanics' liens," etc.

Mr. BANKS. Well, I will move to amend it, then, so that it will read—"and the Legislature may confer upon said courts exclusive jurisdiction, or jurisdiction concurrent with the District Courts," etc.

My object in proposing such an amendment, is to give the Legislature power, in its discretion, to confer upon Justices of the Peace exclusive jurisdiction in those small cases. If the section shall be adopted without an amendment of this character, the result will be, the District Courts having jurisdiction in such cases, as well as the Justices' Courts, that a wealthy plaintiff will have the power to bring his suit in the higher court, subjecting the defendant, who, perhaps, may be a poor man, to greater expenses than he can bear, and thus depriving him of the power to obtain justice. I do not wish to put such a power in the hands of the wealthy plaintiff, and hence I desire that, at the least, the Legislature may have the power to determine that Justices of the Peace shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction in those cases.

Monday.]

BROSNAN—BANKS—CHAPIN—WARWICK—MCCLENTON—PRESIDENT.

[July 25.

Mr. BROSNAN. To what particular cases does the gentleman from Humboldt refer?

Mr. BANKS. Those cases which are enumerated in the amendment adopted on the motion of the gentleman from Storey—mechanics' liens, and so on.

Mr. BROSNAN. I take it that the gentleman's object is already secured by the previous action of the Convention. Justices' Courts have jurisdiction in any case amounting to less than three hundred dollars, and of course there being no intermediate courts, that is, between the District and Justices' Courts, that jurisdiction must always remain with them. The word concurrent has been employed here, because mechanics' liens are subjects of equity jurisprudence. All liens of every description are within the reach of equity jurisprudence, and that fact would give to a District Court jurisdiction as to any amount, whilst Justices of the Peace cannot exercise jurisdiction over the matter inasmuch as they are mere creatures of statute, and have no original powers. As the section now stands, however, Justices of the Peace are given co-extensive jurisdiction, or concurrent jurisdiction, which amounts to about the same thing, in these cases of the enforcement of liens, where the amount does not exceed three hundred dollars, exclusive of interest; and I do not see any object which the gentleman from Humboldt could have, or any benefit that could accrue by shutting out the District Courts from that jurisdiction.

I understood the gentleman to raise the objection that a wealthy man would be able to force a poor man into the higher court, but I do not see how it could operate in that way. In the first place, it is the poor man, the mechanic, who has his lien, and he has his option as to the court in which he shall bring his suit. The mechanic selects his own court, having the privilege of going into either the District Court or a Justice's Court. How, then, is he injured, when he may select for himself in which court he will bring his suit? And is the interest of any other person prejudiced because the mechanic has a right to go into either court? Or is the mechanic going to be injured because another person has the right to go into the District Court, in these special cases? I think not, and therefore it appears to me that everything the gentleman from Humboldt seeks is already provided for, in the section as it has been amended. I drew the amendment yesterday, with a great deal of care, in order to meet this very character of objections.

Mr. BANKS. I ask that the entire section be read again.

The SECRETARY again read Section 8.

[The PRESIDENT in the chair.]

Mr. CHAPIN. As the time for the recess has nearly arrived, I move that it be extended for half an hour.

The question was taken, and the motion was declared to be agreed to.

Mr. WARWICK. I call for a division.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman is too late.

Mr. WARWICK. No, sir; I think not.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman can take an appeal, if he desires to do so.

Mr. WARWICK. I take an appeal, and my ground of appeal is that there were but two ayes, and I certainly heard a greater number of noes. I called for a division as quick as I could.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair had certainly decided the vote before there was any call for a division, but at the same time I am quite willing to allow a division to be taken.

The question was taken—"Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Convention?" and upon a division the vote was—ayes, 8; noes, 10. So the decision of the Chair was not sustained.

Mr. MCCLENTON. Now I call for a division on the motion to extend the time.

The PRESIDENT. No, sir; that cannot be, because the decision of the Chair, which has been reversed, was that the time had been extended.

The hour of five o'clock having arrived,

The PRESIDENT declared the Convention at recess until seven o'clock, P. M.

— EVENING SESSION.

The Convention re-assembled at seven o'clock, P. M., and was called to order by the President.

FINAL ENROLLMENT.

Mr. CHAPIN. Before taking up the regular business, I wish to offer a resolution in relation to the final enrollment, for the reason that there are so many members who contemplate leaving the Convention.

The PRESIDENT. We have not had more than twenty-four or twenty-five members present to-day, and it may, perhaps, be as well to inquire about how many are desirous of leaving.

Mr. CHAPIN. I have drawn this resolution with reference especially to the haste that many members will be in to get away at the close.

The SECRETARY read the resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That the President appoint a committee of three, whose duty it shall be, together with the President and Secretary of the Convention, (after the final adjournment of the Convention,) to correct any clerical errors which may have occurred, and to supervise the re-enrollment of the Constitution as finally passed; and that the last sentence in the Constitution be enrolled on a separate sheet, to be signed by the members of the Convention, and attached to the re-enrolled copy of the Constitution.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair will be under

Monday.]

BANKS—CHAPIN—TAGLIABUE—CROSMAN—DELONG.

[July 25.

the necessity of appointing this committee almost entirely from the Ormsby delegation. I have made inquiries as to other members of the Convention, nearly all of whom propose to leave immediately, and the mover of the resolution himself desires not to be placed on the committee. I understand, however, that the gentleman from Storey, who is Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, (Mr. Brosnan,) will remain, and I will therefore name as the committee Messrs. Brosnan, Kinkead, and Gibson.

Mr. BANKS. What is the object of the latter portion of the resolution, providing that the last sentence shall be enrolled on a separate sheet, to be signed by the members and attached to the re-enrolled copy?

Mr. CHAPIN. So that what members are signing shall not appear a perfect blank. That is the way it was done last year.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. It is to prevent anybody from putting a note of hand, for instance, above the signatures. [Merriment.]

THE SCHEDULE.

Mr. CROSMAN, from the Committee on Engrossment, reported that that committee had carefully compared the engrossed Article XVII, (as re-numbered,) entitled Schedule, with the original article as ordered engrossed, and had found the same correctly engrossed.

The report was accepted, and the article was placed on file for a third reading.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

The Convention resumed consideration of Article VI, entitled Judicial Department, upon its third reading.

JURISDICTION OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

The question pending was stated to be on the motion made by Mr. Banks, to recommit Section 8 to a special committee of three, with instructions to amend the same by inserting after the words "said courts," the words "exclusive jurisdiction, or," so that the clause would read:

"And the Legislature may confer upon said courts exclusive jurisdiction, or jurisdiction concurrent with the District Courts, of actions to enforce mechanics' liens, wherein the amount (exclusive of interest) does not exceed three hundred dollars; and also of actions for the possessions of lands and tenements, where the relation of landlord and tenant exists, or when such possession has been unlawfully or fraudulently obtained or withheld."

Mr. BANKS. It will be observed that the remarks of the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) on this matter, seem to have been made upon the assumption that those words, "exclusive and concurrent jurisdiction," qualified only actions for the enforcement of mechanics' liens, but the reading of the section shows clearly that it qualifies not only mechanics' liens, but the other matters embraced in the amendment, which was adopted, on his motion, the other day.

One of the strongest reasons why the Legislature should, in my judgment, have the privilege of passing laws, giving to Justices of the Peace exclusive jurisdiction in such cases, I stated briefly this afternoon, previous to the remarks of the gentleman from Storey, namely, that to prohibit the Legislature from passing any laws conferring such exclusive jurisdiction, would be to place it, beyond all question, in the power of plaintiff's to bring suit wherever they please. And the argument is still unanswered, notwithstanding the attempt of the gentleman from Storey to reply to it, that it would give to the wealthy man an opportunity to bring his suit in a court where the poor man would not have an equal chance with him, on account of the very great expense of carrying on suits in the higher courts. It is manifest that there should be courts established for the trial of these cases of small amounts, where any person who is interested can be heard in defense of his title, or in advocacy of his claim, for a small sum. But while this body does not seem to be desirous of conferring this power on Justices' Courts directly, by a constitutional provision, there are some members, at least, who seem to be willing to place the matter in such a position that the Legislature cannot confer that power exclusively upon the Justices' Courts. I cannot help thinking that those gentlemen seem desirous of leaving a loop-hole open for placing the matter in such a position that the wealthy prosecutor, in that class of cases, will have an advantage over his poorer opponent.

Mr. DELONG. But does it not cost him a great deal more to get his judgment, if he sues in the higher court unnecessarily?

Mr. BANKS. Sometimes a man cares little or nothing for the expense, if he can only bother and annoy his opponent.

Mr. DELONG. What right has the gentleman from Humboldt to assume that such a suit will cost more in a District Court than in a Justice's Court?

Mr. BANKS. Simply because we know from experience, that it uniformly costs more to carry on a case in a Court of Record than in a Justice's Court, where any straight-forward common sense man can conduct his own case, without incurring the expense of employing a lawyer.

Mr. DELONG. For every paper filed, the charge of the clerk is the same in a Justice's Court as in a District Court; they have the same charge in those courts for the fees of jurors, the same for swearing in jurors, and the same for administering an oath to a witness. In short, there is no difference in the world in respect to the fees. The cost in a Justice's Court of a trover case, which goes off without any trouble, is small, but if the same case were tried in a District Court, it would cost very little, if any, more. Cases in the District Courts ordinarily cost more, it is true, than cases in Justices' Courts, but that is only because they are cases of greater importance, involving more difficult questions.

Monday,]

BANKS—DELONG—BROSNAN—WETHERILL—TAGLIABUE—MCCLINTON.

[July 25.]

Mr. BANKS. That is all special pleading, if the gentlemen will allow me to use such an expression, for he very well knows that I cannot conduct my own case in a District Court, because I require there the aid of a lawyer.

Mr. DELONG. The gentleman can, in a District Court, if he can in a Justice's Court.

Mr. BANKS. The gentleman from Storey knows very well that practically men do not, and cannot do so.

Mr. BROSNAN. There is in California a special provision that every man shall be allowed to plead his own case in any court.

Mr. BANKS. That is not my recollection; but it makes no practical difference.

Mr. WETHERILL. Here is what I regard as a strong point in favor of the amendment. Where the losing party feels aggrieved by the decision, as is frequently, if not generally the case, he naturally wishes to take an appeal; but if his case has been tried in the District Court he can only appeal to the Supreme Court, and then he does not know when it may ever be heard from again; whereas, if it is tried originally in the Justice's Court, he can take his appeal to the District Court, and he still has the case right at home, under his own observation. I look upon that as a very strong point.

Mr. BROSNAN. I hope the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Humboldt will not prevail. If it should happen to do so, we are placed in the attitude of bringing our subordinate Courts of Justice in direct opposition to, and in conflict with the jurisdiction which we have already given to our Court of Appeal, the Supreme Court; for we have determined that the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction over all subjects of controversy, wherein the amount involved is over three hundred dollars, exclusive of interest, and also wherein the title to, or the right of possession of land or mining claims is involved, no matter what the amount of the value may be. Suppose we say here that Justices' Courts shall have exclusive jurisdiction of these matters, what becomes of the rest of our Constitution?

Now, sir, I state it as a fact, that in the State of California no man is prohibited from going into any of the courts and pleading his own case; any man can do so, and it is frequently done. But men generally are wise enough—although many are not as wise as my friend from Humboldt—to trust themselves and their interests in the hands of men who are skilled in the law, and are not willing to allow them to be conducted by those who are inexperienced. If I had a job of mechanical work of any kind to perform, instead of undertaking it myself, I would go to a man who understood that particular business, and employ him to do it. And it is upon the same principle that men employ lawyers and advocates to prosecute or defend their cases in the courts, in their behalf.

I will say further, Mr. President, that Justices of the Peace in this State have, or will have, if we shall adopt a State organization, a more enlarged and extended jurisdiction than I have ever known, or heard of being conferred upon that class of officers anywhere else. It might be just as safe to intrust this jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace as to intrust it to District Judges, provided they were known to possess the legal abilities which District Judges are required to possess. But inasmuch as we cannot reasonably expect that, and inasmuch as we have already enlarged the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace three-fold, even against the experience of the past—in opposition to the precedents of other States—I submit that we ought not now to adopt this amendment, and the more especially when we consider that it will necessarily devolve upon this Convention the duty of going back and remodeling what it has already done; and that, too, at this period of time in the progress of our deliberations, when we are scarcely able to keep a quorum together.

Mr. BANKS. I would like to be allowed about one minute to reply to some of the remarks of the gentleman from Storey.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman has already occupied more than his allotted time.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I object.

Mr. BANKS. The gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) has made some statements to which I would ask leave to reply, very briefly.

The question was taken on suspending the rule, so as to grant Mr. Banks leave to proceed, and leave was granted.

Mr. BANKS. The gentleman from Storey states, with a great deal of emphasis, as a matter of fact, that there is no law in California prohibiting a man, who is not a lawyer, from entering a Court of Record, and there stating his own case, or pleading his own cause, whether before a District Court or any other court. Now, sir, I did not state positively that on account of any legal prohibition a man could not enter such a court for that purpose, but I said that practically there was a denial to him of that privilege. And I do not know of a single instance, within my own observation of legal proceedings, where a man, who was not a lawyer, has gone into a Court of Record to attend to his own case, while I have known of many instances, in the less formal courts, where men have successfully conducted their own cases, under the simple forms of procedure there required. Therefore, I say that practically, whether there be any legal prohibition or not, men are denied the privilege of going before the District Courts, except when they are represented by counsel. And my recollection in regard to the legal prohibition is different from the gentleman's statement.

Mr. MCCLINTON. I rise to a question of order, which is, that the form which the discussion has assumed, is not pertinent to the question before the Convention, and it is only consuming the time in a manner that can result in no possible good.

Monday,]

PRESIDENT—BANKS—DELONG—HAWLEY.

[July 25.

The PRESIDENT. I do not think the gentleman from Humboldt has taken a wider range than is warranted by his amendment.

Mr. BANKS. As to the matter of fact which the gentleman from Storey states with so much emphasis, I have no issue to take, except that my recollection is different from his on that point; but, so far as that is concerned, I am willing to defer to his recollection. That does not, however, change the fact of men being practically denied the privilege, in the higher courts, while they are practically allowed it in the Justices' Courts.

Now, sir, with regard to the gentleman's other point, as to the necessity of our going back and changing something else, let us consider briefly the history of this matter. The whole subject was considered in the Judiciary Committee, very ably and fully, I have no doubt. A report was made at length, involving various matters which we did not altogether understand, and thereupon we proceeded to consider and amend the article, as reported, in Committee of the Whole. Some sections were amended, others were stricken out altogether, and some entirely new sections were added. Although to some of the action of the committee the gentleman from Storey himself demurred, as well as other members, still section after section was passed upon, until at last a system, which I believe to be a bad one, was completed and adopted. And, sir, upon the very first opportunity which was presented for attacking that system by amendments, I made such attack, and now I deny that the gentleman from Storey has any right to insist that, because we have adopted a bad plan, no amendment must be made, for the reason that it may interfere with the carrying out of that bad system.

Mr. DELONG. So far as my observation has extended, not one valid argument has been presented in support of this amendment, and only one that is even plausible. It is said first, that it is speedier to try these small cases in the Justices' Courts, but that cannot be shown, and nobody attempts it. In the next place, they say it is cheaper. That cannot be shown. Gentlemen cannot point out how they are going to try a case for one cent less in a Justice's Court than in a District Court. The next point is that a man who is competent to try his own case in a Justice's Court, is not competent to do the same thing in a District Court. That clearly cannot be so, for where he has a better judge, he will necessarily succeed better, having a good judge to instruct him in the event of his going wrong. A person conducting his own case without an attorney, must be better situated the higher he goes. The next proposition is, that in case of an appeal, if your case has been tried in a Justice's Court, by appealing it to the District Court you are enabled to keep track of your case better, being still at home, than if it were appealed from the District Court to the Supreme Court. That is one point, and the only point, in my judgment, entitled to much consideration. If there is any advantage in keeping a case where you can see about it at any time, instead of sending it to the Supreme Court, the amendment secures that advantage in the classes of cases which are included by it. Another point they make is, that it costs less to take up a case on appeal from the Justice's Court. That cannot be shown. The fees to be paid upon an appeal from a Justice's Court to a District Court, I believe are precisely the same as on an appeal from the District Court to the Supreme Court. Again, another proposition is, that judgment would be less speedily rendered in the Supreme Court than in the District Court. There is no reason why that should be so. The Supreme Court will very probably sit continuously, and I think it is likely to be less burdened with business than a District Court, with everything to consider in the way of a law case that involves any amount above three hundred dollars. Therefore there is not a single argument presented in favor of the amendment that is capable of proof—not one.

Now what are the arguments to support the reverse of the proposition? In the first place, if this amendment shall be made, we have got to go to work and revise the entire article, an operation which will certainly occupy a long time, and we are all in haste to conclude our labors. We have considered the subject carefully and fully already, and there ought to be strong reasons presented before we are asked to reverse our action. One of the arguments advanced on that side, and which I had overlooked for the moment, is that the wealthy prosecutor, having his choice of Courts, will sue in the District Court, in some cases, in order to enhance the costs to be paid by his opponent. But, in the first place, I have already shown that it will not necessarily cost more in that court; and in the next place, all analogy and experience is against that argument. Men bring suits in order to recover judgments—that is what they are after—and if the Justice's Court is easier, cheaper, or plainer, they will certainly sue there. And most assuredly there will not be so much likelihood of vexatious delay in that court as in the District Court, and that is what the plaintiff is always anxious to avoid. The defendant can always wait. The plaintiff is sometimes in a hurry to get his judgment, but the defendant need be in no hurry. I see no good reason, in any point of view, why the amendment should be adopted, while I see many good reasons for rejecting it.

Mr. HAWLEY. If I may speak from experience, I will say that in my opinion the Convention has not consulted the true interests of litigants, even in giving to Justices of the Peace the amount of jurisdiction that has already been conferred upon them; and I think that, so far from consulting the interests of litigants by the adoption of this amendment

Monday.]

PRESIDENT—BANKS—DELONG—BROSNAN.

[July 25.]

the Convention would thereby actually be doing a gross injustice to litigants, on both sides. Questions as intricate as any in the whole range of the law may come up on the trial of actions for the enforcement of mechanics' liens, and, sir, whilst I do not intend to cast any slur upon the general character of the class of men who usually occupy position as Justices of the Peace—for, generally speaking, I hold them in high esteem as citizens—yet I do not think I am stepping outside of the bounds of reason and truth when I give it as my opinion that not two Justices of the Peace out of five who are elected, would be competent to issue a summons in a case of the foreclosure of a mechanic's lien, to say nothing about deciding the intricate questions that may be involved in the trial of that class of cases.

I repeat that in my judgment this Convention would be doing gross injustice to the interests of parties litigant, by incorporating in our Constitution the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Humboldt. So far as relates to the gentleman's argument, that with his amendment every man will be at liberty to defend his own case, I attach not the slightest degree of importance to it. Those men who find themselves compelled to foreclose mechanics' liens, are seldom men who are able to make out a pleading properly, and much less, if opposition be made, to compete with opposing counsel in relation to points of practice, which I admit are often raised for the mere purpose of embarrassing an opponent. Therefore, I beg to assure these gentlemen that instead of doing a kindness to litigants, by giving Justices' Courts the exclusive jurisdiction which the amendment proposes, they will be doing them gross injustice. I hope and trust that the amendment will not be made, and if those gentlemen were more familiar with the rules of practice in the courts than they are, and sincerely desired to advance the interests of parties litigant, I do not think they would urge such a proposition, for I really do not believe they understand exactly and fully what the interests of those parties are.

The PRESIDENT. I will suggest to the mover of the amendment, that in order to avoid a point of order which might possibly be raised, he had better vary his motion, so as to recommit the section to a special committee of three, with instructions to report it back immediately, with the amendment which he desires shall be made.

Mr. BANKS. I have made that motion.

The question was taken, and the motion was not agreed to.

Sections 9 to 13, inclusive, were read as follows:

SEC. 9. The Legislature shall prescribe the powers, duties, and responsibilities of any municipal court that may be established in pursuance of Section 1 of this article; and shall so fix by law the jurisdiction of said court, as not to conflict with that of the several Courts of Record.

SEC. 10. No judicial officer, except a Justice of the Peace, shall receive to his own use any fees or perquisites of office.

SEC. 11. The Justices of the Supreme Court, and the District Judges, shall be ineligible to any office, other than a judicial office, during the term for which they shall have been elected, and all elections or appointments of any such judges by the people, Legislature, or otherwise, during said period, to any office other than judicial, shall be void.

SEC. 12. Judges shall not charge juries in respect to matters of fact, but may state the testimony and declare the law.

SEC. 13. The style of all process shall be, "The State of Nevada," and all prosecutions shall be conducted in the name and by the authority of the same.

No amendment having been offered to either of the above sections,

EQUITY JURISDICTION.

Section 14 was read, as follows:

SEC. 14. There shall be but one form of civil action, and law and equity may be administered in the same action in Courts of Record.

Mr. BANKS. I would inquire of the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, or some one else, whether those cases which have been enumerated in Section 8, as being such as may be disposed of in Justices' Courts, may not involve both law and equity? And if so, I would inquire further, whether a Justice's Court is likely to be a Court of Record?

Mr. DELONG. Oh, no.

The PRESIDENT. Those words were incorporated by the committee in addition to the original section as printed.

Mr. BANKS. I move to strike out the words "in Courts of Record," because otherwise the section would exclude Justices' Courts.

The question was taken, and several members voting in the negative, the amendment was not agreed to—unanimous consent being required.

Mr. BANKS. I move to recommit the section to a special committee of one, with instructions to report it back with that amendment.

Mr. DELONG. What for? What case can you imagine in a Justice's Court where both law and equity need to be administered?

Mr. BANKS. Some of those cases which were enumerated in the amendment to Section 8.

Mr. BROSNAN. Mechanics' liens.

Mr. DELONG. That is equity. You will have cases then involving both law and equity; but if you give Justices of the Peace power to administer law and equity, you will get double doses, I apprehend, that will knock litigation "into pi."

The PRESIDENT. I have very grave doubts whether the motion to recommit is in order, after the vote having been taken on the amendment, at this stage of proceedings. I will forego the question of order, however, and will put the motion in the shape in which the gentleman from Humboldt makes it.

Mr. BANKS. I understood the vote taken to be merely a test of the sense of the Convention.

Monday,]

DeLONG—BROSAN—McCLINTON—JOHNSON—KENNEDY—FRIZELL.

[July 25.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will remember that I suggested, when he offered a previous amendment, that he should move a recommitment, in order to avoid any question of order.

Mr. DeLONG. We have given to Justices' Courts equity jurisdiction—as, for instance, in mechanics' liens. That is what is called an equitable action, yet, at the same time, it includes both law and equity. It is legal relief to get a money judgment, and equitable relief to have the property sold to satisfy the judgment. The mechanic is entitled by law to have his claim allowed against the party owning the property, and under that law he gets from the court the money judgment, but not the property. If, then, having obtained a money judgment, the court orders a sale of the property to satisfy it, he gets equitable relief. If he gets both, it amounts to the administration of both law and equity, because the judgment embraces both. Therefore, if we are going to allow Justices of the Peace to have jurisdiction of the foreclosure of mechanics' liens, I hope the gentleman's amendment will be allowed to be made, nunc pro tunc, right in the section, without any recommitment.

Mr. Brosnan. I shall vote for the amendment. I think it is decidedly appropriate, now that we have determined to give these powers to Justices of the Peace.

The question was again taken on the amendment proposed by Mr. Banks, to strike out the words "in Courts of Record," and it was agreed to by unanimous consent.

COMPENSATION OF JUDGES.

Section 15 was read, as follows:

Sec. 15. The Justices of the Supreme Court, and District Judges, shall each receive quarterly, for their services, a compensation to be fixed by the Legislature, and which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which they shall have been elected, and the Legislature shall provide for setting apart from each year's revenue a sufficient amount of money to pay such compensation; provided, that District Judges shall be paid out of the county treasuries of the counties composing their respective districts.

[Mr. Crawford in the chair.]

Mr. McClinton. I think the word "law" will read better in that first sentence than "Legislature." It now says they shall receive "a compensation to be fixed by the Legislature," and I will move to amend by striking out "the Legislature," and inserting "law," so as to read—"a compensation to be fixed by law." That is the form usually adopted, I believe.

Mr. Johnson. There is one matter to which, in this connection, I desire to call the attention of members of the Convention. It will be seen that by this section it is provided that the salary of the Justices of the Supreme Court—

Mr. Kennedy. I rise to a point of order. The gentleman from Esmeralda (Mr. McClinton) has offered an amendment which has not been disposed of.

Mr. Johnson. The gentleman will pardon me; I did not observe that he had offered an amendment.

Mr. McClinton. It will only take half a minute to dispose of it. It is simply to strike out, in the first sentence, "the Legislature," and insert "law."

Mr. Frizell. This section is so constructed, that it appears to me the word "Legislature" is more appropriate in that connection. If the gentleman will read on, he will see what I mean. It says:

"And which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which they shall have been elected, and the Legislature shall provide for setting apart from each year's revenue a sufficient amount of money," etc.

Taking the section altogether, it appears to connect with, and devolve the matter especially upon the Legislature.

Mr. Kennedy. Of course.

Mr. Frizell. I think it is immaterial.

The question was taken on the amendment proposed by Mr. McClinton, and it was not agreed to.

Mr. Johnson. What I desired to call attention to was the first portion of the section:

"The Justices of the Supreme Court, and District Judges, shall each receive quarterly, for their services, a compensation to be fixed by the Legislature, which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which they shall have been elected."

Now we do not propose that the Legislature shall have power to diminish the salaries of any of the judges during the term of the incumbent for whom, or within whose term, the salary has been previously fixed. In other words, we propose that when the judge goes upon the bench, the Constitution and the law shall have fixed the salary, which shall not be changed so as to affect him. But in the event of a reduction of the number of judges, which may occur by the passage of a law at any time, the provision in the Constitution ought not to be so broad and comprehensive as to prevent such a law from affecting a person elected or appointed to fill an unexpired term. Now, within my remembrance, more than one instance has occurred in California, showing the operation of a constitutional provision, precisely like this, whereby a judge, having been appointed to supply an unexpired term, the Legislature having in the meantime reduced the salary, after two or three years had passed, the Legislature was called on to appropriate the additional amount. I would desire especially to secure the attention of legal gentlemen to this portion of my remarks, as in my own opinion, at least, it is a matter worthy of consideration.

I was remarking that I have knowledge of more than one instance in California wherein the operation of the same constitutional provision had such an effect. Appointments were made to the Supreme bench, and I believe in one instance to the bench of the District Court, after the Legislature had reduced the salary, a vacancy occurring by the death of the incumbent, in one instance, and by resignation in another. The persons so appointed entered upon their duties with the expectation of being paid the reduced salary, and certainly not reasonably contemplating any increase of salary, to the amount specified by the law which was in force affecting their predecessors. But after the lapse of some time, it was discovered that under this constitutional provision there was a question as to the power of the Legislature to reduce the salary, not only during the incumbency of their predecessors, but during the entire term for which such predecessor had been elected. The matter became a subject of judicial inquiry, and the result was that after the lapse of two or three years the Legislature was called upon to make appropriations, and did so make them, to the amount of several thousand dollars which amount was paid by the State, in addition to the salary as fixed by law. Notwithstanding that they had accepted office, expecting to receive only this reduced compensation, yet in consequence of the language of this provision—"during the term for which they shall have been elected"—it was held that it not only related back, but applied as well to the person serving the residue of the term, giving to such the higher rate of compensation.

Monday.]

DELONG—JOHNSON.

[July 25.]

Mr. DELONG. That is good law, is it not?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes, sir; but it is very bad policy. I do not at all question the correctness of the decision, but I say the policy is most questionable. Suppose a person who is elected serves but a part of the term, say within three or four years, and then dies or resigns, the Legislature in the meantime having seen proper to reduce the salary, to take effect after he shall have vacated the office, by any of the modes recognized by the Constitution? That reduction cannot affect the person who is in the office at the time the compensation is fixed by law, but the person elected or appointed to fill the vacancy, after the lower rate of compensation has been established, should properly be affected by it, because then the reason of the rule ceases to exist. The idea is, that when a person has been elected, he shall not be subject to the control of the Legislature, as he would be if that body had power to reduce his salary, but that when he enters upon his office he shall be assured of receiving the fixed salary for the full term, if he shall so long remain in office. The provision is a proper one, therefore, as to the person when so elected, but it should cease to operate when another accepts the office with full knowledge of any reduction which may have been made. For this reason I would like to have the language varied so that the restriction shall not apply in case of a vacancy.

Mr. DELONG. We can put in a qualification by adding "unless in case of a vacancy."

Mr. JOHNSON. I am informed by the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee that the subject was discussed in that committee, and while it was conceded that the question had been raised in California, it was thought, nevertheless, that the restriction would not apply in case of a judge being appointed to fill a vacancy. But, sir, that is a question which has already been adjudicated in California, and when we adopt the language of the California Constitution we necessarily adopt with it the legal interpretation that has been given to that language in California; and this is but an additional reason why I think it is exceedingly important to have the language of the section so far modified as to prevent our Legislature from paying such additional sums. In the three instances to which I have adverted, in California—one in a District Court, and two in the Supreme Court—the additional sums which were paid to the judges amounted to not less than ten or fifteen thousand dollars; and the effect of the adjudication may have been to cause even larger sums to be paid, in other instances, which were not legally investigated. I have prepared no amendment to cover the matter, because I preferred first to present my own views on the subject, and to obtain the sense of the Convention as to whether or not it is advisable to so amend the section as to obviate the possible contingency of such a result.

Mr. DELONG. If the gentleman will read the clause again, I think we can very readily agree upon an amendment.

The SECRETARY again read the first clause of Section 15.

Mr. DELONG. I will suggest that we add, after "elected," the words:

"Unless a vacancy occur, in which case his successor shall receive such compensation as may be established by law at the time."

Mr. JOHNSON. I will suggest this as being sufficient to meet the difficulty:

"Provided, that any person elected or appointed to fill an unexpired term shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law at the time when such person shall have entered upon the duties of his office."

Mr. DELONG. The only objection I have to that amendment is, that the appointment may be made on one day, and a law fixing the salary at a certain sum may be passed by the Legislature on the following, or some subsequent day. For instance, a vacancy might occur on the Supreme bench just previous to the meeting of the Legislature, by the death of one of the judges elected, perhaps. Then the appointment is made, but the man does not enter immediately upon the discharge of his duties, and in the meantime the Legislature may meet and pass a bill changing the salary of the office. In that case injustice might be done to the person appointed. He accepts the office at a certain fixed salary, but before the time when he enters upon the duties of the office, the Legislature, being dissatisfied, possibly, with the appointment, changes the salary.

Now I have drawn my amendment in writing, and will read it for the information of the Convention. I propose to insert after the the word "elected," the following:

Monday,]

JOHNSON—DELONG—McCLINTON.

[July 25.

"Unless in case a vacancy occurs, in which case the successor of the former incumbent shall only receive such salary as may be provided by law at the time of his election or appointment."

Mr. JOHNSON. I do not perceive the difference.

Mr. DELONG. The difference is this. The amendment suggested by the gentleman from Ormsby provides that the compensation shall be as fixed by law when the person elected or appointed enters upon his duties, while mine says his salary shall be as may be provided by law at the time of his election or appointment.

Mr. JOHNSON. He enters upon his duties when he takes the oath of office.

Mr. DELONG. I know; but that may not be until some time after his election or appointment.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The election takes place in November, and there is a matter of two months interval between that time and the meeting of the Legislature.

Mr. DELONG. Suppose the man elected or appointed should be out of the State at the time? It might be two months, or more, before he would enter on the duties of the office.

Mr. JOHNSON. Then he knows, before he goes into office, precisely what the compensation is to be. But the practical objection raised by the gentleman from Storey, I conceive, cannot exist. I have no objection whatever to providing that he shall take the place at the salary provided at the time he is elected or appointed, but, according to my own experience and observation, scarcely ever more than forty-eight hours expires after a man receives his commission before he enters upon the duties of the office. I have appointed two Judges of the Supreme Court of California, and I know that each of them entered upon the discharge of his duties within an hour after being commissioned.

Mr. DELONG. I believe the term commences in January. Suppose, now, that a man is elected judge at the November election, but vacates the office by death or otherwise, and another person, who is appointed to fill the vacancy, is delayed by some cause which prevents him from entering upon his duties till some time after the commencement of the term. Under the amendment suggested by the gentleman from Ormsby, could not the Legislature in the meantime meet and change the salary?

Mr. JOHNSON. The contingency is rather remote, but as I do not see any essential difference, I am willing to accept the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Storey.

Mr. DELONG. If there is no essential difference, I will withdraw my amendment.

Mr. JOHNSON. I say I am willing to accept the gentleman's amendment; I withdraw mine.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The Secretary will read the amendment offered by the gentleman from Storey.

Mr. DELONG. I will withdraw it.

Mr. JOHNSON. No; I have withdrawn mine. I conceive that there is no essential difference, and I am sure the gentleman from Storey desires to accomplish the same end that I do. Besides, his amendment is shorter, whilst it attains the same result, and therefore if he will move it as an amendment, I will second it; or he may move, if necessary, to recommit with instructions to make the amendment.

Mr. DELONG. Let us hear the section read, with the amendment, so that we may judge of its grammatical construction.

The SECRETARY read the section, as proposed to be amended, as follows:

SEC. 15. The Justices of the Supreme Court and District Judges, shall each receive quarterly for their services a compensation to be fixed by the Legislature, and which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which they shall have been elected, unless in case a vacancy occurs, in which case the successor of the former incumbent shall only receive such salary as may be provided by law at the time of his election or appointment. And the Legislature shall provide for setting apart from each year's revenue a sufficient amount of money to pay such compensation. Provided, that District Judges shall be paid out of the county treasuries of the counties composing their respective districts.

The question was taken on the amendment proposed by Mr. DeLong, and it was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. DELONG. Now I call attention again to the amendment suggested by the gentleman from Esmeralda, (Mr. McClinton,) to strike out the words "the Legislature," and insert instead the word "law," in the first clause. The point is, that it is not the Legislature alone, but the Legislature and the Governor together, who make the laws. The Legislature might pass an act to fix the compensation of the judges, and then the Governor refuse to sign the bill, but still it might be claimed that the compensation had been established, because the language of the Constitution is, "a compensation to be fixed by the Legislature." Now let us avoid any confusion and difficulty of that kind by substituting the word "law."

Mr. JOHNSON. I hope we shall adopt the amendment; we have pursued the same course two or three times to-day, making an obvious distinction between "the Legislature" and the "law."

Mr. DELONG. I move, as an amendment, to strike out "the Legislature," and insert the word "law."

Mr. McCLINTON. I am very glad indeed to find that at last my idea is seconded by two of the ablest members on the floor, and the best versed in legal lore. I offered this same amendment a short time since, with the view of making the whole instrument harmonious, and for the very reason assigned by the gentleman from Ormsby, (Mr. Johnson,) because we have adopted and followed out that rule from the beginning of our labors in framing this instrument, and this, it seemed to me, would be the only exception to that rule. I wanted it all to read alike, and hence I moved to amend this section so as to be in conformity with the balance of the Constitution. I presented the best arguments I could in favor of the amendment, during the short time allowed me. I could see the point very well, but I failed to make others see it, and consequently I believe nobody but myself voted for the amendment. I hope, now that I have got such incontrovertible authority on my side, that the amendment will prevail.

Monday.]

JOHNSON—FRIZELL—CHAPIN—DUNNE—MCCLINTON—DELONG—BANKS.

[July 25.

Mr. JOHNSON. The only apology I have to offer is, that I was at the time busily occupied with another matter, or I certainly should have come to the gentleman's rescue.

Mr. FRIZELL. If I opposed the gentleman's amendment, it was not through any factiousness on my part. Inasmuch as the word "Legislature" is used twice in the same section, and I think in the same sense, I believed the committee must have had good and sufficient reasons for it.

Mr. CHAPIN. The gentleman from Esmeralda should understand, in order to account for the defeat of his amendment, that it was opposed by the gentleman from Gold Hill. (Mr. Frizell,) and he is in full moon to-day. [Laughter.]

The amendment offered by Mr. DeLong was adopted by unanimous consent.

Mr. JOHNSON. Now I call attention to the language which occurs immediately following. It says—"and the Legislature shall provide for setting apart," etc. I think it should read—"provision shall be made by law."

Mr. FRIZELL. I tell the gentleman from Esmeralda his moon is full. [Laughter.]

Mr. JOHNSON. I will move to make that amendment in the following clause—to strike out the words "the Legislature shall provide," and insert the words "provision shall be made by law."

Mr. DUNNE. I hope the gentleman is not going to steal the thunder of the gentleman from Esmeralda.

Mr. McCLINTON. I am willing that my friend from Ormsby should divide the honors with me on this amendment.

Mr. KINKEAD. Who takes the "odd trick?" [Merriment.]

The SECRETARY read the section, as proposed to be amended.

Mr. DELONG. I hope the gentleman from Ormsby will pay attention to the reading.

Mr. JOHNSON. I have heard every word that has been read.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. It is hoped that gentlemen of the legal profession especially will give their attention.

The section was again read, with the proposed amendment.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

MUNICIPAL COURTS.

Mr. BANKS. I would inquire of gentlemen whether in Section 12, as numbered in the printed copy of the article, (Section 9 as renumbered,) the words "by law" have been inserted. It says—"the Legislature shall prescribe the powers, duties, and responsibilities of any municipal court," etc. That is the same kind of a case, and I move to amend by inserting after "Legislature," the words "by law."

Mr. DELONG. I do not like the reading of that. It would be better to say their "powers, duties, and responsibilities shall be prescribed by law."

Mr. BANKS. Very well; I have no objection. If the words "by law" are inserted after "prescribe," however, it will read very well—"the Legislature shall prescribe by law the powers, duties," etc.

Mr. McCLINTON. If I understand it correctly, whenever the Legislature prescribes anything, it is "prescribed by law," and therefore it seems to me that the words "by law" are superfluous, because before it can be prescribed it must have the signature of the Governor, and if it has that signature, it becomes a law; so that "by law" is entirely superfluous.

Mr. BANKS. If there was any virtue at all in the other amendments which have been made, (and I do not really believe there was so much as some gentlemen claimed,) I think there is also virtue in this; because the Legislature might prescribe by resolution, just as it may establish rules for its own government, upon a mere motion. But having changed the phraseology in those other cases, I maintain that by very strong implication we are required to do the same thing in this case.

Mr. DELONG. I think it would render the section more harmonious to say, "provision shall be made by law, prescribing the powers, duties," etc.

Mr. BANKS. I have no objection, if the gentleman will write out his amendment.

Mr. DELONG. The Secretary can get it down in half a minute. I do not like to do so much work for nothing. [Merriment.]

The SECRETARY (after consulting with Mr. DeLong.) The amendment is to strike out, in the first line, the words, "the Legislature shall prescribe," and insert in lieu thereof, "provision shall be made by law prescribing;" also, to strike out the words "shall so fix," and insert instead the words "also fixing;" also, to insert after "said court," the word "so." The section would then read as follows:

SEC. 9. Provision shall be made by law prescribing the powers, duties, and responsibilities of any Municipal Court that may be established in pursuance of Section 1 of this article, and also fixing by law the jurisdiction of said court, so as not to conflict with that of the several Courts of Record."

Mr. BANKS. "Provision prescribing," sounds very ill. I think the gentleman had better fall back on the simple insertion of the words "by law."

Mr. JOHNSON. I think that would fully cover it.

Mr. BANKS. I will move to amend, so as to read, "the Legislature shall prescribe by law

Monday.]

DELONG—BANKS—CHAPIN—BROSNAN—McCLINTON—JOHNSON.

[July 25.]

the powers, duties," and so on. Then the section will require no further amendment.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Does the gentleman from Storey withdraw his amendment?

Mr. DELONG. By no means.

The question was taken on Mr. Banks' amendment, to insert "by law," after the word "prescribed," and it was agreed to by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The question recurs on the amendment of the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. DeLong,) as now amended.

Mr. DELONG. I would withdraw my amendment if I could get it out now without withdrawing also the amendment of the gentleman from Humboldt, but I do not wish to take them both out.

Mr. BANKS. It is not material.

The amendment offered by Mr. DeLong was agreed to by unanimous consent.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Mr. CHAPIN. Now I ask for the reading of Section 8.

The SECRETARY read Section 8, as heretofore amended.

Mr. BROSNAN. I suggest that we insert, after "Justices of the Peace," the words "by law." [Laughter.]

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Is there any objection?

Mr. BROSNAN. I only offered that amendment jocularly, because I see no force in some of the amendments which have been made. I do not wish, however, to appear on the record as idling, and I withdraw it.

Mr. McCLINTON. The Convention has not only stolen my sparrow, but is actually trying to make an eagle of it.

SPECIAL COURT FEES.

Section 16 was read, as follows :

SEC. 16. The Legislature, at its first session, shall prescribe that upon the institution of each action, and other proceeding, and also upon the perfecting of an appeal in any action or proceeding in the several Courts of Record in this State, a special court fee or tax, to be fixed by law, shall be advanced to the clerks of said courts respectively, by the party or parties bringing such action or proceeding, or taking such appeal; and the money so paid in shall be accounted for by such clerks, and applied towards the payment of the compensation of the judges of said courts, as shall be directed by law.

Mr. JOHNSON. I propose to strike out the word "shall," in the first sentence, and insert the word "may" in its stead. To my mind there is an obvious distinction in the use of those words, and certainly there is in the sense in which the word "shall" is here used. I am perfectly willing to invest the Legislature with authority to provide for a court fee, but at the same time I cannot consent to make it a mandatory requirement. I will therefore move, if there be objection, to refer the section to a special committee, with instructions to strike out "shall," and insert "may."

I know not, sir, neither do I care, whether there does or does not exist, ordinarily, any legal distinction between those words, for I am satisfied that the word "shall," in the connection in which it is here used, becomes mandatory, whilst the word "may" would only be directory. The point at issue is simply this—and it will be remembered that I have heretofore had occasion to give expression to my views relative to this matter—that we do not want, or, certainly, I do not, to compel the Legislature to place every man, in his circumstances what they may, under the necessity, when he enters a court of justice, of paying more money, in the way of costs, than he is required to pay in other States, under ordinary circumstances—that is, more than the ordinary fees connected with litigation.

It may be necessary, in the first few years of the existence of our State, that a very considerable fund shall be derived from this source, but when such necessity shall no longer exist, I do not want to compel the Legislature to continue the tax. I have no doubt that the Legislature will recognize the necessity of imposing the tax for the time being, and act accordingly at its first session. It will unquestionably make ample provision for such a fund, and in doing so, will probably impose what, in after times, would be considered an onerous and oppressive tax, in the shape of court or docket fees. But when that tax shall have done its service, and shall be no longer required as a public necessity, I am unwilling to have a provision in the Constitution of the State which will prevent the Legislature from abolishing it. It is a measure which, in my judgment, should only be resorted to in case of extreme necessity; and if we adopt here the word "may," then, as I have already said, the Legislature will have power, when the public necessity shall have ceased, to discontinue the tax. I regard such a tax as in its nature most burdensome, because it is not always the men who are most abundantly blessed with this world's goods who are called upon to pay it, but, on the contrary, it is usually those who are but little able to bear it; and if we are going to derive any considerable income from such a source, it must be by imposing an exorbitant tax. I therefore hope that the section will be recommitted, with instructions to substitute the word "may" for "shall."

Mr. DELONG. In the first place, I am opposed to this amendment, because if we substitute the word "may," no other or further language being used, and the section having reference to the action of a public body, I do not believe it will make a particle of difference in the sense; because it has been judicially decided that "may" means "shall," when applied to the action of a public body, relative to public affairs.

But I have another reason. I believe it is best—and not only best, but exactly right—that those who dance shall pay the fiddler; in other words, that those who go to law shall pay the expenses of adjudicating their rights, and not ask that a part of their burden shall be sustained by those who do not enter at all into litigation. Now it will be, and is already, one argument urged against the change from the Territorial to the State form of government, that our courts are going to be a great burden in the way of taxation upon the people. It is said that they are very generally monopolized by litigants in mining cases, nine-tenths of whom are residents of San Francisco, or, at any rate, non-residents of this State; that whilst they monopolize our courts, the judges, who are maintained on the benches at high salaries, are to be paid by direct taxation, wrung from the people of this State; and that those who are asking for the change, and who require the services of the judges and courts, are either non-residents, or non-tax-paying residents of Nevada.

Monday.]

JOHNSON—DELONG.

[July 25.]

Now, sir, when I go before the people of the State in advocacy of this Constitution, and say to them—“Why, gentlemen, we have provided in the Constitution that a docket fee may be levied, by which the judges will be paid by those who are engaged in litigating;” I do not want to be replied to—“Yes, but you say it may be levied, and the mining interests will inevitably control the Legislature, and prevent its levying such a tax, so that after all we shall have it to pay.” I prefer to say “shall,” and then we can go before the people, and successfully combat arguments of the character I have mentioned, telling the people that under the Constitution we have framed, this docket fee is imperatively required to be imposed, so that the salaries of the judges will be paid by those who have the services of the judges. I want to deal fairly and squarely with those whom I represent.

And in answer to the other argument, that it might be policy to require such a tax to be levied for the present, whilst the resources of the State are limited, and that the time may come when the necessity will not exist, I have to say that I do not agree with that view, because I believe that the necessity will continue to exist as long as courts are necessary, and litigants go into them. If the necessity ever does cease, however, the Legislature, if it is deemed expedient to do so, can reduce the fee to a merely nominal figure. But, sir, it is always right. I do not care if we establish a State on such a prosperous basis that the taxes required for the support of the government will be at the lowest conceivable figure; even then it is right that those who go to law shall be required to support the officers of the law, without calling upon those who never resort to the courts of justice. It is always right in principle, and I hope we shall allow the language to remain as it is, so that we may not be deprived by the Legislature of what we have sought to obtain, for it has seemed to be the will, at least, of a large majority of the Judiciary Committee, if not of the whole Convention, that this provision shall be made, so that the judiciary shall be paid by the litigants.

Now a word as to the argument relative to the hardship upon litigants of such a provision. He must be a very poor man indeed, or a very penurious one, who is not willing to pay a fee, say of ten dollars, upon the institution of his suit, knowing that he will get it back with other costs, if his case is gained. And it is not much to require a man to pay, after he has been prosecuting or defending a bad cause for a long time, and so consuming the time of public officers at the public expense. And I trust that under such a provision the Legislature will regulate things a little differently from the way they are managed at present. A man who now goes into court, and wants to commence a suit, is required to pay down a certain sum in advance, say for ordinary cases, fifteen, twenty, or thirty dollars, as a deposit for the clerk's fees; and then he also has not only to pay the Sheriff for the work he does, but also to make a deposit ahead. Now we might relieve litigants a little by providing that they shall only pay the officers as fast as they do the work. For instance, for issuing summonses, one dollar, for filing complaint, one dollar, and so on. Now when complaint is filed, and summonses issued, the plaintiff has to pay the clerk ten dollars, and let him hold the remaining eight dollars until the case is determined, whether the other side make any defense or not. We can relieve poor litigants from this tax, and then, if they are required to pay the docket fee, they will nevertheless not be called upon to pay a dollar more, at the commencement of a suit, than they do now. In that way we can obtain an income, from this source, for the payment of the judges salaries, and at the same time no hardship will be inflicted upon poor men.

Mr. JOHNSON. If the gentleman from Storey be correct in his conclusions, and especially in his enunciation of the legal proposition with which he started out in his argument, I do not see how it happens that he opposes this amendment.

Mr. DELONG. If the gentleman will allow me, I am reminded by that remark, that there is one point upon which I forgot to dwell. I object to the proposed amendment for the reason that other men may construe it differently from my own construction. The reply to our arguments on the stump would be that the Legislature may do this, and it may not; that the Convention struck out “shall,” because it did not want to make it imperative. Let us leave that word, and then people will know that litigants have got this court fee to pay. If we put in the word “may,” I might talk an hour, and still men would believe that the provision left the matter at the discretion of the Legislature.

Mr. JOHNSON. The gentleman, then, has but little confidence in his own judgment, and very properly conceives that the people will not indorse it more readily than he himself does.

Monday,]

DELONG—JOHNSON—BANKS—CHAPIN—WETHERILL.

[July 25.

Mr. DELONG. I see a striking example of that now. [Merriment.]

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes, and if the gentleman will refer to his books—it is sometime, I apprehend, since he consulted them much—I think he will find a more authoritative utterance than mine in controversion of his legal proposition. I believe that these words “shall” and “may,” have a different meaning, when they are used in this connection; and perhaps the best argument in support of that view, is to be found in the elaborate effort which the gentleman from Storey has made, to show, for reasons other than that of the dissimilarity of those words, the necessity for the retention of the word “shall.”

The gentleman says it is always right in principle to compel those who go to law to pay the expense of maintaining the officers of the law. It is well known, sir, that but few men resort to the courts of law except in cases of extreme necessity. When they cannot obtain in any other manner what they regard as their rights, then, and not before, do they invoke the law. And it is not solely or mainly, as the gentleman suggests, residents of California, or other States, who appear as parties litigant in our courts, but they are our own citizens, and amongst them many of the poorer classes, men who find it a very difficult matter indeed to raise the funds necessary to even start their cases, independent of the expense of protracted litigation. Hence I do not want to leave this provision mandatory upon the Legislature for all time. I desire that the Legislature shall be clothed with this power, as I have already remarked, so long as the public good shall need it, but when the public interest no longer requires this burden, let the Legislature be empowered to remove it.

Again, it is the plaintiff, prima facie in the right, who is to be subjected to the proposed tax. Though he may have been wronged never so much, he is obliged nevertheless to bear the burden of expense. The gentleman tells us that he can get it back in his bill of costs, but he is aware that, though the plaintiff may obtain judgment, in many cases he fails to recover a cent of costs, or otherwise. I discover no good reason why this subject should be placed within the category of mandatory requirements, whilst, on the other hand, I see ample reasons for leaving it discretionary with the Legislature.

I care not what may have been the past action of the Committee on the Judiciary, or of the Convention, on this matter. That is not a sufficient reason to govern my vote on any important question; for I know not why I should bow in meek humility and subserviency to the wishes that may, or may not have been expressed by the Convention heretofore. This article has now reached a stage where, if we desire to make alterations, we can only do so through the form of motion, which I have made, and I propose to avail myself of the record, in order to give the gentleman from Storey, as well as every other member, the same opportunity which I seek myself, that is, an opportunity of vindicating his views by his vote upon the proposed amendment. I do not expect to change the determination of the majority: I am actuated by no such motive; but for my own part, I would infinitely prefer to be with the minority and have the approval of my own judgment, than to be with the majority and yet be conscious of doing wrong. Entertaining these views, I move that the section be recommitted, with the instructions I have submitted, and at a proper time I shall call for the ayes and noes.

Mr. BANKS. There is one thing which I dislike about the section as it stands, and that is, the requirement that the Legislature “at its first session” shall make this provision.

Mr. CHAPIN. I think that is stricken out. I believe I made the motion myself.

The SECRETARY. It reads, as engrossed: “the Legislature, at its first session, shall prescribe,” etc.

Mr. BANKS. It is obvious that that reading would, by pretty clear implication, prevent the Legislature from changing it afterwards, and I suggest that we might insert other language which would enable a subsequent Legislature to modify the provision. I have prepared an amendment to strike out the words “at its first session,” and to insert after “shall prescribe,” those words, “by law,” which have been so much in favor here to-night. Then it would read: “The Legislature shall prescribe by law.” I would then be in favor of a further amendment to allow the Legislature to change the amount of the prescribed fee.

Mr. DELONG. I do not think there can be any doubt about the right of the Legislature to regulate the matter; any subsequent Legislature could repeal or modify the act.

Mr. WETHERILL. If those words are stricken out, as proposed by the gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Banks,) the whole force and virtue of the clause is lost. We need this tax at the outset. After a while, as the gentleman from Ormsby (Mr. Johnson) suggests, we may not need it; but at the outset, while our financial affairs are in a crippled condition, it is a matter of necessity. Therefore, if those words are stricken out, the whole virtue of the provision is gone.

Mr. CHAPIN. I hope the amendment to strike out the word “shall” and insert “may” will not prevail. There is no doubt that we need such a tax, and need it now, and it will unquestionably be provided for at the first session of the Legislature, if we give the necessary authority. And gentlemen need not flatter themselves that the word “may” would be construed as having the same meaning as the word “shall,” especially after the direct and positive assertions of the gentleman from Monday,] DELONG—CHAPIN—FRIZELL—MCCLINTON—BANKS—JOHNSON—KENNEDY. [July 25.

Ormsby, (Mr. Johnson,) which, of course, go upon the record of our debates.

Mr. DELONG. But there have been assertions to the contrary.

Mr. CHAPIN. Exactly. My friend and colleague seems to insist that the words are the same in meaning, but the motion of the gentleman from Ormsby, and the reasons which he gives for making that motion, go upon the record of the debates and proceedings of the Convention, and when they are referred to it will settle the whole thing. He says he makes the motion because he wishes to leave it to the discretion of the Legislature, and if we adopt the amendment it will stand with that interpretation. I hope we shall allow the section to remain as it is.

Mr. FRIZELL. I find that in framing a State Constitution, as in other matters, the best of men will sometimes get into a certain situation. Now, Mr. President, it is perfectly plain to my mind, and I have no doubt that it is the sense and feeling of this Convention, that there should be placed in the hands of the Legislature, power to regulate this matter in the future. That is certainly my own desire. But here comes up another question. You, Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Convention, will recollect that there is a section in this article of our Constitution, already adopted, which declares that the District Judges shall be paid out of the county treasuries of the counties composing their respective districts. That is one of the features of our Constitution which has been determined upon, and no doubt it is an eminently proper one. Then this provision comes in as something new—in addition or supplementary to that—and in our present financial condition, it appears to me that this word “shall” ought to be retained. Nevertheless, as the State progresses, it may become unnecessary in the future, and I agree perfectly with the views of the gentleman from Ormsby (Mr. Johnson) on that point. But this question of the judges being paid out of the respective county treasuries, is something which has not heretofore been touched upon in the arguments which have been presented.

Mr. DELONG. What difference does that make?

Mr. FRIZELL. I think it makes a good deal of difference. I am not willing to be taxed in Storey County to pay three District Court Judges, because I opposed that proposition from its inception, believing that two would be enough. Looking at the Constitution as a whole, upon all its parts, and all its bearings, I should like to place this matter of a court fee in the hands of the Legislature, so that it may be modified in the future, as occasion may arise, or even abolished if deemed expedient. And yet, at the same time, if we do that, I know what the people will say. They will tell us that we have foisted upon them these judges, and that they will be compelled to support them out of the county treasuries. They do not object to having judges, but they do not want to be taxed for the payment of their salaries.

Mr. McCLINTON. I hope the word “shall” will be retained, and I think the argument of my friend from Storey (Mr. DeLong) is sufficiently forcible to convince a majority of the members of this Convention that it should be retained, and also, that it will not work a hardship to parties litigant, whether they be rich or poor. The Legislature will certainly have control of the matter, to the extent of fixing the amount of the fee to be paid by the plaintiff, before commencing his suit in any court. Suppose that at the first session the Legislature fixes the fee in the District Courts at ten dollars, and the next year, or two years afterwards, it is found that a fee of five dollars will be ample; in that case the Legislature would have a perfect right to reduce the fee from ten to five dollars. And if the next year following it should be found that two dollars and a half would suffice, the Legislature could make a further reduction to that figure; and so on till the fee would practically amount to nothing—a fee of twenty-five cents, if you please. I believe that under this section, as it stands, the Legislature would pursue that course. If it finds that a fee of ten dollars is quite unnecessary, it will fix a lower sum. It is not to be supposed that the members of the Legislature will be such monsters as to glory in human misery, or that they are going to tax the people for the fun of so doing. I do not attribute such motives to those gentlemen who are to be our legislators in the future.

As to the amendment which has been proposed by the gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Banks,) I desire to offer a substitute which I am satisfied he will accept. I propose to amend the first clause so as to read: “The Legislature, at its first session, and from time to time thereafter, shall prescribe,” &c.

Mr. BANKS. I accept the amendment, and will suggest to the gentleman that he send it up in writing.

Mr. JOHNSON. I do not want these questions mixed. If the Convention desire to take a vote on the gentleman's amendment, I have no objection, because my amendment will apply just as well afterwards, whether his be adopted or rejected. I object, however, to confounding two propositions, which in fact are entirely distinct.

Mr. McCLINTON. I will withdraw the amendment for the present, with the consent of the gentleman from Humboldt, and let the question be first taken on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ormsby.

Mr. BANKS. Very well.

Mr. DELONG. I wish to say merely a word more.

Mr. KENNEDY. Time!

Mr. DELONG. No, sir; I was watching the clock when I spoke before, and had a minute left. Besides, the gentleman has interrupted

Monday,]

HAWLEY—DELONG—WETHERILL—MASON—JOHNSON—COLLINS.

[July 25.

me a minute more, and that makes two minutes. [Laughter.]

I did not wish to question the motives of the gentleman from Ormsby, (Mr. Johnson,) when I said that a large proportion of the Convention seemed to be in favor of the section as it stands. I did not desire to bolster up my side by that statement, nor to intimate that the gentleman from Ormsby had not a right to insist, even if every member of the Convention were against him, upon taking the vote on his amendment. I had no such meaning as that.

And so far as the relative meaning of the words "may" and "shall" are concerned, I have only to reply to the remarks of the gentleman from Ormsby, that I was recently engaged in a case tried before Judge North, in which that very question was involved. There were four counsel on our side, and five against us, and we were engaged in the matter five days; and it was finally determined by Judge North that the word "may," when applied to a public body, meant "shall." That is my authority.

Mr. HAWLEY. I want to ask one question. Do these gentlemen, who are such earnest advocates of the measure, believe that a docket fee of ten dollars in each case will pay the judges' salaries?

Mr. DELONG. I do believe that it will pay every judge in the Territory.

Mr. HAWLEY. It would require that there should be twenty-one hundred cases on the docket to pay the salaries of the Supreme Court Judges.

Mr. DELONG. We are not speaking about the Supreme Court Judges, but the District Judges.

Mr. HAWLEY. With the lights before me, I am firmly of the opinion that a docket fee of ten dollars, whilst it might go a great ways towards paying the salaries of the judges in Storey County, would amount comparatively to but a trifle in my own county; or, I may say, in any other county in the proposed State of Nevada. Such being the case, it seems to me that a great deal more time than necessary has been consumed in the discussion of this question. I have to say further, that I agree almost entirely with the views presented by the gentleman from Ormsby, (Mr. Johnson,) and particularly with the position he takes, that such a tax would be an onerous and burdensome one upon litigants, in a great many cases. I did not happen to be present when this question was previously under consideration; if I had been, I should certainly have voted against authorizing a docket fee.

Mr. WETHERILL. If a fee of ten dollars is not going to be sufficient, I hope the Legislature will make it twenty, and, as the gentleman from Storey (Mr. DeLong) says, let those who dance pay the fiddler. That is the correct principle. If you want the people to pay the expenses of private litigation, then, upon the same principle, the people in a body should be called upon to come up and pay the clerk's and Sheriff's fees, and all the other expenses incurred in conducting a law-suit. Now the party who loses the case is presumed to have been in the wrong, and I say the man who is in the wrong—the one who improperly prosecutes, or improperly defends an action—ought to be required to pay the expense which he has incurred, and should not be allowed to call upon others to share the expense with him. I think that is just and right.

Mr. MASON. As to the question of "shall" or "may," I wish it distinctly understood, in order that I may appear right on the record, that I do not care a cent which word is used. [Laughter.]

Mr. JOHNSON. The gentleman from Douglas (Mr. Hawley) has suggested that, according to his calculation, it would require twenty-one hundred cases, with a tax of ten dollars, to meet the salaries of the Judges of the Supreme Court—that is, to raise twenty-one thousand dollars. Then I understand the gentleman from Storey (Mr. DeLong) to say, that there will probably be many more cases than the number stated. I cannot believe there will be so many as twenty-one hundred cases in a single year in the Supreme Court, and I submit to the gentleman that he had better correct his figures.

Mr. DELONG. I alluded then to the District Court, and in my judgment, giving the District Court all the business now done by the Probate Court, and everything else amounting to over three hundred dollars, such a tax will pay the salaries of every one of the judges of the District Court in Storey County. I am satisfied of it. There are always more cases dismissed than get upon the calendar, as every lawyer knows. We have now about five hundred cases on the calendar, besides a great many which are not yet there, and at least double that amount have been settled. Sometimes ten or fifteen new cases a day are commenced by one firm, that I know of, and I presume there are by others. When we get good courts, business will increase. And then we shall have the right to appeal to the Supreme Court, and I should not be at all surprised to see as many as a thousand cases a year appealed to the Supreme Court, for a number of years to come. And suppose the tax pays, towards the salaries of the Supreme Court Judges, not twenty-one thousand, but ten thousand dollars; even that will be a great relief to the tax-payers generally. And as the gentleman from Esmeralda (Mr. Wetherill) has suggested, if ten dollars is not enough, the Legislature can make it twenty.

Mr. COLLINS. I am decidedly in favor of this fee, and I am in favor of it on principle. I do not believe that well disposed people, who try by every possible means to keep out of litigation, should be taxed to support litigants. And I never could see the justice, myself, of exacting a docket fee from the humble litigants

Monday,]

JOHNSON—COLLINS—DELONG—HAWLEY.

[July 25.]

in the Justices' Courts, while the great litigation which occupies the time of the higher courts is sustained by taxes paid by the public at large. If that kind of sauce is good for the goose, it should be good for the gander. If it is proper, just, and right to tax a humble litigant who goes before a Justice's Court to enforce a demand for five, ten, or twenty dollars, or more, it certainly seems to me to be eminently proper that the litigant who goes before the higher court, with his claim of two thousand, ten thousand, or twenty thousand dollars, should, upon the same principle, be called upon to pay something toward the expense of sustaining the court.

Mr. JOHNSON. I do not understand the pertinency of the remarks of the gentleman who has just taken his seat, when he assumes that the humblest litigant in a Justice's Court is required to pay a docket fee.

Mr. COLLINS. I think I can make myself clear to the Convention on that point, if not to my excellent friend from Ormsby. I say, if it is proper to support a District Judge by a salary which has to be paid out of the taxes of the people, it is also eminently proper, I think, to support a Justice of the Peace by a salary to be paid by the taxes of the people in like manner. Am I understood?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, sir; or at all events the gentleman has not reached the point yet. He is assuming, as I understand, that a docket fee has to be paid by litigants to a Justice of the Peace—

Mr. COLLINS. And so it has.

Mr. JOHNSON. Allow me to explain; I had not finished my sentence. A Justice of the Peace occupies the same relation to parties litigant, so far as fees are involved, as does the clerk of a higher court. He has his own office, and is entitled to his fees at the same rate as the clerk of the District Court.

Mr. DELONG. And he does not receive a cent of salary outside of his fees.

Mr. JOHNSON. Certainly not; neither does the clerk. They both receive fees, but as to its being a docket fee, it can no more be regarded in that light in the one case than in the other. It is not a docket fee that is paid to the Justice of the Peace, under existing territorial laws, because his services are compensated exclusively by fees of office.

Mr. COLLINS. It matters not in regard to what name it may be called by. The great fact still stands out that the compensation of a Justice of the Peace, who acts as a judge in the smaller class of cases, is paid by the litigants, while the compensation of the judge who tries and decides the great causes, is paid, not by the litigants, but by the taxes of the people. I care not in what language it may be presented; the fact stands out in bold relief, just the same, and I am in favor of extending the same principle that governs in the Justices' Courts to the higher courts. Let those who want to litigate pay for it.

Mr. JOHNSON. Certainly; so it is now; they pay the sheriff's and clerk's fees.

Mr. COLLINS. Let them pay the court expenses also. I can see no reason why we should require them to pay the clerk and sheriff, and not the judge. I see no good reason why a court fee should not be exacted in proportion to the amount of money involved in each suit, and I think it would be very unjust indeed to tax a man who comes before the court to enforce a claim of three hundred dollars, the same amount that you would if his claim were for three thousand, or thirty thousand, or three hundred thousand dollars. I insist that this court fee is correct in theory, and I am confident that it will work well in practice.

Mr. HAWLEY. I trust that the proposition to strike out the word "shall" and insert instead the word "may," will prevail. I want to see the language so modified as to leave this matter discretionary with the Legislature. Now, sir, it is, according to my experience and observation—and I appeal to attorneys who are familiar with the practice of the law, and the results of practice, to say whether it is not in accordance with their own—that in as many as two cases out of five, if not a greater proportion than that, and especially in actions of ejectment and other cases of that character, the plaintiff, though compelled to bring suit in order to recover his rights, nevertheless finds the defendant in such a condition that he cannot pay the costs, and they are therefore taxed against the prevailing party. He is obliged to pay all the costs of the clerk and the sheriff, and to make him pay all those costs, and then a docket fee in addition, would be extremely onerous and burdensome. Therefore I hope the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ormsby will prevail, or at any rate that we shall provide that no such tax shall be enforced against the prevailing party.

Mr. DELONG. If the gentleman's interrogatory, as to cases where the defendant is unable to pay the costs, is addressed to me, I have to say in reply, that no matter whether the plaintiff recovers the costs or not, he still recovers the property, and if he is benefited by his suit, whilst I am not, I do not see why he should not pay the whole of the expenses of the court instead of making me pay a part. [Question, question!"]

[Mr. KINKEAD in the chair.]

Mr. JOHNSON, and others, demanded the yeas and nays on the amendment to strike out the word "shall," and insert instead the word "may."

Mr. HAWLEY. Is a further amendment now in order?

SEVERAL MEMBERS. Oh, no!—Question!

Mr. HAWLEY. I withdraw it.

The question was taken by yeas and nays on the amendment offered by Mr. Johnson, to strike out "shall" and insert "may," and the vote was—yeas, 5; nays, 19—as follows:

Monday.]

McCLINTON—BANKS—DELONG—BROSNAN—CHAPIN.

[July 25.]

Fees—Messrs. Brosnan, Crawford, Gibson, Hawley, and Mr. President—5.

Nays—Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brady, Chapin, Collins, Crossman, DeLong, Dunne, Frizell, Folsom, Kennedy, Kinkead, Mason, McClinton, Murdock, Proctor, Tagliabue, Warwick, and Wetherill—19.

So the amendment was not agreed to.

Mr. McCLINTON. Now I again move my amendment, which I temporarily withdrew in order that the amendment of the gentleman from Ormsby might be disposed of. I ask unanimous consent to amend the first paragraph of the section, so as to read as follows :

“The Legislature, at its first session, and from time to time thereafter, shall prescribe by law, that upon the institution of each action,” etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. BANKS. The word “provide,” I think is better than “prescribe.” I will move to substitute the word “provide” for “prescribe.”

Mr. McCLINTON. Yes ; that is better, certainly.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. DELONG. Now, is the word “civil” there—“civil action?”

The SECRETARY. No, sir.

Mr. DELONG. I ask to have the word “civil” inserted before “action,” so as to read—“upon the institution of each civil action, and other proceeding,” etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. DELONG. It occurs again, I observe, further down. Let the word “civil” come in before “action,” in the second instance—“and also upon the perfecting of an appeal in any civil action,” etc. Will the Secretary read the section as it will then stand?

The SECRETARY read as follows :

SEC. 16. The Legislature, at its first session, and from time to time thereafter, shall provide by law that upon the institution of each civil action, or other proceedings, and also upon the perfecting of an appeal in any civil action or proceeding in the several courts of Record in this State, a special court fee or tax, to be fixed by law, shall be advanced to the clerks of said courts respectively, by the party or parties bringing such action or proceeding, or taking such appeal ; and the money so paid in shall be accounted for by such clerks, and applied towards the payment of the compensation of the judges of said courts, as shall be directed by law.

Mr. DELONG. That is right now.

The further amendment proposed by Mr. DeLong, (to insert the word “civil,” in the second instance,) was agreed to by unanimous consent.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Section 17 was read, as follows :

SEC. 17. The Legislature shall have no power to grant leave of absence to a judicial officer ; and any such officer who shall absent himself from the State for upwards of ninety consecutive days, shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

No amendment was offered.

TERRITORIAL JUDGES AND COURTS CONTINUED.

Section 18 was read, as follows :

SEC. 18. In order that no inconvenience may result to the public service from the taking effect of this article, no judicial officer shall be superseded, nor shall the organization of the several courts be changed thereby, until the election and qualification of the several officers provided for in the same.

No amendment was offered.

CITY RECORDERS.

Mr. BROSNAN. My attention has been called, by the gentleman from Ormsby, (Mr. Johnson,) to the reading of Section 10, as it is now numbered. Will the Secretary read that section?

The SECRETARY read Section 10, as follows :

SEC. 10. No judicial officer, except Justices of the Peace, shall receive to his own use any fees or perquisites of office.

Mr. BROSNAN. That section is taken from the old Constitution, framed last year, in hæc verba, but since that time a Recorder's Court has been established in Virginia City, and the Recorder is paid, I believe, by fees. This section, as it now reads, would, in my judgment, cut him off altogether from receiving any fees, and I therefore move to amend the section by inserting after “Justices of the Peace,” the words “and Recorders of cities.”

Mr. DELONG. It would be better to say—“and City Recorders”

Mr. BROSNAN. Very well ; let it read—“except Justices of the Peace, and City Recorders.”

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

JUSTICES OF THE SUPREME COURT.

Mr. CHAPIN. I would like to hear Section 2 read again.

The SECRETARY read Section 2, as follows :

SEC. 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum ; provided, that the Legislature, by a majority of all the members elected to each branch thereof, may provide for the election of two additional Associate Justices, and if so increased, three shall constitute a quorum. The concurrence of a majority of the whole court shall be necessary to render a decision.

Mr. CHAPIN. I see that provision is there made for the addition of two associate justices, but I do not notice any provision for reducing the number again to three. My idea is, that in all probability this increase to five judges will be made at an early day, for now is the time, and for the next two or three years, when, if ever, five judges on the bench will be of great service to the State. If we are going to want them at any period in our history, it is at this period, and it is my opinion that we will need them for perhaps three, four, or possibly five years to come. After that, I doubt very much whether five judges will be needed. With that view, I move to refer this section to a special committee of three, with instructions to amend by inserting after the words “two additional associate justices,” the words “with power to reduce the number again to two.”

Monday.] DeLONG—CHAPIN—MASON—BROSNAN—JOHNSON—BANKS—FRIZELL—DUNNE. [July 25.]

Mr. DeLONG. I want to know why the Legislature has not that power, without the amendment proposed? If the Legislature can pass a law increasing the number of judges, it can certainly repeal such law—there is no doubt of that—under the ordinary construction of statutes.

Mr. Chapin. I would very much prefer to have the power expressed.

The President pro tem. I suggest whether it would not be better to place this provision in the Schedule, as it seems to relate merely to a temporary matter?

Mr. Chapin. This is the proper place, sir; at the very point where provision is made for an increase.

Mr. Mason. I can see no necessity for this amendment. With my limited knowledge of the law, and I do not profess to have much legal knowledge, I am clearly of opinion that when a repealing or amending statute is itself repealed, the latter act revives and puts in force the former law. If that be so, the Legislature has the power referred to, without any amendment.

Mr. Chapin. I have had some conversation with the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee (Mr. Brosnan) on this subject, and he stated to me at the moment—to be sure, without much opportunity for thought on the subject—that he doubted the power of the Legislature, after having once increased the number of judges, again to reduce that number.

Mr. Brosnan. If this amendment were adopted we would have this state of things, at any rate, that if the Legislature increase the number of judges, such increase must continue at least for six years; that is, the terms of office of the additional judges elected must be for six years, and during that time, of course, they could not be legislated out of office, because we have adopted a provision that their compensation shall not be increased or diminished during the term of office for which they are elected.

Mr. Johnson. That applies only to their salaries.

Mr. Brosnan. But in my opinion the judges, once elected, cannot be legislated out of office during the term for which they have been elected.

Mr. Banks. I like the section just as it stands now. Is the gentleman's proposition that we shall have three judges to start with, and then empower the Legislature to diminish that number?

Mr. Chapin. No, no!

The President pro tem. As it is now, we shall have three judges to start with, with power in the Legislature to increase the number to five, and the proposition of the gentleman from Storey is to give the Legislature further power, after the increase has once been made, to reduce the number again to three.

Mr. Chapin. That is it, exactly.

Mr. Banks. Well, I do not quite understand the object of it.

Mr. Frizell. The motive of my colleague is certainly a good one, but inasmuch as the decrease suggested cannot be made, after the Legislature has once provided for the election of the two additional associate justices, under six years, and as the Constitution could be amended, if deemed necessary, inside of that time, even admitting that the Legislature would not have the power, which I think they would have, to decrease the number at the expiration of that time, still, I do not perceive that any practical advantage is to be secured by the amendment. I would not set up my judgment against that of other gentlemen, but it seems to me very clear that the Legislature would have the power to reduce the number at the expiration of the terms of the incumbents, and at all events, in case of any real necessity for it, the Constitution can be amended so as to meet the exigency. There is time enough for that. Therefore, inasmuch as the sentence is harmonious and correct, as it now reads, and as I think we can get on just as well without the amendment, I shall vote against it.

Mr. Chapin. The section would be a great deal more harmonious to my ear, if it were so worded as to enable us to dispense with those two additional justices, whenever it is ascertained that they are not necessary, and thus save the State fourteen thousand dollars a year. That would have a very harmonious sound, indeed. I ask for the yeas and nays on the amendment.

The question was taken by yeas and nays on the motion to recommit with the instructions offered by Mr. Chapin, and the vote was—yeas, 4; nays, 18—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Banks, Chapin, Collins, and Mr. President—4.

Nays—Messrs. Belden, Brady, Brosnan, Crawford, Crosman, DeLong, Dunne, Frizell, Folsom, Gibson, Kennedy, Kinkead, Mason, McClinton, Proctor, Tagliabue, Warwick, and Wetherill—18.

So the amendment was not agreed to.

No further amendment being offered,—

The question was taken by yeas and nays on the final passage of the article, and the vote was—yeas; 21; nays, 1—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brady, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crawford, Crosman, DeLong, Dunne, Frizell, Folsom, Gibson, Kennedy, Kinkead, Mason, McClinton, Proctor, Tagliabue, Warwick, and Wetherill—21.

Nay—Mr. President—1.

So the article was passed.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS—PERPETUITIES.

[The President in the chair.]

Mr. Dunne. Has the article entitled Miscellaneous Provisions been finally passed?

The President. Yes, sir.

Mr. Dunne. I wish, then, to call attention to one matter which seems to have been overlooked. I do not see that any clause has been adopted in the Constitution, thus far, prohibit-

Tuesday,]

DELONG—DUNNE—COLLINS—CHAPIN—WARWICK—BROSAN.

[July 26.

ing perpetuities. I was not aware that the article had been finally passed, and had a section drawn to be incorporated in it, which I will read :

Sec. —. No perpetuities shall be allowed except for eleemosynary purposes.

I think that should be incorporated somewhere, because if there is no such prohibition, entailed estates may be created, the same as in England.

The PRESIDENT. I understand the article is in the hands of the Committee on Phraseology, and if there be no objection, the section can be sent to that committee, with instructions to embody it in the article.

The rules were suspended by unanimous consent for the purpose of allowing Mr. Dunne to introduce the proposed new section.

Mr. DELONG. Let us adjourn. What have we got to do to-morrow? We can attend to this matter then, I suppose.

The PRESIDENT. This section ought to be adopted before the article goes to the Enrolling Committee.

Mr. DELONG. Very well; it may be adopted, I understand, by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Humboldt desire to submit a motion in connection with the proposed additional section?

Mr. DUNNE. Yes, sir; I wish it to follow Section 3. I offer the following resolution :

Resolved, That the following section be and the same is hereby ordered inserted in Article XVI, entitled Miscellaneous Provisions, viz :

Sec. 4. No perpetuities shall be allowed, except for eleemosynary purposes.

The resolution was adopted by unanimous consent.

Mr. DELONG. I move that the Convention now adjourn. I understand that it is not going to facilitate our business to sit any later to-night.

ELECTION ORDINANCE.

Mr. COLLINS. I have a report to make.

Mr. DELONG. I withdraw the motion to adjourn.

Mr. COLLINS presented the following report :

MR. PRESIDENT:—Your select committee, comprising the undersigned, to which was referred the ordinance relative to voting, etc., respectfully reports the same back to the Convention, amended by substituting new matter for Sections 5 and 6, as follows :

SEC. 5. The judges and inspectors of said election shall carefully count each ballot, immediately after said elections, and forthwith make duplicate returns thereof to the clerks of the said County Commissioners of their respective counties; and said clerks within fifteen days after said elections, shall transmit an abstract of the votes, including the soldiers' vote, as hereinafter provided, given for State officers, Supreme and District Judges, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential electors, inclosed in an envelope, by the most safe and expeditious conveyance, to the Governor of said Territory, marked "Election returns."

SEC. 6. Upon the receipt of said returns, including those of the soldiers' vote, or within twenty days after the election, if said returns be not sooner received, it shall be the duty of the Board of Canvassers, to consist of the Governor, United States District Attorney, and Chief Justice of said Territory, or any two of them, to canvass the returns, both civil and military, in the presence of all who may wish to be present, and if a majority of all the votes given upon this Constitution shall be in its favor, the said Governor shall immediately publish an abstract of the same, and make proclamation of the fact in some newspaper in said Territory, and certify the same to the President of the United States, together with a copy of the Constitution and ordinances. The said Board of Canvassers, after canvassing the votes of the said November elections, shall issue certificates of election to such persons as were elected State officers, Judges of the Supreme and District Courts, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential electors. Thirty days after the President of the United States shall issue his proclamation declaring this State admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States, this Constitution shall thenceforth be ordained and established as the Constitution of the State of Nevada.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN A. COLLINS.

The report was accepted and the ordinance placed on file.

Mr. CHAPIN. I was desirous of working at least an hour longer to-night, but the Secretary has informed me that it will be impossible for him to prepare the article on the Judicial Department, so as to go out of his hands into the hands of the enrolling clerk, until after the adjournment. As it is quite important to have that article enrolled as early as possible, perhaps it will be as well to adjourn now.

Mr. WARWICK. I move that we adjourn.

SCHEDULE—PROBATE COURTS.

The PRESIDENT. I understand that it is the desire of the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Brosnan,) to offer an additional section to the Schedule.

Mr. WARWICK. For that purpose I withdraw the motion to adjourn.

Mr. BROSAN offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That the following section be and the same is hereby ordered inserted in the article entitled Schedule, as Section 20.

SEC. 20. All cases, both civil and criminal, which may be pending and undetermined in the Probate Courts of the several counties at the time when, under the provisions of this Constitution, said Probate Courts are to be abolished, shall be transferred to, and determined by the District Courts of such counties respectively.

The resolution was adopted by unanimous consent.

Mr. WARWICK. I now renew the motion to adjourn.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

Accordingly, at twenty minutes before ten o'clock, P. M., the Convention adjourned.

TWENTIETH DAY.

CARSON, July 26, 1864.

The Convention met at nine o'clock, A. M., and was called to order by the President.

The roll was called, and all the members responded except the following: Messrs. Ball,

Tuesday,] BRADY—PRESIDENT—BROSNAN—DUNNE—MASON—McCLINTON—WETHERILL. [July 26.

Banks, DeLong, Earl, Fitch, Haines, Hovey, Hudson, Jones, Lockwood, Morse, Nourse, Parker, Sturtevant, Tozer, Wellington, and Williams. Present, 22; absent 17.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. NIMS.

The journal of yesterday was read, corrected, and approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. BRADY. I desire to ask indefinite leave of absence from to-day at noon.

The PRESIDENT. It is quite evident that the Constitution will not be completed to-day, and if any more members leave us, I am apprehensive that we shall not have a quorum to-morrow.

Mr. BRADY. There are several members in town who will be present to-morrow, I understand.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Washoe (Mr. Nourse) is the only absent member that I know of in town, who will probably be here to-morrow, and, as all of us are aware, when our number is reduced below twenty we are without a quorum. At no time yesterday did we have in attendance more than twenty-four members, I believe.

Mr. BROSNAN. And some whom we had yesterday are away to-day.

The PRESIDENT. I understand, also, that one of the members from Humboldt. (Mr. Dunne.) and the three delegates from Esmeralda, propose leaving the Convention immediately.

Mr. HAWLEY. I think we may get through our work by to-morrow at noon.

The PRESIDENT. The enrolling yet to be done is all there is to prevent it. It would be very unfortunate, however, if we were to find ourselves in such condition as to be unable to complete our labors.

Mr. BRADY. Will not Messrs. DeLong and Banks be here?

Mr. DUNNE. My colleague (Mr. Banks) will be here at two o'clock. He desires leave of absence only till two o'clock.

The PRESIDENT. I think there will be no trouble about a quorum to-day; the question is, who will be in attendance to-morrow?

Mr. McCLINTON. Unless I start for home to-morrow morning, I cannot go till Friday, and I am very anxious, indeed, to get home. If it is possible, therefore, I should like to start home in the morning, but I will not hazard the chances of getting a quorum in the Convention by leaving.

The PRESIDENT. I would like to inquire of the other members from Esmeralda, what their views are in regard to remaining.

Mr. WETHERILL. I am in very much the same position as my colleague who has just spoken. I should like very much to go, but at the same time, I would not leave the Convention without a quorum. If a quorum can be obtained without me, I shall be extremely glad to go; if not, I will stay and take the chances.

Mr. MASON. I did not propose to stay till Friday; but, however, my time is like a setting hen's—it isn't worth a cent—[merriment]; so I think I will stay, if it is necessary.

Mr. BRADY. I am in the same fix as the gentleman from Esmeralda, (Mr. McClinton); I would not leave, if I found that the Convention would be without a quorum in consequence.

The question was taken, and leave of absence was granted to Mr. Brady, in accordance with his request.

The PRESIDENT. The Enrolling Clerk has informed me that several sheets which he had completed, became wet and destroyed by reason of the storm of yesterday.

QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

Mr. DUNNE. I desire to rise to a question of privilege, in regard to a report of our proceedings in the Virginia Union. I said the last time I was on the floor for such a purpose that I would not endeavor to correct one of the reporters again, unless it was a case of life and death; but this refers to the proceedings on the dueling question, and so comes pretty near a question of life and death, at any rate. By a very slight transposition of words, I am made by the reporter of the Union to take exactly the opposite ground from what I really did take, in regard to persons being eligible to office who may have fought a duel out of the State, subsequent to the adoption of the Constitution. His report says:

“Mr. Dunne, after calling attention to the fact that the person who had fought a duel in California since the adoption of the Nevada Constitution, would be prohibited by Section — from exercising the rights of an elector, moved that it be referred to a select committee, consisting of Messrs. Banks, Nourse, and Warwick, with instructions to amend so as to prohibit persons who had fought a duel out of the State, after the adoption of the Constitution, as well as within the State, from being eligible to office.”

Now the point was this, that a person who, while living elsewhere, had fought a duel outside of this State, although after the adoption of the Constitution, might be eligible to office here, but at the same time the oath would prevent him from entering upon the duties of the office to which he might be elected, unless he committed perjury; that is, although he might be eligible, under one section, and might be elected, yet he could not take the oath prescribed in the preceding section, which required him to swear that he had not fought a duel since the adoption of the Constitution. I considered that the two sections conflicted, and wishing to make them harmonize with each other, I moved that the oath be amended, so that the person who might have fought a duel outside of the State, subsequent to the adoption of the Constitution, would not be required to swear, as then prescribed in the oath, that he had not fought a duel at all, but that he had not fought a duel “while a resident of the State of Nevada.” This report would make it appear that it was my desire to exclude such persons from eligibility to office, which was not the fact.

Tuesday.]

KENNEDY—GIBSON—HAWLEY—PRESIDENT—CHAPIN—KINKEAD.

[July 26.

ENROLLMENT OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Mr. KENNEDY. I wish to inquire if the Enrolling Committee cannot employ additional force, so as to complete the enrollment of the Constitution to-day? As I understand the matter, we have appointed a committee to have the whole instrument re-enrolled after our adjournment.

Mr. GIBSON. That will not be necessary, except in cases where amendments are made.

Mr. KENNEDY. I understood that the whole was to be re-enrolled, and that copy, I think, ought to be executed with great care, while the appearance of the copy which is now being enrolled, is of comparatively little consequence. I think if the committee employ sufficient force we may get through to-night.

Mr. HAWLEY. I have always been under the impression that the original copy of an enrolled bill, as it came from the hands of the Enrolling Clerk, was the copy to which reference would be made in the event of any litigation growing up under the instrument, and I suppose the rule would be the same in regard to our Constitution. But whether I am correct in that or not, I do not think any advantage is to be gained by the employment of additional clerks. One great object of the enrollment is to leave no room for interlineations, and if we divide the labor among several clerks, that object is necessarily defeated. It is important, too, that the whole instrument shall present a neat and uniform appearance. If it is the sense of the Convention, however, that we should employ another clerk, we can do so.

The PRESIDENT. I do not think it will be possible to finish the work before the day after to-morrow, unless additional clerical force is employed.

Mr. CHAPIN. Is proper attention now being given to the work of enrolling?

Mr. HAWLEY. I went to the Enrolling Clerk's office early this morning. I did not find him in, but I saw a portion of his work which had been done in a workmanlike manner, and I found another portion which had evidently been rained on. I saw Mr. Van Winkle subsequently, at about half-past seven o'clock, and he then assured me that he would immediately go to work and replace the damaged sheets. He said he was only waiting for the engrossed copy of the article on Judicial Department, and that, together with the Schedule, and the Ordinance providing for elections, comprises all remaining to be enrolled. If the Committee on Engrossment can report the judicial article now, I think it can be enrolled by two o'clock.

The PRESIDENT. I do not believe it can be done before seven o'clock. The clerk writes a beautiful hand, but very slowly, and I am confident that it will take him till six or seven o'clock.

Mr. KENNEDY. In order to test the sense of the Convention, I will move that the Committee on Enrollment be instructed to employ such additional clerical force as may be necessary to finish the enrollment of the Constitution by ten o'clock to-night.

Mr. CHAPIN. Some of the sheets which have been damaged by rain may still be saved, perhaps. One object of the committee which has been appointed, I suppose, is to guard against such accidents. If they are not damaged so much that they cannot be read, the committee can report them, and then it will be the duty of the special committee to have them re-enrolled.

Mr. HAWLEY. I think it probable that those sheets are all replaced by this time.

The PRESIDENT. I am very sure they are not.

Mr. KINKEAD. If gentlemen will suspend the discussion a few minutes, I will report three articles from the Committee on Phraseology, which will give the Enrolling Clerk something to do.

The PRESIDENT. I had some experience on this subject in the Convention of last year, and I remember that when we had mainly completed our labors we were delayed two or three days on account of the enrollment. We can employ several clerks, and let one enroll one article, another a different one, and so on. I think we can procure the services of two or three competent gentlemen now engaged in Secretary Clemens' office, who will cheerfully assist in the enrollment.

The question was taken on the motion of Mr. Kennedy, and it was agreed to.

PHRASEOLOGY.

[Mr. COLLINS in the chair.]

Mr. KINKEAD, from the Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement, submitted the following report :

MR. PRESIDENT :—Your Committee on Phraseology have had under consideration Articles VII, XI, and XVI, of the Constitution, and beg leave to report the following corrections and alterations :

In Section 1 of Article VII, after the word "Governor," in the fourth line from the bottom, insert "or Lieutenant Governor."

Section 2 of same article, strike out the words "under this State Government," in third line.

Section 3, same article, strike out the words "and county," in seventh line.

In Section 5, Article XI, strike out the words "see fit," and insert the words "deem necessary," in sixth line.

Same section, strike out the word "common" before "schools," in the eighth line.

In Section 7, same article, substitute the word "constitute" for "be," in sixth line.

In Section 8, strike, out "the," where it occurs in the sixth line.

Insert in same section, after the word "lost," in fourth line from bottom, the words "or misappropriated."

In same section, third line from bottom, insert the word "principal" in lieu of "capital."

They also recommend the insertion of the words "(if an oath)"—in parentheses—after the word "enter," in last line of Section 2 of Article XVI; and

Tuesday,]

KINKEAD—DELONG—BROSNAN—PRESIDENT—TAGLIABUE—CHAPIN.

[July 26.

add to the section the words, "(if an affirmation,) under the pains and penalties of perjury."

Also, strike out the word "and" where it occurs before "1867," and "1875," in Section 13, Article XVI.

All of which if respectfully submitted.

J. H. KINKEAD, Chairman.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. If there is no objection, these amendments will be considered in their order, and each section read with its proposed amendments, so as to be understood by every member. The Secretary will read the amendments, and the sections or clauses, as amended.

The SECRETARY. The first amendment is—

In Section 1 of Article VII, after the word "Governor," in fourth line from the bottom, insert "or Lieutenant Governor."

The clause will then read :

"The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall preside over the Senate while sitting to try the Governor or Lieutenant Governor upon impeachment."

The next amendment is—

"Section 2, of same article, strike out the words 'under this State Government,' in third line."

It will then read :

"The Governor, and other State and judicial officers, except Justices of the Peace, shall be liable to impeachment for misdemeanor, or malfeasance in office."

Mr. KINKEAD. Those words made rather a bad sentence, and the committee did not see that they meant anything.

Mr. DELONG. I cannot see how the section could have reference to any other officers than those "under this State Government."

Mr. BROSNAN. The words are clearly superfluous.

The SECRETARY. The next amendment is—

"Section 3, same article, strike out the words 'and county,' in seventh line."

The sentence will then read :

"For any reasonable cause, to be entered on the journals of each House, which may or may not be sufficient grounds for impeachment, the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, and Judges of the District Courts, shall be removed from office on the vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each branch," etc.

The next are as follows :

"In Section 5, Article XI, strike out the words 'see fit,' and insert the words 'deem necessary,' in sixth line."

Same section, strike out the word "common," before "schools," in eighth line.

The first part of the section will then read as follows :

"The Legislature shall have power to establish Normal Schools, and such different grades of schools, from the primary department to the University, as in their discretion they may deem necessary; and all professors in said University, or teachers in said schools, of whatever grade, shall be required to take and subscribe to the oath, as prescribed in Article XVI of this Constitution."

The next amendment is in Section 7, of the same article, to substitute the word "constitute" for "be," in the sixth line, so as to read :

"The Governor, Secretary of State, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, shall, for the first four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, constitute a Board of Regents," etc.

The next amendments are in Section 8, of the same article—to strike out "the" where it occurs in the sixth line, so as to read—"make it most effective and useful," instead of "make it the most effective and useful." Also, in the same section, to insert after the word "lost," in the fourth line from the bottom, the words "or misappropriated;" and in the third line from the bottom, the word "principal," in lieu of "capital." The concluding portion of the section will then read :

"And the Legislature shall provide that if through neglect, or any other contingency, any portion of the fund so set apart shall be lost or misappropriated, the State of Nevada shall replace said amount so lost or misappropriated in said fund, so that the principal of said fund shall remain forever undiminished."

THE ENROLLMENT—AGAIN.

[The PRESIDENT in the chair.]

The PRESIDENT. I will state, for the information of members of the Convention, that the gentleman from Douglas, (Mr. Hawley,) and I went into the office of the Secretary of the Territory, and although we found his clerks very busy with some pressing work, yet two or three of them expressed a willingness to assist in the enrollment, and will be ready to proceed with the work as soon as we are ready for them.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. Do they think they can complete the enrollment this evening?

The PRESIDENT. They will work at it as diligently as they can. The Secretary himself is absent, and one of the clerks does not feel authorized, in his absence, to leave his other duties and assist in the enrollment, but the other two will do so.

PHRASEOLOGY—AGAIN.

The Convention resumed the reading and consideration of the amendments reported by the Committee on Phraseology.

The SECRETARY. The next amendment is in the oath, in Section 2 of Article XVI. The committee propose to insert after "enter," in the last line, the words "(if an oath);" and to add to the section the following: "(if an affirmation,) under the pains and penalties of perjury." The concluding sentence will then read :

"And further, that I will well and faithfully perform all the duties of the office of — on which I am about to enter; (if an oath) so help me God; (if an affirmation) under the pains and penalties of perjury."

The next and last amendment is—

Also strike out the the word "and," where it occurs before "1867" and "1875," in Section 13, Article XVI.

Mr. CHAPIN. Let us hear how that will read, as amended. Sometimes these little words make a wonderful sight of difference. For instance, in one place I should like to strike out the word "Carson" and insert "Virginia;" and the change of that one word would remove the Capital.

Mr. DELONG. A capital idea.

Mr. KINKEAD. It should be a capital offense. [Merriment.]

Tuesday,]

McCLINTON—DUNNE—KINKEAD—COLLINS—CHAPIN.

[July 26.

The SECRETARY read Section 13, as proposed to be amended, as follows:

SEC. 13. The enumeration of the inhabitants of this State shall be taken, under the direction of the Legislature, if deemed necessary, in the years 1865, 1867, 1875, and every ten years thereafter; and those enumerations, together with the census that may be taken under the direction of the Congress of the United States in the year 1870, and every subsequent ten years, shall serve as the basis of representation in both houses of the Legislature.

EDUCATION—SCHOOL FUND.

Mr. McCLINTON. In Section 7, of the article on Education, the language is, that the Board of Regents shall manage the affairs of the University, etc., "under such regulations as may be provided by law." It occurs to me that it would read better to say, "as may be prescribed by law."

The PRESIDENT. The question now presented is simply on the amendments reported by the Committee on Phraseology. It is in order, of course, to amend the committee's amendments, but separate and independent amendments cannot be made at this time. I will suggest, however, that at a subsequent stage, amendments may be adopted by unanimous consent.

Mr. DUNNE. I call attention to the amendment in the article on Education, to insert "principal" in lieu of "capital," in Section 8. It did read in the engrossed copy, "principal and interest," and the point was made whether, if we were to preserve the interest of the school fund undiminished, it could ever be taken or used, in any manner. Therefore, as the real object was to preserve undiminished both the principal and interest, up to a certain time, before commencing to expend it for its legitimate purposes, to include the matter in one word, and in order to tie up the interest also for a certain period, as I understood, the word "capital" was inserted, instead of "principal and interest," both being included in that word. The Committee on Phraseology now recommend that the word "principal" only, be used.

Mr. KINKEAD. The committee supposed that the provision was intended to include only the original amount invested in this fund, and referring only to that the committee considered that "principal" was a more appropriate word than "capital," the latter word being used, as a general thing, only in reference to commercial transactions.

Mr. COLLINS. I will state that the law of Congress under which the State is to receive from the General Government those ninety thousand acres of land—thirty thousand acres for each member of Congress—makes it obligatory that the proceeds of that land shall be set apart and invested exclusively for the benefit of a college in which certain specified branches of knowledge are to be taught. The obligation applies to the entire proceeds of that land, which includes both principal and interest, and it requires the State to be responsible for it. I remember that the section was originally reported with the words "principal and interest," but after a discussion of considerable length, the word "capital" was substituted by the Convention as being preferable. It occurs to me, however, that this word "principal" is certainly to be preferred.

Mr. DUNNE. May I ask the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Collins) a question? Was it the intention that the interest should be allowed to accumulate and go in with the principal? I understood it was the design of the Committee on Education that the principal and interest should remain undiminished, in order to allow a certain amount of the interest that would accrue to accumulate for a given time, before the expenditure of the money should commence. If that was not the desire or intention of the committee, then I can see no force in the use of the word "capital" instead of "principal." Believing that to be the intention of the committee, understanding that there was a certain principal fund to be obtained, and the interest on that to accumulate for a certain length of time, and wishing to preserve that fund, and the interest upon it up to that time, undiminished, I moved to make the amendment which was adopted, inserting the word "capital" instead of "principal." Now if the interest is not to go into and become a part of the capital fund, then that amendment was incorrect, and should not have been made in the first place.

Mr. COLLINS. The original intention of the committee, as has often been stated, was that the interest should accumulate with the principal, and should be set aside and invested from time to time for the benefit of the agricultural and mechanical departments of the college; but the Convention felt indisposed to tie up more than the capital itself in that manner—that is, the original sum, or the principal. Therefore, I do not see the force of the word "capital," because if it was intended to tie up both the principal and interest, it was not in accordance with the design of the Convention, which was to hold the original sum only, allowing the interest to be at the disposal of the Board of Regents, to be appropriated according to the judgment and discretion of that Board, under the provisions of the law of Congress granting the ninety thousand acres to this State. It appears to me that "principal" is the better word.

Mr. DUNNE. I am satisfied with that explanation, and see that I was in error in introducing the amendment originally.

Mr. CHAPIN. Now I move that the entire report of the Committee on Phraseology be adopted.

The PRESIDENT. The question will be first on the amendments reported to Article VII, entitled Impeachment and Removal from Office.

The question was taken, and the amendments to Article VII were agreed to.

Tuesday,]

McCLINTON—DUNNE—KINKEAD—BROSNAN—CHAPIN—WARWICK.

[July 26.

The PRESIDENT. The next question is on the amendments to Article XI, entitled Education.

Mr. McCLINTON. I do not want to waste the time of the Convention, but I would like to see this article, especially, made as correct in its grammatical construction as it is possible to make it, in the short time allowed for its consideration. I certainly do think that the language in Section 7, where it says "under such regulations as may be provided by law," is not as good as it would be to say "as shall be prescribed by law." That is the word which is almost universally employed in that connection—"the Legislature shall prescribe." If one goes to a physician when he is in ill-health, the physician does not "provide" for him; he "prescribes."

The PRESIDENT. The amendment which the gentleman suggests is not contained in the report of the committee; and the gentleman will bear in mind that the article may be subject to amendment hereafter.

Mr. McCLINTON. Very well.

The question was taken on the amendments reported to Article XI, and they were agreed to.

The question was next taken on the amendments reported by the Committee on Phraseology to Article XVI, entitled Miscellaneous Provisions, and they were agreed to.

Mr. DUNNE. I would inquire whether the section prohibiting perpetuities, adopted as Section 4, by resolution of the Convention, has been incorporated in this article?

Mr. KINKEAD. It has, in obedience to the order of the Convention. We found no error in it, and therefore there was no occasion to refer to it in this report.

Mr. BROSNAN. I would inquire if Section 6, as printed, limiting the aggregate number of members of the Legislature to seventy-five, has been transferred from the article?

The SECRETARY. No, sir; it is here.

OFFICIAL MINUTES OF THE CONVENTION.

Mr. CHAPIN offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the minutes of this Convention, and the Constitution when finally enrolled, be deposited with the Secretary of Nevada Territory for safe keeping; provided, that the Official Reporter of this Convention shall be allowed the use of the said minutes while preparing his report of the debates and proceedings of this Convention.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted.

THE DEBATES AND PROCEEDINGS.

Mr. CHAPIN. I have another resolution to offer.

The SECRETARY read the resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That the volume or volumes of the debates and proceedings of the Convention, as provided for in the Schedule of the Constitution shall contain:

1st. An introduction, embracing a brief outline of the history of the Territory of Nevada, to be prepared by the Hon. C. M. Brosnan.

2d. The Organic Act of the Territory of Nevada.

3d. The Enabling Act, providing for this Convention.

4th. The Homographic Chart of the members and officers of the Convention.

5th. The Debates and Proceedings of the Convention (not including debates on points of order.)

6th. The Constitution, as finally adopted.

7th. The Index.

Mr. WARWICK. I do not know as it would be exactly right in this resolution, and yet I do not see why it is not perfectly proper to provide for giving at least one copy of the debates to each member of the Convention.

The PRESIDENT. A section of the Schedule, which we have adopted, provides for the publication of six hundred copies, and I think the Legislature will give one or two copies to each member of the Convention, in token of his services.

Mr. WARWICK. I think it very possible that the first Legislature will distribute them all among themselves and their friends.

The PRESIDENT. Provision has already been made in the Schedule for the publication of the debates and proceedings, and the compensation of the reporter, and this resolution is in conformity with the constitutional provision already adopted.

Mr. WARWICK. I should like to reach that matter in some way.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted.

THE SCHEDULE.

Article XVII, entitled Schedule, was taken up, on its third reading.

Mr. McCLINTON. I have an impression that there is one section of this article which was not read yesterday.

The SECRETARY. There is only one section that was not read yesterday, from a half a dozen to a dozen times; that is the section which was inserted last night on the motion of the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan.)

The PRESIDENT. That section was adopted, and thereupon transferred to this article.

The SECRETARY read Sections 1 to 12, inclusive, as follows:

SECTION 1. That no inconvenience may arise by reason of a change from a Territorial to a permanent State Government, it is declared that all rights, actions, prosecutions, judgments, claims, and contracts, as well of individuals as of bodies corporate, including counties, towns, and cities, shall continue as if no change had taken place; and all process which may issue under the authority of the Territory of Nevada, previous to its admission into the Union as one of the United States, shall be as valid as if issued in the name of the State of Nevada.

SEC. 2. All laws of the Territory of Nevada, in force at the time of the admission of this State, not repugnant to this Constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or be altered or repealed by the Legislature.

SEC. 3. All fines, penalties, and forfeitures accruing to the Territory of Nevada, or to the people of the United States in the Territory of Nevada, shall inure to the State of Nevada.

SEC. 4. All recognizances heretofore taken, or which

Tuesday,]

CHAPIN—DELONG—PROCTOR—DUNNE—WARWICK.

[July 26.

may be taken before the change from a Territorial to a permanent State Government, shall remain valid, and shall pass to, and may be prosecuted in the name of the State; and all bonds executed to the Governor of the Territory, or to any other officer or court in his or their official capacity, or to the people of the United States in the Territory of Nevada, shall pass to the Governor, or other officer or court, and his or their successors in office, for the uses therein respectively expressed, and may be sued on, and recovery had accordingly; and all property, real, personal, or mixed, and all judgments, bonds, specialties, choses in action, claims and debts of whatsoever description, and all records and public archives of the Territory of Nevada, shall issue to and vest in the State of Nevada, and may be sued for and recovered in the same manner and to the same extent by the State of Nevada, as the same could have been by the Territory of Nevada. All criminal prosecutions and penal actions which may have arisen, or which may arise before the change from a Territorial to a State Government, and which shall then be pending, shall be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the name of the State. All offenses committed against the laws of the Territory of Nevada before the change from a Territorial to a State Government, and which shall not be prosecuted before such change, may be prosecuted in the name and by the authority of the State of Nevada with like effect as though such change had not taken place, and all penalties incurred shall remain the same as if this Constitution had not been adopted. All actions at law and suits in equity, and other legal proceedings, which may be pending in any of the courts of the Territory of Nevada at the time of the change from a Territorial to a State Government, may be continued and transferred to and determined by any court of the State which shall have jurisdiction of the subject matter thereof. All actions at law, and suits in equity, and all other legal proceedings, which may be pending in any of the courts of the Territory of Nevada at the time of the change from a Territorial to a State Government, shall be continued and transferred to, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution in any court of the State which shall have jurisdiction of the subject matter thereof; and all books, papers, and records, relating to the same, shall be transferred in like manner to such court.

SEC. 5. Until otherwise provided by the Legislature, the apportionment of Senators and Assemblymen in the different counties shall be as follows, to wit: Storey County, four Senators and twelve Assemblymen; Douglas County, one Senator and two Assemblymen; Esmeralda County, two Senators and four Assemblymen; Humboldt County, two Senators and three Assemblymen; Lander County, two Senators and four Assemblymen; Lyon County, one Senator and three Assemblymen; Lyon and Churchill Counties, one Senator jointly; Churchill County, one Assemblyman; Nye County, one Senator and one Assemblyman; Washoe and Roop Counties, two Senators and three Assemblymen; Ormsby County, two Senators and three Assemblymen.

SEC. 6. All debts and liabilities of the Territory of Nevada, lawfully incurred, and which remain unpaid at the time of the admission of this State into the Union, shall be assumed by, and become the debt of the State of Nevada.

SEC. 7. The term of State officers, except judicial, elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall continue until the Tuesday after the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until the election and qualification of their successors.

SEC. 8. The Senators to be elected at the first election under this Constitution shall draw lots, so that the term of one-half the number, as near as may be, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. 1866, and the term of the other half shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. 1868; provided, that in drawing lots for all Senatorial terms, the Senatorial representation shall be allotted so that in the counties having two or more Senators the terms thereof shall be divided, as near as may be, between the long and short terms.

SEC. 9. At the general election in A. D. 1866, and thereafter, the term of Senators shall be for four years from the day succeeding such general election, and members of Assembly for two years from the day succeeding such general election, and the terms of Senators shall be allotted by the Legislature in long and short terms, as hereinbefore provided, so that one-half the number, as nearly as may be, shall be elected every two years.

SEC. 10. The term of members of the Assembly elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. 1865, and the terms of those elected at the general election A. D. 1865, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election A. D. 1866.

SEC. 11. The first regular session of the Legislature shall commence on the second Monday of December, A. D. 1864, and the second regular session of the same shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1866, and the third regular session of the Legislature shall be the first of the biennial sessions, and shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and the regular sessions of the Legislature shall be held thereafter biennially, commencing on the first Monday of January.

SEC. 12. All county officers, under the laws of the Territory of Nevada at the time when this Constitution shall take effect, whose offices are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Constitution, shall continue in office until the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified; and all township officers shall continue in office until the expiration of their terms of office, and until their successors are elected and qualified. Provided, that the Probate Judges of the several counties respectively, shall continue in office until the election and qualification of the District Judges of the several counties or judicial districts. And further provided, that the terms of the present county officers of Lander County shall expire on the first Monday of December, 1864, and until the election and qualification of the successors of such officers as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Constitution. The several county officers of said County of Lander shall be chosen at the general election in November, A. D. 1864.

LANDER COUNTY OFFICERS.

Mr. CHAPIN. It seems to me the last proviso, in the section just read, does not sound exactly right. It says—"the terms of the present county officers of Lander County shall expire on the first Monday of December, 1864, and until the election and qualification of the successors of such officers." They are to expire at the time specified, and until something else happens.

The PRESIDENT. It is so in the original; the engrossment is correct.

Mr. DELONG. It is bad grammar, at any rate.

Mr. PROCTOR. I will move to insert "hold office," instead of "expire."

Mr. DUNNE. Suppose we pass the section temporarily, and let the gentleman from Lander (Mr. Warwick) give his attention to it.

Mr. WARWICK. It seemed to me yesterday, that there was some little difficulty about that language, as it was read at the desk.

Mr. CHAPIN. Let us proceed with the reading, and give the gentleman from Lander an opportunity to prepare an amendment.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection that course will be taken. The Secretary will proceed.

THE SCHEDULE—CONTINUED.

Sections 13 and 14 were read, as follows:

Tuesday.]

DUNNE—CHAPIN—PRESIDENT—BROSAN—KINKEAD—WARWICK.

[July 26.]

SEC. 13. The Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, and Superintendent of Public Instruction of the Territory of Nevada, shall each continue to discharge the duties of their respective offices after the admission of this State into the Union, and until the time designated for the qualification of the above named officers to be elected under the State Government; and the Territorial Auditor shall continue to discharge the duties of his said office until the time appointed for the qualification of the State Controller; provided, that said officers shall each receive the salaries and be subject to the restrictions and conditions as provided in this Constitution; and provided further, that none of them shall receive to his own use any fees or perquisites for the performance of any duty connected with his office.

SEC. 14. The terms of the Supreme Court shall, until provision be made by law, be held at such times as the judges of said court, or a majority of them, may appoint. The first terms of the several District Courts, (except as hereinafter mentioned,) shall commence on the first Monday of December, 1864. The first term of the District Court in the Fifth Judicial District, shall commence on the first Monday of December, 1864, in the County of Nye, and shall commence on the first Monday of January, 1865, in the County of Churchill. The terms of the Fourth Judicial District shall, until otherwise provided by law, be held at the county seat of Washoe County, and the first term thereof be held on the first Monday of December, 1864.

MR. DUNNE. It is scarcely necessary, perhaps, to make a formal motion, but as we have used the letters "A. D." before the year throughout the entire instrument, I think we had better insert them in this section, for the sake of uniformity, if nothing else.

MR. CHAPIN. There are four places in the section where a year is mentioned without those initials.

MR. DUNNE. I move that the Secretary insert the letters in every case where a year is mentioned.

THE PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the Secretary will make that amendment in each case.

Sections 15, 16, and 17, were read, as follows:

SEC. 15. The Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Controller, Attorney-General, Surveyor-General, Clerk of the Supreme Court, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, to be elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall each be qualified and enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the first Monday of December succeeding their election, and shall continue in office until the first Tuesday after the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until the election and qualification of their successors respectively.

SEC. 16. The Judges of the Supreme Court, and District Judges, provided to be elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall be qualified and enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the first Monday of December succeeding their election.

SEC. 17. All officers of State, and District Judges, first elected under this Constitution, shall be commissioned by the Governor of this Territory, which commission shall be countersigned by the Secretary of the same, and shall qualify before entering upon the discharge of their duties before any officer authorized to administer oaths under the laws of this Territory; and also the State Controller and State Treasurer shall, before they qualify and enter upon the discharge of their duties, execute and deliver to the Secretary of the Territory an official bond, made payable to the people of the State of Nevada, in the sum of thirty thousand dollars each, to be approved by the Governor of the Territory; and shall also execute and deliver to the Secretary of State such other or further official bond or bonds as may be required by law.

OFFICIAL BONDS.

MR. CHAPIN. "To be approved by the Governor of this Territory," is the way Section 17 reads in the enrolled copy. I will move to so amend it, however, as to read "to be approved by the Governor of the Territory of Nevada."

THE PRESIDENT. I call the attention of the Convention, also, to the fact that the language requiring the Controller and Treasurer to give bonds, is liable to the construction, and probably that construction would be given it, that it is too general. It does not provide that they shall each give bonds, respectively. I suggest that the words "each respectively" should be inserted in that sentence.

MR. BROSAN. To come in after the word "shall;" it would be a very proper amendment.

MR. CHAPIN. I will move that amendment, then, so that it will read—"and also the State Controller and State Treasurer shall each respectively, before they qualify and enter upon the discharge of their duties," etc.

MR. DUNNE. How would it do to say "severally?"

MR. CHAPIN. I do not like that so well.

MR. BROSAN. Then you will want to strike out the word "each," where it occurs in the last clause, before the words "to be approved."

MR. CHAPIN. I will include that also. I move to amend the last clause of the section, so that it will read as follows:

"And also the State Controller and State Treasurer shall each respectively, before they qualify and enter upon the discharge of their duties, execute and deliver to the Secretary of the Territory of Nevada an official bond, made payable to the people of the State of Nevada, in the sum of thirty thousand dollars, to be approved by the Governor of the Territory of Nevada, and shall also execute and deliver to the Secretary of State such other or further bond or bonds as may be required by law."

MR. KINKEAD. It appears to me that the provision, that it shall be made payable to the people of the State of Nevada, is hardly necessary.

THE PRESIDENT. This applies only to the officers first elected. It is designed that the bonds of their successors, who will come into office after the State is fully organized, shall be established by law.

The question was taken on the amendment proposed by Mr. CHAPIN, as modified, and it was agreed to.

LANDER COUNTY OFFICERS—AGAIN.

MR. WARWICK. I have prepared a substitute for the last proviso in Section 12, which I will offer. I ask the Secretary to read it.

THE SECRETARY read, as follows:

"Provided, that the election for all the county officers and Probate Judge of Lander County shall take place at the next general election, to be held in the month of November, A. D. 1864, at which time their successors shall be elected; but the present incumbents shall hold their offices till the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864."

Tuesday.]

PRESIDENT—WARWICK—GIBSON—DUNNE—TAGLIABUE—COLLINS.

[July 26.

The PRESIDENT. That will not do, without excepting the Probate Judge. The Probate Judges are continued in office until the District Judges are elected; but you do not intend that a successor of the Probate Judge in Lander County shall be elected.

Mr. WARWICK. I will modify that portion, so as to read:

"Provided, that the election for all the county officers of Lander County, except Probate Judge, shall take place," etc.

The PRESIDENT. Can you change the time of election as to a part of the officers, without changing it as to the whole?

Mr. WARWICK. Will the Secretary read the section again? It is very complicated.

Mr. GIBSON. You might say, "who shall hold their offices."

The SECRETARY read Section 12, as engrossed.

Mr. DUNNE. Is there not a general provision that all county officers, with the exception of the Probate Judges, shall hold until the first Monday in January, 1865?

The PRESIDENT. Until the first Monday in January, 1867, except in Lander County.

Mr. WARWICK. That is the reason why this proviso is necessary.

The PRESIDENT. In Lander County the election would not occur, under the territorial laws, until September, 1865, and this proviso would shorten the term of office of the present incumbents, ten or eleven months.

Mr. DUNNE. I inquire if there is anything which limits the term of these officers elected? When are they to go out of office?

The PRESIDENT. I think as it now reads they are continued in office till January, 1865.

Mr. WARWICK. No, sir; till the first Monday of December, 1864.

Mr. DUNNE. But how as to those who are elected to succeed them? It should be provided that they shall go out of office when the other county officers do.

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary will read the section again.

The SECRETARY again read Section 12, and the proposed amendment, as modified.

Mr. WARWICK. Now I begin to see where that seems a little cloudy. The parenthesis in the middle is not necessary, and by striking that out, it will make it clearer and better. The proviso should read:

"Provided, further, That the terms of the present county officers of Lander County shall expire on the first Monday of December, 1864, and the several county officers of said County of Lander shall be chosen at the general election in November, A. D. 1864."

Mr. TAGLIABUE. If you change "and" to "or," would not that do? Then it would read "shall expire on the first Monday of December, 1864, or until the election and qualification," etc.

Mr. WARWICK. Perhaps it would. It is "and" now.

The PRESIDENT. I think, on the contrary, that "and" is necessary in that connection, because the officers are elected perhaps a month or more before they are qualified.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. My suggestion does not refer to the second "and."

Mr. WARWICK. I will offer the substitute which I have sent up. Will the Secretary read it again.

The SECRETARY again read Mr. Warwick's amendment, as modified.

The PRESIDENT. Then, in order to meet the objection raised by the gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Dunne,) it will be necessary to add a further provision, that the terms of those elected in December, 1864, shall continue until January, 1867.

Mr. WARWICK. Yes, sir. If the Convention will allow me a moment, I will prepare it.

Mr. COLLINS. I would inquire in regard to Section 6 of this article, providing that the State shall assume the debts and liabilities of the Territory of Nevada.

The PRESIDENT. One moment. I will ask the gentleman to forego his remarks on that subject until we get this proviso corrected, whilst it is fresh in the minds of members.

Mr. WARWICK. I will move the following as a substitute for the proviso:

"Provided, That the election for all the county officers of Lander County, except Probate Judges, shall take place at the next general election, to be held in the month of November, A. D. 1864, at which time their successors shall be elected. But the present incumbents shall hold their offices till the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864, and their successors, elected at the general election in November, A. D. 1864, shall hold their respective offices until the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867."

CALL OF THE HOUSE.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I believe there is not a quorum present, and I move a call of the House.

The SECRETARY, by direction of the President, counted the Convention and reported seventeen members present, being less than a quorum.

The question was taken on the motion that there be a call of the House, and it was agreed to.

The roll was called, and the following members responded to their names: Messrs. Belden, Brady, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crawford, Crosman, Dunne, Frizell, Folsom, Kennedy, Lockwood, McClinton, Murdock, Proctor, Tagliabue, Warwick, Wetherill, and Mr. President. Present, 19; absent, 20.

The Sergeant-at-Arms was directed to arrest and bring in absent members.

Messrs. Gibson, Kinkead, and Hawley appeared, stated their excuses, and were allowed to take their seats.

On motion of Mr. TAGLIABUE, a quorum being present, further proceedings under the call were dispensed with.

LANDER COUNTY OFFICERS—AGAIN.

The Convention resumed the consideration of Section 12 of the Schedule.

Tuesday.] WARWICK—CHAPIN—PRESIDENT—CROSMAN—DUNNE—DELONG—COLLINS. [July 26.

Mr. WARWICK. I withdraw my amendment, and will merely move to amend Section 12, as engrossed, by adding thereto the following :

“And shall hold their respective offices until the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867.”

Mr. CHAPIN. How does the first part of it read?

The SECRETARY. Just as it stands.

Mr. WARWICK. I have endeavored to remedy the defect, and I believe the only way is by this addition.

The PRESIDENT. I will suggest to the gentleman that the original proviso be amended by inserting “shall continue until,” instead of “shall expire on.”

Mr. WARWICK. I would like to hear it read with that amendment.

Mr. CROSMAN. The terms of the present county officers, I understand, expire in January, and it is proposed by this proviso to cut short their terms. Now, the usual term being for two years, why should we provide for the election of their successors for a term of twenty-five months, when in doing so we are cutting short the terms of the present incumbents? I will move to strike out “December, 1864,” and substitute “January, 1865.”

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection that amendment will be made.

Mr. DUNNE. Will this proviso, so far as it relates to the Probate Judges, affect the general provision, as to judicial officers elected under the Constitution?

Mr. WARWICK. No, sir. The provision is, that the county officers shall “hold until the election and qualification of the successors of such officers as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Constitution.” The office of Probate Judge, being in conflict with the Constitution, must necessarily expire.

The PRESIDENT. Let the Secretary read the section as it will stand with the proposed amendment, and then each member can judge for himself.

Mr. DELONG. I move to refer the section to the Lander County delegation, with instructions to report a new proviso, this afternoon, relative to the Lander County officers.

Mr. CHAPIN. Oh, no! I think it is all right, now.

The PRESIDENT. I suggest that the gentleman modify his motion so as to instruct the Lander County delegation to report immediately, in order that we may complete the article.

Mr. DELONG. He can report it back as soon as he is ready.

The question was taken on the motion to refer Section 12 to the Lander County delegation, and it was agreed to.

TERRITORIAL INDEBTEDNESS.

Mr. COLLINS. It will be perceived, by reference to Section 6 of the Schedule, that the State of Nevada is to assume the debts and liabilities of the Territory of Nevada. I will ask if that assumption is designed to prevent the State from borrowing the full amount of money contemplated in Section 3 of Article IX, which authorizes the State to borrow, not to exceed three hundred thousand dollars, for the purpose of enabling the State to transact its business upon a cash basis. I would like to be informed whether this Section 6 of the Schedule would not conflict with that provision?

The PRESIDENT. If the inquiry is addressed to the Chair, I can only reply that I am not prepared to give an answer.

Mr. COLLINS. In Section 3 of Article IX, it is provided that the State may, for the purpose of transacting its business upon a cash basis, from its organization, contract debts, but which shall not exceed in the aggregate three hundred thousand dollars, exclusive of interest; but Section 6 of the Schedule provides that the State shall assume all the debts of Nevada Territory, which do exceed that amount.

Mr. DELONG. I think they will fall much short of it.

Mr. COLLINS. I include the soldiers' bounty fund.

Mr. KINKEAD. The bounty fund will not bring it up to anything like it.

Mr. GIBSON. That will not exceed ten thousand dollars.

Mr. COLLINS. With a view of bringing the matter before the Convention, I will introduce a proviso to come in at the end of Section 6, so that the section will read as follows :

SEC. 6. All debts and liabilities of the Territory of Nevada, lawfully incurred, and which remain unpaid at the time of the admission of this State into the Union, shall be assumed by, and become the debt of the State of Nevada; provided, that the assumption of such debts shall not prevent the State from contracting the additional indebtedness as provided in Section 3 of Article IX, of this Constitution.

The question was taken on the adoption of the proviso offered by Mr. Collins, and it was agreed to by unanimous consent.

THE SCHEDULE—CONTINUED.

Sections 18 to 21, inclusive, (being the balance of the article.) were read, as follows :

SEC. 18. Each county, town, city, and incorporated village, shall make provision for the support of its own officers, subject to such regulations as the Legislature may prescribe.

SEC. 19. In case the office of any Justice of the Supreme Court, District Judge, or other State officer shall become vacant before the expiration of the regular term for which he was elected, the vacancy may be filled by appointment by the Governor, until it shall be supplied at the next general election, when it shall be filled by election, for the residue of the unexpired term.

SEC. 20. All cases, both civil and criminal, when may be pending and undetermined in the Probate Courts of the several counties, at the time when under the provisions of this Constitution said Probate Courts are to be abolished, shall be transferred to and determined by the District Courts of such counties respectively.

SEC. 21. At the first regular session of the Legislature, to convene under the requirements of this Constitution, provision shall be made by law for the payment of the publication of six hundred copies of the proceedings of this Convention, in book form, to be disposed of as the Legislature may direct; and the Hon. J. Neely Johnson, President of this Convention, shall contract for, and A. J. Marsh, Official Reporter of this Convention, under the direction of the President, shall supervise the publication of such proceedings. Provision shall be made by law, at such first session of the Legislature, for the compensation of the Official Reporter of this Convention, and he shall be paid in coin, or its equivalent. He shall receive for his services, in reporting the debates and proceedings, fifteen dollars per day during the session of the Convention, and seven and one-half dollars additional for each evening session, and thirty cents per folio of one hundred words for preparing the same for publication; and for supervising and indexing such publication, the sum of fifteen dollars per day during the time actually engaged in such service.

Tuesday,]

KENNEDY—PRESIDENT—CHAPIN—WARWICK—COLLINS—DUNNE.

[July 26.

REPORTER'S COMPENSATION.

Mr. KENNEDY. Is that the wording of the last section, as reported by the Committee on Schedule—"and he shall be paid in coin or its equivalent?" I would like to have those words stand, however, for I think it is nothing more than right.

The PRESIDENT. That is the language used in the section as reported, and it was adopted in that form by the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. KENNEDY. Very well; I would like to have it stand, if we can do so without a reflection upon the currency of the country. I think the Reporter is entitled to receive that amount of coin, or its equivalent.

Mr. CHAPIN. It is all right as it is.

Mr. KENNEDY. I have no objection, then.

LANDER COUNTY OFFICERS—AGAIN.

Mr. WARWICK. I am prepared now to report from the Lander County delegation, on the proviso to Section 12 of the Schedule. I report back Section 12, with a recommendation that the last proviso be stricken out, and the following inserted in its stead:

"Provided, That the election for all the county officers of Lander County whose election is not in conflict with the provisions of this Constitution, shall take place at the next general election, to be held in the month of November, A. D. 1864, but the term of office of the present incumbents shall not expire until the first Monday in January, A. D. 1865, or as soon thereafter as their successors shall be elected and qualified; and their successors shall hold their offices until the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867."

The PRESIDENT. Does not that provide for two elections?

Mr. WARWICK. Possibly it may bear that construction. A time must be fixed for a new election, or there will be a period intervening without any county officers.

The PRESIDENT. But the difficulty seems to be in the latter part of the proviso—"as soon thereafter as their successors shall be elected and qualified." "Thereafter" would be after January, 1865.

Mr. WARWICK. Yes, sir. Probably it would be enough to say, "as soon thereafter as their successors shall be qualified." I will modify that part of the proviso.

Mr. CHAPIN. I suggest that we strike out Lander County altogether. [Merriment.]

Mr. WARWICK (after consultation with the President.) I believe at last we have it right. I respectfully submit as a substitute for the last proviso as engrossed, the following:

And further provided, that the term of office of the present county officers of Lander County, shall expire on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1865, except the Probate Judge of said county, whose term of office shall expire upon the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864; and there shall be an election for the county officers of Lander County at the general election in November, A. D. 1864, and the officers then elected shall hold office from the first Monday of January, A. D. 1865, until the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

The question was taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Warwick, as finally modified, and it was agreed to.

CONTINUANCE OF ACTIONS, ETC.

Mr. COLLINS. I call the attention of the Convention to the wording of Section 1 of this article. It reads thus:

"All rights, actions, prosecutions, judgments, claims and contracts, as well of individuals as of bodies corporate, including counties, towns and cities, shall continue as if no change had taken place, and all process which may issue under the authority of the Territory of Nevada," etc.

I will move to amend by substituting the word "every" for "all," before the word "process," so as to read "every process which may issue," instead of "all process." It is certainly a little cloudy, as it now reads.

Mr. DUNNE. I do not concur with the gentleman from Storey in regard to the necessity of that amendment. There are certain legal terms, which, to a person unacquainted with legal phraseology, may not seem grammatical, but which are nevertheless perfectly correct in the legal sense in which they are used. I do not consider that there is any inaccuracy in the use of the word "all," in this connection, and as to its legal operation, it is much better than the word "every."

Mr. COLLINS. I would like to have the gentleman explain why "every process" would not cover the entire ground. And, if it would, will not outsiders, who are not stored with legal lore, like the gentleman from Humboldt, regard the use of the word "all," as rather a faux pas on the part of the Convention? Certainly "every process" is as handsome looking a phrase. If "all process" is a term in law that has a technical signification which cannot be supplied by other words, I would let it stand; but it seems to me that "every process" would answer quite as well. "All" is plural, while "process" is singular, and the plural adjective would seem to call for a plural noun. As the word "every" would do just as well, I do not see the force of the gentleman's objection.

Mr. DUNNE. "Process" is used as a plural noun—a collective noun—referring to all documents coming under that head. The gentleman from Storey will recollect that in grammar there are collective nouns which have a singular form, and this word belongs to that class.

Tuesday,] PRESIDENT—COLLINS—DUNNE—BROSNAN—KENNEDY—GIBSON—KINKEAD. [July 26.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Storey can move to recommit the section, in order to make the amendment, objection being made. I think, however, that the gentleman from Humboldt is right in his view of the matter.

Mr. COLLINS. I move to refer the section to a committee of one, to consist of the gentleman from Ormsby, Mr. Kinkead, with instructions to make the amendment.

The question was taken, and the motion was not agreed to.

SALARIES AND APPROPRIATIONS.

Mr. DUNNE. Before this article is finally disposed of, I suggest that there is a section which the Convention has heretofore ordered incorporated in it, and which has not yet been read. I refer to the article on Salaries, which was directed to be inserted as a simple section in the Schedule.

Mr. BROSNAN. There was also another section ordered transferred to the Schedule—Section 6 of the article on Miscellaneous Provisions.

The SECRETARY. That has been incorporated; it is Section 7, as read.

The PRESIDENT. The article on Salaries is in the hands of the Committee on Phraseology, and the Convention having ordered that it be inserted by that committee as a section in this article, the committee will undoubtedly do so before the final enrollment of the article.

Mr. DUNNE. I understand that there is a strong desire to have that article on Salaries again under consideration, for the purpose of adding some of the amendments which were stricken out, or substituting something else in their place, in regard to limiting the appropriations, or limiting the amount of the tax that may be levied. I hope an opportunity will be afforded, if there is any chance for it.

The PRESIDENT. I conceive that the article on Salaries is beyond the reach of the Convention. It was passed some time since, and a motion was subsequently made and carried, that it be incorporated as a section in the Schedule.

Mr. DUNNE. We are now at work on the engrossed copy, I understand?

The PRESIDENT. Yes, sir; on the third reading of the article.

Mr. DUNNE. Then, I suppose, there will be a chance afterwards to get in amendments?

The PRESIDENT. No, sir; except by unanimous consent, or recommitment.

Mr. KENNEDY. As it is near 12 o'clock, I move that we take a recess, so that the amendments suggested can be prepared in the mean time.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

Accordingly, at five minutes before 12 o'clock the Convention took a recess till 2 o'clock, P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention reassembled, and was called to order by the President at twenty minutes past 2 o'clock, P. M.

The SECRETARY counted the Convention, and reported that there was not a quorum present.

Mr. GIBSON. I move a call of the House.

The PRESIDENT. Possibly, if the gentleman will withdraw his motion for a few moments we may obtain a quorum without the necessity of calling the roll.

The SECRETARY again counted the Convention, and reported just a quorum in attendance.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Mr. KINKEAD, from the Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement, submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your Committee on Phraseology, etc., report that they have carefully examined Article VI, entitled "Judicial Department," and recommend the adoption of the following amendments before being finally enrolled:

In Section 3, strike out the word "and," after the words "four, and six years respectively."

In Section 7, in the last proviso, strike out the word "provide," and insert the word "designate," in lieu thereof.

In Section 16, strike out the words "to be fixed by law," and insert the word "which" before the word "shall."

In Section 17, strike out the words "upwards of," and insert the words "more than," in lieu thereof.

Also, strike out Section 18, as passed, and substitute therefor the following:

SEC. 18. No Judicial officer shall be superseded, nor shall the organization of the several courts of the Territory of Nevada be changed, until the election and qualification of the several officers provided for in this article.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. H. KINKEAD, Chairman.

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary will read the several amendments, and the sections or clauses as proposed to be amended.

The SECRETARY. The first amendment is in Section 3, to strike out the word "and," between the words "respectively" and "from," so that the clause relating to the terms of Justices of the Supreme Court will read:

"Who shall hold office from and including the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864, and continue in office thereafter, two, four, and six years respectively, from the first Monday of January next succeeding their election."

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The SECRETARY. The next is in Section 7, to strike out the word "provide," where it last occurs in the section, and insert in lieu thereof the word "designate," so that the last clause in the section will read:

"Provided, that in case any county shall be hereafter divided into two or more districts, the Legislature may by law designate the place of holding such courts in such districts."

Tuesday,]

CHAPIN—DELONG.

[July 26.

The question was taken and the amendment was agreed to.

The SECRETARY. The next amendment is in Section 16, to strike out the words "to be fixed by law," and insert the word "which," so as to read:

"The Legislature at its first session, and from time to time thereafter, shall provide by law that upon the institution of each civil action, or other proceeding, and also upon the perfecting of an appeal in any civil action or proceeding in the several courts of record in this State, a special court fee or tax, which shall be advanced to the clerks of said courts, respectively by the party or parties bringing such action, or taking such appeal," etc.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The SECRETARY. The Committee next recommend that Section 17 be amended by striking out the words "upwards of," before the words "ninety consecutive days," and inserting in lieu thereof the words "more than," so that the section will read as follows:

SEC. 17. The Legislature shall have no power to grant leave of absence to a judicial officer, and any such officer who shall absent himself from the State for more than ninety consecutive days, shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The SECRETARY. The last amendment is to strike out Section 18, as engrossed, and substitute a new section therefor. The section proposed to be stricken out reads as follows:

SEC. 18. In order that no inconvenience may result to the public service from the taking effect of this Article, no judicial officer shall be superseded, nor shall the organization of the several courts be changed thereby, until the election and qualification of the several officers provided for in the same.

The new section proposed to be substituted therefor, reads as follows:

SEC. 18. No judicial officer shall be superseded, nor shall the organization of the several courts of the Territory of Nevada be changed, until the election and qualification of the several officers provided for in this Article.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The Article will now be referred to the Committee on Enrollment.

THE SCHEDULE.

The Convention resumed consideration of Article XVII, entitled Schedule, the question being on the final passage of the Article.

TAXATION AND APPROPRIATIONS.

Mr. CHAPIN. I have an amendment which I wish to offer, as an additional section of the Schedule, to come in at the proper place.

The SECRETARY read Mr. Chapin's proposed amendment, as follows:

SEC. —. For the first three years after the adoption of this Constitution the Legislature shall not levy a tax, for State purposes, exceeding one per cent. per annum on the taxable property in the State, nor shall any appropriations be made out of the revenue arising from said tax, except in the following order, to wit:

First—For paying interest upon the public debt.

Second—For salaries of State officers.

Third—For State Prison expenses.

Fourth—For Educational purposes.

Fifth—For Legislative and Miscellaneous expenses.

Mr. DELONG. If the arrangement is to be made in the order of merit, the Legislature might possibly go before the State Prison; however, I do not know but it is all right. [Merriment.]

[Mr. KINKEAD in the Chair.]

Mr. CHAPIN. I move that the article be recommitted to a select committee of three, with instructions to amend by inserting that section, and to report the article immediately back to the Convention.

I will briefly state my reasons for making the motion. They are mainly two-fold. In the first place, we are all of us aware of the very heavy expenditures which always attend the first organization of a State Government, and we desire, if possible, to save ourselves and our constituents the hundreds of thousands of dollars, that will be squandered, within the first three years, if we leave the subjects of taxation and appropriations open to the discretion of the Legislature. We shall need that money for other purposes, and we shall have abundant occasion to use it, and more than that, for noble purposes, after the expiration of the three years which are mentioned in the section I have proposed.

Another reason for offering the amendment is this, that unless we can fortify the Constitution in such a manner that the people will be able to count up the cost of a State Government, it is not going to be adopted. For one, I set that down as a positively inevitable result, if we shall fail to protect the people from the unrestricted levying of taxes by the Legislature. Now, sir, for my own part, I desire very much to have Nevada come forth from this uncertain, infantile state that she is now in, from this kind of a tad-pole condition, if you please.

Mr. DELONG. A pollywog condition. [Merriment.]

Mr. CHAPIN. We have been in the condition of an underling long enough, and now I want to take a position which will command respect and honor. Let us take our place among men, and act like men—like good and true Union citizens of the United States, faithful to the glorious Union by which our country has been, and must continue to be preserved. I desire, therefore, to see this Constitution carried before the people, if it is a possible thing, and to accomplish that purpose is one of the main objects I have in view in offering this additional section. I trust that it may be adopted and incorporated in this article, for the two-fold purpose I have stated, and for many other reasons which might be enumerated. I will occupy no further time, however, at present. These two reasons are enough for my purpose, and I hope they will be sufficient to induce the Convention to adopt the section. I have some figures prepared in relation to the subject, which I will present in due time, if there is occasion, but will not offer them now.

Tuesday,]

JOHNSON—DELONG—DUNNE—CHAPIN.

[July 26.

Mr. JOHNSON. The gentleman had better present his figures now, as he has only five minutes time allotted him, and I intend to insist on a strict enforcement of the rule.

Mr. DELONG. I would like very much to support this amendment, if the gentleman can show me that the amount of taxation therein specified will be sufficient to support the State Government.

Mr. JOHNSON. And the propriety also of the designated order in which the money raised is to be expended. That, it occurs to me, is a more serious objection.

Mr. DELONG. I do not know that I am much opposed to the order of payment prescribed. The interest on the public debt is the first item, I notice, and it should be. Then the salaries of the State officers, and I am in favor of giving the judges a chance for their compensation, at least. Then the next thing he puts the State Prison convicts ahead of the Legislature, and I approve of that. No, sir, I have no fault to find with the grading adopted. [Merriment.]

Mr. JOHNSON. Could not the Legislature be classified with the convicts? [Laughter.]

Mr. DELONG. Well, perhaps the convicts would not feel offended.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Perhaps some members may feel personally interested.

Mr. DELONG. If the present occupant of the Chair has an interest, I will withdraw the objectionable part.

But in all seriousness, Mr. President, I would like to be able to go on the stump and show that there can be no possibility of any exorbitant tax being levied by the Legislature, under any circumstances, for there is scarcely anything that would have so great an influence in favor of the Constitution; but, until I see the figures, I think we should be acting hastily to tie the hands of the Legislature, so as to prevent their raising any more money, no matter how pressing the exigency might be, or how great the expense of sustaining the State Government. I do not believe in transacting business under false pretences. Therefore, unless my colleague, or some one else, shall show me that this tax will be sufficient to pay the expenses of the State, I cannot vote for the amendment, whilst on the other hand, if that fact can be made apparent, I shall cheerfully give it my support.

Mr. DUNNE. I think I can satisfy the gentleman that a tax of one per cent. on all the taxable property of the State of Nevada, if it is to be a State, taken in conjunction with the other provisions of the Constitution, will furnish ample means for carrying on the government of the State from year to year.

Mr. DELONG. I hope so.

Mr. DUNNE. It will be observed that a tax of one per cent. on twenty-five millions, which is the estimated valuation of the Territory at present, will yield a revenue of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and deducting the usual amount of one-fourth for delinquencies and the cost of collection, you have left a net revenue of one hundred and eighty-seven thousand five hundred dollars. Now, in the second year, under the State organization, I think there can be no doubt that there will be not less than forty millions of taxable property, which will leave, after deducting the twenty-five per cent. for delinquencies and cost of collection, a net revenue from that source of three hundred thousand dollars. Then, even granting that there should be no further increase for the third year, and consequently no more revenue derived from that source, still you have an income of three hundred thousand dollars for the third year, and I will ask if any gentleman imagines that the expenses of our State government can possibly exceed the sum of three hundred thousand dollars a year?

Mr. DELONG. I do.

Mr. DUNNE. Very well; then even supposing that the State government uses up all that money, still it has a margin of three hundred thousand dollars, the amount to which it is at liberty to go into debt. That sum may be borrowed, and dividing it equally between the three years, it will give one hundred thousand dollars a year, in addition to the amount to be raised by this tax. Now if the tax of one per cent. upon the taxable property of this State, with a margin of one hundred thousand dollars a year in addition, to go on, is not likely to be enough to support the State government, then indeed we should not adopt a State government. But with that estimate of the amount of the taxable property of the State, and with that margin of three hundred thousand dollars to go upon, to be divided between the three years, I think a tax of one per cent. will raise more revenue than it will be necessary to expend. And it will be remembered that we have to-day adopted an amendment which provides that the debt of the Territory is not to be included in the three hundred thousand dollars—the maximum amount of indebtedness which the State is authorized to incur—but that the State is allowed to contract an indebtedness of three hundred thousand dollars outside of and beyond the Territorial debt. I repeat that if there is any danger that the expenses of the State are going to amount to more than the revenue to be derived from a tax of one per cent., and one hundred thousand dollars a year in addition, then we cannot stand a State government.

Mr. CHAPIN. I will now, by leave of the Convention, submit my figures; but first I will take the liberty of alluding briefly to the figures of my friend from Humboldt (Mr. Dunne.) I estimate the taxable property of the State at more than he does. I believe the proceeds of the mines alone will amount to twenty millions, but we will call that item fifteen millions, if you please, and then we have a total basis of taxation of forty millions of dollars.

Tuesday.]

JOHNSON—CHAPIN—WARWICK.

[July 26.

Mr. JOHNSON. How does the gentleman suppose the tax on the proceeds of the mines will be raised? Will it be levied on the net or on the gross proceeds?

Mr. CHAPIN. On the gross proceeds, sir.

Mr. JOHNSON. But the gentleman was unwilling to vote for the taxation of the gross proceeds.

Mr. CHAPIN. I believe, nevertheless, that it will be the gross proceeds of the mines that will be taxed.

Mr. JOHNSON. Did not the gentleman vote against incorporating the word "gross" in the article on Taxation?

Mr. CHAPIN. I was willing to leave it to the Legislature. But, sir, it is my idea that the tax should be levied on the gross proceeds, and will be.

Mr. WARWICK. Why should the gentleman from Storey base his estimate upon only forty millions, when it is well known that we have more than that amount in the gross proceeds of the mines alone?

Mr. CHAPIN. I make allowance for leakages. I hope these interruptions by various gentlemen will not be taken out of my time. I say we have a total valuation, including the proceeds of the mines, of forty millions of dollars, and a tax of one per cent. upon that will yield four hundred thousand dollars. Then if you deduct one-fourth for delinquencies and the expense of collection, you still have a net revenue of three hundred thousand dollars a year, from the very commencement of our existence as a State. Now what are going to be the expenses of our State government? Here are my figures:

SALARIES.

Governor	$ 4,000
Secretary of State	3,600
Controller	3,600
Treasurer	3,600
Attorney General	2,500
Superintendent of Public Instruction ..	2,000
Surveyor General	1,000
Military Department	1,000
Three Judges of Supreme Court (each Judge $7,000)	21,000
Clerk of Supreme Court (paid by fees) ..	—
Total amount of salaries	$42,300

GENERAL EXPENSES.

Support of Insane	$ 5,000
State Prison	20,000
Common Schools	15,000
Printing	8,000
Official Advertising	1,500
Traveling expenses Superintend't Pub- lic Instruction	500
Agricultural Society	3,000
Interest on present Public Debt	34,500
Interest on Funds to be borrowed	12,500
Incidental expenses for Stationery, etc., for the several departments	2,500
Executive rewards, etc.	2,500

Total general expenses.....$105,000

LEGISLATIVE EXPENSES.

Legislative per diem, 54 members, 90 days, at $8 per day	$ 38,880
Mileage of Members	2,000
Pay of Clerks	2,500
Pay of Sergeant-at-Arms, porters, pages, etc.	1,500
Fuel and Lights	500

Total Legislative expenses.....$45,380

Aggregate expense of State government for one year.....$192,680

These are the figures, and all I have to say is that the aggregate amount is $42,680 more than the gentleman from Ormsby (Mr. Johnson) could possibly figure up in the Convention of last year, for the estimate made at that time was $150,000.

Mr. JOHNSON. My recollection is entirely different in regard to that. According to my remembrance, the estimate then made was over two hundred thousand dollars, and we allowed a margin of twenty-five per cent. upon that sum.

Mr. CHAPIN. Well, I think this estimate may possibly be a little too low in some of the items. We shall not differ a great deal, however, and even if we set the aggregate amount as high as two hundred thousand dollars, if you please, still we have a margin left of a hundred thousand dollars, for incidentals and miscellaneous expenses—the various matters which cannot be brought into an estimate of this kind. I ask if that is not margin enough for us to allow, when we are embarking on this new and untried ocean of the experiment of a State government? I think it is, and I hope we shall decide so to limit the expenses of the new State government, that the people can sit down and calculate for themselves how much and how little of a burden they are called upon to bear.

Mr. JOHNSON. No person would rejoice more than I, if it shall be found that one per cent., or any other limited amount of taxation within the bounds of reason, will prove sufficient to carry on our State Government as it should be conducted. And the less the rate of taxation the better satisfied would I be, as I have a little property on which I am now called upon, from time to time, and expect to be hereafter, to pay my proportion of taxes. But, sir, these matters of figures and calculations, I think, are generally designed to mislead men, in the consideration of subjects of this character. And there is one item of importance which the gentleman from Storey certainly did not take into account in preparing his figures. He speaks of the interest on the public debt, but not of the principal. This item of interest on the present public debt, of $34,500 a year, presupposes a principal sum, and we cannot well manage without paying that principal at some future time.

Mr. CHAPIN. We can try to manage for the first three years, till we become a little more prosperous.

Tuesday.]

JOHNSON—CHAPIN.

[July 26.]

Mr. JOHNSON. Then we will have to repudiate the public debt, already voted by the people of Nevada. Now there is an outstanding indebtedness, independent of the old bonded debt of the Territory, which amounts to an average, taking the several items, principal and interest together, of about $83,333 33 a year, for the next four and half years, which must be paid by the people of this State, whilst the bonded indebtedness created under the Act of the last session of the Legislature will reach the amount of $150,000, with interest at one and one half per cent. per month, payable semi-annually, and the principal to be paid at the end of the year. Upon the old issues of Territorial bonds running for periods ranging from one to five years, the State will have to discharge the principal and interest as they fall due, and the amount of principal coming due increases each year for the next five years, ranging from $47,000 to about $60,000 a year. The total amount of principal and interest on those bonds is $249,000, which must be paid in five years from the first day of February last. All these payments must be provided for out of the revenues of the next four years. The aggregate amount of such payments being $249,000, principal and interest, and I repeat that my friend from Storey has erred in not making calculation for the payment of this indebtedness from year to year.

Mr. CHAPIN. Allow me to state that I made up these figures—

Mr. JOHNSON. The gentleman will excuse me; I am not through yet. There is another item which I had overlooked, of $80,000 for the State Prison bonds. Those bonds bear interest at ten per cent. per annum, and consequently the interest on them amounts to $8,000 a year.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. A portion of those bonds, amounting to $20,000, has been paid.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, then the principal is $60,000, and the interest $6,000 a year. Then of the old bonded indebtedness there are $15,000 bearing interest also at ten per cent. The average amount to be paid each year for the next four years and a half from the present time, is, as I have stated, $83,333 33, independent of the old bonded indebtedness of $15,000, which to that extent will increase the amount.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Of that indebtedness $5,000 become due in February next, and $10,000 one year thereafter.

Mr. JOHNSON. Then that increases the average, so that it must be not less than $85,000 a year that the State will have to pay during the next four years and a half, on account of the present indebtedness of the Territory. These are matters which the gentleman from Storey had doubtless forgotten when he made his estimates. He allows only for the payment of the interest on the public debt, but here is the principal, for the payment of which not only is the faith of the Territory of Nevada pledged, but also the faith of the proposed State of Nevada, so far as it can be done by the members of this Convention, who have already voted that the State shall assume the indebtedness of the Territory. If, therefore, we do not provide for the payment of that indebtedness, the principal as well as the interest, I say it goes forth to the world as a violation of the pledged honor, not only of the Territory but of the State, in which every member of this Convention is directly involved.

Mr. CHAPIN. Does not the gentleman from Ormsby consider that the provision which is made in the Constitution for the issuing of the bonds of the State, to the amount of three hundred thousand dollars, will be amply sufficient to meet all these demands? I confess that I did not take into account the payment of the principal of the Territorial debt, because while we assume all the debts of the Territory we at the same time adopt a provision authorizing the State to issue its bonds to the amount of three hundred thousand dollars, and that I think should be ample to meet the Territorial indebtedness, and a good many other demands.

Mr. JOHNSON. I admit it, but the gentleman has claimed the benefit of that one hundred thousand dollars a year, as a margin for miscellaneous and contingent expenses of the State Government. I deny that he has a right to call it an appropriation for the payment of the principal of the Territorial indebtedness, or any part of it, if he also claims it as a part of the fund for carrying on the State Government. It will not meet that and the bonded indebtedness of the Territory also; hence if the one proposition is correct the other cannot be. Consequently, if he admits that the State assumes the payment of these Territorial obligations to the amount of $83,000 or $85,000 a year for the next four years and a half, then he must make that addition to his estimates, and therefore it is shown that his estimates fall short something like a hundred thousand dollars a year. If the gentleman includes the three hundred thousand dollars which the State is authorized to borrow for the payment of the principal and interest of the bonded indebtedness of the Territory, it must be considered for that purpose in these estimates, so that the amount of this Territorial debt must be added to the summary of figures which he has presented.

But, sir, if time, and the patience of the Convention allowed, I might proceed further in reviewing the gentleman's figures in regard to the various items of expenditure. For instance, he has allowed but $2,500 a year for the payment of clerks of the Legislature, one session of which, during the three years, will be for ninety days, and then two sessions of sixty days each. Why, sir, any man who ever had a seat on the floor of a legislative body, or who is at all cognizant of the amount of the labors devolving upon the clerical force of such a body, will at once be satisfied that such a sum is altogether insufficient. It would amount to not more than enough to pay the salary of the chief secretary or clerk of each branch, and one clerk in addition.

Tuesday.] JOHNSON—COLLINS—KENNEDY—CHAPIN—BANKS—MCCLINTON—MURDOCK. [July 26.

A MEMBER. Time!

Mr. JOHNSON. Time is called upon me, and I do not propose to exceed the limit established by rule of the Convention.

Mr. COLLINS. I think the gentleman has spoken twice.

Mr. JOHNSON. Only once upon the proposition in its present shape. However, I hope no other gentleman will be allowed to exceed his allotted time.

Mr. KENNEDY. I move to amend the section proposed by the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Chapin), by adding the following :

"Provided, The Legislature may levy a special tax not exceeding one-fourth of one per cent. per annum, which shall be appropriated to the payment of the indebtedness of the Territory of Nevada, assumed by the State of Nevada, and for that purpose only, until all of said indebtedness is paid."

Mr. CHAPIN. I will accept the amendment.

Mr. JOHNSON. I suppose I may have the privilege of speaking to this amendment.

Mr. BANKS. This is a matter involving a good many figures and facts, with which I confess I am not familiar, and I think that is the position of a great many other members. I will therefore ask as a special favor that gentlemen who are familiar with the subject, as the gentleman from Ormsby (Mr. Johnson) appears to be, shall not be prevented by the enforcement of the rule, from speaking longer than five minutes.

Mr. JOHNSON. There is only this objection, that we are now, we hope, near the close of the session, and if such privilege be extended to one member, it must be to others, because it it would be unfair to discriminate; and if every member is allowed to speak as long as he chooses we shall never get through.

Mr. McCLINTON. I am very much opposed to extending the time to any member, unless we give all the same chance. Though I should like exceedingly to hear the gentleman from Ormsby, and other gentlemen who have spoken, explain their views more fully, yet there are others who may understand the subject nearly as well, and who perhaps would also like to be heard.

Mr. MURDOCK. The gentleman from Ormsby can have five minutes of my time.

Mr. JOHNSON. I am entitled to five minutes, I believe, on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Lyon (Mr. Kennedy). I do not wish to consume the time of the Convention unnecessarily, but I do conceive that this is an exceedingly important matter, and I fear that gentlemen have not given it proper attention, especially those who seem to favor the proposition of the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Chapin). I know the motives of that gentleman are all proper, of course. He is very desirous of having a State Government; he feels the importance and necessity of it; and he has offered this proposition believing it will have a tendency to strengthen the Constitution before the people, but I fear without reflecting with sufficient care and minuteness upon all its important bearings.

Now, sir, as was said by another gentleman from Storey, (Mr. DeLong,) I do not desire to have a Constitution thrust upon the people of the State of Nevada under false pretences. I do not feel like going before the people of the State and saying, because forsooth the Constitution declares they cannot be taxed more than one per cent., therefore they will not be, and cannot be, under any circumstances. But there is another and more important matter to be considered, namely, the honor of the State, its plighted faith and credit. A State ought never to be placed in a position where it will even be possible that the consequences of practical repudiation of the indebtedness of that State may follow. For this reason, if for nought else, I am opposed to adopting the proposed restriction.

Gentlemen who have spoken upon this and kindred subjects heretofore, have declared their willingness to confide in their respective delegations in the Legislature. Now are they not willing, when, by the numerous restrictions and limitations which we have heretofore adopted, those who may be delegated to represent us in the Legislature are bound, as it were hand and foot, in respect to the expenditure of money—although not more so than is needful, in my judgment—are they not willing to trust them, under such stringent provisions as we have adopted, to vote the appropriations—to raise by taxation, and to expend whatever amounts may be necessary to administer the affairs of the State in an economical manner? I have no greater interest than others, and none less, in securing an economical administration of the State government, and as evidencing my views upon that question, it is quite enough to advert to the votes which have been cast in the Convention upon the various questions affecting the matter. It is true that sometimes I have exceeded other gentlemen in my ideas of liberality respecting what should be regarded as the proper compensation of certain public servants, but it was only because I believed it would be for the benefit of the State to bestow upon those officers an amount of compensation sufficiently liberal to secure the services of competent men, rather than to establish salaries at so low a figure that none but incompetent persons would accept such positions. In other words, my judgment as to the extent of the compensation which should be allowed for certain public services has been variant from that of other members; but on the whole, I think that the record of my votes will compare favorably with that of any other member, on the general proposition that our State government shall be administered upon the most economical basis that may be found practicable.

Tuesday,]

WARWICK—JOHNSON.

[July 26.

But whilst I favor the general policy of economy, I do conceive that the adoption of this proposed new section would be hampering and binding the Legislature to such a degree that under certain contingencies that may arise, the most unfortunate consequences, in a financial sense, would, in my judgment, ensue. Possibly I may misjudge in entertaining such apprehensions; but even admitting that it is possible to conduct the State government successfully with the restriction now proposed, still we ought not to present the spectacle of foisting a State government upon the people, and voting ourselves into the position of a State among the other States of the Union, with restrictions contained in our fundamental law of such nature that they may be likely to result hereafter in practical repudiation.

We cannot foretell what will be the expenses of our State government. We may make approximate estimates, perhaps, but we know not how far they will fall short of the actual expenditures. And I take issue with the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Chapin) in regard to many of the facts and figures which he has presented. I have already taken occasion to refer to the single item of the pay of clerks of the Legislature, for which he has only allowed two thousand five hundred dollars a year. Why, sir, any member of this body who has had legislative experience, or knowledge of the duties necessary to be performed by those officers, for the proper transaction of the business of a legislative body, well knows that such an estimate must fall very far short. The per diem and mileage of members of the Legislature we can readily estimate. We can approximate very nearly in estimating the mileage, per diem, and other expenses of the Legislature, aside from that of the clerical force. The gentleman gives us also an estimate of the State Prison expenses, which he places at twenty thousand dollars a year, but I hesitate not in saying that no man can even approximately conjecture those expenses. And there are various other items, concerning which no definite estimates can be made.

And why, I ask, is it proposed that we shall here declare that the Legislature shall not impose a tax exceeding one per cent. per annum, when the judgment of the members of the Convention is so variant as to the maximum tax, and the amount of our taxable basis? Why, sir, I have heard my friend from Lander (Mr. Warwick) say that we shall probably ship from the State twenty-five or thirty millions of bullion within the year. It is true that I have not heard any indorsement of that opinion, within the body of this Convention, but I have no doubt there are others who agree with the gentleman. Upon that point, however, we have some data which is to a certain extent reliable as a basis for an estimate, and I have not heard any gentleman, in position to have access to such needful data, place our past shipments of bullion beyond fifteen millions. I have heard expressed the opinions of several intelligent and well informed gentlemen, and none of them has placed it at a higher figure.

Mr. WARWICK. Will the gentleman from Ormsby allow me to ask him a question? I simply wish to inquire what has been the production of the Gould and Curry mine for the year last past?

Mr. JOHNSON. Not having any business or other relations with the Gould and Curry Mining Company, I am not able to answer the gentleman. Nevertheless I am able to state this, that Wells, Fargo & Co., through whose express offices the shipments are made, name the amount of bullion shipped during the past year at considerably less than fifteen millions, and my impression is that they place it at but little more than twelve millions of dollars for the year ending on the 1st of July, instant. And if we are to judge from newspaper reports as to the determination of the directors of the Gould and Curry Company in regard to the management of the affairs of their mine in the future, their shipments will fall far short of what they have been in the past.

We find by a published report, which seems to have met with the acquiescence and concurrence of the directors, whilst there are at present somewhat more than twenty mills engaged in reducing their ores, that their future policy will be to reduce their ores in their own mills, and by their own peculiar processes; and it is a well known fact that within the past thirty days more than thirty mills in the Territory have been turned off from working ores from that mine. And, sir, in connection with this change of policy, it is hardly necessary to mention the well known and very important fact that the Gould and Curry mine has heretofore been producing more than one-third of the total amount of the gross proceeds of the mines of this Territory.

But, I am opposed to this restriction of taxation upon other grounds. I confess that I see nothing so discouraging in the present condition of things as to lead me to believe that our future production will fall short of what it has been in the past, while I think there is much reason to hope that it will far exceed that of past years. But whilst conceding this, I insist that it behooves us, as men engaged in the important work of forming a government for the people of Nevada, in making our estimates, to revert to the past condition of our Territory, and judge of the future by the past. And, sir, in my opinion, there is no gentleman in this Convention who for a single moment believes that outside of the mines of this Territory, if the assessment were to be made to-day, the amount of taxable property returnable within the Territory, would approach anywhere near the figures presented by the assessors in the returns which they made last year. I regret to be obliged to confess to this desponding view of our condition, but it is my honest and sincere conviction, and facts which are in the possession of all the members of this Convention, must have convinced them, I have no doubt, of the correctness of my statements.

Tuesday.]

JOHNSON—WARWICK—DELONG.

[July 26]

Therefore, whilst gentlemen are seeking for sources of revenue by taxation, when they have had shown them the amount of taxable property other than in the mines, they must look the facts boldly in the face, and in making their estimates and calculations of assessments and taxation in the future, they must be governed by the experience of the past and the existing condition of things. I hope gentlemen will have recourse to some authentic data upon which to base their estimates of the amount of taxable property in the State, and when they tell us that that amount has reached twenty-five millions exclusive of taxable property in the mines, they must at the same time admit the other fact, that the amount of delinquent taxes has hitherto exceeded by far the proportion of twenty-five per cent. That estimate of twenty-five per cent., for delinquent taxes and cost of collection, was made by me originally, based upon the ultimate determination of disputed questions regarding the revenue, by legal decisions, and consequently a more fixed and stable condition of things in the future; but until that time, we must approximate our estimates more to what we find has been the experience of other new States. For example, look to the history of the State of California, in the earlier years of its existence, and it will be found that for the first five years the delinquent list amounted to considerably more than twenty-five per cent., and even at the present time the delinquencies and the expenses of collection very nearly, if not quite, equal that proportion. And in this Territory, I have not the exact figures, but I believe the facts warrant me in assuming, that for the past year the delinquencies and the expenses of collection have quite reached fifty per cent. And we cannot expect to improve much upon that for the first year or two after our State organization, although ultimately, when affairs become more settled, there will doubtless be a material improvement in favor of the revenue. In the mean time, however, these delinquencies diminish considerably the anticipated revenue, and necessarily increase in corresponding proportion the amount of the tax necessary to be levied for the support of our State Government.

I am not willingly taking issue on this proposition. It may be that we can carry on our State Government successfully with a less rate of taxation than one per cent., but even if it be a matter of possibility, I deny that we can rightfully assume it as a certainty, and I say we have not the data upon which to base the estimates by which we can with propriety prohibit or limit the Legislature in that regard, as proposed by the gentleman from Storey. I do not conceive that such a restriction would be practicable, and I fear that the proposition is merely an attempt to grasp at something to be offered as an additional argument in favor of the State Government, lest, forsooth, the people may repudiate our action.

I am not here, sir, to favor a proposition that carries with it even the possibility of entailing upon myself, and you, and the gentleman from Storey, and other members of the Convention, the necessity of endeavoring to induce the people by what may be regarded as false or fraudulent representations, to vote for the adoption of this Constitution. If our constituents shall choose to adopt the Constitution, if the merits of this instrument shall be such as to commend it to the popular judgment, if the great benefits which are to ensue by reason of the formation of a State Government shall be so apparent that the people are prepared to adopt it, then well and good. But let them comprehend fully the extent of the burden they are to assume, and the sources from which taxation is to be derived; and then, if they shall decide to adopt the State form of government, let them send their best men to the Legislature, and, hampered and bound as they are by the restrictions which we have heretofore adopted, I conceive that it will be impossible for such representatives to impose any burdens upon us, beyond what the wants and necessities of the government absolutely require.

Mr. WARWICK. I thought when leave was given the gentleman from Ormsby to speak beyond the allotted time, that he was going to present facts and figures for the enlightenment of the Convention; but instead of that he has only made a labored argument to show the difficulty of carrying on the State government. That is a thing which has been argued sufficiently, and as I see nothing in the gentleman's speech but the foundation of a long, excited debate, resulting in no good, believing that every man's mind is made up, and his position taken, and that no words can possibly be spoken in debate that would change one single vote, I shall desire hereafter to have the rule strictly enforced.

Mr. DELONG. I may be a little over sanguine, but I feel as confident as I do that I live, of the fact that this year will see the taxable property of Nevada, even including the net proceeds only, and without counting the gross proceeds of our mines, reach the aggregate value of at least thirty millions of dollars. I am led to that conclusion by the fact that new mills are continually going up in the Territory, and also by the further fact that every old mill, and every new one, as soon as it is completed, is at once put into operation, with all the work it can do. That is the proper stand-point from which to judge. We must not single out one mine like that of the Gould and Curry, and say because that mine produces less ore than formerly, therefore the whole amount of the proceeds of the mines is going to be less. But even in the case of the Gould and Curry, the decrease is only attributable to a change of policy on the part of the directors. They have simply come to the conclusion that it is better to take out their ore less rapidly, and crush more of it themselves; or, in other words, to give less of their profits away to the mill owners than they have done heretofore. But that does not apply to all the mines. On the contrary, where we find one company adopting that policy, we see another, like the Potosi, giving out to the mills four or five times as much ore as it did one year ago; and the same thing is true of many other companies, and their mines, down that whole range towards Gold Hill. And even on the other ledges some of the mines are ready for working, and hundreds of men are now toiling, and sending up the rich deposits, where six months ago nothing was being done but running bed-rock tunnels, in order to discover the ledge. These are improvements of an important and permanent character, which will add largely to the taxable property of the State, and consequently to our ability to support a State government.

Tuesday.]

BANKS—DELONG—WARWICK.

[July 26.]

I support the amendment which was accepted on the suggestion of the gentleman from Lyon (Mr. Kennedy), because I believe that additional one-fourth of one per cent. will be ample to pay the Territorial debt, leaving the tax of one per cent. to pay the current expenses of the State Government. I insist that it will be amply sufficient. In my own opinion we shall have, to start with, forty millions worth of property as a taxable basis. A tax of one per cent. on that will yield four hundred thousand dollars, and deducting one-quarter for delinquencies, etc., leaves an actual revenue of three hundred thousand dollars, and if we cannot conduct the State Government on three hundred thousand dollars a year, raised by taxation, not counting in the Territorial indebtedness, then I, for one, am not in favor of adopting a State Constitution.

The only reason why I am in favor of the proposition to limit and restrict the amount of taxation is this, that then nobody can go out and humbug the people. We can then say to the people with full confidence and positiveness, that by no possibility can a debt of a greater amount than three hundred thousand dollars be contracted, and neither can there be, by any possibility, a tax imposed exceeding one and one-quarter per cent.; and the people will see and know that we are speaking the truth, because our fundamental law plainly limits the Legislature, and will not permit it to incur a greater indebtedness, or to tax the people beyond that amount. And, sir, just as sure as we are living men, if we do not incorporate something of the kind into this instrument, we shall meet men on the stump who, in their earnest opposition to the Constitution, will impress upon the people, by a vast array of figures which they do not themselves understand—which men of ordinary intelligence cannot comprehend, but which will serve nevertheless to frighten dunces—that the taxes under the State Government are going to be perhaps as high as three or four per cent.

I am in favor, too, of the proposition to put the Legislature last on the list. It will make the members study economy, because they will want to make sure of their own compensation, and in order to obtain that, they will see to it that no squandering of the public funds takes place. Being the last on the list, they will take care that something shall be left, when their turn comes, for they will understand that we have no swamp land fund here to steal from, as they had in the State of California, when everything else was used up.

Mr. BANKS. The gentleman knows something about that, I think. [Merriment.]

Mr. DELONG. Oh, the gentleman from Humboldt was also there, and I believe they had to place a special guard around the treasury to keep him out of the swamp land fund. [Laughter.]

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Gentlemen must not indulge in personal or pecuniary allusions.

Mr. DELONG. Well, I am in favor of the proposition as a whole. I know that many reckless men are elected to the Legislature, and members sometimes become careless and inattentive. When some good fellow comes before the Legislature with a bill for relief, or a claim for building a new State Prison, or a Capitol building, or the improvement of the Insane Asylum by the addition of a wing, they say it does not affect them, nor anybody in particular, and so long as it does not affect their own pay these good-natured souls will vote for such bills, and so they will override, and overrule, and vote down the men who work, and vote, and act for the good of the State, and who have to share with them the odium of squandering the public money. But you bring it down to their own interest, and you will change all that. You hit the pocket nerve, and you will find it the most tender and sensitive in the human system, and the man will jump higher, and yell louder, than he will if you hit him in the eye. [Merriment.] You adopt such a provision that the members of the Legislature cannot pay their board bills unless they economize, and that very class of men will study economy harder than they ever studied anything before in the world. For these reasons I shall support the proposition, as amended, limiting the taxation to a dollar and a quarter on each one hundred dollars.

Mr. WARWICK. I am unable to perceive what benefit can possibly be secured by endeavoring to undervalue the wealth of the proposed State. Now, sir, there is no gentleman here but knows that at the other side of the Territory we have a region of country which will constitute almost, if not quite, as wealthy a portion of the State as the section lying in this vicinity. Within about a year past, a town has sprung up in the County of Lander, which already contains taxable property amounting to nearly a million and a half of dollars. It is as large as the town of Carson, located in a fabulously rich mining region, with about a dozen quartz mills already built, some of them very valuable, and a fair prospect that by this time next year there will be thirty or forty mills running, with rich rock enough to supply all of them, and more. I think I am speaking within bounds when I say that by this time next year the taxable property of Lander County alone will amount to between five and seven millions of dollars.

Tuesday,]

MASON—WARWICK.

[July 26.

Nor do I believe that is the only portion of the Territory where the taxable property will be increased in like manner, and possibly in the same proportion. It is well known that the County of Humboldt is also rapidly increasing; that not only its mines, but its agricultural wealth especially, is being developed daily. The thousands who rushed into Lander and Humboldt Counties last year have to be fed, and their main supplies of the products which you are unable to furnish from this section, will have to be drawn from those new agricultural districts, affording them an almost inexhaustible source of wealth. Then in Nye County the wealth of the mines is being largely developed, to say nothing of Esmeralda and the many localities where recent discoveries of the precious metals have been made.

I think, sir, it is not good policy for members to undervalue the rising prospects and progress of our new State, for any purpose whatever. And inasmuch as we have witnessed the astonishing growth and progress of the Territory in the past, I see no reason, merely because of the little flurry of hard times at present complained of, why we should despair of the future. Any person who has seen these flurries of hard times, as I have in past years, in other communities, I think will be disposed to look upon the present apparent depression calmly and unmoved. For my own part, I fully agree with the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. DeLong,) that the taxable property of the State, perhaps within one year, and certainly within two, at the farthest, will amount to forty or fifty millions of dollars.

Mr. MASON. While I indorse heartily the ideas advanced by the gentleman from Lander, the able and only representative of that county in this body, at the same time I am satisfied that even he does not fully appreciate the great wealth of that mineral region. I am aware it is reported that the books of Lander County are now lying in Wells, Fargo & Co's express office, and cannot be taken out for want of the funds to pay the expressage, yet notwithstanding that, and the present apparent poverty of the county, I am satisfied that it will in the future be one of the wealthiest portions of the State. I have been there myself and know something of the vast extent of the undeveloped resources of that county, too vast to be portrayed even by my eloquent friend from Lander, who possesses an imagination capable of soaring aloft, where the eye of man cannot pursue, where the effulgent sun-light gilds the azure morning, and where the stars deck the sable robe of night. [Laughter.] But, sir, aside from the eloquence of the tragedian from Lander, I say I am satisfied that it is the richest country under the sun. The world has never seen or known—the history of created things has never presented to the mind of man anything to compare with the enormous amount of wealth stored within that country by the hand of nature. I am satisfied of that fact from my own observation, because I have been there and looked at those ledges, at their developments, their outcroppings, and their casings, and there is nothing ever conceived by the imagination of man that can exceed the vast natural wealth deposited in that county. It was for that reason alone that I stated here the other day to my dignified friend from Storey, (Mr. Collins,) that as soon as the vast natural wealth of those remote counties shall be known and recognized, the enormous population of Storey County will be decreased, and that county will no longer be burdened with such an overplus of inhabitants as to require the services in its District Court of three Judges.

I thought, when I arose, that I would take occasion to abuse the lawyers a little, and especially the lawyers in this Convention, but I believe I will forbear. [Laughter.] The gentleman from Lander is a lawyer, and if he will excuse the allusion, so am I, sir. I was a lawyer twenty-five years ago, and have often been admitted to the bar since. [Merriment.] And I will tell the gentleman the reason why I abandoned the profession. I defended a man for stealing a mule, and managed to get him acquitted; but three weeks afterwards the infernal scoundrel stole a cow from me, and ran away. I abandoned the practice of the law from that moment, sir. [Laughter.] But leaving jocularly aside, the greatest of the evils which have darkened the page of our country's history has been the result of dishonest and disloyal legislation. We have seen its effects here with painful distinctness.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The Chair dislikes exceedingly to interrupt the gentleman, but he is wandering very far from the question.

Mr. WARWICK. I hope the gentleman will have leave to proceed. Leave has been granted to one distinguished member, and why not to another?

Mr. MASON. I am willing to express myself freely, and take the consequences, for I belong to nobody, and nobody belongs to me. I say we have seen the power of disloyal legislation here. I have sat here and watched it with intense anxiety, until cold chills ran up my back. It needs no words of comment. We have seen that spirit manifested here in all its painful distinctness, that spirit which has darkened every page of our country's history. It is to be seen in partial enactments in favor of wealth and against labor, and in the entire neglect to make any attempt to remove social evils, however stupendous they may be.

Tuesday,]

MASON—LOCKWOOD—WARWICK—DELONG.

[July 26.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The gentleman will have to confine his remarks to the question before the Convention.

Mr. MASON. I was going to abuse the lawyers next; but however, I will yield the floor. [Laughter.]

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I have heard of strategy in military matters, and I have now become convinced that there is such a thing as strategy in a Constitutional Convention. Although I admire the genius which has been displayed, yet I am fearful that upon this question there is a desire to cheat somebody. It seems that gentlemen who favor the amendment before the Convention are very much inclined to distrust legislative bodies, and I must say that my faith is somewhat shaken, when I have before me the testimony of honorable gentlemen who have filled prominent positions in such bodies, and who tell us that they were generally inclined to favor the passage of bills of that class and character that would rob the State treasury. Now I will premise by saying that I never was in a legislative body, and do not know the facts, but I take the evidence of gentlemen who have been in them—

Mr. WARWICK. I rise to a point of order, that the gentleman ought not to undertake to talk on a subject which he confesses he knows nothing about.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I am merely repeating the evidence which has been given before the Convention. Now, sir, I was an advocate of the proposition to pay members of the Legislature eight dollars a day, and it seemed to me that the Convention decided, by adopting the proposition, that eight dollars a day is no more than a reasonable compensation for a man who is qualified to fill a position of that kind. It was for this reason, as I understood, that the proposition establishing that rate of compensation was engrafted into the Constitution. But now let us see how ingeniously it is proposed to cut off such compensation. We have enacted in a previous article, the proposition that the State shall never run into debt to an amount exceeding three hundred thousand dollars, and gentlemen fear that, having done so, the opponents of the State Government will go before the people and tell them that although by and by they may be able to support a State Government upon a reasonable amount of taxation, yet in the interim, at least for the first few years, the taxation will have to be enormous, because they cannot otherwise sustain the government, in view of the three hundred thousand dollar limitation of State indebtedness. In order to prevent that, these gentlemen now come up and magnanimously propose that, inasmuch as they have agreed to pay the members of the Legislature eight dollars a day, they will carry out the agreement, and pay them such compensation, provided that, upon a levy of only one per cent. upon the taxable property of the State, they shall have the financial skill and ability to pay all the other State expenses, which will amount perhaps to three or four hundred thousand dollars a year. After they shall have made all the other appropriations, and provided for all the indebtedness of the Territory, and State, if there is still money enough left, derived from this limited rate of taxation, they can receive their eight dollars a day, but not otherwise. I must say that if we adopt such a provision the future legislators of this State will be very apt to exclaim, in the language of a noted politician in the California Legislature, that they are astonished at the profundity of our magnanimity.

Now, sir, notwithstanding any such provision as this, the opponents of the Constitution are going before the people, and they are going to demonstrate, in a plain, business-like manner, what a State Government must cost the people, and what amount of taxation must be levied in order to support it. And let us suppose a case, right in point here. Suppose that this restriction being adopted, it should be clearly demonstrated, to the comprehension of all business men, that after the necessary appropriations required for carrying on the State Government for a single year not a dollar would be left for the compensation of the Legislature? In that case I imagine, and no doubt every sensible man will agree with me, that the Legislature would be found a good deal thinner, in both branches, than this Convention is at the present time.

But gentlemen tell us that we are going to collect a tax on some fifteen or twenty millions of dollars, as the gross proceeds of the mines. Now that, I insist, is an unfair assertion, when it is made in the face of the fact that under the law of the Territorial Legislature, taxing the gross proceeds of the mines, practically the amount collected has been nothing at all. I ask the gentleman from Storey (Mr. DeLong), by what rule of arithmetic, whether he goes into Daboll, or Smith, or into some of the higher branches of mathematics, he manages to figure it out, when, under the Territorial law, taxing the gross proceeds of the mines, we pay out all we receive, in the vain hope of collecting more, that under the State organization, with the same sort of enactment, we are going to collect one hundred and fifty or two hundred thousand dollars from the mines, whether it be from the gross proceeds, or any other proceeds?

Mr. DELONG. Was it the fault of the law that nothing was collected, or of its administration?

Mr. LOCKWOOD. The same impediments will exist under a State law that have heretofore been encountered. I insist that we should look these matters fairly in the face, without dodging or flinching. Let us go before the people upon a plain showing, and say to them: "If you desire a State Government you can have it, but you will have to pay for it."

Tuesday,]

DELONG—LOCKWOOD—BANKS—JOHNSON—COLLINS.

[July 26.

Mr. DELONG. Will the gentleman allow me to ask him one question? Did he favor an increase of the compensation of the Legislature, before he had made up his mind to oppose the State Constitution?

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I have never yet made up my mind to oppose the State Constitution. And here let me answer one insinuation which has been made by the gentleman's colleague from Storey County (Mr. Fitch), to the effect that those who are opposed to the Constitution desire to make it as obnoxious as possible. I consider that any such charge is very improper and unfair, and so far as I am concerned, if I knew that this Constitution was going to be accepted by the people, there is not a single vote that I have given in the Convention that I would desire to alter, or to recall—not one.

Mr. BANKS. Some things have been said by those who are opposed to this proposition to which I desire very briefly to reply. The last gentleman on the floor has laid peculiar stress upon the failure of the tax on the mines which was levied by the Legislature in some year—I believe in 1862, or the year before that. Last year also a law was passed taxing the mines and mining property, and the year before, I think it was, the Legislature passed a law imposing a tax upon the gross proceeds of the mines. But it seems that the Legislature failed to enact a law under which any question could be raised to take to the courts. And that, by the way, strikes me as something remarkable in legislation. It is certainly very singular indeed, that the Legislature of this Territory was unable to frame a law upon which there could arise any question to be brought before the courts. It appears, however, that there were finally some questions taken to the courts, and though collections were delayed, I believe there has at last been a decision favorable to the law. Is not that correct?

Mr. DELONG. Yes, sir.

Mr. JOHNSON. And the case has been appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Mr. BANKS. Now, sir, in California, from 1857 up to 1861, the Legislature passed various laws on the same subject, without success, but at last obtained an efficient revenue law. I think the Legislature of that State has been singularly unfortunate in that kind of legislation; but I do not believe, with the light of the experience of California before us, that we are likely to repeat its blunders. It is not strange, however, when the Legislature of California made such mistakes, that the Legislature of 1863 in this Territory should have failed to pass such a revenue law as perhaps ought to have been passed. At any rate, I do not conceive that any defect which may have been discovered in that law should necessarily lead us to the conclusion that no law can be passed for the taxation of the proceeds of the mines which will be efficient. I believe, on the contrary, that the simple mode of taxation which has been adopted by the United States Government will be found to be efficient in all cases, and will raise as much revenue from that source as again be paid by that kind of property.

Again, the gentleman from Ormsby (Mr. Lockwood) has dwelt with a good deal of earnestness upon what he seems to regard as a want of charity for the Legislature. He appears to have a particularly friendly feeling towards the Legislature, and takes especial pains to repel promptly anything which he regards as an attack upon it. Now, although I do not pretend to join in that kind of popular clamor, which amounts to universal and indiscriminate denunciation of all legislators and Legislatures, yet I will say that in the State of California, since the year 1861, at any rate, there has never been a session in which all the real work was not performed within the space of sixty days.

A MEMBER. Time!

Mr. BANKS. I think I have a minute left, sir. Let me say this, in conclusion, that if we adopt this limitation, the Legislature will accommodate itself to circumstances, just as an individual accommodates himself to his income, governs his expenses according to it, and generally gets along about as well on an income of one thousand dollars as he would on five thousand, or even ten thousand dollars a year. We propose to give the Legislature to understand that it is limited, as we would an individual in our employment. We say "there is your income; now govern yourself accordingly." And my word for it the Legislature will do it. Under this provision I do not believe the sessions of the Legislature will continue beyond about one month.

Mr. COLLINS. I hardly know, sir, what I can say on this subject within the space of five minutes, but I will begin where my friend from Humboldt (Mr. Banks) left off—with the necessity for economy. If we make it a matter of necessity, economy is sure to follow. Why, sir, look at the economy of this Convention, for example, as compared with that of last year. Then were incurred bills for printing, and a variety of expenses, which this Convention has entirely avoided, and yet have we not performed our duty nearly, if not quite, as well as if we had had ten, fifteen, or twenty thousand dollars to spend? Now I regard the proposition of my colleague (Mr. Chapin) as well calculated to force the Legislature into economy.

The gentlemen from Ormsby, (Mr. Johnson,) in opposing the proposition, takes exception to some of the figures which have been presented by my colleague. Well, it may be that in many respects his figures are too small, but if that be so, why should we not appoint a committee to be composed of gentlemen who are acquainted with these matters, and let that committee bring in a statement for the information of the Convention, showing what the proposed State Government will probably cost, and what the Territorial Government has cost. Then, knowing the cost of each, we can readily see the difference, and can intelligently decide whether or not it is practicable, or advisable, to make the change from the Territorial to the State form of Government. That is the real question before us, and before the people of the Territory. Under the Territorial Government of last year—1863—a tax of only fifty cents on each one hundred dollars was levied and collected for territorial purposes, but that was all exhausted, and a debt was contracted in amount equal, I believe, to another tax of fifty cents on the one hundred dollars. That would make the whole expense of the Territorial Government for that year equal to a tax of one per cent. Therefore it would follow that if we can support a State Government upon a tax of one per cent., it will be no dearer than the Territorial Government has been. I admit there are some things which will be more expensive under a State Government, but if gentlemen are not disposed to be captious, if they are willing to enter upon a system of economy, we shall get along about as cheaply as under the present system. And in order to be absolutely sure that economy will be practiced, let us define and specify just what the Legislature may expend. If we do that, I am confident that we shall be able to go before the people of the Territory and present such facts as will commend the State form of Government to their favorable estimation and judgment.

Tuesday.]

COLLINS—BROSNAN—CROSMAN—CHAPIN.

[July 26.]

Now gentlemen are aware that we are inheriting a large debt—a debt which must be paid, whether we shall have a Territorial or a State Government—amounting, principal and interest, to something over seventy-five thousand dollars a year, for three years to come. We shall have to pay, in interest and principal, $233,500, that being the debt which we inherit from the Territory. But there is only a small proportion of that amount which has to be paid in 1865, and by the time we are called upon to pay the major part of the debt, I am in the hope that the income or revenue derived from taxation will be much larger than the gentleman from Ormsby supposes. I believe that with the proceeds of the mines we shall have a basis of taxation of at least thirty-five or forty millions of dollars, upon which to raise a revenue, and that, I trust, will be sufficient. I am sure that the Legislature, with the pressure of poverty upon it, will impose a tax upon the gross proceeds of the mines, so as to obtain as large a revenue as possible.

We have to provide for Territorial indebtedness, as follows: In the first place we have the interest and principal on what are known as the Rice bonds, amounting to $6,500; then $26,000, interest and principal, on the Curry bonds, to be paid in February and March, 1865; then $27,000 interest on bonds payable in 1866; interest and principal on new bonds to be paid in 1866, $12,500, interest and principal on same, payable in 1867, $81,500; making in all, to be paid within the next three years, $233,500. Now it occurs to me that, with our growing wealth, and the income or revenue to be derived therefrom, we shall have no difficulty in meeting all this indebtedness, as fast as it accrues, if we only secure an economical administration of public affairs.

Notwithstanding the fact that at present poverty seems to be staring us in the face, and many of our business men feel overwhelmed by its depressing influence, and disposed to look at the future only through a cloud of darkness, yet I have faith to believe that our Territory is only under a cloud for the time being. Our productions, and the amount of our business operations, are equal to what they have ever been known at any previous time. New mining discoveries are being constantly made, and new claims developed, and ranches are being located and established, all over the Territory. All that is required to restore prosperity is a little energy, of which our people have an abundance, and I am sure that our sources of revenue will be increased year after year, and before the three years named in the proposed amendment shall have expired I fully believe that our taxable property will have increased to forty millions of dollars. Therefore I hold that the section is a proper one for our adoption, and I would like to see a committee appointed, composed of gentlemen who have had legislative experience, to take into consideration the proposition submitted by my colleague, and bring in a statement of what will probably be the annual expense of a State Government during the next one, two, or three years. Then we can form at least a close approximation, and having done so let us prescribe what the Legislature may expend, and how it shall be expended.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The gentleman's time is up.

Mr. BROSNAN. I hope we may now be allowed to come to a direct vote on this question. I am prepared, myself, to vote for the amendment. ["Question! question!"]

The proposed section, as modified by the amendment offered by Mr. Kennedy, was again read, as follows:

SEC. —. For the first three years after the adoption of this Constitution the Legislature shall not levy a tax, for State purposes, exceeding one per cent. per annum on the taxable property in the State, nor shall any appropriations be made out of the revenue arising from said tax, except in the following order, to wit: First, for paying interest upon the public debt. Second, for salaries of State officers. Third, for State Prison expenses. Fourth, for educational purposes. Fifth, for legislative and miscellaneous expenses. Provided, the Legislature may levy a special tax not exceeding one-fourth of one per cent. per annum, which shall be appropriated to the payment of the indebtedness of the Territory of Nevada, assumed by the State of Nevada, and for that purpose only, until all of said indebtedness is paid.

Mr. CROSMAN. That provides for a tax of one per cent. only, for three years, as I understand.

Mr. CHAPIN. For one per cent. a year.

Mr. CROSMAN. I think it does not read in that way.

Tuesday,]

CHAPIN—KENNEDY—CROSMAN—FRIZELL—FITCH—TAGLIABUE.

[July 26.

Mr. CHAPIN. It should so read, if it does not.

Mr. KENNEDY. That is the intention, certainly; will the Secretary read that part again?

The SECRETARY. It reads, "For the first three years after the adoption of this Constitution the Legislature shall not levy a tax, for State purposes, exceeding one per cent. per annum," etc.

Mr. CROSMAN. Very well. Now I move to amend by striking out "three" and inserting "two," so as to read "for the first two years," etc.

Mr. FRIZELL. I second that amendment.

Mr. CROSMAN. I think there are good reasons for making the change. It has been urged that this amount of taxation will be insufficient to carry on the State Government, and if so we shall be running behind a trifle perhaps in our State expenses.

Mr. FITCH. Then that would be used as an argument against us.

Mr. CROSMAN. Well, if that is the case we can reply that property will be increasing rapidly during the interim, and it may be that after two years one per cent. will be sufficient. We have provided, at any rate, for all the State officers to be elected, for two years, and after that time it may be advisable to leave the matter open for the Legislature, untrammelled by any constitutional provision. Therefore, I hope the amendment I have offered will prevail.

Mr. CHAPIN. I hope that amendment will not be made. I am sorry that I cannot accept it at once, and so put a stop to all talk about it, but I feel like this, that if we really cannot run this State Government on a tax of one and one-quarter per cent. per annum, then for my part I do not want to adopt any State Government. I would certainly oppose it, if I thought the expense was going to exceed that amount. Here we can foot up an aggregate of expenditures amounting to one hundred and sixty-six thousand dollars a year, under the Territorial Government, and if the revenue derived from a taxation of one and one-fourth per cent. is not going to be sufficient to carry on our State Government, I am willing to remain in the tadpole condition for another four years, if necessary. We have a taxable property which ought to yield an amount of revenue of four hundred thousand dollars, upon a tax of one per cent., and another one hundred thousand upon the additional tax of one-fourth of one per cent. Then, in addition to all that, we have the bonds for three hundred thousand dollars which the Legislature is authorized to issue, under the provision heretofore adopted, making one hundred thousand dollars a year, for the three years, to supply any possible deficiency. Now I believe the privilege of contracting a loan to that amount is not going to be necessary, and I wish it could be stricken out.

But at any rate I want to compel a system of economy. I want to have every man who is elected to office, or sent to the Legislature, know before he comes here that he has got to economize—that he must economize as much as we have been obliged to in this Convention. Why, sir, look at our bills. Our worthy President is of opinion that their entire amount will not equal one-fourth, and I do not think they will amount to more than one-tenth as much as the expenses of the last Convention. The reason is, because the necessity was laid upon us. And have not we got along comfortably and respectably? So it will be with men in the Legislature, if the same necessity is imposed upon them. I hope the gentleman from Lyon will not be disposed to insist upon his amendment, for I want to have the Legislature work under pressure for three years at least. Then if we are in a condition to branch out, and be more liberal, we can do so.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. How much does the gentleman think the State would realize from those bonds to the amount of three hundred thousand dollars, if they were sold?

Mr. CHAPIN. I do not know, but if there is proper management they can probably be worked off to good advantage.

The question was taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Crosmán, and it was not agreed to.

The question was then taken by yeas and nays, on the motion of Mr. Chapin, to recommit the article, with instructions to amend, by inserting the section as proposed by him, and subsequently modified, and the vote was—yeas, 16; nays, 7—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crosmán, DeLong, Frizell, Folsom, Gibson, Kennedy, Mason, McClinton, Proctor, Warwick, and Wetherill—16.

Nays—Messrs. Crawford, Hawley, Kinkead, Lockwood, Murdock, Tagliabue, and Mr. President—7.

So the motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT pro tem, appointed as the Special Committee, in accordance with the motion, Messrs. Chapin, Collins, and McClinton.

Mr. CHAPIN, from the Special Committee just appointed, reported back Article XVII, entitled Schedule, amended according to the instructions of the Convention.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. If there is no objection the rules will be suspended, and the amendment adopted at this time.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. Does not the report go on the general file?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I said if there was no objection the rules would be suspended.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I object; I want to keep the amendment out, under the rules, if I can do so.

Mr. CHAPIN. I hope the gentleman will not object to suspending the rules; it is simply to save time.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I want to beat the amendment.

Mr. CHAPIN. Oh, the gentleman cannot do that, as he must be satisfied.

The question was taken on suspending the rules, and on a division the vote was—ayes, 15; noes, 5. So the rules were suspended.

Tuesday,] KINKEAD—PRESIDENT—CHAPIN—TAGLIABUE—WARWICK—PROCTOR—COLLINS. [July 26.

The question was then taken on adopting the section as reported by the special committee, and it was adopted.

The question was next taken by yeas and nays on the final passage of Article XVII, as amended, and the vote was—yeas, 16; nays, 7—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crosman, DeLong, Frizzell, Folsom, Gibson, Kennedy, Mason, McClinton, Proctor, Warwick, and Wetherill—16.

Nays—Messrs. Crawford, Hawley, Kinkead, Lockwood, Murdock, Tagliabue, and Mr. President—7.

So the article was passed.

[The PRESIDENT in the chair.]

Mr. KINKEAD. If it is in order now, I suggest that the gentleman from Esmeralda (Mr. Mason) have leave to finish his remarks. [Meriment.]

The PRESIDENT. The article will now be referred to the Committee on Phraseology.

THE ELECTION ORDINANCE.

The Convention took up, on its third reading, the Election Ordinance, providing for the election by the people upon the Constitution, and the voting of volunteers in the service of the United States at certain elections, as amended by the special committee to which it had been recommitted for that purpose.

The SECRETARY read the preamble, and Section 1, as follows:

WHEREAS, The Enabling Act passed by Congress, and approved March 21st, A. D. 1864, requires that the Convention charged with the duty of framing a Constitution for a State Government, "shall provide by ordinance for submitting said Constitution to the people of the Territory of Nevada for their ratification or rejection," on a certain day prescribed therein; therefore, this Convention, organized in pursuance of said Enabling Act, do establish the following

ORDINANCE.

SECTION 1. On the first Wednesday of September, A. D. 1864, this Constitution shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said Territory, in the several counties thereof, for their approval or rejection; and further, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, A. D. 1864, there shall be a general election in the several counties of said Territory for the election of State officers, Supreme and District Judges, members of the Legislature, representative in Congress, and three Presidential electors.

THE DAY OF ELECTION.

The PRESIDENT. I wish to know whether any gentleman of the Convention has any official information that Congress has changed the law in regard to the time when the vote shall be taken on the Constitution. The only information I have is what I have seen contained in newspaper correspondence.

Mr. CHAPIN. I have called on Governor Nye for the purpose of ascertaining whether he has received any official advice of a change in the day of election, and he informed me that he had not; that he only had the general report, derived from the newspapers, which the rest of us have; but he presumed that Congress had complied with the request which was forwarded from here asking for such change.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. The only report I have seen, stated that the time fixed by Congress was the first day of September, not the first Wednesday, and that report I believe has never been contradicted.

The PRESIDENT. Would it not be well to let this Section 7 provide that the Constitution shall be submitted at the time prescribed by the Act of Congress? The only official information which the Governor has received is the original Enabling Act, which provides for holding the election in October. If the Constitution should not be submitted at the proper time our labors will have proven futile, but by making this change, if there has been any misinformation, we will have provided for it.

Mr. WARWICK. Would it not be well enough to telegraph at once for the desired information, and get an answer before we conclude our session? Possibly we can get an answer this evening.

Mr. CHAPIN. Oh no; it will take two or three days, perhaps, to get an answer from Washington.

The PRESIDENT. I am advised that a petition was forwarded, asking to have the time changed so as to have the Constitution submitted to the people at the time of the Territorial election, and I think it is altogether probable that change has been made by Congress. Nevertheless, the Governor has not been notified of such change, whilst he has received an official notification of the approval of the original Act of Congress, and it might be well, therefore, in order to provide for a possible contingency, to amend the section so as to declare that the Constitution shall be submitted at the time prescribed by Congress. Then if it should happen that there has been no change, the election will be held on the day designated in the original Enabling Act.

Mr. PROCTOR. It appears to me that the question raised is one of the utmost importance. If we should ascertain, after we have adjourned and gone home, that the time for the election has not been changed since the passage of the original Act of Congress, all we have done will go for nothing. And even now, if we should ascertain that to be a fact, there would be a great many important changes necessary to be made. We have provided for the election of officers at the general election in November, have made provision for the time when they shall go into office, and so on, all based on the supposition that such change has been made in the time of the election. It does seem to me that we ought to take measures at once, by telegraphing or otherwise, to ascertain whether or not any such law of Congress is in existence.

The PRESIDENT. I have myself very little doubt that the change has been made, although we have no official information of the fact.

Mr. COLLINS. I have no knowledge of the

Tuesday.]

PRESIDENT—CROSMAN—MCCLENTON—WARWICK—BANKS—CHAPIN.

[July 26.

matter myself, save and except what I have seen in the newspapers, but I presume that if any subsequent action was taken on the subject by Congress, it was based on the petition which was sent from this Territory asking for such a change in the law that the vote on the Constitution might be taken on the day of the Territorial election. It seems to be evident that some change was made, or the newspapers would not have made any report in regard to it. Still, although we have every reason to believe the change was made, inasmuch as we have no authentic or official information, perhaps it would be well to leave the time for the election blank, and endeavor to have the Governor telegraph immediately for authentic information. He may perhaps obtain an answer by the time the article is engrossed, and then we can fill in the correct day.

The PRESIDENT. In reply to the remarks made by the gentleman from Nye (Mr. Proctor) I wish to say that I think the time of submitting the Constitution to the people will not necessarily make any very material difference in respect to what we have done. The objection seems to apply only to the ordinance providing for the election, because we propose to continue the Territorial officers, in any event, under the State organization.

Mr. CROSMAN. According to my recollection, the first report we received said the time for the election on the Constitution had been changed to the first day of September, not the first Wednesday.

The PRESIDENT. I have seen three different reports on the subject. The first was by overland telegraph, stating that the time had been changed to the first day of September; then the correspondent of the Sacramento Union wrote that it was fixed for the first Tuesday of September; and lastly, a letter from J.W. Simonton, correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin, referred to the matter in about these words: "It may be old news to the people of Nevada, but still it may be well to mention the fact that the Act fixing the first Wednesday of September as the time for the election on their State Constitution has passed." That would make the time correspond with our Territorial election, and I have very little doubt that the latter statement is correct.

Mr. CROSMAN. I know I came to the Convention with the impression on my mind that the election was to be on the first day of September.

The PRESIDENT. It may possibly be that by some accident, although the bill has passed both houses of Congress, it may have been neglected, and failed to receive the approval of the President. These reports which we have received all speak of the action of Congress alone. We have never received anything, even from the correspondents of the newspapers, mentioning the Act as having been approved and signed, or as having become a law.

Mr. McCLENTON. I will move, in order to cut off further discussion, that the section be amended so as to submit the Constitution on the day prescribed in the Enabling Act. Then, if it is necessary, we can telegraph immediately to the President, or some other proper authority, and find out the correct date.

Mr. WARWICK. That will do no good, if we cannot get an answer till after the Convention has adjourned.

Mr. McCLENTON. It will make no difference, with that amendment, what the day may be. If the time fixed by Congress is the 2d of October the election will be held on that day, or if it be the first Wednesday in September it will be held on that day. It will be understood that the Constitution is to be voted on upon the day provided for submitting it, by the Enabling Act, whatever day that may be.

Mr. BANKS. I like the suggestion of the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Collins,) to leave the date blank until the latest possible moment. I think that is the proper course. Then let the Governor telegraph on and get official information, and if it is possible to obtain an answer to the inquiry in season, we can incorporate the correct date in the blank. If we find it impossible to state the time definitely, even at the last moment, then we may say the election shall be held at such time as is prescribed by Act of Congress. There will certainly be ample time, before the Governor issues his proclamation for the election, to obtain accurate information, and in his proclamation he will of course designate the proper day. In what condition is the ordinance before the Convention?

The PRESIDENT. It is on the third reading.

Mr. BANKS. I move, then, to refer it to a special committee with instructions to strike out of Section 1 these words, "first Wednesday of September, A. D. 1864," leaving the date blank.

Mr. McCLENTON. I will withdraw my motion, then, and I hope we shall telegraph immediately. We may get an answer even before the Convention adjourns to-night.

Mr. CHAPIN. I dislike the indefinite shape in which it seems we are going to leave this matter. If Congress has really made no amendment of the law then all our labors pass for nothing, because if this Constitution is only to be submitted to the people in October, we cannot carry out its provisions, and it all falls to naught. I would like to inquire whether, in case we fix the date of the election as we have it now, it is believed that there would be any danger that it would interfere with our admission into the Union as a State, even though it should turn out that another day has been fixed by Congress?

The PRESIDENT. There is no doubt in my mind, that a vote of the people, taken at any other time than that which is fixed by the Act of Congress, would be a nullity. The original Enabling Act, which is the only legislation of which we have official information, provided that the election should be held on the second Tuesday in October, which will be the 11th of the month, and it was with a view to bring that election on the same day as the Territorial election, thereby avoiding the trouble and expense of two elections, that I took part in forwarding the petition which was sent from here to the Senate and House of Representatives, signed by many of the prominent citizens of the Territory, asking that such change might be made. The idea was that the change would afford us sufficient time for the election of State officers, and also enable the people of the State to participate in the Presidential election.

Tuesday,]

CHAPIN—COLLINS—PRESIDENT—BROSNAN.

[July 26.

Mr. CHAPIN. I am very much surprised that the Governor has not officially ascertained the fact as to the action of Congress.

Mr. COLLINS. I will state that I have had a conversation with Governor Nye on this very subject, and he is of opinion that Congress has made the amendment, although he has no such official information, changing the day of the election to the first Wednesday of September. He is also of the opinion that, even if no such act has been passed, the Government will accept the change on our part, and it will be no obstacle to our admission into the Union.

The PRESIDENT. Without intending any disrespect to Governor Nye, or questioning his legal understanding, I must say, nevertheless, I am surprised that he should have advanced such a legal opinion.

Mr. COLLINS. I regard it more as a common sense opinion than as a legal opinion.

The PRESIDENT. I do not think it is even common sense. Congress prescribes one particular day for the election, and if we provide that the vote shall be taken on a different day the President could have no authority to declare by proclamation that we are admitted into the Union.

Mr. COLLINS. The President might not look upon that as a material matter. I have observed, in my experience, that when men want very much to do a thing they always find a way to do it, and if they want to defeat a thing they are generally able to find a way to defeat it. Now I think the President might reason on the subject somewhat in this way: "Nevada is a great distance from the capital of the Nation; there has been some misunderstanding, it is true, about the date of the election, but she has completely fulfilled the spirit of the Enabling Act. Although there is a discrepancy in regard to the day of the vote, yet she has fully come up to the spirit of all the requirements of the law. Congress wants her to become a State, I want her, and in the language of one of my predecessors, I will assume the responsibility." I should not marvel at all if the President should reason thus, even though there might be a violation of the strict letter of the legal requirements of the Act of Congress.

The PRESIDENT. But it would not depend upon the act of the President of the United States. The legality of the act of admission depends rather upon a fulfillment of the conditions precedent, and one of those conditions is that the vote of the people upon the Constitution shall be had on a given day. Though the President might assume the responsibility of passing by the irregularity, still the question would arise whether the President's proclamation would be legal, under such circumstances. The act of admission depending upon the conditions precedent, and they not having been complied with, would the President's proclamation amount to anything?

Mr. COLLINS. What would be the difference, practically, on this side of the continent, or the other either?

The PRESIDENT. It might make a difference both on this side and the other.

Mr. COLLINS. If Congress, when it meets on the first of December next, should remedy the matter by legalizing the act of admission, I do not see that it would make any difference, and I have no doubt that Congress would give us that remedy. In that case what would be the effect on this side, of our making a mistake in the date?

The PRESIDENT. My judgment is that it might occasion a conflict between the authorities of the Territorial and State Governments. There is no question but that Congress could legalize the act, and then our admission would be accomplished, but in the meantime we might witness a repetition of the scenes of the Dorr war, in Rhode Island.

Mr. COLLINS. This conflict of opinion about the propriety of voting upon the Constitution upon a day which may perchance be different from that designated by Congress, may embarrass us more than anything else, and I fear it will. I hope, therefore, that the Governor will be requested by the Convention to telegraph immediately to the President of the United States, or some other officer, in order that we may have the necessary information, if possible, before the Convention adjourns.

The PRESIDENT. We might leave it blank until we can procure the needed information, and if we do not receive it in time, we can then simply provide that the Constitution shall be submitted on the day designated in the Act of Congress. It will not be necessary in that case to specify the day, although if we knew the exact date it would certainly be better to name it in the ordinance.

Mr. COLLINS. What objection is there to telegraphing, so as to obtain the information as soon as possible?

The PRESIDENT. None whatever.

Mr. BROSNAN. We shall get along better and faster, I think, by doing one thing at a time. I am in favor of the proposition of the gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Banks), to strike out the date and leave it blank for the present. Let us do that, and then we can authorize the Committee on Re-enrollment, which has already been provided for, to fill the blank in the original copy with the correct date.

The PRESIDENT. The committee might do that, certainly, with quite as much propriety as the clerks of the Legislature of the year 1863 could be authorized to supply the blanks in the Act which was passed calling the first Constitutional Convention.

Tuesday.] FRIZELL—PROCTOR—PRESIDENT—HAWLEY—BANKS—KINKEAD—COLLINS. [July 26.

Mr. FRIZELL. I have thought until the present time, that this Convention was composed of statesmen and philosophers, but I begin to alter my opinion. It is very singular, certainly, that this most important point is not known to the Convention after it has been in session over three weeks. I am rather astonished that the President has not ascertained the fact before this time.

Mr. PROCTOR. I will move that the President of the Convention be instructed to telegraph to the President of the United States to obtain this information.

The PRESIDENT. The Governor of the Territory would be more appropriate.

Mr. PROCTOR. No; I think the President of the Convention is more appropriate. It seems to me that it would come with more force from him, for then the President or Secretary of State would see at once the object of the inquiry, and the importance of returning an immediate answer. If it came from the Governor they might possibly not appreciate the importance of it.

The PRESIDENT. I hope the motion will be modified so as to request the Governor to send the despatch. I am sure he will do it cheerfully.

Mr. HAWLEY. I will move to amend the motion so as to request the Governor to telegraph.

Mr. BANKS. Let us do one thing at a time. The question is, as I understand, on my motion to recommit with instructions to strike out the date.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the gentleman from Storey. (Mr. Collins.) will be requested to act as a committee—

Mr. HAWLEY. I have moved to substitute the Governor of Nevada Territory.

Mr. PROCTOR. I will move that a committee of three be appointed by the Chair to wait upon the Governor immediately, and request him to telegraph to the President of the United States.

Mr. KINKEAD. A committee of one will be better. If you have a committee of three it will leave us without a quorum, and one will do just as well.

Mr. PROCTOR. I have no objection.

The PRESIDENT. Gentlemen will suspend a moment, until the Secretary prepares a resolution.

QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

Mr. HAWLEY. I rise to a question of privilege. I know it is rather informal, but I may as well do it now, whilst we are waiting. I stated the other day that a petition had been in circulation in California asking for the levy of a tax of five mills on the dollar—that I think was the amount I named—for educational purposes. I was misled as to the amount by the memory of my informant, although I was myself aware of the fact that some proposition of the kind had been made. The fact is, that the petition referred to asked for a tax of only half a mill on the dollar. If the report of our proceedings should ever be printed, I would not like to have such a misstatement contained in my record, and hence I make the correction.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is now prepared; the Secretary will read it.

The SECRETARY read, as follows:

Resolved, That Mr. Proctor be, and he is hereby appointed a committee of one to wait on his Excellency the Governor, and respectfully ask him to telegraph to the authorities at Washington for information as to the precise day prescribed by the Act of Congress for submitting the Constitution to the people for their ratification.

The resolution was adopted by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Nye (Mr. Proctor) will please attend to that duty.

ELECTION ORDINANCE—AGAIN.

Mr. COLLINS. Now let us proceed with the reading.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Humboldt (Mr. Banks) will be adopted, without the formality of recommitment.

No objection being made, the amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary will now read the Ordinance, commencing with Section 1.

The SECRETARY read Sections 1 to 6, inclusive, as follows:

SECTION 1. On the ———, A. D. 1864, this Constitution shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said Territory, in the several counties thereof, for their approval or rejection; and further, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, A. D. 1864, there shall be a general election in the several counties of said Territory, for the election of State officers, Supreme and District Judges, members of the Legislature, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential electors.

SEC. 2. All persons qualified by the laws of said Territory to vote for Representatives to the General Assembly on the said 21st day of March, including those in the army of the United States, both within and beyond the boundaries of said Territory, and also all persons who may by the aforesaid laws be qualified to vote on the ———, A. D. 1864, including those in the aforesaid army of the United States, within and without the boundaries of said Territory, may vote for the adoption or rejection of said Constitution on the day last above named. In voting upon this Constitution, each elector shall deposit in the ballot-box a ticket, whereon shall be clearly written or printed "Constitution, Yes," or "Constitution, No," or such other words that shall clearly indicate the intention of the elector.

SEC. 3. All persons qualified by the laws of said Territory, to vote on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, A. D. 1864, including those in the army of the United States, within and beyond the boundaries of said Territory, may vote on the day last above named for State officers, Supreme and District Judges, Members of the Legislature, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential electors to the Electoral College.

Tuesday.]

PRESIDENT—COLLINS—CHAPIN—BANKS—MCCLINTON—BROSAN.

[July 26.]

SEC. 4. The elections provided in this ordinance shall be holden at such places as shall be designated by the Boards of Commissioners of the several counties in said Territory. The Judges and Inspectors of said elections shall be appointed by said Commissioners, and the said elections shall be conducted in conformity with the existing laws of said Territory in relation to holding the general elections.

SEC. 5. The Judges and Inspectors of said elections shall carefully count each ballot, immediately after said elections, and forthwith make duplicate returns thereof to the Clerks of the said County Commissioners of their respective counties; and said Clerks, within fifteen days after said elections, shall transmit an abstract of the votes, including the soldiers' vote, as hereinafter provided, given for State officers, Supreme and District Judges, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential electors, inclosed in an envelope, by the most safe and expeditious conveyance, to the Governor of said Territory, marked "Election Returns."

SEC. 6. Upon the receipt of said returns, including those of the soldiers' vote, or within twenty days after the election, if said returns be not sooner received, it shall be the duty of the Board of Canvassers—to consist of the Governor, United States District Attorney, and Chief Justice of said Territory, or any two of them—to canvass the returns, both Civil and Military, in the presence of all who may wish to be present, and if a majority of all the votes given upon this Constitution shall be in its favor, the said Governor shall immediately publish an abstract of the same and make proclamation of the fact, in some newspaper in said Territory, and certify the same to the President of the United States, together with a copy of the Constitution and ordinances. The said Board of Canvassers, after canvassing the votes of the said November elections, shall issue certificates of election to such persons as were elected State officers, Judges of the Supreme and District Courts, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential electors. Thirty days after the President of the United States shall issue his proclamation declaring this State admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States, this Constitution shall thenceforth be ordained and established as the Constitution of the State of Nevada.

The PRESIDENT. What is that thirty days for?

Mr. COLLINS. It will take about thirty days to bring the official information?

The PRESIDENT. But the Enabling Act expressly provides, that upon the issuing of the President's proclamation the State shall be admitted into the Union. It then becomes an accomplished fact, and nothing further is required, on the part of Congress, or on the part of the State.

Mr. CHAPIN. And we have provided for telegraphing the information of the issuing of the proclamation.

Mr. BANKS. I wish to inquire how that arrangement has been made?

Mr. CHAPIN. By a resolution which has been passed by the Convention.

Mr. COLLINS. So far as telegraphing the information is concerned, we might provide that the Constitution shall take effect when the information reaches us. But the Enabling Act does not say when we shall become a State, nor when our Constitution shall take effect. The language of the Act is:

"Whereupon it shall be the duty of the President of the United States to issue his proclamation, declaring the State admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States, without any further action whatever on the part of Congress."

Mr. MCCLINTON. And we have already passed a resolution requesting the President to inform us by telegraph of the issuing of his proclamation.

The PRESIDENT. I think it is very plain, from the language of the Act, that we become a State in the Union at once.

Mr. BROSAN. Yes, sir; we become a State, instantler.

Mr. COLLINS. I have made an alteration which I think will meet the approval of the Convention, striking out the words "thirty days after," and inserting instead the word "when," so that the latter clause will read as follows:

"When the President of the United States shall issue his proclamation declaring this State admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States, this Constitution shall thenceforth be ordained and established as the Constitution of the State of Nevada."

The amendment suggested was agreed to by unanimous consent.

The SECRETARY read Sections 7 to 10, inclusive, as follows:

SEC. 7. For the purpose of taking the vote of the electors of said Territory who may be in the army of the United States, the Adjutant-General of said Territory shall, on or before the 5th day of August next following, make out a list in alphabetical order, and deliver the same to the Governor, of the names of all the electors, residents of said Territory, who shall be in the army of the United States, stating the number of the regiment, battalion, squadron of cavalry, battery of artillery, and the letter of the company to which he belongs, and also the county or township of his residence in said Territory.

SEC. 8. The Governor shall classify and arrange the aforesaid returned list, and shall make therefrom separate lists of the electors belonging to each regiment, battalion, squadron, and battery from said Territory in the service of the United States, and shall, on or before the fifteenth day of August following, transmit, by mail or otherwise, to the commanding officer of each regiment, battalion, squadron, and battery, a list of electors belonging thereto, which said list shall specify the name, residence, and rank of each elector and the company to which he belongs, if to any, and also the county and township to which he belongs, and in which he is entitled to vote.

SEC. 9. Between the hours of nine o'clock, A. M., and three o'clock, P. M., on each of the election days hereinafter named, a ballot-box or suitable receptacle for votes shall be opened under the immediate charge and direction of three of the highest officers in command, for the reception of votes from the electors whose names are upon said list, at each place where a regiment, battalion, squadron, or battery of soldiers from said Territory in the army of the United States may be on that day: at which time and place said electors shall be entitled to vote for all officers for which by reason of their residence in the several counties in said Territory they are authorized to vote, as fully as they would be entitled to vote in the several counties or townships in which they reside, and the votes so given by such electors, at such time and place, shall be considered, taken, and held to have been given by them in the respective counties and townships in which they are resident.

SEC. 10. Each ballot deposited for the adoption or rejection of this Constitution, in the army of the United States, shall have distinctly written or printed thereon, "Constitution, Yes," or "Constitution, No;" and further, for the election of State officers, Supreme, and District Judges, members of the Legislature, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential Electors, the name and office of the person voted for shall be plainly written or printed on one piece of paper. The name of each elector voting as aforesaid shall be checked upon the said list at the time of voting by one of the said officers having charge of the ballot-box. The said officers having charge of the election shall count the votes and compare them with the checked list immediately after the closing of the ballot-box.

Tuesday,] KENNEDY—COLLINS—TAGLIABUE—McCLINTON—PROCTOR—CROSMAN—FRIZELL. [July 26.

Mr. KENNEDY. I want inserted there, after "Constitution—no," the words "or words of a similar import."

Mr. COLLINS. Suppose we say, "shall have substantially written or printed thereon," instead of "distinctly."

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I do not think it is sufficient.

Mr. McCLINTON. I claim the floor for about three-quarters of a minute. I think that amendment has heretofore been adopted.

Mr. KENNEDY. I simply wish to say that the word "substantially" does not cover my idea. My motion is, to insert after "Constitution—no," the words, "or words of a similar import."

Mr. COLLINS. I have no objection.

The amendment proposed by Mr. Kennedy was adopted by unanimous consent.

Mr. PROCTOR. I desire to report to the Convention, Mr. President, that I have called at the Governor's house, and cannot find his Excellency. I understand that he has gone to the warm springs. Neither was his private Secretary in. I suppose the Governor will be back very soon.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, further time will be granted to the committee appointed to wait on the Governor relative to the telegraphic dispatch. The Secretary will proceed with the reading of the Ordinance.

The SECRETARY read Sections 11 and 12, as follows:

SEC. 11. All the ballots cast, together with the said voting list checked as aforesaid, shall be immediately sealed up and sent forthwith to the Governor of said Territory, at Carson City, by mail or otherwise, by the commanding officer, who shall also make out and certify duplicate returns of votes given according to the forms hereinafter prescribed, seal up and immediately transmit the same to the said Governor, at Carson City, by mail or otherwise, the day following the transmission of the ballots, and the voting list herein named. The said commanding officer shall also immediately transmit to the several County Clerks in said Territory, an abstract of the votes given at the general election in November, for county officers, marked "Election Returns."

SEC. 12. The form of returns of votes to be made by the commanding officer to the Governor and County Clerks of said Territory, shall be in substance as follows, viz:

Returns of soldiers' votes in the (here insert the regiment, detachment, battalion, squadron, or battery.)
(For first election—On the Constitution.)

I ———, hereby certify, that on the ——— A. D. 1864, the electors belonging to the (here insert the name of the regiment, detachment, battalion, squadron, or battery) cast the following number of votes for and against the Constitution for the State of Nevada, viz:

"Constitution—Yes."—(Number of votes written in full and in figures.)

Against "Constitution—No."—(Number of votes written in full and in figures.)

(Second election—For State and other officers.)

I ———, hereby certify, that on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1864, the electors belonging to the (here insert as above) cast the following number of votes for the several offices and persons hereinafter named, viz:

For Governor.—(Names of persons voted for, number of votes for each person voted for written in full, and also in figures, against the name of each person.)

For Lieutenant-Governor.—(Names of candidates, number of votes cast for each, written out and in figures, as above.)

Continue as above till the list is completed.

Attest, I, A. B.,
Commanding officer of the (here insert regiment, detachment, battalion, squadron, or battery, as the case may be.)

Mr. COLLINS. That word "for" should be allowed to remain, as in the printed copy, so as to read "for Constitution—Yes," and "against Constitution—No." Just leave the word "for" there as it is now.

By unanimous consent the word "for" was inserted, in accordance with Mr. Collins' suggestion.

The SECRETARY read Sections 13 and 14, as follows:

SEC. 13. The Governor of this Territory is requested to furnish each commanding officer within and beyond the boundaries of said Territory, proper and sufficient blanks for said returns.

SEC. 14. The provisions of this ordinance in regard to the soldiers' votes, shall apply to future elections under this Constitution, and be in full force until the Legislature shall provide by law for taking the votes of citizens of said Territory in the army of the United States.

Mr. KENNEDY. As I understood the Secretary to read, the Governor is requested to furnish blanks to commanding officers outside of the Territory. He should also furnish them inside the Territory.

Mr. COLLINS. That is the way it reads—"within and beyond the boundaries of said Territory."

Mr. CROSMAN. In Section 12, I do not see the necessity of employing those two negatives, and I will move to amend by striking out the words "for" and "against."

Mr. COLLINS. I believe that is the usual way of making the returns—"for" and "against."

The PRESIDENT. Would not the same result be obtained by striking out the words "yes" and "no." It will then simply read, "for Constitution," and "against Constitution."

Mr. CROSMAN. Very well; I will move to make those amendments.

Mr. FRIZELL. If the returns are made out "against the Constitution—no." that would really be the vote for the Constitution. The inquiry would be: "Do you vote against the Constitution?" "No!" [Merriment.]

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary will read the sentence as proposed to be amended.

The Secretary read, as follows:

I ———, hereby certify, that on the ——— A. D. 1864, the electors belonging to the (here insert the name of the regiment, detachment, battalion, squadron, or battery,) cast the following number of votes for and against the Constitution for the State of Nevada, viz:

For Constitution—(number of votes written in full and in figures.)

Against Constitution—(number of votes written in full and in figures.)

Tuesday.]

COLLINS—BANKS—PRESIDENT—BROSNAN.

[July 26.

Mr. COLLINS. I will accept those amendments.

The amendments suggested by Mr. Crosman were agreed to by unanimous consent.

DAY OF ELECTION—AGAIN.

Mr. BANKS. I was under the impression that we might possibly get the information relative to the day fixed by Congress for submitting the Constitution to the people before the time of our final adjournment, but if it is certain, as I now understand it to be, that we cannot, I think perhaps we had better provide for the appointment of a committee with authority to fill the blanks whenever the information shall come to hand.

The PRESIDENT. Would it not be well to fill the blanks with words reading thus: "at the time provided by the Act of Congress?"

Mr. BANKS. As it is near five o'clock, I move to postpone the time for recess for ten minutes.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the recess will be postponed for ten minutes.

Mr. COLLINS. I hope those blanks will be allowed to remain until the last thing we do. If we are going through the whole instrument to-morrow, as has been suggested, the Election Ordinance will be the last thing, and possibly we may not be able to get through to-morrow.

The PRESIDENT. The article has already passed to engrossment. Even if the Governor should now telegraph to Washington, no answer could possibly be received to-night, as the hour is so late now that no dispatch can be delivered, and if it were delivered no reply could be had to-night. I will therefore suggest, that instead of supplying a date, we insert, wherever reference is made to the time for submitting the Constitution to the people, words to this effect: "On the day provided by Act of Congress."

Mr. BANKS. The President will remember that if a dispatch starts from here at this time it will arrive in Washington two or three hours earlier.

The PRESIDENT. But the gentleman from Nye (Mr. Proctor) has not yet been able to confer with the Governor.

The SECRETARY. By leave of the Convention, I will state that here is a dispatch, in the Gold Hill News of this evening, dated Salt Lake, which says the overland wires are down east of Fort Laramie.

Mr. COLLINS. Could we not empower the Committee on Re-enrollment to fill the blank.

The PRESIDENT. It appears to me that such authorization would be rather unusual.

Mr. COLLINS. We are in an unusual situation.

The PRESIDENT. I think we can avoid the difficulty by inserting "on the day provided by Act of Congress." I would like to hear the opinion of the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee (Mr. Brosnan) upon the subject.

Mr. COLLINS. But then it does not appear in the Constitution what is the day of its birth.

The PRESIDENT. There are several things to be done hereafter, before its complete adoption.

Mr. COLLINS. Well, any way to get out of the difficulty.

Mr. BROSNAN. I think we must make some provision within the Constitution for notifying the County Commissioners, in order that they may call the election, because otherwise they have nothing official to guide them. Therefore, when we send out the Constitution, we should at the same time provide for holding an election, upon some specified day, for its adoption or rejection.

The PRESIDENT. Is there not a provision that the Executive shall issue his proclamation, calling the election?

Mr. COLLINS. I do not think there is.

Mr. BANKS. It is presumed, of course, that the election will be held under the Governor's proclamation.

The PRESIDENT. Proclamation may be made of the fact, whether we require it or not, and the day provided by the Act of Congress may be designated in the proclamation.

Mr. COLLINS. The language of the Enabling Act is declaratory and positive. It says the Convention shall provide by ordinance for submitting said Constitution to the people on the day named, which will be the first Wednesday in September if the amendatory act has been passed, as is supposed. And Section 1 of the Ordinance must declare that "on the first Wednesday in September this Constitution shall be submitted," etc.

The PRESIDENT. Then no provision is anywhere made for a proclamation—neither in the Enabling Act nor by the Ordinance.

Mr. COLLINS. No, sir. Who would be the proper officer to issue the proclamation, the Governor of the Territory, or the President of the Convention?

The PRESIDENT. I think it should be the Governor of the Territory.

Mr. COLLINS. I will prepare an amendment in a moment.

Mr. BANKS. I move that the time for the recess be further extended, till half-past five o'clock.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to:

Mr. COLLINS. Now I move to amend Section 1, so as to read as follows:

"SECTION 1. The Governor of the Territory of Nevada is hereby authorized to issue his proclamation for the submission of this Constitution to the people of said Territory, for their approval or rejection, on the day provided for such submission by the Act of Congress, approved March 21st, 1864, and this Constitution shall be submitted," etc.

The rest of the section being as printed.

The PRESIDENT. No, no! You do not want to give the date of the Act of Congress; there has been an amendment made to that Act.

Tuesday.]

COLLINS—KENNEDY—PROCTOR—HAWLEY—BROSNAN—TAGLIABUE.

[July 26.

"At the time provided by Act of Congress" is sufficient.

Mr. COLLINS. Very well, I will leave that out.

The PRESIDENT. Now the Secretary will please read the entire section, as proposed to be amended.

The SECRETARY read as follows :

SECTION 1. The Governor of the Territory of Nevada is hereby authorized to issue his proclamation for the submission of this Constitution to the people of said Territory for their approval or rejection, on the day provided for such submission by Act of Congress, and this Constitution shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said Territory, in the several counties thereof, for their approval or rejection ; and, further, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, A. D. 1864, there shall be a general election in the several counties of said Territory for the election of State officers, Supreme and District Judges, members of the Legislature, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential electors.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

No further amendment being offered—

The question was taken by yeas and nays on the final passage of the ordinance, as read and amended, and the vote was—yeas, 20 ; nays, none—as follows :

Yeas—Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crawford, Crosman, Frizell, Folsom, Hawley, Kennedy, Kinkead, Lockwood, Mason, McClinton, Murdock, Tagliabue, Warwick, Wetherill, and Mr. President—20.
Nays—None.

So the Ordinance was passed.

Mr. KENNEDY. I suppose it will go at once to the Enrolling Committee.

The PRESIDENT. It will be referred to the Committee on Phraseology.

On motion of Mr. BANKS, at fifteen minutes after five o'clock, the Convention took a recess until seven o'clock, P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

The Convention reassembled at seven o'clock, P. M., and was called to order by the President.

The roll was called, and the following members responded to their names : Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crosman, Folsom, Gibson, Hawley, Kennedy, Kinkead, Mason, McClinton, Proctor, Tagliabue, Wetherill, and Mr. President. Present, 17 ; absent, 22.

CALL OF THE HOUSE.

On motion of Mr. KENNEDY, no quorum being in attendance, a call of the house was ordered.

The roll call, just taken as above, was by unanimous consent adopted as the roll to be used under the call of the house.

The Sergeant-at-Arms was directed to arrest and bring in the absentees.

Messrs. Frizell, Crawford, Murdock, and Nourse appeared, severally stated their excuses, and were allowed to take their seats.

On motion of Mr. PROCTOR, a quorum being present, further proceedings under the call were dispensed with.

DAY OF ELECTION ON THE CONSTITUTION.

Mr. PROCTOR. I desire to report to the Convention that, as a committee of one, in accordance with the resolution adopted this afternoon, I waited upon the Governor, and requested him to telegraph to the authorities at Washington for information relative to the day prescribed by Congress for submitting the Constitution to the people ; that the Governor has telegraphed to Washington asking for the information we seek, and also to the San Francisco Bulletin, the paper which officially publishes the Acts of Congress, in San Francisco, and that he expects an answer from the Bulletin tonight, and from Washington perhaps to-morrow. As soon as he receives an answer he will communicate it to the Convention.

The report was accepted, and the committee discharged.

THE SCHEDULE.

Mr. HAWLEY. I wish to state to the Convention that so far as my information extends—and I made inquiry a few moments ago—the article entitled Schedule has not yet been delivered to the Enrolling Clerk, nor to any of his assistants. That should be attended to if it is expected to be enrolled to-night.

The PRESIDENT. I understand that both the Ordinance and Schedule have been passed, and submitted to the Committee on Phraseology.

COUNTY OF ROOP.

Mr. BROSNAN. Mr. President, there is an omission in the Schedule, or rather I should say it needs a further addition, and with the general consent of the Convention, I will submit the following as a separate section to be added to the Schedule :

SEC. —. The County of Roop shall be attached to the County of Washoe for judicial, legislative, and revenue purposes, until otherwise provided by law.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. Should it not also be attached to Washoe for county purposes ? It seems to me there should be some county jurisdiction extended over that county.

Mr. BROSNAN. I will accept the amendment suggested.

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary will insert "county" before the word "purposes," and if there be no objection the rules will be deemed to have been suspended for the consideration of the section, so that it may be read a third time now.

The SECRETARY. With the consent of the Convention, I will put it in the form of a resolution, which will simplify the minutes.

The gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) offers the following resolution :

Resolved, That the following new section, to be numbered 22, be added to the article entitled Schedule :

Tuesday.]

HAWLEY—PRESIDENT—BROSNAN—NOURSE—BANKS—COLLINS.

[July 26.]

SEC. 22. The county of Roop shall be attached to the county of Washoe, for judicial, legislative, revenue and county purposes, until otherwise provided by law.

Mr. HAWLEY. I suggest that the vote should be taken on the passage of the section, by yeas and nays, to obviate any objection which might be raised hereafter.

The PRESIDENT. If it is contained in the enrolled copy of the Constitution, signed by the members, that will be sufficient. Is it the desire of the Convention that the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays?

SEVERAL MEMBERS. No, no!

The resolution was adopted by unanimous consent.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS—CRIMINAL JURISDICTION.

Mr. BROSNAN. There is a matter of some moment in Article I, the Declaration of Rights, which attracted my attention, and of which I had made a note on my copy of the old Constitution, but I somehow overlooked it while we were proceeding through that article, in the regular course. I wish gentlemen who have copies would look at Section 8 of Article I. The defect I wish to remedy is this: We have specified in the Constitution that Justices of the Peace and Recorders of cities shall have such criminal jurisdiction as the Legislature may confer. That will be, of course, jurisdiction over offenses of a small grade, as misdemeanors, breaches of the peace, breaches of city ordinances, threats against the person, and perhaps other classes of cases which might be enumerated, of similar magnitude. But in this section it is declared that no person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, without the intervention of a Grand Jury, by presentment or indictment. That would seem to include almost every conceivable criminal case, and in order that there may be no conflict between that section and that in which the Legislature is authorized to give certain criminal jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace, I consider it necessary to strike out the words "in cases of petit larceny," in the sixth line, so as not to confine it to such cases alone, and insert instead the words, "and also of all cases cognizable by Justices of the Peace and City Recorders." I will move to amend the section by striking out the words "of petit larceny," and supplying their places with the words "cognizable by Justices of the Peace and City Recorders."

Mr. NOURSE. I second the amendment.

Mr. BANKS. That amendment, I understand, has reference to Municipal Courts to be established by the Legislature.

Mr. BROSNAN. I will read the first part of the section, as it will then stand:

"SEC. 8. No person shall be held to answer for capital or otherwise infamous crime, (except in cases of impeachment, and in cases of the militia when in actual service, and the land and naval forces in time of war, or which this State may keep, with the consent of Congress, in time of peace, and in cases cognizable by Justices of the Peace and City Recorders, under the regulation of the Legislature,) except on presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury," etc.

Mr. HAWLEY. I would inquire if the gentleman from Storey has considered the effect this amendment will have upon the enrollment. I merely suggest that if these amendments are made, it will be necessary to enroll the article again.

The PRESIDENT. It is contemplated to have a re-enrollment of the entire instrument. That was found to be necessary in the last Convention. If this amendment be made as proposed, it can be incorporated then.

Mr. NOURSE. I seconded the amendment, because at the first glance I thought it necessary, but upon looking the section over I am not sure about it. I would like to call the attention of the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) to the language of the section. It says "capital or otherwise infamous crime." That does not extend to cases of assault and battery, or breaches of city ordinances. Now, if you make an exception in regard to cases cognizable by Justices of the Peace, and leave the power with the Legislature to prescribe the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace, do you not thereby leave it in the power of the Legislature to run up the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace, so as to include any crime they may choose? Petit larceny is not, technically speaking, an "infamous" crime.

Mr. BROSNAN. If the gentleman will give way for a moment, by leave of the Convention, I will withdraw the amendment I have proposed, and instead of that I will move to amend the section by striking out in the first line the words "held to answer," and substituting the word "tried," so as to read "no person shall be tried for capital or otherwise infamous crime," etc.

Mr. COLLINS. I would inquire if this amendment is strictly in order.

The PRESIDENT. It is competent for the Convention to take such action, under a suspension of the rules, which I understand has already been acquiesced in, there having been no objection. Any discrepancies or errors which may be observed, from time to time, can be corrected in that manner; but no amendment can be entertained, at this stage of proceedings, except by unanimous consent. That will be the interpretation of the rules by the Chair; and hence, if a single objection be interposed, the consideration of the amendment will be deemed not in order. The Chair will hold that a single objection will defeat any proposed amendment to an article which has already passed to enrollment. The question is upon the amendment last proposed by the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Brosnan.)

The SECRETARY. I have placed the amendment in the form of a resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That Section 8 of Article I, entitled Declaration of Rights, be and the same is hereby amended, by striking out the words "held to answer," and in-serting in lieu thereof the word "tried;" also by inserting after the word "for," the word "a," so as to read as follows :

Tuesday,] PRESIDENT—BROSNAN—McCLINTON—CHAPIN—WARWICK—GIBSON, ETC. [July 26.

"SEC. 8. No person shall be tried for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, (except in cases of impeachment, and in cases of the militia when in actual service, and the land and naval forces in time of war, or which this State may keep, with the consent of Congress, in time of peace, and in cases of petit larceny, under the regulation of the Legislature,) except on presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury," etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT. I wish to call the attention of the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) to another matter, namely, the provision of the Constitution which prohibits all judicial officers, except Justices of the Peace, from receiving to their own use, fees of office. I recollect making a suggestion to some member, that such a provision would exclude City Recorders.

Mr. BROSNAN. An amendment has been adopted excepting City Recorders, also.

PUBLICATION OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Mr. McCLINTON. I have not yet heard a word said in relation to having any official printing done for this Convention. It appears to me that it is very important to provide for the official publication of the Constitution, and I would like to inquire whether or not it is intended to have it officially published.

The PRESIDENT. That has been a subject of conversation among members, but I have not yet learned what action is proposed. I certainly conceive it to be very important that some measure should be adopted to provide for the printing of the Constitution immediately after its completion, so that the people may be advised of its provisions as early as possible.

Mr. CHAPIN. I have been waiting some time to see if anybody would submit a proposition on that subject, and I find that some members appear to think that no action is necessary, as the newspapers will publish the Constitution merely as a matter of news. I think myself it should be published officially, and as no one else has seen fit to offer a resolution, I will read one which I have prepared :

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to procure the printing of ten thousand copies of the Constitution on sheets, to be distributed to — different journals for publication as supplements, excepting one hundred or one hundred and fifty copies for each county, which shall be sent to the County Clerks for distribution by them; the cost of publication to be definitely agreed upon by said committee, and the bill audited by them for the printing.

Mr. WARWICK. As there are only nine counties, it will take but a few hundred copies to supply them, in the proportion proposed by the resolution. If ten thousand are to be printed, I think we might as well send three or four hundred, at least, to each County Clerk.

Mr. GIBSON. The idea is to distribute all except from fifty to a hundred copies for each county, through the newspapers, and to send those to the clerks. Last year we had five thousand printed, and they were all distributed but a few, in cases where the delegates would not take them home. The Representatives from Lander and Humboldt, I believe, did not take their proportion, and that is the way we happened to have them for use in this Convention.

Mr. HAWLEY. Does the resolution contemplate that the proprietors of the newspapers shall distribute one copy of the Constitution to each subscriber, with his newspaper?

Mr. CHAPIN. That is the idea. I tried to study economy as much as possible in drawing the resolution, because I really fear that there may be a difficulty in finding a publishing office which will be willing to take the job, and wait for the pay. My intention was to procure the printing of all the copies at one office, and then distribute them to the various newspapers, to the Washoe Star, the Carson Independent, the Esmeralda Daily Union, and so on, requesting the editors of those newspapers to distribute them to their subscribers, which I presume they would cheerfully do. But in order that every man may know where to get a copy, I proposed to send a few to each County Clerk, so that one who does not take a newspaper, if he wants a copy of the Constitution, can send to the County Clerk's office and get it.

Mr. FRIZELL. When you have the Constitution once in type, the additional cost of a few thousand copies more than the first order, is very little—almost nothing. I think, therefore, we had better have a liberal number printed.

Mr. CHAPIN. I think ten thousand is plenty. In fact, I hesitated about putting the number as high as that.

Mr. McCLINTON. I am not certain about the propriety of sending any at all to the County Clerks. The County Clerk's office is a place where the citizens generally are not very liable to resort. Suppose we send two hundred and fifty copies to the County Clerk of Esmeralda County, or Storey County; they will never be distributed, because people generally very seldom go into the County Clerk's office, unless on special business. They do not go there perhaps more than once a year, while they go to other places a hundred or possibly two hundred times. The post office, or the express office, would be a much better place to send the documents to. But I think we had better leave the distribution entirely to the newspapers.

Mr. CHAPIN. Well, I will agree to that, and will strike out all in relation to the clerks.

Mr. NOURSE. Perhaps it would be as well to let the committee manage it.

The PRESIDENT. I think the committee should arrange the matter of distribution. We can give authority to procure the printing and to distribute the copies, and then leave the committee to determine the mode of distribution.

Mr. CHAPIN. I have no objection.

Tuesday,]

BANKS—KENNEDY—CHAPIN—McCLINTON—CROSMAN—TAGLIABUE.

[July 26.

Mr. BANKS. I will move to amend the resolution, so as to leave the whole matter in the hands of the committee. And here I will suggest what has not perhaps occurred to some of the members; that is, that the County Clerks, of all men in the State, would naturally be the worst to entrust with this matter, for it will be remembered that the Constitution we have framed has taken away the fees for much of the business which they have heretofore been paid for in that manner. A good many of them will be candidates for re-election, or likely to hold on to the office, and I think we had better leave as little to them as possible. I am inclined to think, that if we send them copies of the Constitution, they will devote a large share of them to purposes other than that for which they are intended.

Mr. KENNEDY. I think it would be a good idea to send the copies to the delegates for distribution, instead of sending them to the County Clerks. But it seems to me we had better leave it to the committee altogether. I do not believe many newspapers will be likely to publish the Constitution in full, unless they expect to be paid for it.

Mr. CHAPIN. The publishers will merely have to send out the copies, which they receive ready printed.

Mr. McCLINTON. The printer can strike off one thousand, two thousand, or whatever number is required, with the heading "Virginia City Daily Union—Supplement;" then another batch, headed "Esmeralda Daily Union—Supplement;" and so on, for all the newspapers in the Territory. Those copies can be sent to the publishers of the respective journals, with the request that they distribute them. If the committee do not see fit to send them all to the newspapers, a thousand copies, or as many as they please, may be reserved, to be distributed in such manner as may be deemed advisable. I think we had better leave the whole matter with the committee.

Mr. CHAPIN. We might let the resolution read in this wise:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to negotiate for the publication and distribution of ten thousand copies of the Constitution, on sheets, to be distributed with the different journals as supplements, or otherwise, as the committee may deem expedient.

Mr. BANKS. I would greatly prefer to leave out all about the supplements, and say only "to be distributed as they deem best."

Mr. CROSMAN. It is probably as well to leave it all to the committee, but at the same time I am of the opinion that the best way to distribute the copies of the Constitution, is to send them to the delegates in this Convention. There is no means which will be found so ready and effectual for reaching the masses of the voters, as to give them to the delegates from the several counties, for distribution.

Mr. CHAPIN. I will withdraw the first resolution, by leave of the Convention, and will offer another in the place of it, which I ask the Secretary to read.

The SECRETARY read, as follows:

Resolved, That a committee of three members of the Convention be appointed by the President of the Convention, which committee shall be authorized to have published ten thousand copies of the Constitution; and that they be further authorized to make general distribution of the same among the people of the different counties of the Territory, in their discretion, and that the expense of such publication and distribution be certified by such committee to the next session of the State or Territorial Legislature, as may be, for payment.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. That is all very well, but I think the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Chapin) has shut the wind off by this amendment of his, which we have adopted heretofore as a part of one section of the Schedule:

"Nor shall any appropriations be made out of the revenue arising from said tax, except in the following manner, to wit:

First—For paying interest upon the public debt.

Second—For salaries of State officers.

Third—For State Prison expenses.

Fourth—For Educational purposes.

Fifth—For Legislative and Miscellaneous expenses."

Fifth comes the Legislature, and last of all miscellaneous expenses. It appears to me that last item is not likely to be reached during the next three years, and I am certain that these printing bills of the newspapers could not be disposed of, by the newspaper publishers, at any price.

Mr. CHAPIN. I beg leave to correct the impression which many gentlemen seem to have on that subject. Because these miscellaneous expenses are placed last, they seem to be entirely despondent and hopeless. But if the Legislature will have wisdom enough to sit down and count the cost, and look out for all the details of their appropriations from the beginning, why will they not have wisdom enough also to look out for their own pay at the end? And if they do that they must necessarily provide for these miscellaneous and contingent expenses at the same time, because, as a matter of necessity, those expenditures are incurred before the pay of the Legislature is due. I have no fear but that those little bills will be properly provided for, and as promptly as any others which will come before the Legislature.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. But this year they have only the proceeds of a thirty cent tax, and if they derive no revenue from the tax on the gross proceeds of the mines, they will certainly be apt to use up the whole in drawing their pay and mileage, before reaching these smaller accounts.

The PRESIDENT. I suggest that the newspapers possibly may not find out that fact until after they have published the Constitution. [Merriment.]

Mr. TAGLIABUE. But we do not want to take advantage of them. I am glad the Legislature comes in ahead of "miscellaneous," because if they came in at the foot the members would not get a cent for three years.

Tuesday,]

McCLINTON—CRAWFORD—COLLINS—PRESIDENT—BROSNAN—KINKEAD.

[July 26.

The question was taken on the resolution last offered by Mr. Chapin, and it was adopted.

The PRESIDENT. I will name as the Committee on Publication, Messrs. Chapin, McClinton, and Crawford.

Mr. McCLINTON. I beg leave to decline, for this reason: I think it necessary that the members of the committee should be near each other, where they may consult together personally, and as I expect to go home at the earliest possible moment, and probably shall not be here again for a long time, perhaps never, I do not think it is possible for me to aid the committee in any manner whatever.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the gentleman will be excused.

Mr. CRAWFORD. I should rather be excused from serving on that committee, as the job is a very fat one, and being on the committee would deprive me of the privilege of competing for it. [Merriment.] I think the contract will possibly be made with some of the Virginia City presses, and it will be far more convenient to have the committee located there.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the gentleman from Ormsby will also be excused.

Mr. McCLINTON. Probably the work can be done cheaper at Virginia City than at any other place in the Territory, and if the gentleman from Ormsby (Mr. Crawford) does not want to put in a bid for the job, I suggest that the committee should be taken from the Storey County delegation entirely.

The PRESIDENT. The committee will consist of Messrs. Chapin, Collins, and Frizzell.

Mr. COLLINS. I would prefer to have some other gentleman named in my place on the committee.

The PRESIDENT. I see the force of the suggestion made by the gentleman from Esmeralda, (Mr. McClinton,) and therefore have appointed the committee entirely from the Storey delegation.

Mr. BROSNAN. I would like to be informed more fully as to the duties of the Committee on Re-enrollment, and of whom that committee consists.

The SECRETARY. Messrs. Brosnan, Kinkead, and Gibson were appointed as such committee.

Mr. KINKEAD. Is it the intention of the Convention, as a Convention, to take any further action on the various articles, before they are disposed of entirely?

The PRESIDENT. I take it that we do not propose to adjourn finally to-night, and we may be able to give the instrument a final revision.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS—SLANDER AND LIBEL.

Mr. BROSNAN. I am satisfied as to that. Now there is another matter which I should like to bring to the attention of the Convention before its labors are finally closed. Mr. President, besides what feeble aid I could give in the construction of this instrument, I have attentively devoted to it all the consideration I could command, and I am satisfied with it, in almost every particular, as it stands, as the best I could do to carry out my own views, and to discharge faithfully my duty to my constituents. I must say, however, that there is one matter contained in the instrument, as it now stands, which I would rather see corrected. We have embodied in this Constitution, I will not say an unwise provision, but on the contrary I think it is, if not wise, at least entirely becoming the progressive spirit of the age. I refer to that section which disqualifies a citizen from preferment, and from the exercise of the right of suffrage, in consequence of his having been engaged in a duel. I have no fault to find, at the present time, Mr. President, with the embodiment of that provision in the Constitution, for whatever may be my own feelings on the subject, I would be willing to defer to the better judgment and the moral sensibilities of my fellow citizens, rather than to set up my own private judgment or opinion against them.

But in embodying that feature in our Constitution, it seems to me that we have left unguarded against, another crying evil in our midst. We have, so to speak, exonerated men from any kind of punishment, when they violate the civil rights of others, and have left no redress for the party who is thereby injured, except in a few cases, perhaps, for in most cases they can only resort to a fruitless and empty attempt to recover redress in a court of law, a thing which I would consider mere brutum fulmen—a void, useless, and altogether incommensurate mode of relief. We are now in a position, or we shall be as a State, under the Constitution as it now reads, where the reckless and malevolent may permeate every avenue of society, circulating vile falsehoods and base accusations against their neighbors, with impunity, smiting down perhaps the best citizens, in the days of their usefulness, by the villainous shafts of slander, or the poisoned arrows of the pen. The man of malevolent heart may squat toad-like at the ear of his neighbor, as the devil did in the garden at the ear of Eve, infusing the poison of his own malicious heart, by uttering falsehood and scandal against that neighbor's friend, and yet for him who is maligned there is no redress. If he goes into the courts of justice to seek for redress of his wrongs, he will most often find that the person who has slandered him, the man who delights in striking down the good name of his fellow citizen, is irresponsible—entirely unable to answer in the way of compensating damages. Thus, if you pursue the peaceable course of resorting to the law, in seeking redress for injuries done to you of such character, while you may obtain a judgment, through the verdict of twelve of your fellow citizens, as a solace for your injuries and wrongs, yet the penniless, characterless, ruthless, merciless ruffian who has thus smitten your reputation and honor,

Tuesday.]

NOURSE—CHAPIN—WARWICK—BANKS—BROSNAN.

[July 26.

not having the wherewith to respond in compensating damages, goes forth free, and laughs with impunity not only at the wrongs he has perpetrated against his neighbor, but also at the powerlessness of the law.

We have embodied here in our Constitution a declaration that there shall be no imprisonment for debt, except in cases of fraud, and we have allowed the slanderer to go free, and the libeller to sneer at the shafts of justice. I hold, Mr. President, that it is a greater offense, and should be so regarded, not only against the moral and divine law, but also against the laws of human society, to slander and to libel another, than it is to defraud him. The injury inflicted by fraud is less, even taking into consideration that lower point of view. And, yet, for the lesser offense you imprison a man, while for the greater you have provided no remedy, no possible redress. Why, sir, how much more enormous is the offense of a libel or slander than that of a fraud! The fraud is commonly circumscribed in its limits and effects. It may be known in the immediate neighborhood where the parties concerned are living, but the injury affects only the purse, and the injured man is none the less respected by his fellows; whilst the slander or libel travels far and wide, speeds with the rapidity of lightning, fleet as the wind, and spreading as it goes, like rumor, magnifying itself. It rolls onward as would a magnetized globe of iron, gathering up in its course particles of cognate matter, until the original aspersion grows into a monster which finally poisons the very atmosphere, not of a single community alone, but of extended communities which hear its utterance. You look on and see this monster fastening its vulture-like talons in the heart of its victims, whilst the man, if he will respect the law, dare not use the weapons which the Almighty has given him for self-defense. You allow the vulture of slander to prey upon his vitals, as did that other fowl bird upon the liver of the chained Prometheus. In my judgment this is wholly unfair and wrong. If we mean to be just in this matter, and mean to carry out, in letter and spirit, the provision of that other section which we have embodied in our Constitution, to prevent the practice of dueling, then let us at least place the slanderer and the libeller upon the same platform with the defrauder, the cheat, and the swindler. In my estimation the slanderer and libeller are at least as censurable as those.

I therefore move, as the last effort I shall make,—and I think this is the last time I shall desire to detain the Convention,—that Section 14, of Article I, be amended by inserting after the word "fraud" the words "libel or slander," so that the clause will read:

"And there shall be no imprisonment for debt, except in cases of fraud, libel, or slander."

Mr. NOURSE. I second the amendment.

Mr. CHAPIN. So do I.

Mr. WARWICK. Now, sir, heartily as I indorse the action taken by the Convention on the subject of dueling, I confess that I as heartily indorse the motion made by the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Brosnan.) It never was my desire to throw a shield of protection over the slanderer, or to deprive the slandered of the right to protect himself by every means of protection which the law may justify. There are men in this community, more especially at this time, who must feel that the shafts of slander, of which the gentleman has spoken, ought to be placed within the reach and control of the law. A man's character is dearer than his goods, dearer far than life to many men, for they are ready to sacrifice life itself rather than honor. I therefore hold that it is the duty of this Convention—and I honor the gentleman from Storey for making this last effort—to throw the shelter of the law, as is proposed by this amendment, over those who, without it, would have no protection whatever.

It cannot be the intention of this Convention, sir, nor of any other body of sensible men, to throw a shield around those pests of society who would shelter themselves like cowards behind the enactment we have made against dueling, and from that covert send forth their envenomed shafts against the character of better men. I repeat that I honor the gentleman from Storey, and shall ever remember him with honor, for the course he has taken on this subject, and I only regret that it has escaped the notice of members so long. Now that we have deprived men of the right to protect themselves, let us at least give them some shelter and protection by law, against the envenomed shafts of slander.

Mr. BANKS. I like this amendment, chiefly because it places slander and libel in their proper places in the category of crimes, associating them with fraud and swindling; but I do not understand that the Constitution, as it now stands, would prohibit the Legislature from passing a law to imprison a man directly, as a punishment for slander.

Mr. BROSNAN. There could be no such thing in a case of slander. Libel is an indictable offense, but for slander the only remedy would be an action for damages.

Mr. NOURSE. It is much harder to convict a man of such an offense on a criminal charge than in a civil action.

Mr. BANKS. I made the remark rather by the way of an inquiry, in reference to the power of the Legislature to punish those crimes, outside of the constitutional provision.

The SECRETARY. I have placed the amendment in the form of a resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That Section 14 of Article I, entitled Declaration of Rights, be amended by inserting after the word "fraud," the words "libel or slander," so that such clause will read: "And there shall be no imprisonment for debt, except in cases of fraud, libel, or slander."

The question was taken, and the resolution was unanimously adopted.

Wednesday,]

HAWLEY—CHAPIN—KENNEDY—BANKS.

[July 27-

Mr. HAWLEY. I move that the Convention now adjourn.

Mr. CHAPIN. I hope we shall go into a final examination of the enrolled articles, and at least begin that work to-night. We can get the articles at once, if they are not here now. I will move that we take up the enrolled copy of the Constitution for final examination.

Mr. KENNEDY. I would like to inquire if it is necessary to go over the entire Constitution again, and have it all read? I do not see that it is necessary.

Mr. BANKS. Certainly.

The PRESIDENT. The question is first on the motion of the gentleman from Douglas, (Mr. Hawley,) to adjourn.

Mr. CHAPIN. I warn gentlemen that if we do adjourn now, we shall not be able to get through to-morrow.

The PRESIDENT. Discussion is not in order.

Mr. CHAPIN. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The question was taken by yeas and nays on the motion to adjourn, and the vote was—yeas, 11; nays, 9—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Belden, Brosnan, Collins, Crawford, Frizell, Folsom, Gibson, Hawley, McClinton, Nourse, and Warwick—11.

Nays—Messrs. Banks, Chapin, Crosman, Kennedy, Parker, Proctor, Tagliabue, Wetherill, and Mr. President—9.

So the motion was agreed to.

Accordingly, at 9 o'clock, P. M., the Convention adjourned.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

CARSON, July 27, 1864.

The Convention met at nine o'clock, A. M., and was called to order by the President.

The roll was called, and the following members responded to their names: Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crawford, Crosman, Folsom, Hawley, Hudson, Kennedy, Kinkead, Mason, McClinton, Murdock, Proctor, Warwick, Wetherill, and Mr. President. Present, 19; absent, 20.

No quorum being present, a call of the house was ordered, by general consent, but before the roll was called Messrs. Gibson and Tagliabue came in, making a quorum, and thereupon further proceedings under the call were dispensed with.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. RILEY.

The journal of yesterday was read, and approved.

THE ENROLLMENT.

Mr. HAWLEY. I ask leave to make a statement in regard to the enrollment. It is hardly necessary, perhaps, but for the information of the Convention I will state that the condition of affairs is just this: The Judicial Article, and the Article on Amendments, are in the hands of Mr. Van Winkle, the Enrolling Clerk, who assures me that they will be done by this evening, so that we can finish up to-night. The article entitled Schedule has been placed in the hands of one of the clerks of the Secretary of the Territory, who has given a portion to another clerk, and they will have that article completed also in good season. I notified two of the members of the Committee on Enrollment to meet me here this morning, for the purpose of comparing the enrolled articles, but I am sorry to say that they were not here in time. One of them came in at a quarter before nine o'clock, too late to commence reading, and the other was detained till after the roll call. At the proper time I propose to make a motion, though it may be a little irregular, that the Convention resolve itself informally into an enrolling committee, then let the Secretary read the engrossed articles, and we can compare them as read with the enrolled articles.

The PRESIDENT. That motion can be entertained after the regular order of business.

The regular order of business, as prescribed by the rules, was called through, but no business arose thereunder.

FINAL REVISION.

Mr. HAWLEY. I will suggest that we now proceed with the final reading and revision of the Constitution as enrolled. We can then compare the enrolled articles as they are read, with the original and engrossed copies.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection that course will be pursued. The Chair will suggest to members of the Convention that this is to be the final reading of the Constitution, and it is highly important that every one should give his undivided attention, so that if any errors exist they may be corrected at once. The Secretary will proceed.

ADOPTION OF UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION.

The SECRETARY first read the preamble and resolution, adopting the Constitution of the United States, on behalf of the people of Nevada, as follows:

WHEREAS, The Act of Congress, approved March 21st, 1864, "To enable the people of the Territory of Nevada to form a Constitution and State government, and for the admission of such State into the Union on an equal footing with the original States," requires that the members of the Convention for framing said Constitution shall, after organization, on behalf of the people of said Territory, adopt the Constitution of the United States; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of this Convention, elected by the authority of the aforesaid Enabling Act of Congress, assembled in Carson City, the Capital of said Territory of Nevada, and immediately subsequent to its organization, do adopt, on behalf of the people of said Territory, the Constitution of the United States.

No correction or amendment was proposed.

ORDINANCE PROHIBITING SLAVERY, ETC.

The SECRETARY next read the Ordinance relative to slavery, religious toleration, and the public lands, as follows:

ORDINANCE.

In obedience to the requirements of an Act of the Congress of the United States, approved March twenty-first, A. D. 1864, to enable the people of Nevada to form a Constitution and State government, this Convention elected and convened in obedience to said Enabling Act, do ordain as follows, and this ordinance shall be irrevocable, without the consent of the United States and the people of the State of Nevada :

Wednesday,] HAWLEY—COLLINS—BANKS—WARWICK—FRIZELL—BROSNAN—TAGLIABUE. [July 27.

First. That there shall be, in this State, (the said State of Nevada,) neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, otherwise than in the punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

Second. That perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and no inhabitant of said State shall ever be molested in person or property, on account of his or her mode of religious worship.

Third. That the people inhabiting said Territory do agree and declare that they forever disclaim all right and title to the unappropriated public lands lying within said Territory, and that the same shall be and remain at the sole and entire disposition of the United States; and that the lands belonging to citizens of the United States, residing without the said State, shall never be taxed higher than the land belonging to residents thereof; and that no taxes shall be imposed by said State, on lands or property therein, belonging to, or which may hereafter be purchased by the United States.

Mr. HAWLEY. Has not the word "Territory" been left out of that preamble? It says "To enable the people of Nevada." I think it should read "To enable the people of Nevada Territory."

Mr. COLLINS. I think it was so written, in the original.

The PRESIDENT. It is certainly a very proper amendment, and it can be made by unanimous consent.

Mr. HAWLEY. I will move to insert after "Nevada" the word "Territory."

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the amendment will be considered as adopted.

Mr. BANKS. The language, as it now reads, is the same as in the title of the Enabling Act, as gentlemen will find by comparing the two. The title of the Enabling Act reads thus: "An Act to enable the people of Nevada to form a Constitution and State Government, and for the admission of such State into the Union on an equal footing with the original States." I think the wording is correct now.

The PRESIDENT. My impression is, that the gentleman from Humboldt (Mr. Banks) is correct. Necessarily the Ordinance follows the language of the Enabling Act.

Mr. HAWLEY. I withdraw the amendment.

Mr. WARWICK. Is that parenthesis necessary in the first paragraph following the preamble? Would it not read better and plainer to say, "There shall be in the State of Nevada neither slavery nor involuntary servitude," etc.?

Mr. BANKS. The words "in this State," seem to be superfluous. It should read, "there shall be in the said State of Nevada."

Mr. FRIZELL. I think you will find that the same language has been used in every State where slavery has been prohibited.

Mr. WARWICK. Those words, "the said State of Nevada," seem to have been thrown in as a parenthesis, and are altogether unnecessary.

Mr. BROSNAN. I certainly think they are not necessary.

Mr. WARWICK. I move that those words be stricken out, including the parenthesis.

Mr. COLLINS. Those words were not in the original; they have been incorporated by the engrossing clerk. I second the motion to strike out, because the words were never placed there by the Convention.

The SECRETARY. They were inserted by a motion to amend, I think.

The question was taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Warwick, and Messrs. Banks and Tagliabue voted no.

Mr. BANKS. I withdraw my objection out of deference to the majority.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I would have no objection, but we must copy the Enabling Act.

Mr. WARWICK. Allow me to suggest that this is not copied from the Enabling Act. We desire to strike out the words "the said State of Nevada," simply because they are entirely superfluous.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I withdraw my objection.

Mr. BANKS. I am very well satisfied that those words were read in the original, when the ordinance was first introduced, whether they were contained in the original copy or not. I presume that it was so written, for I remember distinctly that it was read—"There shall be in the said State of Nevada," and that appears to me the better reading. I do not wish to make any change unless it is obviously necessary, but if we are going to change the language at all, let us make the language exactly correct. I propose, therefore, that we retain the word "said," and let it read: "There shall be in the said State of Nevada."

The PRESIDENT. I think "this State" would read better than "the said State of Nevada."

Mr. BANKS. I shall take it upon myself, whenever I consider that a proposed change is wrong, to vote against it, yet in this case I do not know that it is material.

The SECRETARY. I have the original copy, as introduced by the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Collins.) It reads, as engrossed—"There shall be in this State, the said State of Nevada."

Mr. BANKS. The Committee on Phraseology did not strike out that language, though that committee had full knowledge of its existence.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. The Committee on Phraseology still think it is right.

The question was again taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Warwick, and it was agreed to by unanimous consent.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

The Convention next took up the Preamble, and Article I, entitled Declaration of Rights.

The SECRETARY read the Preamble, and Sections 1 and 2 of Article I, as follows :

PREAMBLE.

We, the people of the State of Nevada, grateful to

Wednesday,]

PRESIDENT—BROSNAN—CHAPIN—BANKS—COLLINS—LOCKWOOD.

[July 27.

Almighty God for our freedom, in order to secure its blessings, insure domestic tranquility, and form a more perfect Government, do establish this Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. All men are by nature free and equal, and have certain inalienable rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty; acquiring, possessing and protecting property; and pursuing and obtaining safety and happiness.

SEC. 2. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security, and benefit of the people; and they have the right to alter or reform the same whenever the public good may require it. But the paramount allegiance of every citizen is due to the Federal Government, in the exercise of all its Constitutional powers, as the same have been or may be defined by the Federal Judiciary; and no power exists in the people of this or any other State of the Federal Union to dissolve their connection therewith, or perform any act tending to impair, subvert, or resist the supreme authority of the Government of the United States. The Constitution of the United States confers full power on the Federal Government to maintain and perpetuate its existence, and whensoever any portion of the States, or people thereof, attempt to secede from the Federal Union, or forcibly resist the execution of its laws, the Federal Government may, by warrant of the Constitution, employ armed force in compelling obedience to its authority.

The PRESIDENT. My recollection is that an amendment has been adopted in Section 2 which does not appear in the copy before us. On motion of the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan), I think, the words "benefit of the people," in the first clause, were stricken out, and other words adopted.

Mr. BROSNAN. I recollect of sending up an amendment of that character, but whether it was adopted or not I cannot say.

Mr. CHAPIN. I think it was not changed. I have no memorandum of it.

The PRESIDENT. Very well; the Secretary will proceed with the reading.

Mr. BANKS. There is one term made use of in the section last read, to which I have always been very much opposed, and which I would like to have changed at this time. I refer to the phrase "as the same have been or may be defined by the Federal Judiciary." It seems to me it would be much better to say "the Supreme Court of the United States." That would be more direct, and plainer, and we know very well that the judiciary, and the courts, are not necessarily the same in all cases, for sometimes an act may be a judicial act without being the act of a court. I do not know that it would make any material difference in point of fact, but I nevertheless much prefer to use the direct term, "the Supreme Court;" and therefore, I move to make that change in Section 2, striking out the words "Federal Judiciary," and inserting instead the words "Supreme Court of the United States."

The PRESIDENT. The amendment proposed is certainly proper, because there are different United States Courts; for instance, the District and Circuit Courts, which are distinctive parts of the Federal Judiciary.

Mr. COLLINS. I think that change should be made.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. If my memory serves me correctly, the same change has once been proposed, and rejected.

Mr. BANKS. No, sir. I had offered an amendment to this section, and accepted the amendment to my amendment suggested by the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Fitch,) which embraced this term "Federal Judiciary," but it will be remembered that there was at that time some considerable feeling in regard to the doctrine or principle to be enunciated by the section, and especial attention was not called to the particular phraseology employed.

The PRESIDENT. My recollection coincides with that of the gentleman from Humboldt (Mr. Banks.) The words referred to were adopted by the Convention, as an amendment to the original section.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I think the gentleman from Humboldt concurs with me entirely, so far. The change of the term was subsequently proposed; I think the motion came from me, although I am not altogether certain of that; at all events the change was proposed, and rejected.

Mr. BANKS. The history of the matter was this: I had proposed an amendment to change the original section, but my amendment did not embrace the full extent of the change which was finally made. Then the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Fitch) proposed his amendment, which covered more ground than mine, and although the terms of his amendment did not suit me altogether, yet as I approved generally of the object it had in view, and saw that it would meet with the approval of the majority, I accepted his amendment.

Mr. BROSNAN. My recollection is entirely in harmony with that of the gentleman from Humboldt. We had some conversation on the subject matter, in regard to which, at the time, a good deal of feeling was manifested, and it was my understanding that although the gentleman from Humboldt accepted the amendment offered by my colleague, (Mr. Fitch,) yet he did not prefer to use that particular language. I know that he did entertain and express the opinion, at the time, that the term "Federal Judiciary" was too indefinite, or at all events not the best term to use, perhaps, but in consequence, it may be, of the feeling existing relative to the general subject matter, an amendment was not proposed, though it was talked of.

The amendment proposed by Mr. Banks, was adopted by unanimous consent.

The SECRETARY read Sections 3 to 6, inclusive, as follows:

SEC. 3. The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all, and remain inviolate forever; but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all civil cases, in the manner to be prescribed by law; and in civil cases, if three-fourths of the jurors agree upon a verdict, it shall stand and have the same force and effect as a verdict by the whole jury; provided, the Legislature, by a law passed by a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each branch thereof, may require a unanimous verdict, notwithstanding this provision.

Wednesday.] COLLINS—HAWLEY—MCCLINTON—BANKS—PRESIDENT—WARWICK. [July 27.]

SEC. 4. The free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship, without discrimination or preference, shall forever be allowed in this State; and no person shall be rendered incompetent to be a witness on account of his opinion on matters of religious belief; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of this State.

SEC. 5. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require its suspension.

SEC. 6. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor shall cruel nor unusual punishment be inflicted, nor shall witnesses be unreasonably detained.

Mr. COLLINS. I move to amend Section 6 by striking out the word "nor," where it occurs before the word "unusual," and inserting the word "or" instead; so as to read: "nor shall cruel or unusual punishment be inflicted," etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 7 and 8 were read, as follows:

SEC. 7. All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties; unless for capital offenses, when the proof is evident or the presumption great.

SEC. 8. No person shall be tried for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, (except in cases of impeachment, and in cases of the militia when in actual service, and the land and naval forces in time of war, or which the State may keep with the consent of Congress in time of peace, and in cases of petit larceny, under the regulation of the Legislature,) except on presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury; and in any trial, in any court whatever, the party accused shall be allowed to appear and defend in person and with counsel, as in civil actions. No person shall be subject to be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense; nor shall he be compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation having been first made or secured, except in cases of war, riot, fire, or great public peril, in which case compensation shall be afterwards made.

Mr. HAWLEY. It says, in Section 8, that "the party accused shall be allowed to appear and defend in person and with counsel." I submit that under that language a person, however competent, might not be permitted to appear for himself, without the aid of counsel. I move to insert the word "or" instead of "and," so as to read—"in person or with counsel."

Mr. MCCLINTON. I have no objection to the amendment, but I am satisfied that the use of the word "and" does not make it obligatory upon a man accused to employ counsel.

Mr. BROSNAN. Not at all.

Mr. BANKS. That is clear.

Mr. MCCLINTON. "Or" would perhaps read better.

The PRESIDENT. Will the amendment attain the desired object? Would not the Legislature then be authorized to pass a law providing that, though a man might enter appearance by counsel, yet, when he so appeared, he could not appear and defend in person?

Mr. WARWICK. I object to that amendment.

The PRESIDENT. I think it is right as it is. It will not preclude a party from either defending in person, or calling in the assistance of counsel.

Mr. COLLINS. Of course it is not obligatory upon a man to employ counsel.

Mr. MCCLINTON. I think the language is better as it is. I do not want to be prohibited from defending my own cases, if I have any, or employing such other counsel as I see fit. If I should ever be charged with a crime, which I trust I never shall be, I should certainly want that privilege.

Mr. BANKS. Here is language which has the sanction of time, employed, I believe, in the Constitution of New York, or some of the older States.

"The parties in Justices' Courts may prosecute and defend in person, or by attorney."

There the disjunctive conjunction is used, and I think that is the language in all cases, in statutes, and no question has arisen upon it.

Mr. HAWLEY. I think my amendment covers it, and it is the usual statutory language. I will modify my amendment a little, and in order to test the sense of the Convention, will move that the words "or by," be substituted for the words "and with," so as to read: "in person or by counsel."

The PRESIDENT. "And with" is used in the Constitution of New York, and also in that of California. It is the same language, exactly: "The party accused shall be allowed to appear in person and with counsel."

Mr. BANKS. Well; let it go.

Mr. HAWLEY. I withdraw the amendment; let it go.

Sections 9 to 14, inclusive, were read as follows:

SEC. 9. Every citizen may freely speak, write, and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right; and no law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech or of the press. In all criminal prosecutions and civil actions for libels, the truth may be given in evidence to the jury; and if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted or exonerated.

SEC. 10. The people shall have the right freely to assemble together to consult for the common good, to instruct their representatives, and to petition the Legislature for redress of grievances.

SEC. 11. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power. No standing army shall be maintained by this State in time of peace, and in time of war no appropriation for a standing army shall be for a longer time than two years.

SEC. 12. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war except in the manner to be prescribed by law.

SEC. 13. Representation shall be apportioned according to population.

SEC. 14. The privilege of the debtor to enjoy the necessary comforts of life shall be recognized by wholesome laws, exempting a reasonable amount of property from seizure or sale for payment of any debts or liabilities hereafter contracted; and there shall be no imprisonment for debt, except in cases of fraud, libel, or slander, and no person shall be imprisoned for a militia fine in time of peace.

Mr. MCCLINTON. I can hardly see the connection, in the section last read, between libel or slander, and imprisonment for debt.

Wednesday,] BROSNAN—McCLINTON—KENNEDY—BANKS—WARWICK—KINKEAD, ETC. [July 27.

Mr. BROSNAN. Suppose you get a judgment in a suit brought for slander—is it not a debt? Does not your judgment constitute a debt?

Mr. McCLINTON. It may be so.

Sections 15, 16, and 17, were read as follows :

SEC. 15. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, shall ever be passed.

SEC. 16. Foreigners who are, or who may hereafter become, bona fide residents of this State, shall enjoy the same rights, in respect to the possession, enjoyment, and inheritance of property, as native-born citizens.

SEC. 17. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, unless for the punishment of crimes, shall ever be tolerated in this State.

Mr. KENNEDY. Would it not be better, in the section last read, to use the singular number, and say "crime," instead of "crimes?" Might not the plural form convey the idea that a man must commit more than one crime before he can be subjected to involuntary servitude?

Mr. BANKS. It is the language of the California Constitution; the word "crimes" is there used.

Mr. BROSNAN. I think "crime" would be an improvement.

Mr. KENNEDY. It seems to me it would read better in the singular number, but I do not know that it makes much difference.

Mr. WARWICK. I suggest that, inasmuch as it is no positive improvement in the language, no alteration should be made.

Mr. BROSNAN. My impression is, that "crime" is the better word to use there.

The PRESIDENT. It now reads in the exact words of the California Constitution, and if it has been the subject of judicial investigation in that State, by retaining the same language we have the advantage of adopting with it such interpretation as has been given to it in that State.

Mr. KENNEDY. I inquire if it has been the subject of judicial interpretation? I do not think the question ever arose.

Mr. WARWICK. Does the President think there is any impropriety in the language as it stands?

The PRESIDENT. I do not.

Mr. BROSNAN. It is well enough as it is.

Section 18 was read, as follows :

SEC. 18. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable seizures and searches, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but on probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons and things to be seized.

Mr. KINKEAD. I suggest that that be amended so as to read: "particularly describing the place or places." There may be several places to be searched.

Mr. DELONG. I second the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Ormsby.

Mr. WARWICK. I will object, for the sake of avoiding trouble. I think when a person describes the place to be searched, he will of course describe all the places suspected. The word "place," in that connection, stands for the plural as well as the singular. He must describe the place where the property is supposed to be, and if he does not know anything of its whereabouts, he must describe all the places where he thinks it is likely to be found.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. The words "persons," and "things," are in the plural, and I think "place" should be changed to the plural form also. I think it would be just as correct to say "person and thing to be seized," as "place to be searched."

The PRESIDENT. The same language occurs in the California Constitution.

Mr. WARWICK. We can then with great propriety adopt the same language. My objection is to amending the enrolled article, and I think it ought not to be done, in any case, unless the amendment is absolutely necessary. It seems to me very plain, that in describing the place to be searched, a man might mention one place in Carson, another in Virginia City, and so on.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. The article need not be re-enrolled in order to make the word plural; the letter s can be placed at the end of the word.

Mr. DELONG. I think this language might be held to allow only one place to be searched on one complaint, and if I were on the bench, I should hesitate to grant a warrant for searching more than one place, on one affidavit.

Mr. PARKER. You might describe the place to be searched by a general term, so that you could search all the places in one village.

Mr. DELONG. But you would not want to search the whole city of Carson, for example, but only the premises of one man who might be suspected, and that man might have a house in Carson, and another in Washoe, or elsewhere. I think the amendment should be made, for, as it stands, if you search the house of the suspected person in Carson, you exhaust your right.

The PRESIDENT. I think the question could only arise in case of objection being made to the right of searching different places.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. The place might be "particularly described," and still include several localities. No difficulty has arisen in California, that I am aware of, under that language. I have no objection, however, to putting an s after the word "place."

Mr. BROSNAN. I should object to that, certainly.

Mr. McCLINTON. It should read, "place or places."

Mr. LOCKWOOD. Only one word further. I may be wrong, I know, as I frequently am, but it seems to me in that portion referring to persons, although we use the plural form, it would nevertheless clearly refer to one single person. This is our Declaration of Rights, and when we assert any right for the mass of the people, such right inures to every single individual.

Wednesday.] PRESIDENT—BROSNAN—KINKEAD—LOCKWOOD—McCLINTON—DELONG, ETC. [July 27.

The PRESIDENT. In my judgment, the language is not susceptible of any misconstruction.

Mr. BROSNAN. An assault, or a fight may take place in a drinking saloon, for instance, and there may be several persons engaged in the fight. Then it is only necessary to describe one place, but it seems to me that we should say "person or persons." Each person must be described, whether there be one or more, though there may be but one place. I do not see any difficulty in reference to the word "place," for when anything is supposed to have been hidden away, if necessary several places may be described in one complaint; because it would be necessary to make search in each of the suspected places.

Mr. KINKEAD. I ask for the question on my motion to insert after "place," the words "or places."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT. Now I submit whether, in conformity to this amendment, we should not also adopt the singular form preceding the words "persons," and "things." As we have changed the language of the Constitution of California in the one particular, I think we had better carry out the same idea throughout the entire provision.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. Then it will read: "person or persons, and thing or things."

Mr. BROSNAN. Yes, sir; that is just as necessary as the other amendment was.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I think it is all unnecessary, and that was the reason I opposed the first amendment.

Mr. McCLINTON. I think we can obviate the objection to pluralizing the word "things," by using the term "property." That would cover everything to be seized. Then it would read: "describing the place or places to be searched, and the person or persons and property to be seized." It appears to me that we ought to make that change in order to carry out the idea of the amendment just adopted.

The PRESIDENT. That might occasion discussions as to what shall be deemed property, such as arose in our Convention when the article on Taxation was under consideration.

Mr. DELONG. There is no danger in regard to describing a mining claim under that provision.

Mr. McCLINTON. I think not, and I will make a motion to amend the section so as to read in that manner.

Mr. KENNEDY. I object to changing the word "things" to "property," I think it would create difficulty.

Mr. DELONG. I ask for a division of the question.

The question was taken on the first part of the amendment proposed by Mr. McClinton, to insert "person or" before the word "persons," and it was unanimously agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The question now is on substituting the word "property" in the place of "things."

Mr. KENNEDY. I object, because there may be things to be seized which may not be property.

Mr. PARKER. Suppose you want to seize a dog; that it is not property, I believe.

Mr. DELONG. It is a chattel-real, perhaps.

Mr. McCLINTON. I do not know what thing there is on earth, liable to be searched for and seized, that would not be property.

Mr. BANKS. In some States, dogs are not recognized as property, and yet they are things which it may be desirable to search for.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. Can you get out a search warrant for anything that is not property?

Mr. DELONG. I would like to ask where it is that dogs are not property? Blackstone says that all things in the world are property. He divides property into absolute, and qualified property. Absolute property is that which a man owns, and includes the domestic animals, as the horse. Qualified property includes wild and untamed animals, such as deer—

Mr. WARWICK. Will the gentleman allow me to ask him if ever, during his practice, since his admission to the bar, he has known of a case where dogs were not recognized as property?

Mr. DELONG. The gentleman does not get my idea. Though they may not be absolute property, so that you could sue and recover for a dog if it were killed, still, that they are qualified property there can be no doubt.

Mr. BROSNAN. If they were not property, a man could not be prosecuted for the larceny of a dog, and consequently there would be no occasion for a search warrant.

Mr. McCLINTON. Why not insert the words "property or," before the word "things," in order to obviate the difficulty as to what constitutes property. I am not "tenacious," however, if I do represent Esmeralda County. [Merriment.] I will vary my amendment so as to make it read "thing or things."

The question was taken on the amendment as modified, and, there being objection, it was not agreed to.

Sections 19 and 20 were read, as follows:

SEC. 19. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against it, adhering to its enemies, or giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

SEC. 20. This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to impair or deny others retained by the people.

Mr. BANKS. I think the changes made in Section 18 were not required, but inasmuch as we have adopted them, for the sake of harmony and consistency in the section, I would like to have the words "thing or" inserted, as proposed by the gentleman from Esmeralda, (Mr. McClinton.)

Mr. BROSNAN. Yes; let us now make that change also.

Wednesday.]

PRESIDENT—McCLINTON—BANKS—COLLINS—BROSNAN.

[July 27.

The PRESIDENT. It is certainly necessary, so as to make the language conform to that which precedes it.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. McCLINTON. If there are some things that are not property, I do not see that there would be anything unreasonable in making a further amendment, in the first clause. In order to conform to the balance of the section, we might let it read in this wise: "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, effects and things." [Laughter.]

RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.

The Convention proceeded with the final reading of Article II, entitled Right of Suffrage.

The SECRETARY read Section 1, as follows:

SECTION 1. Every white male citizen of the United States (not laboring under the disabilities named in this Constitution) of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, who shall have actually resided in the State six months, and in the district or county thirty days next preceding any election, shall be entitled to vote for all officers that now are or hereafter may be elected by the people, and upon all questions submitted to the electors at such election.

Mr. BANKS. During the consideration of this article, on its passage, and after the adoption of the amendment on my motion, inserting the word "actually" before "resided," I heard objections raised by several gentlemen who thought that word did not fully cover the ground. I was not quite satisfied with it, at the time, and it was suggested, I think by the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, (Mr. Brosnan,) or at any rate by some one, that the words "and not constructively," should be inserted after "actually." In accordance with that suggestion, I will now move to insert the words "and not constructively," so as to read: "who shall have actually, and not constructively, resided in the State six months," etc. That will certainly remove all doubts in regard to the matter.

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

Section 2 was read, as follows:

SEC. 2. No person who has been or may be convicted of treason or felony, in any State or Territory of the United States, unless restored to civil rights, and no person who, after arriving at the age of eighteen years, shall have voluntarily borne arms against the United States, or held civil or military office under the so-called Confederate States, or either of them, unless an amnesty be granted to such by the Federal Government, and no idiot or insane person, shall be entitled to the privilege of an elector.

Mr. COLLINS. I suggest whether it would not be an improvement to make this section a proviso added to Section 1, instead of a separate section. It appears to be of the nature of a qualification of Section 1, and I will move to strike out Section 2, and insert "provided that," the section then to run on as a part of Section 1.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent. Sections 2 and 3 (as renumbered) were read, as follows:

SEC. 2. For the purpose of voting, no person shall be deemed to have gained or lost a residence by reason of his presence or absence while employed in the service of the United States, nor while engaged in the navigation of the waters of the United States, or of the high seas; nor while a student of any seminary of learning; nor while kept at any almshouse or other asylum at public expense; nor while confined in any public prison.

SEC. 3. The right of suffrage shall be enjoyed by all persons otherwise entitled to the same who may be in the military or naval service of the United States; provided, the votes so cast shall be made to apply to the county and township of which said voters were bona fide residents at the time of their enlistment; and provided, that the payment of a poll tax, or a registration of such a voter shall not be required as a condition to the right of voting. Provision shall be made by law, regulating the manner of voting, holding elections, and making returns of such elections, wherein other provisions are not contained in this Constitution.

Mr. BROSNAN. I move to insert the word "further" after "provided," where it occurs the last time in Section 3, that being the second proviso.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. BANKS. The proviso reads, "the registration of such a voter." I think it should be "voters"—in the plural.

Mr. BROSNAN. I move to strike out the word "a" before "voter."

Mr. BANKS. I think it should all be plural. The word "a" is undoubtedly wrong in that connection, and ought to be stricken out, but at the same time, it seems to me that the word "voter" should be changed to "voters," because all through the preceding part of the section the designation is in the plural. I will therefore move to amend by striking out the words "a voter," and inserting instead the word "voters."

Mr. BROSNAN. I have no objection.

The amendment proposed by Mr. Banks was adopted by unanimous consent.

Sections 4 to 8, inclusive, (as renumbered,) were read as follows:

SEC. 4. During the day on which any general election shall be held in this State, no qualified elector shall be arrested by virtue of any civil process.

SEC. 5. All elections by the people shall be by ballot, and all elections by the Legislature, or by either branch thereof, shall be viva voce.

SEC. 6. Provision shall be made by law for the registration of the names of the electors within the counties of which they may be residents, and for the ascertainment by proper proofs of the persons who shall be entitled to the right of suffrage, as hereby established, to preserve the purity of election, and to regulate the manner of holding and making returns of the same; and the Legislature shall have power to prescribe any other or further rules or oaths as may be necessary, as a test of electoral qualification.

SEC. 7. The Legislature shall provide by law for the payment of an annual poll tax of not less than two nor exceeding four dollars, from each male person resident in the State, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, (uncivilized American Indians excepted,) one-half to be applied for State, and one-half for county purposes; and the Legislature may, in its discretion, make such payment a condition to the right of voting.

SEC. 8. All persons qualified by law to vote for Representatives to the General Assembly of the Territory of Nevada, on the 21st day of March, 1864, and all other persons who may be lawful voters in the said Territory on the first Wednesday of September next following, shall be entitled to vote directly upon the question of adopting or rejecting this Constitution.

Wednesday.] BROSNAN—PRESIDENT—COLLINS—BANKS—KINKEAD—MURDOCK, ETC. [July 27.]

Mr. BROSNAN. Unless we shall be informed that the first Wednesday of September will be the day on which the Constitution is to be submitted, this last section will require amendment. We must bear that in mind, as regards this section.

The PRESIDENT. The only difference would be, that if the election takes place at a later day, an inconsiderable number of persons would be qualified to vote, who would not be on that day. Such being the only difference, it is not very material.

Mr. COLLINS. I hope the date will be left open to the last possible moment.

The PRESIDENT. I do not deem it necessary in this section. It only defines the time at which those who are to vote on the Constitution shall be qualified—that only those shall vote who are qualified voters on a particular day—and I do not think it is of sufficient importance to make any change. If it turns out that the election is to take place in October, instead of the date here mentioned, the only effect would be to preclude from voting those who may have become residents during the period of about a month, that is, from five to six months previous to the first Wednesday of September. All who are qualified in September would necessarily be qualified in October, and the number who would become legal voters in the intervening time would be but few.

Mr. COLLINS. I think the election ordinance will cover that matter.

The PRESIDENT. I am so confident that the amendment was made by Congress, as petitioned for, that I think no change is necessary in this section, especially as the election would not be invalidated in any event.

Mr. BANKS. In examining the engrossed bills, the Committee on Phraseology found a number of cases where figures were used to express numbers and dates, although words should have been employed. In a number of instances the committee directed the change to be made, but I do not think it was done in every case. I move, therefore, that the Secretary be instructed to change figures to words, wherever they occur, except in numbering the sections or articles.

The motion was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. KINKEAD. I move to amend the last clause in Section 6, by inserting after "and the Legislature shall have power to prescribe," the words "by law;" so that it will read: "And the Legislature shall have power to prescribe by law any other or further rules or oaths," etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. MURDOCK. I move to amend Section 7, by striking out the word "uncivilized," before "American Indians."

I have this reason for that motion: I do not know that it will appear to other men as it does to me, but I, for one, am a great stickler for the idea of the races of men, and I think the Anglo-Saxon, the Celtic, or any other of the White or Caucasian races, is a far superior race of men to the Indian, the Negro, or any of the colored races. Now, if we prohibit the American citizen of African descent from voting, why not prohibit all the rest of the colored races, and say to them that we consider ourselves to be their superiors? Why should we condescend to make any of the inferior races our equals? These, in short, are my reasons for this amendment.

Mr. WARWICK. In reply to that I will take the liberty of calling one gentleman by name: Suppose that John R. Ridge were a citizen of Nevada, would gentlemen be willing to admit him to a position of equality?

Mr. BANKS. Yes, sir; certainly; socially.

Mr. WARWICK. Well, we will suppose him to be a loyal man; would they be willing to admit him to political equality? I would just as soon allow any Cherokee Indian to vote, or any member of the Five Nations, if he were a loyal American citizen. But I really do not see, sir, why any such distinction should be made in our fundamental law.

The PRESIDENT. I will call the attention of gentlemen to the fact, that this section merely makes provision for the poll tax. There is in another section a positive inhibition of the right to vote of any except white male citizens possessing certain qualifications.

Mr. COLLINS. But the poll tax is required from every negro.

Mr. PROCTOR. But it seems to me that, with a particular construction which may be given it, this section will permit every man to vote who pays his poll tax. It says the Legislature may make such payment a condition to the right of voting, and that would include civilized American Indians and everybody else. According to that we might as well adopt at once the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Washoe, (Mr. Nourse,) to strike out the word "white."

The PRESIDENT. This section refers only to the poll tax. We have provided that a particular class of men shall be allowed to vote, and that certain others shall not. Then in this section we designate who shall be required to pay a poll tax, and authorize the Legislature to provide that those who fail to pay such poll tax, though otherwise qualified, may be debarred from voting.

Mr. PROCTOR. But each inhabitant of the State is compelled to pay a poll tax, and if he pays it, and it is made a condition to the right of voting, what does that mean? It looks to me like declaring that anybody who pays his poll tax will have a right to vote.

Mr. MURDOCK. I suppose it is well understood in relation to this poll tax, that I, for one, have been and am utterly opposed to establishing any property qualification at all, in relation to voting. It makes no difference to me whether a man be worth a hundred thousand dollars, or not a dollar, so far as relates to his right of suffrage. But I say frankly that I am a stickler for the races of men, and the words "uncivilized American" read badly to me, even although qualified by the word "Indian." When it says, in that connection, "uncivilized American Indians," it really does not go down quite right with me.

Wednesday,]

COLLINS—MURDOCK—PRESIDENT—BANKS.

[July 27.

Mr. COLLINS. It seems to me the gentleman is mistaken as to the sense in which those words are used in this section. Section 7 has nothing to do with the right of voting, only so far as it says that the Legislature may make it a condition precedent to the right of voting, that the poll tax shall be paid. It requires Negroes, Chinese, and every class of men to pay the poll tax, except uncivilized American Indians. If they are civilized Indians they are not excepted, and farmers, mechanics and miners who are white men, are all placed, so far as relates to the payment of the tax, on a level with the negroes, Chinamen, etc.

Mr. MURDOCK. Inasmuch as, having been absent from the Convention for some little time, I was not fully aware of what had been the action of the Convention and what was the business before it, I will withdraw my amendment, and if what I have said is in the wrong place, I will withdraw that also. Nevertheless, I would like to have such an amendment put in at the right place.

The PRESIDENT. Section 8, I observe, provides that not only those who may be lawful voters on the first Wednesday of September, but also all who were lawful voters on the 21st of March last, shall be entitled to vote on the Constitution. I would suggest whether that will not extend the right of voting to those who may not really be entitled to it. For instance, a man may have acquired the right of voting by residence on the 21st day of March, but nevertheless, within this interval, before the first Wednesday of September, he may have ceased to be a resident, and, consequently, a legal voter, by reason of acquiring residence and the right to vote elsewhere. Will not this section yet give him the right to vote here, at such election, although he may be here but temporarily?

Mr. COLLINS. I think it would, but there is likely to be very few if any cases of that sort, and the provision is precisely that which is prescribed in the Enabling Act. Section 3 of the Enabling Act provides that all persons shall be entitled to vote upon the acceptance or rejection of the Constitution, who were qualified electors at the date of the passage of the Act, which was March 21st, 1864.

The PRESIDENT. We certainly cannot go behind the requirements of the Enabling Act.

No further amendment was proposed to the section.

DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

The SECRETARY read Article III, entitled Distribution of Powers, as follows:

ARTICLE III.

DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

SECTION 1. The powers of the Government of the State of Nevada shall be divided into three separate departments—the Legislative, the Executive, and Judicial; and no person charged with the exercise of powers properly belonging to one of these departments shall exercise any functions appertaining to either of the others, except in the cases herein expressly directed or permitted.

Mr. BANKS. It seems to me that we ought either to insert the word "the" before "Judicial," or leave out the "the" before the words immediately preceding. I will move to amend by inserting "the" before the word "Judicial," so as to read "the Legislative, the Executive, and the Judicial."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

No further amendment was offered.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The Convention next took up Article IV, entitled Legislative Department.

The SECRETARY read Sections 1 and 2, as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislative authority of this State shall be vested in a Senate and Assembly, which shall be designated, "The Legislature of the State of Nevada," and the sessions of such Legislature shall be held at the seat of Government of the State.

SEC. 2. The sessions of the Legislature shall be biennial, and shall commence on the first Monday of January next ensuing the election of its members, unless the Governor of the State shall, in the interim, convene the Legislature by proclamation, except as hereinafter provided in this Constitution.

The PRESIDENT. I desire to have the Secretary read the section which was subsequently adopted, providing for annual sessions, so that we can ascertain how it harmonizes with this section. It will be found in the Schedule.

The SECRETARY. It is Section 12 of the Schedule, as renumbered, as follows:

SEC. 12. The first regular session of the Legislature shall commence on the second Monday of December, A. D. 1864, and the second regular session of the same shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1866, and the third regular session of the Legislature shall be the first of the biennial sessions, and shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and the regular sessions of the Legislature shall be held thereafter biennially, commencing on the first Monday of January.

The PRESIDENT. The section now under consideration makes provision for the meeting of the Legislature, to be composed of the Senate and Assembly, and therefore it immediately becomes a part of the system of our government. The section in the Schedule merely regulates the matter of annual sessions, by providing that after 1867, the sessions shall be biennial. Now the sessions necessarily commence in the January succeeding the election of As-

Wednesday,]

COLLINS—PRESIDENT—BANKS—KINKEAD—BROSNAN.

[July 27.]

semblymen, but not uniformly in the January succeeding the election of Senators, as but one-half of the Senators are elected at one election. I suggest, therefore, that the language of the section might possibly lead to some misapprehension.

Mr. COLLINS. Does not Section 4, regulating the election of Senators, cover the ground, and prevent any such misapprehension?

The PRESIDENT. But Section 2 reads: "The sessions of the Legislature shall be biennial, and shall commence on the first Monday of January next ensuing the election of its members;" when in fact the sessions are to begin on the first Monday of January succeeding the election of the members of the Assembly, and a portion of the members of the Senate.

Mr. BANKS. I will move to amend that part of the section, so as to read: "next ensuing the election of members of the Assembly." I think that amendment is desirable, and will cover the whole ground.

The PRESIDENT. My colleague (Mr. Kinkead) desires, I understand, to suggest an amendment to another part of the section.

Mr. KINKEAD. It is merely a transposition of a sentence; this amendment will not be affected by it.

Mr. BANKS. My amendment is to strike out the word "its," where it occurs before the word "members," and insert after "members," the words "of the Assembly," so as to read, "next ensuing the election of members of the Assembly."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. KINKEAD. Now I move to amend the same section by a transposition, so that the words "except as hereinafter provided in this Constitution," will follow immediately after "members of the Assembly."

Mr. BROSNAN. I would inquire if the exception is designed to apply merely to the biennial sessions?

Mr. KINKEAD. Yes, sir; but the section reads awkwardly now.

The PRESIDENT. It occurs to me that it is not necessary to retain those words. If we do, will not a corresponding change be necessary in other sections? For instance, where we provide for the election of State officers for four years, and fix the terms of Senators. If, on the contrary, we strike out those words, this being the general framework of our proposed system, it seems to me that the whole will be rendered harmonious.

Mr. KINKEAD. I would prefer to have those words stricken out.

Mr. BROSNAN. That was our idea at first, and I hope it will be done, because, after two or three years there will be no necessity for any such exception.

The PRESIDENT. It is sufficiently provided for in the Schedule.

Mr. KINKEAD. I withdraw my first motion, and move instead to strike out those words:

"except as hereinafter provided in this Constitution."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 3 and 4 were read, as follows:

SEC. 3. The members of the Assembly shall be chosen biennially, by the qualified electors of their respective districts, on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, and their term of office shall be two years from the day next after their election.

SEC. 4. Senators shall be chosen at the same time and places as members of the Assembly, by the qualified electors of their respective districts, and their term of office shall be four years from the day next after their election.

Mr. COLLINS. I suppose that is designed to prevent the forming of Senatorial Districts, if the Legislature should be so disposed. The requirement that Senators shall be chosen at the same time and places as members of the Assembly, will prevent the Legislature, I take it, from organizing Senatorial Districts.

The PRESIDENT. I do not perceive that it has such application. It provides only that they shall be elected at the same time—

Mr. COLLINS. The same time and the same places.

The PRESIDENT. Certainly; at the same places of voting. That is as I understand it.

Mr. BROSNAN. That is the way I understand it.

Mr. COLLINS. I do not know but that is correct.

Sections 5 and 6 were read, as follows:

SEC. 5. Senators and members of the Assembly shall be duly qualified electors in the respective counties and districts which they represent, and the number of Senators shall not be less than one-third, nor more than one-half of that of the members of the Assembly.

SEC. 6. Each House shall judge of the qualifications, elections, and returns of its own members, choose its own officers, (except the President of the Senate,) determine the rules of the proceedings, and may punish its members for disorderly conduct, and with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected, expel a member.

The PRESIDENT. That should read—"determine the rules of its proceedings," instead of "the proceedings."

Mr. COLLINS. I move to strike out "the," and insert "its," instead.

The PRESIDENT. It is a mere verbal correction; there being no objection the Secretary will make the amendment.

Sections 7, 8, and 9 were read, as follows:

SEC. 7. Either House, during the session, may punish, by imprisonment, any person not a member, who shall have been guilty of disrespect to the House, by disorderly or contemptuous behavior in its presence; but such imprisonment shall not extend beyond the final adjournment of the session.

SEC. 8. No Senator or member of Assembly shall, during the term for which he shall have been elected, nor for one year thereafter, be appointed to any civil office of profit under this State which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during such term, except such office as may be filled by elections by the people.

SEC. 9. No person holding any lucrative office under the Government of the United States, or any other power, shall be eligible to any civil office of profit under this State; provided, that Postmasters whose compensation does not exceed five hundred dollars per annum, or Commissioners of Deeds, shall not be deemed as holding a lucrative office.

Wednesday,] McCLINTON—PROCTOR—PRESIDENT—KENNEDY—BROSNAN—KINKEAD. [July 27.

Mr. McCLINTON. I wish to call attention to the wording of the proviso in Section 9. Should it not read "and Commissioners of Deeds," rather than "or Commissioners of Deeds?" It is evidently incorrect, and I move to substitute the word "and," for "or."

Mr. PROCTOR. I would like to know what that language is there for? I do not understand that any such office exists under the United States Government as Commissioner of Deeds.

The PRESIDENT. I will reply to the gentleman, as I recollect a discussion on this subject in the Convention of last year. It is well known that there are Commissioners of Deeds residing in this State, holding office under, and commissioned by the Executives of other States, and the object of incorporating the proviso was that they should not be excluded from holding office under the Government of this State. Otherwise, a Notary Public could not be a Commissioner of Deeds for California, and it is sometimes very convenient for a Notary to hold such a commission.

Mr. PROCTOR. But it says: "holding any lucrative office under the Government of the United States."

Mr. KENNEDY. "Or any other power."

Mr. McCLINTON. As California, for instance; that might be deemed to be another power.

Mr. PROCTOR. I did not know but it was intended to refer to United States Commissioners.

The PRESIDENT. My understanding is, that it includes only Commissioners of Deeds appointed by authority of other States.

Mr. McCLINTON. My amendment has not been passed upon yet, I believe. It is to strike out the word "or," in the proviso, and insert "and."

Mr. BROSNAN. I think the word "or" is appropriate there. I find that the Constitution of California contains the word "or" in that connection, and I think the amendment is wrong, although I seconded it when it was offered.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands that the alteration is objected to.

Mr. McCLINTON. As I am unsupported I subside, although I still think the amendment would be correct.

Sections 10 to 14, inclusive, were read, as follows:

Sec. 10. Any person who shall be convicted of the embezzlement or defalcation of the public funds of this State, or who may be convicted of having given or offered a bribe to procure his election or appointment to office, or received a bribe to aid in the procurement of office for any other person, shall be disqualified from holding any office of profit or trust in this State; and the Legislature shall, as soon as practicable, provide by law for the punishment of such defalcation, bribery, or embezzlement, as a felony.

Sec. 11. Members of the Legislature shall be privileged from arrest on civil process during the session of the Legislature, and for fifteen days next before the commencement of each session.

Sec. 12. When vacancies occur in either House, the Governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancy.

Sec. 13. A majority of all the members elected to each House shall constitute a quorum to transact business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each House may prescribe.

Sec. 14. Each House shall keep a journal of its own proceedings, which shall be published, and the yeas and noes of the members of either House on any question shall, at the desire of any three members present, be entered on the journal.

[Mr. DELONG in the chair.]

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I suggest that we strike out the words "yeas and noes," in the section just read, and insert "yeas and nays," instead. We do not want them to record a man's eyes and nose. [Merriment.]

Mr. KINKEAD. I will move that amendment. Some of them might have but one eye.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 15, 16, and 17 were read, as follows:

Sec. 15. The doors of each House shall be kept open during its session, except the Senate while sitting in Executive session, and neither shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which they may be holding their sessions.

Sec. 16. Any bill may originate in either House of the Legislature, and all bills passed by one may be amended in the other.

Sec. 17. Each law enacted by the Legislature shall embrace but one subject, and matter properly connected therewith, which subject shall be briefly expressed in the title; and no law shall be revised or amended by reference to its title, but in such case the act as revised, or section as amended, shall be re-enacted and published at length.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I suggest that we add the word "only," after "title," where it occurs the second time in Section 17, so that the clause will read—"and no law shall be revised or amended by reference to its title only."

Mr. KINKEAD. Certainly. Let them "read their title clear." [Merriment.]

The amendment suggested was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 18 was read, as follows:

Sec. 18. Every bill shall be read by sections, on three several days, in each House, unless, in case of emergency, two-thirds of the House, where such bill may be pending, shall deem it expedient to dispense with this rule; but the reading of a bill by sections, on its final passage, shall in no case be dispensed with, and the vote on the final passage of every bill, or joint resolution, shall be taken by yeas and noes, to be entered on the journals of each House; and a majority of all the members elected to each House shall be necessary to pass every bill or joint resolution, and all bills or joint resolutions so passed, shall be signed by the presiding officers of the respective Houses.

Mr. KINKEAD. I move that we make the same alteration there as in a previous section; inserting "yeas and nays," in place of "yeas and noes."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Wednesday,]

DE LONG—KINKEAD—BROSNAN—MCCLINTON.

[July 27.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. It is customary in California for the Secretary of the Senate, and Clerk of the Assembly, also, to certify the passage of every bill, but this section only provides that bills shall be signed by the presiding officers. A House bill, for instance, is usually signed by the Speaker and countersigned by the Clerk, and is then sent to the Senate, where it is signed by the President and Secretary of the Senate. I will move to amend the section by adding the words—"and by the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 19 and 20 were read, as follows :

SEC. 19. No money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law. An accurate statement of the receipts and expenditures of the public money shall be attached to and published with the laws, at every regular session of the Legislature.

SEC. 20. The Legislature shall not pass local or special laws in any of the following enumerated cases, that is to say :

Regulating the jurisdiction and duties of Justices of the Peace and of Constables; for the punishing of crimes and misdemeanors; regulating the practice of courts of justice; providing for changing the venue in civil and criminal cases; granting divorces; changing the names of persons; vacating roads, town plots, streets, alleys and public squares; summoning and empanneling grand and petit juries, and providing for their compensation; regulating county and township business; regulating the election of county and township officers; for the assessment and collection of taxes for State, county, and township purposes; providing for opening and conducting elections of State, county, or township officers, and designating the places of voting; providing for the sale of real estate belonging to minors or other persons laboring under legal disabilities.

Mr. KINKEAD. There were certain instructions adopted, relative to the form of enrolling Section 20—that each clause specifying a subject prohibited should be distinguished by commencing a new line, beginning with a capital letter, and ending with a colon, so as to constitute a separate sentence.

The SECRETARY. That was the instruction, and I will amend the section accordingly.

Section 21 was read, as follows :

SEC. 21. In all cases enumerated in the preceding sections, and in all other cases where a general law may be made applicable, all laws shall be general, and of uniform operation throughout the State.

Mr. KINKEAD. That word should be "section;" so as to read, "in all cases enumerated in the preceding section." It refers to that section alone, and I move to strike out the final s from the word "sections."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 22 to 26, inclusive, were read, as follows :

SEC. 22. Provision may be made by general law for bringing suit against the State as to all liabilities originating after the adoption of this Constitution.

SEC. 23. The enacting clause of every law shall be as follows: "The People of the State of Nevada, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows"—and no law shall be enacted except by bill.

SEC. 24. No lottery shall be authorized by this State, nor shall the sale of lottery tickets be allowed.

SEC. 25. The Legislature shall establish a system of county and township government, which shall be uniform throughout the State.

SEC. 26. The Legislature shall provide for the election of a Board of County Commissioners, in each county, and these County Commissioners shall jointly and individually perform such duties as may be prescribed by law.

Mr. KINKEAD. The word "these" is not necessary there before County Commissioners.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. It should be "such." If there is no objection, the word "such" will be substituted for "these," so as read, "and such County Commissioners shall jointly and individually perform," etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. KINKEAD. I think we should insert those words "by law" after "provide," in the first line, so that it will read: "the Legislature shall provide by law."

Mr. BROSNAN. We have "by law" at the end of the section.

Mr. MCCLINTON. But as it now reads the Legislature does not provide for the election of County Commissioners by law; it only prescribes their duties by law. I think the amendment is necessary.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 27 to 30, inclusive, were read, as follows :

SEC. 27. Laws shall be made to exclude from serving on juries all persons not qualified electors of this State, and all persons who shall have been convicted of bribery, perjury, forgery, larceny, or other high crimes, unless restored to civil rights; and laws shall be passed regulating elections, and prohibiting, under adequate penalties, all undue influence thereon, from power, bribery, tumult, or other improper practice.

SEC. 28. No money shall be drawn from the State Treasury as salary or compensation to any officer or employé of the Legislature, or either branch thereof, except in cases where such salary or compensation has been fixed by a law in force prior to the election or appointment of such officer or employé; and the salary or compensation so fixed shall neither be increased nor diminished so as to apply to any officer or employé of the Legislature, or either branch thereof, at such session; provided, that this restriction shall not apply to the first session of the Legislature.

SEC. 29. The first regular session of the Legislature under this Constitution may extend to ninety days, but no subsequent regular session shall exceed sixty days, nor any special session convened by the Governor exceed twenty days.

SEC. 30. A homestead, as provided by law, shall be exempt from forced sale under any process of law, and shall not be alienated without the joint consent of husband and wife, when that relation exists; but no property shall be exempt from sales for taxes, or for the payment of obligations contracted for the purchase of said premises, or for the erection of improvements thereon; provided, the provisions of this section shall not apply to any process of law obtained by virtue of a lien given by the consent of both husband and wife; and no laws shall be enacted providing for the recording of such homestead within the county in which the same may be situated.

Mr. BROSNAN. What does that language mean in Section 30, where it says the homestead shall not be alienated without the joint consent of husband and wife, "where that relation exists?" If we say, "without the joint consent of husband and wife," is not that sufficient?

Wednesday.] DeLONG—KINKEAD—FRIZELL—COLLINS—McCLINTON—BROSNAN—BANKS. [July 27.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I understand the section contemplates that the homestead may be claimed as such by either the husband or the wife, and may then be held by either. It therefore provides that it shall not be alienated except by the consent of both, until that relation shall cease to exist. I think that is the object of those words.

Mr. KINKEAD. Following that it reads: "no property shall be exempt from sales for taxes;" that word should be "sale," instead of "sales." I move to strike out the final s.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. There being no objection, the Secretary will make that amendment. It is merely a clerical error.

Sections 31 and 32 were read, as follows:

Sec. 31. All property, both real and personal, of the wife, owned or claimed by her before marriage, and that acquired afterward by gift, devise or descent, shall be her separate property, and laws shall be passed more clearly defining the rights of the wife, in relation as well to her separate property, as to that held in common with her husband. Laws shall also be passed providing for the registration of the wife's separate property.

Sec. 32. The Legislature shall provide for the election by the people of a Clerk of the Supreme Court, County Clerks, County Recorders, who shall be ex officio County Auditors, District Attorneys, Sheriffs, County Surveyors, Public Administrators, and other necessary officers, and fix by law their duties and compensation. County Clerks shall be ex officio Clerks of the Courts of Record in and for their respective counties.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. It has been suggested to me that hereafter we may have a Board of Supervisors elected in each county, and that unless we amend this Section 32, the County Clerks cannot be ex officio clerks of such Boards, as they are in all the counties in California, but it will be necessary for the Boards to elect their own clerks. I will therefore suggest to the Convention that we add to the section—"and also ex officio clerks of the Board of Supervisors, or County Commissioners, of any county in the State in which such Board is organized."

Mr. FRIZELL. I believe there is a section of our Constitution which provides that the County Clerks shall be ex officio clerks of the Courts of Record.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. This is the section which has just been read.

Mr. FRIZELL. Then, taking it into consideration that they are elected as County Clerks, it seems to me that it must necessarily be inferred that they are to be clerks of the Boards of Supervisors, and of the Boards of Equalization, for what other business is there which belongs to the office of a County Clerk?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. They have to perform just such duties as are prescribed by the Constitution, and no others.

Mr. COLLINS. We have provided elsewhere for the election of County Commissioners; is it desired that we shall provide that County Clerks shall be ex officio members of the Board of County Commissioners?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. No, no! I do not care whether they are called "Supervisors" or "Commissioners;" my suggestion is that the section should be so amended as to make the County Clerks ex officio clerks of those county Boards, whether they are called Boards of Supervisors or Boards of Commissioners.

Mr. McCLINTON. Unless we do that I think any Board of County Commissioners would have power to appoint whomsoever they pleased as clerk.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I think so, too.

Mr. FRIZELL. The Boards of County Commissioners are elected to transact the business of the county. Then when you elect a County Clerk, it appears to me that there can be no misunderstanding of this language, but it necessarily follows that he is clerk of the Board of Supervisors, or County Commissioners, in each county.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. By what rule of law?

Mr. FRIZELL. By precedent, implication, and everything else.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I know very well that they have had to provide for it by statute in California, in order to prevent the Boards of Supervisors from electing their own clerks.

Mr. BROSNAN. I move to amend by adding after "County Auditors," the words, "Boards of County Commissioners."

Mr. KINKEAD. That is to follow the provision that the County Recorders shall be ex officio County Auditors? Well, if there is any doubt about it, I think we ought to insert those words. It will do no harm. The section makes the County Recorder ex officio County Auditor.

Mr. COLLINS. I think the amendment suggested will come in better at the end. I move to insert in the last clause, after "Courts of Record," the words "and also of the Boards of County Commissioners."

Mr. BANKS. I think it would be better to leave it as it is, and then the Legislature will have power to pass a law requiring County Clerks to act, ex officio, as Clerks of the Boards of County Commissioners. It should only be required in the smaller counties, for, in my judgment, it would operate badly in the larger counties. A Clerk might appoint a deputy, for instance, who would be very objectionable to the Board of Supervisors, or Commissioners. I know, in San Francisco, the Board of Supervisors has the choice of its own Clerk.

Mr. KENNEDY. I move that the time for the recess be extended ten minutes, so as to dispose of this matter.

Mr. WARWICK. I rise to a point of order, that the time for the recess has arrived and passed.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The point is well taken.

The hour of 12 o'clock, noon, having arrived—

The PRESIDENT pro tem. declared the Convention at recess until 2 o'clock, P. M.

Wednesday,] KINKEAD—LOCKWOOD—CHAPIN—COLLINS—PRESIDENT—WARWICK. [July 27.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention re-assembled at 2 o'clock, P. M. and was called to order by Mr. GIBSON, in the temporary absence of the President.

Mr. KINKEAD. I move that Mr. Mason take the chair.

The question was taken and the motion was agreed to.

Mr. MASON declined, the President having arrived.

[The PRESIDENT in the chair.]

The SECRETARY reported that there was not a quorum of members in attendance.

CALL OF THE HOUSE.

On motion of Mr. GIBSON, a call of the House was ordered, and the roll being called, the following members responded to their names: Messrs. Banks, Belden, Chapin, Collins, Crawford, Crosman, Folsom, Gibson, Hawley, Kennedy, Kinkead, Lockwood, Mason, McClin-ton, Parker, Sturtevant, Warwick, Wetherill, and Mr. President. Present, 19; absent, 20.

On motion of Mr. COLLINS, by unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted to Mr. Frizell.

The Sergeant-at-Arms was directed to arrest and bring in those members who were absent without leave.

LIMITATION OF TAXATION.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. While we are waiting, I will say to the members of the Convention, that the section which was incorporated in the Schedule on the motion of the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Chapin,) limiting taxation, I am satisfied is in direct conflict with another provision of the Constitution, contained in the article on Finance and State Debt. I have the two sections before me, and desire to read them. Section 2 of the article on Finance, reads as follows:

SEC. 2. The Legislature shall provide an annual tax sufficient to defray the estimated expenses of the State for each fiscal year; and whenever the expenses of any year shall exceed the income, the Legislature shall provide for levying a tax sufficient, with other sources of income, to pay the deficiency, as well as the estimated expenses of such ensuing year, or two years.

Now mark the language, and compare it with the following, which has been incorporated in the Schedule:

"For the first three years after the adoption of this Constitution, the Legislature shall not levy a tax for State purposes exceeding one per cent. per annum on the taxable property in the State."

I take it, there is a very wide discrepancy.

Mr. CHAPIN. Is not the gentleman aware that there are many provisions contained in the Schedule which are in direct conflict with provisions in the general framework of our Constitution? That is the object and purpose of the Schedule—to provide for matters of a merely temporary nature.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. No, sir. As I understand it, the Schedule is to provide for certain contingencies attending the transitional state—while we are changing from a Territorial to a State Government. And here we say in our Constitution that the Legislature shall provide a tax sufficient to defray all the expenses of the State Government. We provide that the members of the Legislature shall be paid eight dollars a day, that the Judges of the Supreme Court shall receive seven thousand dollars a year, and so on and so forth: and then we make it the duty of the Legislature to levy a tax sufficient to cover all those expenses. The Legislature is to make a calculation, and levy an assessment sufficient to pay all the expenses; not only all the debts they create, but also all the estimated expenses for the year to come. But after having made such provision, we then turn round and say in the Schedule that the Legislature is inhibited from levying such a tax. I think the provision is palpably wrong, and should not be placed anywhere in our Constitution. For one, I certainly object to it, although I expect to be voted down, as I am generally supposed to be wrong. I opposed the section when it was originally incorporated in the Schedule, for the reason that I considered it as conflicting with that which had been previously adopted, although I did not then have the particular section to refer to.

The PRESIDENT. It is palpably a conflict; there can be no question about it.

Mr. COLLINS. What is before the Convention?

The PRESIDENT. We are acting under a call of the House. This subject has merely been called up informally.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I suppose we may discuss the subject without a quorum, although we can take no vote. I merely wanted to call the attention of members to the fact that there is a direct conflict between the two sections.

Mr. WARWICK. Then I suggest that we let them both stand as they are, and the Legislature will have to decide which is right. I am tolerably well satisfied which way it will go.

The PRESIDENT. It would be a sad commentary on our Constitution, that the Legislature has to decide so important a question.

Mr. WARWICK. It would be a sadder commentary that it does not give the Legislature power to provide for the wants of the government.

Mr. CHAPIN. I will call attention to another just such discrepancy. We provide that the Governor and other State officers shall be elected for a term of four years, and then we say in the Schedule that those officers first elected shall be limited to only two years.

The PRESIDENT. The judicial officers are excepted. That section is proper enough, but instead of making the judges of the Supreme Court, and the State officers, first-class creditors of the State, as the Constitution provides, this section of the Schedule referred to by my colleague, in classifying the appropriations, makes them second-class creditors.

Mr. COLLINS. I take it that a man who makes his will, has power to add a codicil, and so a Constitutional Convention, I suppose, has authority to provide when the various constitutional provisions shall take effect, and may do so by a Schedule or otherwise.

Wednesday,] PRESIDENT—COLLINS—BROSNAN—HAWLEY—BANKS—KINKEAD—CHAPIN. [July 27.

The PRESIDENT. We provide, in the first place, that the Legislature shall raise revenue sufficient to pay expenses, and then we provide thereafter that they shall not do so for the first three years.

Mr. COLLINS. Well, I certainly hope the subject will be ventilated before we adjourn.

The PRESIDENT. It has already been pretty well ventilated, and the proposition was carried by a majority of about two-thirds.

Mr. BROSNAN. I give notice that when we reach that article, on its final revision, I shall make a proposition to the Convention to strike out altogether that portion in relation to the classification of appropriations.

The PRESIDENT. If that is done, it will demonstrate that there has been a material change of opinion since yesterday.

Mr. COLLINS. It is the right of every man to change his opinions.

The PRESIDENT. This discussion is all informal, and it is understood of course that it constitutes no part of our proceedings.

Messrs. Brosnan and DeLong having appeared and taken their seats, making a quorum.

On motion of Mr. GIBSON, further proceedings under the call of the House were dispensed with.

RECESS.

Mr. HAWLEY. Now I ask for a short recess, in order to enable the Enrolling Committee to get through, and make their final report. I think they can be ready in about fifteen minutes.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

Accordingly, at fifteen minutes after two o'clock, the Convention took a recess.

The Convention was again called to order by the President, at fifteen minutes before three o'clock.

CALL OF THE HOUSE.

On motion of Mr. LOCKWOOD, a call of the House was ordered, and the following members responded to their names: Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crawford, Crosman, DeLong, Folsom, Gibson, Hawley, Kinkead, Lockwood, Mason, McClinton, Parker, Proctor, Tagliabue, Wetherill, and Mr. President. Present, 20; absent, 19.

A quorum being present, on motion of Mr. LOCKWOOD, further proceedings under the call were dispensed with.

ENROLLMENT.

Mr. HAWLEY, from the Committee on Enrollment, submitted the following report:

To the President of the Constitutional Convention:

The Committee on Enrollment beg leave respectfully to report that they have examined Article IV, entitled Legislative Department, and Article V, entitled Executive Department, and find the same correctly enrolled. The committee also found it necessary to correct certain clerical errors in Articles VII, VIII, XI, and XV.

A. T. HAWLEY, Chairman.

Mr. HAWLEY. I wish to state that the original engrossed copies were not furnished to the enrolling clerk, but instead, copies made up partly of written words, and partly from slips cut from printed copies of the old Constitution and newspaper reports. In some cases differences existed in those copies, and in others, subsequent changes made by the Convention had not been noted in the copies furnished. I think, therefore, that the errors which have been detected by the Enrolling Committee are not altogether chargeable as the fault of the enrolling clerk.

Mr. BANKS. Did the committee compare the enrolled with the engrossed copies?

Mr. HAWLEY. Yes, sir; certainly.

The PRESIDENT. I think it will save time if, instead of considering the report now, we delay it until we come to the final reading of the several articles reported. If there is no objection, that course will be taken.

Mr. BANKS. I hope, then, the gentleman from Douglas, (Mr. Hawley,) will make it his business to propose the necessary amendments as each section is read.

Mr. KINKEAD. They are all noted on the enrolled copy.

BOUNDARY MEMORIAL.

Mr. CHAPIN. I presume there will not be a better opportunity than the present to call attention to one subject, which in my judgment requires some further action before we finally adjourn. In Article XIV, after describing the boundary of our State, we have added this proviso:

"And whensoever Congress shall authorize the addition to the Territory or State of Nevada, of any portion of the territory on the eastern border of the foregoing defined limits, not exceeding in extent one degree of longitude, the same shall thereupon be embraced within, and become a part of, this State."

The PRESIDENT. Would it not be the better course to proceed consecutively with the different articles and sections?—and then the gentleman can submit his proposition when that section is reached.

Mr. CHAPIN. My object in calling up the matter now is this: It occurs to me that there may be a necessity for adopting a memorial to Congress, and if it shall be the pleasure of the Convention to do so, some little time might be required to perfect the memorial.

The PRESIDENT. Very well; I was under the impression that the gentleman desired to propose an amendment.

Mr. CHAPIN. We have made provision, as appears by the language which I have read, for an addition on our eastern border to the extent of one degree, provided that Congress shall be pleased to grant such addition to us, but we have neglected to make provision for any memorial or representation to Congress, giving expression to that desire on our part, and on the part of the people of Nevada. We are certainly, all of us, anxious to secure that addition of one degree, which in our infancy will be of great advantage, and, in the future, will undoubtedly be of almost incalculable value to our young State. Those of us who were present in the Convention of last year, well remember the able and eloquent remarks, in reference to the importance of securing this strip of territory, made by that worthy and honored man, then a representative of Lander County, who occupied the seat at my left hand here—that good man, now gone from us, whose memory I honor and cherish, and whose wise counsels are written on many public records, here and elsewhere. I refer to the late Judge Ralston. The great importance to Nevada of securing that addition to her territory, was ably set forth by him in that Convention, and he was appointed chairman of a committee selected to draft a memorial to Congress in reference to the subject. It occurs to me that it is necessary for us to take similar action, by the adoption of the same or a like memorial. I have therefore taken the pains to prepare a copy of that memorial, with such alterations as are rendered necessary in consequence of changes of circumstances occurring since the former Convention assembled, and I have prefixed thereto such a resolution as in my judgment would be appropriate. Now I ask that the Secretary read the resolution and memorial.

Wednesday,] CHAPIN—PRESIDENT—PROCTOR—KINKEAD—GIBSON—COLLINS—LOCKWOOD. [July 27.

The SECRETARY read as follows :

Resolved, That the Delegate of the Territory of Nevada, or the Senators and Representative of Nevada in Congress, in case said Territory shall become a State, be requested to present the annexed memorial, and urge its favorable consideration by Congress, and the passage of an act in accordance therewith :

To the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled :

The memorial of the delegates assembled in the Territory of Nevada to form a State Constitution, respectfully represents :

That the boundary of said Territory (or State) of Nevada should be changed so that the line separating Nevada from Utah Territory shall pass from North to South on the thirty-seventh degree of longitude west from Washington. That this division would be just to Nevada, and to Utah Territories, making them about equal in superficial extent, and enabling each to form State Governments of convenient size; but if the thirty-eighth degree of longitude shall remain the western boundary of Utah Territory, it will leave Nevada of contracted dimensions, and of much greater length than breadth.

That the tract of country your memorialists desire to have ceded to Nevada is an uninhabited wilderness, with the exception of the way-stations therein established by the U. S. Mail Company; and a very few way-stations on the Southern route from Salt Lake to Los Angeles, and some recent mining settlements, the interests of which are identical with those of the citizens of Nevada.

That the line dividing Nevada and Utah Territories, as at present established, will be productive of serious inconvenience to the inhabitants, upon the settlement of the country adjacent thereto; by dividing said settlements, starting as it does in the Goose Creek Mountains and extending south across other ranges of mountains, interspersed throughout with numerous valleys, well supplied with wood, water, and grass, the acquisition of which is of much greater necessity to Nevada than to Utah—the latter Territory having an abundance of agricultural lands, whilst the former contains but a very limited quantity; whereas if the line be removed one degree eastward the inconvenience will be obviated—the arable lands or valleys remaining undivided, and an appropriate natural dividing line formed by the borders of extensive alkali deserts, which can never be inhabited.

Your memorialists would therefore respectfully ask of your honorable bodies, that a law be passed designating the thirty-seventh degree of longitude west of Washington as the eastern boundary line of the Territory or State of Nevada.

And your memorialists, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Mr. CHAPIN. I offer that resolution, and the memorial with it, and move that they be referred to a special committee of three.

The PRESIDENT. I suggest that the gentleman should move their adoption now, and thus save the necessity of delay by the appointment of a committee. There can be no doubt, I think that such would finally be the action of the Convention, if a committee should consider the subject and report upon it.

Mr. CHAPIN. Well, if it is the pleasure of the Convention, I will make that motion.

Mr. PROCTOR. I think the memorial had better be referred, for the purpose of ascertaining some facts in relation to the proposed boundary, and for this reason: I am under the impression that the change proposed would take in a large settlement now included within the boundaries of Utah Territory, namely, what is called the Cotton-growing country. I do not think we would care anything about that.

Mr. KINKEAD. The line runs west of that.

Mr. GIBSON. It does not touch those settlements in Utah by sixty miles.

Mr. COLLINS. Judge Ralston declared emphatically, in the last Convention, that the line would run through a desert, but eastwardly from that line the character of the country, he said, improved materially.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I hope it will be referred to a committee to inquire whether it be desirable that such action should be taken by Congress. With all deference to the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Chapin,) I think that point had better be considered, because times have changed a good deal since the Convention of last year, and the country has been settled to some extent, out that way. I suggest that the gentleman from Lander (Mr. Warwick) should be on the committee, as he is acquainted with the country.

The PRESIDENT. My suggestion was that the Convention had better act upon the matter now, for the reason that we desire to get through our business some time to-day or to-night. However, if it is the pleasure of the Convention, it may be referred.

Mr. CHAPIN. That was my proposition—to refer it to a committee of three, unless members prefer to act upon it now.

Mr. McCLINTON. I do not see the necessity

Wednesday.]

COLLINS—PRESIDENT—HAWLEY—KINKEAD—BANKS—DELONG.

[July 27.

for its reference, as the committee would undoubtedly report it back just as it is.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, I will put the question on the adoption of the resolution and memorial, as read.

The question was taken, and the resolution and memorial were unanimously adopted.

Mr. COLLINS. How will the memorial be presented?

The PRESIDENT. The resolution provides that it shall be presented to Congress by our Territorial Delegate, or by our Senators and Representative in Congress, in case of our admission as a State.

Mr. COLLINS. I think the President of the Convention should appoint a committee to forward the memorial to our Delegate and members of Congress.

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary might be instructed to forward copies of the resolution and memorial to them.

Mr. COLLINS. I will make that motion—that the Secretary furnish a copy of the resolution and memorial to our Delegate, and also to each of our Senators and Representative in Congress, in the event of the adoption of the Constitution.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

ENROLLMENT.

Mr. HAWLEY. I desire to make an additional report from the Committee on Enrollment. The report merely specifies certain changes suggested by the Committee as necessary to be made in various articles as enrolled, and in order to save time, I suggest that the reading be dispensed with, and the amendments can be acted upon when they are reached in their order on the final revision. I will state further, that some changes appear to be necessary in the article on Judicial Department, and the committee wish for further time on that article.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, further time will be granted, and the report will take the same course as the one previously made; that is, the amendments will be considered when the sections are read on their final revision.

FINAL REVISION—LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The Convention resumed the final reading and revision of the Constitution, beginning with Section 32 of Article IV, entitled Legislative Department, which was under consideration at the time of the recess at noon.

The SECRETARY again read Section 32, as follows:

SEC. 32. The Legislature shall provide for the election by the people of a Clerk of the Supreme Court, County Clerks, County Recorders, who shall be ex officio County Auditors, District Attorneys, Sheriffs, County Surveyors, Public Administrators, and other necessary officers, and fix by law their duties and compensation. County Clerks shall be ex officio Clerks of the Courts of Record in and for their respective counties.

Mr. KINKEAD. There was a motion pending at the time of the recess, which was to add after "Courts of Record," the words "and of the Boards of County Commissioners."

Mr. BANKS. I do not see the necessity for that. There does not appear now to be anything prohibiting the Boards of County Commissioners from electing their own Clerks, and if the Legislature shall think proper to pass a law giving them the right to elect clerks, I do not see why they could not elect a Deputy, or even the County Clerk himself. I hope, therefore, the section will be left as it is, and shall vote against the amendment.

Mr. COLLINS. In Storey County this system works admirably. It is important that all the duties of this nature should be brought, as far as possible, within the range of the duties and responsibilities of the county officers regularly elected, and if we adopt a general provision that the County Clerk shall be made ex officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, there is no escape from the requirement, and we thus save a good deal of legislation, and probably much bickering in the future.

Mr. DELONG. The gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Banks,) has taken two or three different tacks in opposing this small matter. He says in the first place that, being the County Clerk, it necessarily follows, by implication, that he must be Clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

Mr. BANKS. The gentleman is entirely mistaken; that was the position taken by another gentleman. I only say in my judgment it would be wise, as a general rule, for the County Commissioners to select the County Clerk, or one of his deputies, as Clerk of their Board.

Mr. DELONG. Then if it is wise for the County Clerk to be Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners, it is wise for us to make him such.

Mr. BANKS. It is not necessary to provide for it in the Constitution.

Mr. DELONG. Very well; then you would have to create a new office, independent of that of the County Clerk; for a man holding any other office could not be required to perform the service, and no one could afford to do it at so cheap a rate as the County Clerk, who has the other clerical duties of the county to perform.

Mr. BANKS. If there is a majority in favor of the amendment, I will waive my objection.

The question was taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Collins, to insert after "Courts of Record," the words, "and of the Boards of County Commissioners," and Mr. Banks alone voted no.

Mr. BANKS. I will waive my objection.

The amendment was then unanimously agreed to.

Sections 33 and 34 were read, as follows:

SEC. 33. The members of the Legislature shall receive for their services a compensation to be fixed by law and paid out of the public treasury, but no increase of such compensation shall take effect during the term for which the members of either House shall have been elected; provided, that an appropriation may be made for the payment of such actual expenses as the members of the Legislature may incur for postage, express charges, newspapers, and stationery, not exceeding the sum of sixty dollars for any general or special session, to each member; and furthermore provided, that the Speaker of the Assembly, and Lieutenant Governor, as President of the Senate, shall each, during the time of their actual attendance as such presiding officers, receive an additional allowance of two dollars per diem.

Wednesday,] BANKS—PRESIDENT—COLLINS—KINKEAD—LOCKWOOD—BROSNAN, ETC. [July 27.

SEC. 34. In all elections for United States Senators, such elections shall be held in joint convention of both houses of the Legislature. It shall be the duty of the Legislature which convenes next preceding the expiration of the term of such Senator, to elect his successor. If a vacancy in such Senatorial representation from any cause occurs, it shall be the duty of the Legislature then in session, or at the succeeding session thereof, to supply such vacancy. If the Legislature shall at any time, as herein provided, fail to unite in a joint convention within twenty days after the commencement of the session of the Legislature for the election of such Senator, it shall be the duty of the Governor, by proclamation, to convene the two houses of the Legislature in joint convention, within not less than five days nor exceeding ten days from the publication of his proclamation, and the joint convention, when so assembled, shall proceed to elect the Senator as herein provided.

Mr. BANKS. I suggest that we change that word "occurs," to "occur," in the section last read, so as to read: "If a vacancy in such Senatorial representation from any cause occur, it shall be the duty," and so on. Being in the subjunctive mood it should take the singular form.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the Secretary will make that verbal correction, by erasing the letter s.

Section 35 was read, as follows:

SEC. 35. Every bill which may have passed the Legislature, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor. If he approve it, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the House in which it originated, which shall enter such objections upon the journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, it again pass both Houses by ayes and noes, by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each House, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the Governor's objections. If any bill shall not be returned within five days after it has been presented, (Sunday excepted,) exclusive of the day on which he received it, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Legislature, by its final adjournment, prevent such return, in which case it shall be a law, unless the Governor, within ten days next after the adjournment, (Sundays excepted,) shall file such bill, with his objections thereto, in the office of the Secretary of State, who shall lay the same before the Legislature at its next session, in like manner as if it had been returned by the Governor; and if the same shall receive the vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the Legislature, upon a vote taken by ayes and noes, to be entered upon the journals of each House, it shall become a law.

Mr. BANKS. The words "ayes and noes" occur twice in this section; they should be changed to "yeas and nays."

The PRESIDENT. I think it is correct to say "ayes and noes."

Mr. COLLINS. That correction has been made heretofore.

The PRESIDENT. The words "ayes and noes" were used in the old Constitution, all through.

Mr. KINKEAD. But the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. DeLong,) this forenoon objected that the language did not read well, where it said the ayes and noes of each member should be entered upon the journal. I will move to make the change.

Mr. COLLINS. Is it necessary to blot up these sheets for the sake of making so slight an alteration?

The PRESIDENT. I like the phraseology better; if there is no objection, the amendment will be made.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. Unless somebody can give a good reason for the change, I rather feel disposed to object. It is certainly fully as proper to use the words "ayes and noes," and I believe those are the words laid down by parliamentarians.

Mr. COLLINS. I think it is merely a matter of choice; sometimes they say "ayes and noes," and sometimes "yeas and nays."

Mr. BANKS. When the word "aye" is used, "no" should be coupled with it. It would be a mongrel sort of way to say "ayes and nays," or "yeas and noes." But inasmuch as we have made the change heretofore, I hope, for the sake of uniformity, it will be done in this instance.

Mr. BROSNAN. I see the term used in a manual here is "ayes and noes."

Mr. DELONG. No doubt they are synonymous terms.

Mr. COLLINS. We have scriptural authority for the change: "Let your communication be yea, yea, and nay, nay." [Merriment.]

Mr. BANKS. I suppose there is no difference in the meaning, as the terms are generally used and understood. We may adopt whichever form we choose, but that which we begin with we should carry through the whole instrument.

Mr. COLLINS. The term "yeas and nays" is used in the California Constitution. In the Legislature of that State the "yeas and nays" are required to be taken at the desire of any three members present.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection to the proposed alteration?

Mr. COLLINS. I believe it was a personal matter with the President pro tem, this morning. He objected to having his nose go on the record. [Laughter.]

Mr. DELONG. The same alteration was made in several instances this morning—as long as I was in the chair.

The PRESIDENT. I think we had better make the change, then, to preserve the uniformity of the instrument.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I withdraw my objection.

Mr. MURDOCK. My father belonged to the Society of Friends, and as I was taught "yea" and "nay" from my infancy, I prefer it.

The amendment to strike out "ayes and noes," and insert instead "yeas and nays," was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. KINKEAD. I have an amendment to Wednesday,] DE LONG—KINKEAD—BANKS—BROSNAN—HAWLEY—CHAPIN—PRESIDENT. [July 27.

offer. In the first part of the section it now reads: "If he approve it, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the House in which it originated, which shall enter such objections upon the journal and proceed to reconsider it."

Mr. DE LONG. It should be "which House shall cause such objections to be entered."

Mr. KINKEAD. I move to amend that language so as to read: "which House shall cause such objections to be entered upon its journal."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. BANKS. In the first sentence it says: "shall, before it becomes a law." I wish the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Brosnan) would look at that. It appears to me that the word "become," would be preferable to "becomes." I suggest that we strike off the s, so that it will read "Every bill which may have passed the Legislature, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the Governor," etc.

Mr. PROCTOR. I object. That may be grammatical, but it does not seem so to me.

Mr. BROSNAN. If we make that change, I think it will be necessary to use the word "shall" again. In my judgment, it is right now.

Mr. BANKS. I do not think so, but I will withdraw the amendment.

ENROLLMENT—AGAIN.

Mr. HAWLEY. I have a final report to make from the Committee on Enrollment. The committee recommend certain erasures and amendments in Article VI, entitled Judicial Department, to which attention will be called as each section is read on the final revision: and the committee ask to be discharged from further service, as that finishes our labors, so far as we are advised.

Mr. BANKS. I hope the committee will not be discharged. Its duties will only expire when the Convention adjourns finally, as it is one of the standing committees. It may possibly have some other work yet.

The question was taken on discharging the committee, and it was not agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the report, instead of being read now, will take the same course as those previously made.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

The Convention took up, on its final reading and revision, Article V, entitled Executive Department.

The SECRETARY read Sections 1 to 4, inclusive, as follows:

SECTION 1. The supreme Executive power of this State shall be vested in a Chief Magistrate, who shall be Governor of the State of Nevada.

SEC. 2. The Governor shall be elected by the qualified electors at the time and place of voting for members of the Legislature, and shall hold his office for four years from the time of his installation, and until his successor shall be qualified.

SEC. 3. No person shall be eligible to the office of Governor who is not a qualified elector, and who, at the time of such election, has not attained the age of twenty-five years; and who, except at the first election, under this Constitution, shall not have been a citizen resident of this State for two years next preceding the election.

SEC. 4. The returns of every election for Governor, and other State officers voted for at the general election, shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of Government, directed to the Secretary of State, and on the third Monday of December succeeding such election, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and the Associate Justices, shall meet at the office of the Secretary of State and open and canvass the election returns for Governor and all other State officers, and forthwith declare the result and publish the names of the candidates elected. The persons having the highest number of votes for the respective offices shall be declared elected, but in case any two or more have an equal, and the highest number of votes for the same office, the Legislature shall by joint vote of both Houses, elect one of said persons to fill said office.

Mr. CHAPIN. Would it not read a little better, in Section 4, to say—"and publish the names of the persons elected," instead of "candidates" elected? I move to substitute the word "persons" for "candidates."

Mr. DE LONG. It makes no difference, I think; it is merely a question of taste.

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT. My colleague (Mr. Kinkead) has pointed out another difficulty in the same section, namely, that it would require the presence of each one of the three Supreme Court Judges, or in the event of an increase such as has been authorized, the presence of all the five Judges of the Supreme Court, on the day specified, to render the canvass valid. I suggest whether it would not be better to give the power of canvassing to a majority, as there might, very likely, be circumstances preventing the entire number of Judges from being in attendance.

Mr. KINKEAD. I only ask if the section would not have that effect, or if it would not be so construed?

The PRESIDENT. It is clear, in my opinion, that such is the proper construction.

Mr. KINKEAD. Then I move to amend the section by inserting, after "Associate Justices," the words "or a majority thereof."

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

Sections 5 to 9, inclusive, were read, as follows:

SEC. 5. The Governor shall be Commander-in-Chief of the military forces of this State, except when they shall be called into the service of the United States.

SEC. 6. He shall transact all executive business with the officers of the Government, civil and military, and may require information in writing from the officers of the Executive Department, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

SEC. 7. He shall see that the laws are faithfully executed.

SEC. 8. When any office shall, from any cause, become vacant, and no mode is provided by the Constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, the Governor shall have the power to fill such vacancy by granting a commission, which shall expire at the next election and qualification of the person elected to such office.

SEC. 9. The Governor may, on extraordinary occa-

Wednesday.]

COLLINS—BANKS—PRESIDENT—HAWLEY—McCLINTON.

[July 27.

sions, convene the Legislature by a proclamation, and shall state to both Houses, when organized, the purpose for which they have been convened, and the Legislature shall transact no legislative business except that for which they were specially convened, or such other legislative business as the Governor may call to the attention of the Legislature while in session.

Mr. COLLINS. In the second line of Section 9, the word "a," before "proclamation," I suggest, is superfluous. I will move that it be stricken out, so as to read: "The Governor may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the Legislature by proclamation."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 10 to 13, inclusive, were read, as follows:

SEC. 10. He shall communicate, by message, to the Legislature, at every regular session, the condition of the State, and recommend such measures as he may deem expedient.

SEC. 11. In case of a disagreement between the two Houses with respect to the time of adjournment, the Governor shall have power to adjourn the Legislature to such time as he may think proper; provided, it be not beyond the time fixed for the meeting of the next Legislature.

SEC. 12. No person shall, while holding any office under the United States Government, hold the office of Governor, except as herein expressly provided.

SEC. 13. The Governor shall have the power to suspend the collection of fines and forfeitures, and grant reprieves for a period not exceeding sixty days dating from the time of conviction, for all offenses, except in cases of impeachment. Upon conviction for treason, he shall have power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the Legislature at its next meeting, when the Legislature shall either pardon, direct the execution of the sentence, or grant a further reprieve. And if the Legislature should fail or refuse to make final disposition of such case, the sentence shall be enforced at such time and place as the Governor by his order may direct. The Governor shall communicate to the Legislature, at the beginning of every session, every case of fine or forfeiture remitted, or reprieve, pardon, or commutation granted, stating the name of the convict, the crime of which he was convicted, the sentence, its date, and the date of the remission, commutation, pardon, or reprieve.

Mr. COLLINS. I suggest whether, in the third line from the bottom of Section 13, the word "for" would not read better than "of." Then it would read, "the crime for which he was convicted."

Mr. BANKS. It seems to me we changed that once.

The PRESIDENT. I think the word "of," is right. A man is convicted for killing somebody, for instance, but that constitutes the crime of murder.

Mr. COLLINS. Very well.

Sections 14 to 19, inclusive, were read, as follows:

SEC. 14. The Governor, Justices of the Supreme Court, and Attorney-General, or a major part of them, of whom the Governor shall be one, may, upon such conditions and with such limitations and restrictions as they may think proper, remit fines and forfeitures, commute punishments, and grant pardons after convictions, in all cases, except treason and impeachments, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law, relative to the manner of applying for pardons.

SEC. 15. There shall be a seal of this State, which shall be kept by the Governor and used by him officially, and shall be called "the Great Seal of the State of Nevada."

SEC. 16. All grants and commissions shall be in the name and by the authority of the State of Nevada, sealed with the Great Seal of the State, signed by the Governor, and countersigned by the Secretary of State.

SEC. 17. A Lieutenant-Governor shall be elected at the same time and places, and in the same manner as the Governor, and his term of office, and his eligibility, shall also be the same. He shall be President of the Senate, but shall only have a casting vote therein. If during a vacancy of the office of Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor shall be impeached, displaced, resign, die, or become incapable of performing the duties of the office, or be absent from the State, the President pro tempore of the Senate shall act as Governor, until the vacancy be filled, or the disability cease.

SEC. 18. In case of the impeachment of the Governor, or his removal from office, death, inability to discharge the duties of the said office, resignation, or absence from the State, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant-Governor for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall cease. But when the Governor shall, with the consent of the Legislature, be out of the State in time of war, and at the head of any military force thereof, he shall continue Commander-in-Chief of the military force of the State.

SEC. 19. A Secretary of State, a Treasurer, a Controller, a Surveyor-General, and an Attorney-General, shall be elected at the time and places, and in the same manner as the Governor. The term of office of each shall be the same as is prescribed for the Governor. Any elector shall be eligible to either of said offices.

Mr. BANKS. In some of the engrossed copies we find that word "controller" spelled "comptroller." That is an error not likely to be detected from the reading, but I hope the Secretary will see that it is corrected.

Mr. HAWLEY. The Enrolling Clerk will correct it.

Sections 20 and 21 were read, as follows:

SEC. 20. The Secretary of State shall keep a true record of the official acts of the legislative and executive departments of the government, and shall, when required, lay the same, and all matters relative thereto, before either branch of the Legislature.

SEC. 21. The Governor, Secretary of State, and Attorney-General, shall constitute a Board of State Prison Commissioners, which Board shall have such supervision of all matters connected with the State Prison as may be provided by law. They shall also constitute a "Board of Examiners," with power to examine all claims against the State, (except salaries or compensation of officers fixed by law,) and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law. And no claim against the State, (except salaries or compensation of officers fixed by law,) shall be passed upon by the Legislature without having been considered and acted upon by said "Board of Examiners."

Mr. BANKS. I observe that the words "Board of Examiners" are placed within quotation marks. I do not see any propriety in that, and I move to strike out the quotation marks.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the Secretary will make the correction.

Section 22 was read, as follows:

SEC. 22. The Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Controller, Surveyor General, Attorney General, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law.

Mr. COLLINS. What is the value of that word "State," before "Treasurer" and "Controller?" I am not able to see the use of it, although I believe the word is used elsewhere in the same connection.

Mr. McCLINTON. It is the customary form.

Wednesday.] BANKS—COLLINS—KINKEAD—PRESIDENT—CHAPIN—WARWICK, ETC. [July 27.

The Controller signs as "Controller of State," or "State Controller."

Mr. BANKS. I suppose the designation serves to distinguish them from the county officers of the same name.

Mr. COLLINS. Then, why not say "Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of Nevada," in order to distinguish that officer from County Superintendents? It occurs to me that it is just as necessary. I will offer no amendment, however.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

The Convention took up, on its final reading and revision Article VI, entitled Judicial Department.

Mr. KINKEAD. This article has heretofore been headed "Judicial Department," but as enrolled it is headed "Judiciary." I move to amend, by striking out "Judiciary" and inserting "Judicial Department," as the title of the article.

By unanimous consent the amendment was agreed to, and the Secretary was instructed to make the alteration.

The PRESIDENT. Probably it will be the better way to read the report of the Committee on Enrollment on this article, before proceeding with the reading of the article itself. That will call the attention of members to the amendments which are necessary to be made. If there is no objection, the Secretary will read the report.

The SECRETARY read the report, as follows :

To the President of the Constitutional Convention:

The Committee on Enrollment beg leave, respectfully, to report that they have examined Article VI, of the Constitution, and report the same as enrolled, but recommend the following erasures and amendments, to wit:

1. To substitute the words "Judicial Department," for "Judiciary," as title for Article VI.
2. To insert the word "additional," between the words "two" and "associate," in the third line of Section 2, Article VI.
3. To strike out the words "on questions of law alone," where they occur in the fifth line of Section 4, Article VI.
4. To insert the word "to," between the words "possession" and "or," in the second line of Section 4, Article VI.
5. To insert the word "such," between the words "no" and "change," in the ninth line of Section 5, Article VI.
6. To insert the word "to," between the words "possession" and "or," in the third line of Section 6, Article VI.
7. To insert the word "shall," between the words "also" and "have," in the twelfth line of Section 6, Article VI.
8. To insert the word "powers," between the words "their" and "duties;" and the words "and responsibilities," between the words "duties" and "provided," in the second line of Section 8, Article VI.
9. To strike out the letter "a," where it occurs in the first line of Section 10, Article VI, and to add the letter "s," to the words "Justice" and "Recorder," in the same line.

Your committee would respectfully recommend the adoption of Article VI, as proposed to be amended, and ask to be discharged from further duty.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. T. HAWLEY, Chairman.

[Mr. BROSNAN in the chair.]

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I suggest that it would be better to act upon each of these amendments separately, as there is a large number of them of a merely verbal character.

Mr. CHAPIN. Let the chairman of the Enrolling Committee take the report and move the amendments as each section is read.

Mr. KINKEAD. I would further remark that these errors arose for the most part in consequence of the Enrolling Clerk having been furnished with an incorrect copy of the article as passed.

Mr. HAWLEY. I will take the report, and as each section is read will offer the amendments recommended by the committee.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. WARWICK. In consequence of pressing business, which calls me to California immediately, I desire to be excused from further attendance on the Convention.

Mr. CHAPIN. I beg the gentleman not to leave us; we shall find ourselves without a quorum.

Mr. WARWICK. It is business of such a character that great pecuniary loss is involved if not attended to. I would not ask it if it were not a matter of great importance to me.

The question was taken, and leave of absence was granted to Mr. Warwick, in accordance with his request.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT—AGAIN.

[Mr. COLLINS in the chair.]

The Convention proceeded with the final reading and revision of Article VI, entitled Judicial Department.

The SECRETARY read Section 1, as follows:

SECTION 1. The judicial power of this State shall be vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, and in Justices of the Peace. The Legislature may also establish Courts, for municipal purposes only, in incorporated cities and towns.

Mr. BANKS. I would like to know how the word "only" happened to get in there? I suggest that the word "alone" would be better than "only." It looks very awkward in the printed copy.

Mr. PROCTOR. It is intended to authorize such courts, "only" in incorporated cities and towns. It is to prevent their establishment in the rural districts.

Mr. KINKEAD. That is the idea—"for municipal purposes only."

Mr. PROCTOR. That is the way it reads.

Mr. BANKS. I will not make a motion, provided a good large comma is written after the word "only."

CALL OF THE HOUSE.

Mr. DELONG. I move a call of the House. We have now but just twenty members present, and I have some important business which calls me out. There are several members in town who do not attend, and I think it is rather rough to require some of us to stay here and work all the time, while others are allowed to go about their business.

Wednesday.]

PARKER—CHAPIN—HAWLEY—JOHNSON—KINKEAD.

[July 27.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

The roll was called, and the following members responded to their names: Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crawford, Crosman, DeLong, Folsom, Gibson, Hawley, Kinkead, Lockwood, Mason, McClinton, Murdock, Parker, Proctor, Tagliabuè, Wetherill, and Mr. President. Present, 21; absent 18.

The Sergeant-at-Arms was directed to arrest and bring in the absentees.

Mr. PARKER stated that his colleague, Mr. Kennedy, was unwell, and Mr. Kennedy was thereupon excused.

Mr. CHAPIN. It is stated that there are none of the absent members in town, other than those who have leave, or are sick, except the gentleman from Washoe, (Mr. Nourse,) and as we have now more than a quorum, I move that further proceedings under the call be dispensed with, so that we can proceed with the reading. The Sergeant-at-Arms can doubtless bring in the absent members at any time.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT—AGAIN.

The Convention resumed the final reading and revision of Article VI, entitled Judicial Department.

Section 2 was read, as follows:

SEC. 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and two associate Justices, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum; provided, that the Legislature, by a majority of all the members elected to each branch thereof, may provide for the election of two associate Justices, and if so increased, three shall constitute a quorum. The concurrence of a majority of the whole Court shall be necessary to render a decision.

Mr. HAWLEY. The Committee on Enrollment recommend the insertion of the word "additional," so as to read, "may provide for the election of two additional Associate Justices." It is an accidental omission in the enrollment.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 3 was read, as follows:

SEC. 3. The Justices of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State at the general election, as provided by law, and shall hold office for the term of six years from and including the first Monday of January next succeeding their election; provided, that there shall be elected at the first election under this Constitution, three Justices of the Supreme Court, who shall hold office from and including the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864, and continue in office thereafter two, four, and six years respectively, from the first Monday of January next succeeding their election. They shall meet as soon as practicable after their election and qualification, and at their first meeting shall classify themselves, and determine by lot the term of office each shall fill, and the Justice drawing the shortest term shall be Chief Justice, and after the expiration of his term, the one having the next shortest term shall be Chief Justice, after which the senior Justice in commission shall be Chief Justice. And in case the commission of any two or more of said Justices shall bear the same date, they shall determine by lot who shall be Chief Justice.

[Mr. BROSNAN in the chair.]

Mr. JOHNSON. What is the necessity of those words in the first clause—"as provided by law?" We elsewhere require that the general election shall be provided for by law, and I ask if those words—"as provided by law"—have any pertinency whatever in this connection?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I think it is very clear that they are not necessary.

Mr. JOHNSON. They appear to be entirely superfluous. I move to amend the section by striking out the words "as provided by law."

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

The Sergeant-at-arms reported that Mr. Nourse was present, and,

On motion of Mr. CHAPIN, he was admitted and took his seat.

Mr. KINKEAD. I suggest that the words, "classify themselves," in this section, are unnecessary. If the Justices determine their respective terms of office by lot, I imagine that will be sufficient classification.

Mr. JOHNSON. If my colleague will offer an amendment to strike out those words, I will second it.

Mr. KINKEAD. I move to strike out the words "classify themselves, and."

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

Section 4 was read, as follows:

SEC. 4. The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction in all cases in equity; also, in all cases at law in which is involved the title, or right of possession, or the possession of real estate or mining claims, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, or in which the demand, (exclusive of interest,) or the value of the property in controversy exceeds three hundred dollars; also, in all other civil cases, not included in the general subdivisions of law and equity, and also, on questions of law alone, in all criminal cases in which the offense charged amounts to felony, on questions of law alone. The Court shall also have power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, quo warranto, and habeas corpus, and also all writs necessary or proper to the complete exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. Each of the Justices shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of the State, upon petition by, or on behalf of any person held in actual custody, and may make such writs returnable before himself, or the Supreme Court, or before any District Court in the State, or before any Judge of said Courts.

Mr. KINKEAD. The word "to" is left out of the enrolled copy, between the words "possession" and "or," in the second line. The Enrolling Committee recommend that the word "to" be inserted there in the enrolled copy.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. HAWLEY. The committee also recommend the striking out of the words "on questions of law alone," where they occur in the fifth line, as enrolled.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. On the third read-

Wednesday,]

HAWLEY—NOURSE—BROSNAN—PRESIDENT—BANKS—KINKEAD.

[July 27.

ing of the article, the Convention merely transposed the sentences, so that those words would come in after "and also."

Mr. HAWLEY. I move to make that amendment, so that the sentence will read: "And also, on questions of law alone, in all criminal cases in which the offense charged amounts to felony."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

[The PRESIDENT in the chair.]

Mr. NOURSE. Is it necessary, I will inquire, to adopt any provision specifying that there shall be no jury trials in the Supreme Court?

Mr. BROSNAN. I do not think it is necessary, because the Court has only appellate jurisdiction.

The PRESIDENT. I do not think it is necessary. I had made inquiry concerning the same matter.

Section 5 was read, as follows:

SEC. 5. The State is hereby divided into nine Judicial Districts, of which the County of Storey shall constitute the first; the County of Ormsby the second; the County of Lyon the third; the County of Washoe the fourth; the Counties of Nye and Churchill the fifth; the County of Humboldt the sixth; the County of Lander the seventh; the County of Douglas the eighth; and the County of Esmeralda the ninth. The County of Roop shall be attached to the County of Washoe for judicial purposes, until as otherwise provided by law. The Legislature may, however, provide by law for an alteration in the boundaries or divisions of the districts herein prescribed, and also, for increasing or diminishing the number of the Judicial Districts and Judges therein; but no change shall take effect except in case of a vacancy, or the expiration of the term of an incumbent of the office. At the first general election under the Constitution, there shall be elected in each of the respective districts, (except as in this section hereafter otherwise provided,) one District Judge, who shall hold office from and including the first Monday of December, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, and until the first Monday of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven; after the said first election, there shall be elected at the general election which immediately precedes the expiration of the term of his predecessor, one District Judge in each of the respective Judicial Districts, (except in the first district, as in this section hereinafter provided.) The District Judges shall be elected by the qualified electors of their respective districts, and shall hold office for the term of four years (excepting those elected at said first election) from and including the first Monday of January next succeeding their election and qualification; provided, that the first Judicial District shall be entitled to, and shall have three District Judges, who shall possess co-extensive and concurrent jurisdiction, and who shall be elected at the same times, in the same manner, and shall hold office for the like terms, as herein prescribed in relation to the Judges in other Judicial Districts. Any one of said Judges may preside on the empanneling of Grand Juries, and the presentment and trial on indictments, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by law.

Mr. NOURSE. As I understood the Secretary to read it, the County of Roop is to be attached to the County of Washoe, "until as otherwise provided by law." I move to strike out the word "as."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. HAWLEY. The Enrolling Committee recommend that the word "such," be inserted between "no" and "change," in the ninth line, as enrolled.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 6 was read, as follows:

SEC. 6. The District Courts in the several Judicial Districts of this State, shall have original jurisdiction in all cases in equity; also, in all cases at law which involve the title, or the right of possession, or the possession of real property, or mining claims, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, and in all other cases in which the demand, (exclusive of interest,) or the value of the property in controversy, exceeds three hundred dollars; also, in all cases relating to the estates of deceased persons, and the persons and estates of minors and insane persons, and of the action of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, and also, in all criminal cases, not otherwise provided for by law. They shall also have final appellate jurisdiction in cases arising in Justices' Courts, and such other inferior tribunals as the Legislature may provide. The District Courts and their judges shall have power to issue writs of mandamus, injunction, quo warranto, certiorari, and all other writs proper and necessary to the complete exercise of their jurisdiction; and also, shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, on petition by or on behalf of any person held in actual custody in their respective districts.

Mr. HAWLEY. The committee recommend the insertion of the word "to," between "possession" and "or," in the third line, so as to read "or the right of possession to, or the possession of real property," etc.

Mr. BANKS. Would not the same meaning be better obtained by saying "possessory right to?"

Mr. KINKEAD. We have used this same phrase once before.

The PRESIDENT. My remembrance is that discussion was had upon it, and that the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee suggested the words then adopted, as the proper phraseology.

Mr. BROSNAN. "The right of possession to" is a legal phrase, and well understood by every lawyer. It is correct in the engrossed article. It should read: "Which involve the title, or the right of possession to, or the possession of real property, or mining claims," etc.

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT. In the latter part of the section the language is, "and such other inferior tribunals as the Legislature may provide." In my opinion the intention is not properly expressed, and I wish to call the attention of the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee to it. The words, "as prescribed by law," I think would be preferable.

Mr. BROSNAN. I will move as an amendment, to strike out the words, "the Legislature may provide," and insert in lieu thereof the words, "may be established by law."

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

Mr. HAWLEY. The Enrolling Committee recommend to insert the word "shall," between "also" and "have," in the last clause, so that it will read: "And also shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus," etc. It is right in the engrossed copy.

Wednesday.] McCLINTON—BROSNAN—NOURSE—BANKS—KINKEAD—HAWLEY—PROCTOR. [July 27.

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

Mr. McCLINTON. I think it would have read better to put "shall" before the word "also."

Mr. BROSNAN. I move a further amendment in this section, Mr. President. It now reads: "The District Courts, and their Judges, shall have power to issue writs," etc. I move to strike out the words, "their Judges," and insert instead, "the Judges thereof," so as to read: "The District Courts, and the Judges thereof, shall have power," etc.

The amendment was adopted by unanimous consent.

Section 7 was read, as follows:

SEC. 7. The times of holding the Supreme Court, and District Courts, shall be as fixed by law. The terms of the Supreme Court shall be held at the seat of Government, and the terms of the District Courts shall be held at the county seats of their respective counties: Provided, that in case any county shall be hereafter divided into two or more districts, the Legislature may by law designate the places of holding such courts.

Mr. NOURSE. Would it not read better to say, "holding Courts in such Districts?" I do not care for it particularly, but I will make a motion to amend the last sentence so as to read in that manner.

Mr. BANKS. I do not see the reason for the amendment. Read it again.

The SECRETARY. It will then read: "The Legislature may by law designate the places of holding Courts in such Districts."

Mr. BANKS. Very well.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 8 was read, as follows:

SEC. 8. The Legislature shall determine the number of Justices of the Peace to be elected in each city and township of the State, and shall fix by law their duties; provided, that such Justices' Courts shall not have jurisdiction of the following cases, viz.: First—Of cases in which the matter in dispute is a money demand or personal property, and the amount of the demand, (exclusive of interest,) or the value of the property, exceeds three hundred dollars. Second—Of cases wherein the title to real estate or mining claims, or questions of boundaries to land, is or may be involved; or of cases that in any manner shall conflict with the jurisdiction of the several Courts of Record in this State. And provided further, that Justices' Courts shall have such criminal jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law. And the Legislature may confer upon said courts jurisdiction concurrent with the District Courts of actions to enforce mechanics' liens, wherein the amount (exclusive of interest) does not exceed three hundred dollars; and also of actions for the possession of lands and tenements, where the relation of landlord and tenant exists, or when such possession has been unlawfully or fraudulently obtained or withheld. The Legislature shall also prescribe the manner, and determine the cases in which appeals may be taken from Justices' and other courts. The Supreme Court, the District Courts, and such other courts as the Legislature shall designate, shall be Courts of Record.

Mr. KINKEAD. The last part of the section reads: "The Legislature shall also prescribe the manner, and determine the cases, in which appeals may be taken," etc. I move to insert the words "by law," so as to read: "The Legislature shall also prescribe by law the manner," etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 9 and 10 were read, as follows:

SEC. 9. Provision shall be made by law prescribing the powers, duties, and responsibilities of any Municipal Court that may be established in pursuance of Section 1 of this article, and also fixing by law the jurisdiction of said court, so as not to conflict with that of the several Courts of Record.

SEC. 10. No judicial officer, except a Justice of the Peace and City Recorder, shall receive to his own use any fees or perquisites of office.

Mr. HAWLEY. The Committee on Enrollment thought it necessary to amend Section 10, by striking out the word "a," and inserting the letter s after "Justice" and "Recorder," so as to read: "No judicial officer, except Justices of the Peace and City Recorders, shall receive," etc.

The PRESIDENT. It appears to be correct as it now reads.

Mr. PROCTOR. As it is near the time for the recess under the rules, I move to extend the time for fifteen minutes.

Mr. HAWLEY. I move to amend so as to extend the time one hour.

Mr. PARKER. We shall have to hold an evening session anyhow.

The PRESIDENT. The question is on extending the time for the recess until six o'clock.

The question was taken, and, on a division, the motion was agreed to—ayes, 10; noes, 8.

The question was taken on the amendment recommended by the Committee on Enrollment, in Section 10, and it was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 11 to 15, inclusive, were read, as follows:

SEC. 11. The Justices of the Supreme Court, and the District Judges, shall be ineligible to any office, other than a judicial office, during the term for which they shall have been elected, and all elections or appointments of any such judges by the people, Legislature, or otherwise, during said period, to any office other than judicial, shall be void.

SEC. 12. Judges shall not charge juries in respect to matters of fact, but may state the testimony and declare the law.

SEC. 13. The style of all process shall be, "The State of Nevada," and all prosecutions shall be conducted in the name and by the authority of the same.

SEC. 14. There shall be but one form of civil action, and law and equity may be administered in the same action.

SEC. 15. The Justices of the Supreme Court, and District Judges shall each receive, quarterly, for their services, a compensation to be fixed by law, and which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which they shall have been elected, unless in case a vacancy occurs, in which case the successor of the former incumbent shall only receive such salary as may be provided by law at the time of his election or appointment. And provision shall be made by law for setting apart from each year's revenue a sufficient amount of money to pay such compensation. Provided, that District Judges shall be paid out of the county treasuries of the counties composing their respective districts.

Wednesday,] PRESIDENT—BROSNAN—BANKS—TAGLIABUE—HAWLEY—KINKEAD—COLLINS. [July 27.

The PRESIDENT. The section last read provides that the salary shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which a judge shall have been elected; but it does not apply, as I understand it, to the successor of a judge who may vacate the office prior to the expiration of his term: it only prohibits an increase or diminution of the salary of his predecessor in office. The Legislature may have fixed the salary either more or less at any time preceding the vacancy, and the change will only take effect upon the occurrence of such vacancy. When the incumbent goes out of office, the reduced or increased salary, as it may be, applies to his successor.

Mr. BROSNAN. My colleague (Mr. DeLong) offered an amendment to this section, which was adopted, embracing the idea that the salary of a judge may be lessened or increased, to take effect after his election or appointment to fill a vacancy for an unexpired term. Will the Secretary read it again?

The SECRETARY again read Section 15.

The PRESIDENT. I am content with it.

Mr. BANKS. I move that where the words "only receive," occur, those words be transposed so as to read, "shall receive only such salary," etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. BANKS. It says, "unless a vacancy occurs;" I move to strike out the letter s from "occurs," so as to read, "unless a vacancy occur."

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I object.

Mr. HAWLEY. It would be proper to insert the word "may" or "shall" before the word "occur."

Mr. BANKS. It is not necessary; the word "shall" is understood there.

Mr. HAWLEY. Then it is not necessary to make any change.

Mr. BANKS. If there is any objection, let "occurs" go, but it is not used in that connection by any good writer.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Nye (Mr. Tagliabue) has called the attention of the Chair to the fact that no provision has been made fixing the salaries of the District Judges who are first to be elected.

Mr. TAGLIABUE. And as their compensation cannot be increased or diminished during their term of office, it seems to me they would be in rather a bad fix.

Mr. BROSNAN. That matter was brought up in the Schedule Committee, and I understood from the gentleman from Lyon, (Mr. Kennedy,) who, I regret, is not now in his seat, that the committee had determined upon the amount of Judges' salaries. He told me they would be provided for in the Schedule.

Mr. KINKEAD. We have made an alteration in the section, so as to provide that the compensation shall be fixed "by law." I think there will be no difficulty about that.

The PRESIDENT. If there be no objection, we will pass the pending question for the present. It can come up when the Schedule is reached.

Section 16 was read, as follows:

SEC. 16. The Legislature, at its first session, and from time to time thereafter, shall provide by law that upon the institution of each civil action, and other proceedings, and also upon the perfecting of an appeal in any civil action or proceeding in the several courts of Record in this State, a special court fee or tax, which shall be advanced to the clerks of said courts respectively, by the party or parties bringing such action or proceeding, or taking such appeal: and the money so paid in shall be accounted for by such clerks, and applied towards the payment of the compensation of the judges of said courts, as shall be directed by law.

Mr. KINKEAD. The word "for" seems to be necessary, so as to require the Legislature to provide for a special tax.

The PRESIDENT. I suggest that it be made to read "provide for the payment of," etc.

Mr. COLLINS. The language now is, "shall be advanced."

The PRESIDENT. If we strike out the word "which," after "tax," it will leave the section as it should be.

Mr. KINKEAD. I will move that amendment.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. HAWLEY. The Committee on Enrollment recommend the insertion of certain words which have been omitted in the first clause, so that it will read: "And shall fix by law their powers, duties and responsibilities."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 17 and 18 were read, as follows:

SEC. 17. The Legislature shall have no power to grant leave of absence to a judicial officer; and any such officer who shall absent himself from the State for more than ninety consecutive days, shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

SEC. 18. No judicial officer shall be superseded, nor shall the organization of the several courts of the Territory of Nevada be changed, until the election and qualification of the several officers provided for in this article.

No amendments were proposed.

Mr. KINKEAD. As we have now finished the reading of the article, I move that the Convention take a recess till seven o'clock.

The PRESIDENT. If we take a recess, an additional hour will be consumed this evening in obtaining a quorum.

Mr. BANKS. I am opposed to working all the time, without rest, and I hope we shall take a recess now.

The question was taken, and upon a division, the motion was agreed to—ayes, 12; noes not counted.

Accordingly, at twenty minutes after five o'clock, the Convention took a recess until seven o'clock, P. M.

— EVENING SESSION.

The Convention re-assembled, and was called to order at ten minutes after seven o'clock, P. M.

Wednesday,] HAWLEY—MASON—JOHNSON—BROSNAN—PARKER—GIBSON—CHAPIN. [July 27.

On motion of Mr. BANKS, in the temporary absence of the President, Mr. DeLONG took the chair as President pro tem.

CALL OF THE HOUSE.

On motion of Mr. PARKER, a call of the House was ordered, and the roll being called, the following members responded: Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crawford, Crozman, DeLong, Folsom, Gibson, Hawley, Kennedy, Kinkead, Mason, McClinton, Parker, Proctor, Tagliabue, Wetherill, and Mr. President. Present, 20; absent, 19.

The Sergeant-at-Arms was instructed to arrest and bring in such absent members as he could find.

A quorum being present, on motion of Mr. CHAPIN, further proceedings under the call were dispensed with.

Mr. COLLINS asked indefinite leave of absence for Mr. Frizell, which was granted.

ELECTION ORDINANCE.

Mr. HAWLEY. When I made the last report from the Enrolling Committee, I was under the impression that everything had then been examined, and that it was a final report. In that I was mistaken, and I have now to report the Ordinance providing for certain elections, etc., which the committee find correctly enrolled, with the exception of a single word. The word "elections" has been used once where it should be "electors," and the committee recommend that the word "electors" be substituted.

The report was accepted, and the ordinance placed on file for final revision.

PAY OF OFFICERS AND ATTACHES.

Mr. MASON. I would like to make a suggestion in regard to the proceedings of the Convention for the first day or two, when I was not present. The pay of the officers and attaches of the Convention was then established, and I think that in some respects the rates agreed upon were unjust. I think the Secretaries, at least, are laborers worthy of their hire, and we should give them such compensation as will be worth something when they get it—if they ever do. Then, again, our Doorkeeper has a compensation of only four dollars a day, which, under all the circumstances, I consider wholly insufficient. I will, therefore, now submit a motion that the Assistant Secretary be allowed ten dollars a day, and the Doorkeeper eight dollars a day.

Mr. JOHNSON. I think it is a very proper motion in view of the restriction which we have adopted relative to expenditures, as we can readily foresee that the officers of the Convention are not likely to receive their pay short of about four years.

Mr. BROSNAN. How much does the Secretary receive under the resolution heretofore adopted?

Mr. MASON. Ten dollars a day.

Mr. BROSNAN. I submit that it is not enough. The Secretary has been facilitating the business of the Convention very much by his extremely arduous labors, and I would be inclined to say much more in the way of eulogy if he were not present.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The motion is only to increase the pay of the Assistant Secretary to ten dollars per day, as the Chair understands.

Mr. PARKER. I move to amend by adding for the Secretary fifteen dollars a day.

Mr. PROCTOR. I move to add that the pay of the Sergeant-at-Arms be raised to ten dollars a day.

Mr. GIBSON. Do not forget the Porter. I move that his pay be raised from four to eight dollars a day.

Mr. MASON. I will accept the amendments proposed.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The question then is on the motion as modified. The Secretary will read it.

The SECRETARY. The resolution offered by the gentleman from Esmeralda, as modified, reads as follows:

Resolved, That the salaries of the following officers of this Convention be increased as follows: Secretary from ten to fifteen dollars per day; Assistant Secretary from five to ten dollars per day; Sergeant-at-Arms from six to ten dollars per day; and Porter from four to eight dollars per day.

The question was taken, and the resolution was unanimously adopted.

Mr. JOHNSON. In view of the changes which have been made, I suggest that the pay of the Chaplains should also be increased, and for the same reasons which have induced the increase of the compensation of the other officers. It is true that their labors have been inconsiderable, merely coming here in the morning and offering up a prayer, but it will probably be some time before they will receive anything, and when they do, as the rate is now fixed—two dollars and a half per day—it will be much less than is ordinarily paid for such services. I move that the pay of the Chaplains be increased from two and a half to four dollars per day.

Mr. CHAPIN. I would like quite as well as any one to pay a good, liberal price, but we are overturning all that system of economy which we have been bragging about so long. Our boasting about the small amount of expense to be incurred by the Convention has gone forth to the people, and I declare I dislike very much to have to take it all back at the last moment. I know that the attaches have worked very hard, but at the same time the members have worked for nothing, and boarded themselves, and they also have worked hard. I do dislike the idea of increasing the bill almost one hundred per cent., at the very last moment.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The only question is on the proposed increase of the pay of the Wednesday,] JOHNSON—COLLINS—BANKS—GIBSON—CHAPIN—MASON—PARKER, ETC. [July 27.

Chaplains. The proposition to increase the pay of the other officers and attaches, has already been settled.

Mr. JOHNSON. If I did not entertain strong hopes of the adoption of the Constitution, I should not be in favor of the increased compensation which has already been provided, nor of that now under consideration, because those serving under the Territorial Government, I think it quite probable, will all be paid very soon; but under the State Government, with the restrictions we have adopted, I do not believe a single dollar will be disbursed to any of the officers or attaches of the Convention within twelve months, and indeed it is very doubtful if they will be able to realize anything for their services within two years from this time.

Mr. COLLINS. I will remind the gentleman from Ormsby, that my colleague (Mr. Brosnan) has notified the Convention of his intention to move to strike out the restriction in regard to expenditures, to which the gentleman alludes.

Mr. JOHNSON. If that were stricken out, I should vote against increasing the pay of any one of the officers or attaches.

Mr. COLLINS. It occurs to me, sir, that this is a most extraordinary movement. At the commencement of the sessions of the Convention, we declared what should be the compensation of each officer and employé, in order that each in accepting his office might take it with his eyes wide open. But after having proclaimed a system of economy from the commencement—after having even deprived ourselves of the necessary, or at all events, the ordinary means of becoming acquainted with the various propositions that were from day to day, and from hour to hour, brought before us, by having them presented in a printed form—it is very strange that we should now, just at the close of the Convention, proclaim to the world that all our past professions amounted to nothing, thus setting an example to the Legislature which is to follow us, under the organization of the State Government, of squandering the people's money. Here we are tying the Legislature down in such a manner that some gentlemen have come to the conclusion that the members will get nothing for their services, whilst others say they care not if they do not get anything; and yet at the same time we are ourselves spending the people's money, before the Legislature can have an opportunity of appropriating it to any purpose. If this question of compensation had come up as a new matter, at the close of the Convention, and the officers and attaches knew nothing of what their pay was to be, or had any reason for expecting a large compensation, the question would be a very different one; but we gave them notice, at the very commencement, that whosoever served the Convention would get so much pay, and no more; and now, after the work is all done, why should we turn about and say that our former declarations and professions of economy were all "popycock," and that we really did not mean anything of the kind? I know that those gentlemen have been faithful; they have done their work well, and if our coffers were full, I would be willing to give them a handsome bonus.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The only question, the Chair will remind the gentleman, is upon the motion to raise the pay of the Chaplain. The vote has already been taken upon the other proposition.

Mr. COLLINS. The pay of one of the Secretaries has been increased one hundred per cent., and that of the other fifty per cent., I believe. I would like to give the clergyman something, but I do dislike this whole matter.

Mr. BANKS. It would be very easy, I think, by introducing a resolution to start anew.

Mr. GIBSON. It was not supposed originally, I presume, by any one, that we were going to have so much night-work.

Mr. CHAPIN. I hope the motion will be withdrawn. It may possibly affect the action of the Convention upon that section which gentlemen have referred to with so much dissatisfaction.

Mr. JOHNSON. If there is any considerable opposition, I will withdraw it.

Mr. MASON. I will renew it, and I will tell the Convention why. I consider, sir, that the laborer is worthy of his hire, and if a gentleman has devoted years of his life to acquiring those accomplishments which fit him to serve acceptably in such a capacity, he is entitled to a reasonable compensation, as interest on the capital he has invested, and the time he has thus consumed. I am opposed to employing clerks or other officers without paying them adequately, or at least attempting to pay them, for it is true there are very serious doubts as to whether they will ever get anything or not. So far as the preachers are concerned, I am not very particular, but at the same time I think it would look well for us to pay them handsomely. I know it is a hard matter for men to exercise that calling, and I think they should be paid well for it.

Mr. CHAPIN. I contend that we were just as wise on the first day of our session, and just as competent to judge of the value of the services to be rendered, as we are now, and, sir, I am going to vote against granting any increase of pay to those gentlemen. I call for the yeas and nays.

Mr. JOHNSON. I suggest that we were not quite as well informed regarding the clergymen, at the beginning, as we did not know how efficiently they could officiate.

Mr. PARKER. I believe the motion only increases the expenditures of the Convention about forty dollars.

Mr. WETHERILL. If this is not adopted, I hope the other proposition will be reconsidered.

Mr. BANKS. So do I.

The question was taken by yeas and nays, on

Wednesday.]

KINKEAD—CHAPIN—GIBSON—PARKER—BANKS—BROSNAN.

[July 27.]

the motion to increase the per diem of Chaplains to four dollars, and the vote was—yeas, 13; nays, 7—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Bolden, Brosnan, Crawford, Crosman, Gibson, Hawley, Kinkead, Mason, Parker, Proctor, Tagliabua, Wetherill, and Mr. President—13.

Nays—Messrs. Banks, Chapin, Collins, DeLong, Folsom, Kennedy, and McClinton—7.

So the motion was agreed to.

Mr. KINKEAD. Now I move that the pay of members of the Convention be doubled. [Laughter.]

Mr. CHAPIN. I ask to have my vote changed to the affirmative on the proposition just adopted, for the purpose of moving a reconsideration.

Mr. GIBSON. It is too late.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The result of the vote has been announced; it is too late to change.

FINAL REVISION—IMPEACHMENT AND REMOVAL.

The Convention resumed the final reading and revision of the Constitution, as enrolled, commencing with Article VII, entitled Impeachment and Removal from Office, which had been reached at the time of the afternoon recess.

The SECRETARY read Sections 1 and 2, as follows:

SECTION 1. The Assembly shall have the sole power of impeaching. The concurrence of a majority of all the members elected shall be necessary to an impeachment. All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate, and when sitting for that purpose, the Senators shall be upon oath or affirmation, to do justice according to law and evidence. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall preside over the Senate while sitting to try the Governor or Lieutenant Governor on Impeachment. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the Senators elected.

SEC. 2. The Governor and other State and Judicial officers, except Justices of the Peace, shall be liable to impeachment for misdemeanor or malfeasance in office; but judgment in such case shall not extend further than removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, profit, or trust under this State. The party, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

Mr. PARKER. I call attention to the language used in Section 2—"to hold any office of honor, profit, or trust, under this State." Is that right?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I think it is. Sections 3 and 4 were read, as follows:

SEC. 3. For any reasonable cause, to be entered on the journal of each House, which may or may not be sufficient grounds for impeachment, the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, and Judges of the District Courts, shall be removed from office on the vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the Legislature, and the Justice or Judge complained of shall be served with a copy of the complaint against him, and shall have an opportunity of being heard in person or by counsel in his defense; provided, that no member of either branch of the Legislature shall be eligible to fill the vacancy occasioned by such removal.

SEC. 4. Provision shall be made by law for the removal from office of any civil officer, other than those in this article previously specified, for malfeasance or non-feasance in the performance of his duties.

No amendment was proposed.

CORPORATIONS.

The Convention took up, on its final revision, Article VIII, entitled Municipal and other Corporations.

The SECRETARY read Sections 1 to 5, inclusive, as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature shall possess no special act in any manner relating to corporate powers, except for municipal purposes; but corporations may be formed under general laws; and all such laws may, from time to time, be altered or repealed.

SEC. 2. All real property and possessory rights to the same, as well as personal property in this State, belonging to corporations, now existing or hereafter created, shall be subject to taxation the same as property of individuals; provided, that the property of corporations formed for municipal, charitable, religious, or educational purposes, may be exempted by law.

SEC. 3. Dues from corporations shall be secured by such means as may be prescribed by law; provided, that corporators in corporations formed under the laws of this State shall not be individually liable for the debts or liabilities of such corporation.

SEC. 4. Corporations created by or under the laws of the Territory of Nevada shall be subject to the provisions of such laws until the Legislature shall pass laws regulating the same, in pursuance of the provisions of this Constitution.

SEC. 5. Corporations may sue and be sued in all courts, in like cases as individuals.

Mr. BANKS. That should be "in like manner as individuals." That word "cases" was changed to "manner." I think. The word is used in the same connection in the Constitution of California, and I remember that the Committee on Phraseology agreed to strike out the word "cases," and insert "manner" in its place.

Mr. BROSNAN. The words "in like cases" seem superfluous; "as individuals," would answer all purposes.

Mr. BANKS. I will move to substitute the word "manner" in place of "cases." What was the suggestion of the gentleman from Storey?

Mr. BROSNAN. That we might take out those words altogether, and let the section read: "Corporations may sue and be sued in all courts, as individuals." That is, as individuals may sue and be sued; leaving out the words "in like cases."

Mr. BANKS. I think it would be better to say "in like manner."

The amendment proposed by Mr. Banks was unanimously agreed to.

Sections 6 and 7 were read, as follows:

SEC. 6. No bank notes or paper of any kind shall ever be permitted to circulate as money in this State, except the Federal currency and the notes of banks authorized under the laws of Congress.

SEC. 7. No right of way shall be appropriated to the use of any corporation until full compensation be first made or secured therefor.

Mr. BANKS. When Section 2 of Article VII was read, my attention was directed to the language there used, and I will ask the attention of the Convention to it. It provides that the Governor and other officers shall be liable to impeachment, etc., but judgment shall only extend to removal and "disqualification" to hold any office of honor, profit, or trust, under this State." The phrase "under this State," may be correct, but it has an awkward sound to me. I suggest that it should be changed to "under this Constitution," or "under this State Government."

Wednesday.] BANKS—BROSNAN—CHAPIN—NOURSE—JOHNSON—KINKEAD—PROCTOR. [July 27.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I believe it is the language ordinarily used.

Mr. BANKS. If there is any sanction of usage for it, I will not move an amendment; if not, I will move to strike out the word "State," and insert "Constitution."

Mr. BROSNAN. It would be shorter to substitute the word "in," for "under," and leave the rest as it is, so as to read: "Any office of honor, profit, or trust, in this State."

Mr. PARKER. That is the same thing.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. If there is no objection, the Convention will go back to that section.

Mr. CHAPIN. I object. There are many offices of honor or trust outside of the State Government.

Sections 8, 9, and 10 were read, as follows:

SEC. 8. The Legislature shall provide for the organization of cities and towns by general laws; and restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts, and loaning their credit, except for procuring supplies of water.

SEC. 9. The State shall not donate or loan money or its credit, subscribe to or be interested in the stock of any company, association, or corporation, except corporations formed for educational or charitable purposes.

SEC. 10. No county, city, town, or other municipal corporation shall become a stockholder in any joint stock company, corporation, or association whatever, or loan its credit in aid of any such company, corporation, or association, except railroad corporations, companies, or associations.

Mr. NOURSE. Just read Section 9 again. It seems to me that it sounds very differently from the way it read when it was passed.

The SECRETARY again read Section 9.

Mr. NOURSE. I thought I heard something about railroads in it. [Laughter.]

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe the gentleman from Washoe has not been here since the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Fitch) has absented himself, and he is therefore somewhat apprehensive on the subject of railroads.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. His memory runs back to old times. [Merriment.]

FINANCE AND STATE DEBT.

The Convention proceeded with the final revision of Article IX, entitled Finance and State Debt.

The SECRETARY read Section 1, as follows:

SECTION 1. The fiscal year shall commence January 1st.

Mr. BROSNAN. I would like to have that section amended so as to provide that the fiscal year shall commence "on the first day of January in each year," instead of "January 1st."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 2 was read, as follows:

SEC. 2. The Legislature shall provide for an annual tax sufficient to defray the estimated expenses of the State for each fiscal year; and whenever the expenses of any year shall exceed the income, the Legislature shall provide for levying a tax sufficient with other sources of income to pay the deficiency, as well as the estimated expenses of such ensuing year or two years.

Mr. KINKEAD. I move to amend by inserting the words "by law," in the first line, after the word "provide."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. PROCTOR. Is not this section likely to conflict with the one which, on the motion of the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Chapin,) was incorporated in the Schedule?

Mr. BROSNAN. I think so.

Section 3 was read, as follows:

SEC. 3. For the purpose of enabling the State to transact its business upon a cash basis, from its organization, the State may contract public debts; but such debts shall never in the aggregate, exclusive of interest, exceed the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, except for the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenses as hereinafter mentioned. Every such debt shall be authorized by law for some purpose or purposes to be distinctly specified therein, and every such law shall provide for levying an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest semi-annually, and the principal within twenty years from the passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of said taxes to the payment of said principal and interest; and such appropriation shall not be repealed, nor the taxes be postponed or diminished, until the principal and interest of said debts shall have been wholly paid. Every contract of indebtedness entered into or assumed by or on behalf of the State, when all its debts and liabilities amount to said sum before mentioned, shall be void and of no effect, except in cases of money borrowed to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, defend the State in time of war, or, if hostilities be threatened, provide for the public defense.

Mr. BANKS. I would like to understand what is meant in this section by the taxes not being postponed? Does it mean that the time for the collection of the taxes shall not be postponed? Or what is meant by that language?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The gentleman must not ask the Chair too many questions of that nature. [Merriment.]

Mr. BANKS. I suppose it means that the time for the collection shall not be postponed.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I concur.

Mr. BANKS. It says: "And such appropriation shall not be repealed, nor the taxes be postponed or diminished." I do not see that such a provision has any connection with the rest of the section, and it is of no use. I therefore move to strike out the words "postponed or."

Mr. NOURSE. I object.

Section 4 was read, as follows:

SEC. 4. The State shall never assume the debts of any county, town, city, or other corporation whatever, unless such debts have been created to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or to provide for the public defense.

Mr. CHAPIN. I move to amend Section 2 of this article, which provides for levying taxes to defray the expenses of each year, by adding the words "except as hereinafter provided." Then there can be no possible conflict.

Mr. BROSNAN. Be it it is designed to amend the section in the Schedule.

Wednesday,]

JOHNSON—NOURSE—McCLINTON—COLLINS.

[July 27.]

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall certainly object to incorporating those words.

TAXATION.

Article X, entitled Taxation, was read on its final revision, as follows:

ARTICLE X.

TAXATION.

SECTION. 1. The Legislature shall provide by law for a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation, and shall prescribe such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property, real, personal, and possessory, excepting mines and mining claims, the proceeds of which alone shall be taxed, and also excepting such property as may be exempted by law, for municipal, educational, literary, scientific, religious, or charitable purposes.

Mr. NOURSE. I ask unanimous consent to amend by striking out all after the word "possessory." [Laughter.]

Several members objected.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Objections being heard, the amendment cannot be entertained.

EDUCATION.

Article XI, entitled Education, was taken up on final revision.

The SECRETARY read Sections 1 to 4, inclusive, as follows:

SECTION 1. The Legislature shall encourage by all suitable means the promotion of intellectual, literary, scientific, mining, mechanical, agricultural, and moral improvement, and also provide for the election, by the people, at the general election, of a Superintendent of Public Instruction, whose term of office shall be two years from the first Monday of January, 1865, and until the election and the qualification of his successor, and whose duties shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. The Legislature shall provide for a uniform system of common schools, by which a school shall be established and maintained in each school district, at least six months in every year; and any school district neglecting to establish and maintain such a school, or which shall allow instruction of a sectarian character therein, may be deprived of its proportion of the interest of the public school fund during such neglect or infraction; and the Legislature may pass such laws as will tend to secure a general attendance of the children in each school district upon said public schools.

SEC. 3. All lands, including the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections in every township, donated for the benefit of public schools, in the Act of the thirty-eighth Congress, to enable the people of Nevada Territory to form a State Government; the thirty thousand acres of public lands granted by an Act of Congress, and approved July 2d, 1862, for each Senator and Representative in Congress; and all proceeds of lands that have been or may hereafter be granted or appropriated by the United States to this State; and also the five hundred thousand (500,000) acres of land granted to the new States under the Act of Congress distributing the proceeds of the public lands among the several States of the Union, approved A. D. 1841; provided, that Congress make provisions for, or authorizes such diversion to be made, for the purposes herein contained; all estates that may escheat to the State; all of such per cent. as may be granted by Congress on the sale of land; all fines collected under the penal laws of the State; all property given or bequeathed to the State for educational purposes; and all proceeds derived from any or all of said sources, shall be, and the same are hereby solemnly pledged for educational purposes, and shall not be transferred to any other fund for other uses; and the interest thereon shall, from time to time, be apportioned among the several counties, in proportion to the ascertained numbers of the persons between the ages of six and eighteen years in the different counties. And the Legislature shall provide for the sale of floating land warrants to cover the aforesaid lands, and for the investment of all proceeds derived from any of the above-mentioned sources, in United States bonds, or the bonds of this State; provided, that the interest only of the aforesaid proceeds shall be used for educational purposes, and any surplus interest shall be added to the principal sum; and provided further, that such portion of said interest as may be necessary, may be appropriated for the support of the State University.

SEC. 4. The Legislature shall provide for the establishment of a State University, which shall embrace departments for agriculture, mechanic arts, and mining, to be controlled by a Board of Regents, whose duties shall be prescribed by law.

Mr. McCLINTON. The section last read sounds rather strangely to me. The University is to have departments for Agriculture, Mechanic Arts, and Mining. Are they going to work at mining in the University? That wording, it appears to me, is incorrect.

Mr. COLLINS. I will state the reasons why that language was incorporated in the article. The law of Congress of 1862 gives to each State thirty thousand acres of land for each member of Congress, for the purpose of a college for the promotion of agriculture and the mechanic arts—

Mr. McCLINTON. I have no fault to find with anything but the phraseology.

Mr. COLLINS. For the sake of avoiding tautology—

The PRESIDENT pro tem. (interrupting.) There is no question before the Convention.

Mr. COLLINS. I thought the gentleman from Esmeralda (Mr. McClinton) had raised a question.

Sections 5 to 9, inclusive, were read, (being the rest of the article,) as follows:

SEC. 5. The Legislature shall have power to establish Normal Schools, and such different grades of schools, from the primary department to the University, as in their discretion they may deem necessary; and all professors in said University, or teachers in said schools, of whatever grade, shall be required to take and subscribe to the oath as prescribed in Article XVI of this Constitution. No professor or teacher who fails to comply with the provisions of any law framed in accordance with the provisions of this section, shall be entitled to receive any portion of the public moneys set apart for school purposes.

SEC. 6. The Legislature shall provide a special tax of one-half of one mill on the dollar of all taxable property in the State, in addition to the other means provided for the support and maintenance of said University and common schools; provided, that at the end of ten years they may reduce said tax to one quarter of one mill on each dollar of taxable property.

SEC. 7. The Governor, Secretary of State, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, shall for the first four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, constitute a Board of Regents to control and manage the affairs of the University, and the funds of the same, under such regulations as may be provided by law; but the Legislature shall, at its regular session next preceding the expiration of the term of office of said Board of Regents, provide for the election of a new Board of Regents, and define their duties.

SEC. 8. The Board of Regents shall, from the interest accruing from the first funds which come under their control, immediately organize and maintain the said mining department, in such manner as to make it most effective and useful; Provided, that all the pro-

Wednesday,]

PARKER—JOHNSON—PROCTOR.

[July 27.

ceeds of the public lands donated by Act of Congress, approved July 2d, 1862, for a college for the benefit of agriculture, the mechanic arts, and including military tactics, shall be invested by the said Board of Regents in a separate fund to be appropriated exclusively for the benefit of the first-named departments to the University, as set forth in Section 4, above. And the Legislature shall provide that, if through neglect or any other contingency, any portion of the fund so set apart shall be lost or misappropriated, the State of Nevada shall replace said amount so lost or misappropriated in said fund, so that the principal of said fund shall remain forever undiminished.

SEC. 9. No sectarian instruction shall be imparted or tolerated in any school or university that may be established under this Constitution.

No amendment was offered.

MILITIA.

Article XII, entitled Militia, was read on final revision, as follows:

ARTICLE XII.

MILITIA.

SECTION 1. The Legislature shall provide by law for organizing and disciplining the militia of this State, for the effectual encouragement of volunteer corps, and the safe keeping of the public arms.

SEC. 2. The Governor shall have power to call out the militia to execute the laws of the State, or to suppress insurrection or repel invasion.

No amendment was offered.

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

Article XIII, entitled Public Institutions, was read on final revision, as follows:

ARTICLE XIII.

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

SECTION 1. Institutions for the benefit of the insane, blind, and deaf and dumb, and such other benevolent institutions as the public good may require, shall be fostered and supported by the State, subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. A State Prison shall be established and maintained in such manner as may be prescribed by law, and provision may be made by law for the establishment and maintenance of a House of Refuge for juvenile offenders.

SEC. 3. The respective counties of the State shall provide as may be prescribed by law for those inhabitants who, by reason of age and infirmity, or misfortunes, may have claim upon the sympathy and aid of society.

No amendment was offered.

BOUNDARY.

Article XIV, entitled Boundary, was read, on final revision, as follows:

ARTICLE XIV.

BOUNDARY.

SECTION 1. The boundary of the State of Nevada shall be as follows: Commencing at a point formed by the intersection of the thirty-eighth degree of longitude west from Washington with the thirty-seventh degree of north latitude; thence due west along said thirty-seventh degree of north latitude to the eastern boundary line of the State of California; thence in a northwesterly direction along the said eastern boundary line of the State of California to the forty-third degree of longitude west from Washington; thence north along said forty-third degree of west longitude and said eastern boundary line of the State of California to the forty-second degree of north latitude; thence due east along the said forty-second degree of north latitude to a point formed by its intersection with the aforesaid thirty-eighth degree of longitude west from Washington; thence due south down said thirty-eighth degree of west longitude to the place of beginning. And whensoever Congress shall authorize the addition to the Territory or State of Nevada of any portion of the territory on the easterly border of the foregoing defined limits, not exceeding in extent one degree of longitude, the same shall thereupon be embraced within and become a part of this State; And furthermore provided, that all such territory lying west of and adjoining the boundary line herein prescribed, which the State of California may relinquish to the Territory or State of Nevada, shall thereupon be embraced within and constitute a part of this State.

No amendment was offered.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

The Convention took up, on final revision, Article XV, entitled Miscellaneous Provisions. The SECRETARY read Section 1, as follows:

SECTION 1. The seat of Government shall be at Carson City, but no appropriation for the erection or purchase of capitol buildings shall be made during the next three years.

Mr. PARKER. I inquire if the correct name of this place is Carson City?

Mr. JOHNSON. It is.

Mr. PROCTOR. I named the city myself; "Carson City" is what we used to call it.

Sections 2 to 11, inclusive, were read, as follows:

SEC. 2. Members of the Legislature and all officers, Executive, Judicial and Ministerial, shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe to the following oath or affirmation:

"I, —, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support, protect, and defend the Constitution and Government of the United States, and the Constitution and Government of the State of Nevada, against all enemies, whether domestic or foreign, and that I will bear true faith, allegiance, and loyalty to the same, any ordinance, resolution, or law of any State, Convention or Legislature to the contrary notwithstanding; and further, that I do this with a full determination, pledge and purpose, without any mental reservation or evasion whatsoever. And I do further solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have not fought a duel, nor sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel, nor been a second to either party, nor in any manner aided or assisted in such duel, nor been knowingly the bearer of such challenge, or acceptance, since the adoption of the Constitution of the State of Nevada, and that I will not be so engaged or concerned, directly or indirectly, in or about any such duel, during my continuance in office. And further, that I will well and faithfully perform all the duties of the office of —, on which I am about to enter; (if an oath) so help me God; (if an affirmation) under the pains and penalties of perjury.

SEC. 3. No person shall be eligible to any office who is not a qualified elector under this Constitution. No person who, while a citizen of this State, has, since the adoption of this Constitution, fought a duel with a deadly weapon, sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel with a deadly weapon, either within or beyond the boundaries of this State, or who has acted as second, or knowingly conveyed a challenge, or aided or assisted in any manner in fighting a duel, shall be allowed to hold any office of honor, profit, or trust, or enjoy the right of suffrage under this Constitution. The Legislature shall provide by law for giving force and effect to this section.

SEC. 4. No perpetuities shall be allowed, except for eleemosynary purposes.

SEC. 5. The general election shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November.

SEC. 6. The aggregate number of members of both branches of the Legislature shall never exceed seventy-five.

Wednesday.]

DELONG—JOHNSON—COLLINS—BANKS—MCCLENTON—KINKEAD, ETC.

[July 27.]

SEC. 7. All county officers shall hold their offices at the county seats of their respective counties.

SEC. 8. The Legislature shall provide for the speedy publication of all statute laws of a general nature, and such decisions of the Supreme Court as it may deem expedient; and all laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person; provided, that no judgment of the Supreme Court shall take effect and be operative until the opinion of the Court in such case shall be filed with the Clerk of said Court.

SEC. 9. The Legislature may at any time provide by law for increasing or diminishing the salaries or compensation of any of the officers whose salaries or compensation are fixed in this Constitution; provided, no such change of salary or compensation shall apply to any officer during the term for which he may have been elected.

SEC. 10. All officers whose election or appointment is not otherwise provided for, shall be chosen or appointed as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 11. The tenure of any office not herein provided for may be declared by law, or when not so declared, such office shall be held during the pleasure of the authority making the appointment; but the Legislature shall not create any office, the tenure of which shall be longer than four years.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Will not the provision last read conflict with another clause in the Constitution which permits the Legislature to increase the number of Supreme Court and District Judges, the terms of whose offices are longer than four years? We have provided in another portion of the instrument that the Legislature may increase the number of Judicial Districts and District Judges, and also that they may provide for the election of two additional Associate Justices of the Supreme Court.

Mr. JOHNSON. I suggest that we add the words, "except as otherwise provided in this Constitution."

Mr. COLLINS. I will offer that amendment. I move to add to Section 11 the words, "except as herein otherwise provided in this Constitution."

Mr. BANKS. That amendment, it occurs to me, is unnecessary. The language by which the Legislature is empowered to provide for the election of two additional Associate Justices seems to be such as to distinctly create the office. However, I will interpose no objection, if gentlemen think the amendment is needed.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 12, 13, and 14 were read, as follows:

SEC. 12. The Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Controller, and Clerk of the Supreme Court, shall keep their respective offices at the seat of Government.

SEC. 13. The enumeration of the inhabitants of this State shall be taken under the direction of the Legislature, if deemed necessary, in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-five, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, eighteen hundred and seventy-five, and every ten years thereafter; and these enumerations, together with the census that may be taken under the direction of the Congress of the United States in the year eighteen hundred and seventy, and every subsequent ten years, shall serve as the basis of representation in both Houses of the Legislature.

SEC. 14. A plurality of votes given at an election by the people shall constitute a choice, where not otherwise provided by this Constitution.

Mr. McCLENTON. I move to amend Section

13 by striking out the words "the year," and inserting "A. D." instead; the same amendment is necessary in two places. I desire to explain my reason for making the motion, as it was ruled out in considering another section. It is suggested to leave in "the year," and simply insert "A. D." But suppose we leave it to read as it would then: "In the year A. D. 1865." Then if you translate literally the A. D., or anno domini, it will be "in the year, in the year of our Lord, 1865."

Mr. KINKEAD. Suppose we strike out "the year," and do not put in "A. D."

Mr. McCLENTON. Then what year will it refer to? The year of the world? I think, sir, this is really of more importance than gentlemen seem to suppose.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I think there is something wanting, unless we put in "A. D."

Mr. BROSANAN. Those initials are usually employed, signifying "in the year of our Lord."

Mr. CHAPIN. I hope the motion of the gentleman from Esmeralda, to strike out "in the year," and insert "A. D." will prevail, and that it will be done in all cases, throughout the instrument.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

The Secretary was also instructed, by unanimous consent, to insert "A. D." in all cases where a year is mentioned as a date in the Constitution.

AMENDMENTS.

Article XVI, entitled Amendments, was taken up for final revision.

The SECRETARY read Section 1, as follows:

SECTION 1. Any amendment or amendments to this Constitution may be proposed in the Senate or Assembly, and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each of the two Houses, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the Legislature then next to be chosen, and shall be published for three months next preceding the time of making such choice. And if in the Legislature next chosen as aforesaid, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each House, then it shall be the duty of the Legislature to submit such proposed amendment or amendments to the people, in such manner and at such time as the Legislature shall prescribe; and if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments by a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the Legislature voting thereon, such amendment or amendments shall become a part of the Constitution.

Mr. PROCTOR. I suggest that in the first part of the amendment we put in the word "respective," before "journals," so that it will read: "Such proposed amendment or amendments shall be entered on their respective journals."

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I will suggest also, that some question has arisen in California, under an exactly similar clause, relative to the power of the second Legislature, if they see

Wednesday.]

NOURSE—DELONG—HAWLEY—KINKEAD—CHAPIN.

[July 27.]

fit, to amend, or add to any of the amendments adopted by the previous Legislature. The query was, whether such an amendment, if ratified by the people, would be an amendment of the Constitution. I think the matter went to the Supreme Court.

Mr. NOURSE. How was it decided by the Supreme Court?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I cannot recollect at this moment.

The amendment suggested by Mr. Proctor, to insert the word "respective," was agreed to by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I suggest that the words "yeas and nays," be substituted for "ayes and noes," so as to conform to our previous action.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 2 was read, as follows:

SEC. 2. If at any time the Legislature, by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each House, shall determine that it is necessary to cause a revision of this entire Constitution, they shall recommend to the electors at the next election for members of the Legislature to vote for or against a Convention; and if it shall appear that a majority of the electors voting at such election have voted in favor of calling a Convention, the Legislature shall at its next session provide by law for calling a Convention to be held within six months after the passage of such law, and such Convention shall consist of a number of members not less than that of both branches of the Legislature. In determining what is a majority of the electors voting at such election, reference shall be had to the highest number of votes cast at such election for the candidates for any office, or on any question.

Mr. HAWLEY. The Enrolling Committee recommend the insertion of the word "shall," between the words "election" and "have," in the fifth line of Section 2, as enrolled. It is an accidental omission.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

SCHEDULE.

Article XVII, entitled Schedule, was taken up for final revision.

The SECRETARY read Sections 1 to 4, inclusive, as follows:

SECTION 1. That no inconvenience may arise by reason of a change from a Territorial to a permanent State Government, it is declared that all rights, actions, prosecutions, judgments, claims, and contracts, as well of individuals as of bodies corporate, including counties, towns, and cities, shall continue as if no change had taken place; and all process which may issue under the authority of the Territory of Nevada, previous to its admission into the Union as one of the United States, shall be as valid as if issued in the name of the State of Nevada.

SEC. 2. All laws of the Territory of Nevada, in force at the time of the admission of this State, not repugnant to this Constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or be altered or repealed by the Legislature.

SEC. 3. All fines, penalties, and forfeitures accruing to the Territory of Nevada, or to the people of the United States in the Territory of Nevada, shall inure to the State of Nevada.

SEC. 4. All recognizances heretofore taken, or which may be taken before the change from a Territorial to a permanent State Government, shall remain valid, and shall pass to, and may be prosecuted in the name of the State; and all bonds executed to the Governor of the Territory, or to any other officer or court in his or their official capacity, or to the people of the United States in the Territory of Nevada, shall pass to the Governor, or other officer or court, and his or their successors in office, for the uses therein respectively expressed, and may be sued on, and recovery had accordingly; and all property, real, personal, or mixed, and all judgments, bonds, specialties, choses in action, claims, and debts, of whatsoever description, and all records and public archives of the Territory of Nevada, shall issue to and vest in the State of Nevada, and may be sued for and recovered in the same manner and to the same extent by the State of Nevada, as the same could have been by the Territory of Nevada. All criminal prosecutions and penal actions which may have arisen, or which may arise before the change from a Territorial to a State Government, and which shall then be pending, shall be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the name of the State. All offenses committed against the laws of the Territory of Nevada before the change from a Territorial to a State Government, and which shall not be prosecuted before such change, may be prosecuted in the name and by the authority of the State of Nevada with like effect as though such change had not taken place, and all penalties incurred shall remain the same as if this Constitution had not been adopted. All actions at law and suits in equity, and other legal proceedings, which may be pending in any of the courts of the Territory of Nevada at the time of the change from a Territorial to a State Government, may be continued and transferred to and determined by any court of the State which shall have jurisdiction of the subject matter thereof. All actions at law, and suits in equity, and all other legal proceedings, which may be pending in any of the courts of the Territory of Nevada at the time of the change from a Territorial to a State Government, shall be continued and transferred to, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution in any court of the State which shall have jurisdiction of the subject matter thereof; and all books, papers, and records, relating to the same, shall be transferred in like manner to such court.

Mr. KINKEAD. I move to strike out the word "permanent," where it occurs in the first sentence of Section 4—the second line of the section as enrolled—before the words "State Government."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 5, [heretofore transferred from the article entitled Salaries,] was read, as follows:

SEC. 5. For the first term of office succeeding the formation of a State Government, the salary of the Governor shall be four thousand dollars per annum; the salary of the Secretary of State shall be three thousand six hundred dollars per annum; the salary of the State Controller shall be three thousand six hundred dollars per annum; the salary of the State Treasurer shall be three thousand six hundred dollars per annum; the salary of the Surveyor-General shall be one thousand dollars per annum; the salary of the Attorney-General shall be two thousand five hundred dollars per annum; the salary of the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be two thousand dollars per annum; the salary of each Judge of the Supreme Court shall be seven thousand dollars per annum; the salaries of the foregoing officers shall be paid quarterly out of the State Treasury. The pay of State Senators and members of Assembly shall be eight dollars per day for each day of actual service, and forty cents per mile for mileage going to and returning from the place of meeting. No officer mentioned in this section shall receive any fee or perquisites to his own use for the performance of any duty connected with his office, or for the performance of any additional duty imposed upon him by law.

Mr. CHAPIN. I desire to propose an amend-

Wednesday,]

PROCTOR—MURDOCK—KINKEAD—BANKS—TAGLIABUE—BROSNAN.

[July 27.

ment to this section. Another section has been prepared, establishing the salaries of the District Judges, and it is nearly ready to present to the Convention; but in that section, nobody proposes to place the salary of the District Judges in the County of Storey at more than six thousand dollars per annum. Yet the District Judges in that county will be continuously engaged, and will have infinitely more labor to perform than any of the Supreme Court Judges will. Therefore I move to strike out "seven," and insert "six," in the clause relative to the salary of Supreme Court Judges, so that it will read: "The salary of each Judge of the Supreme Court shall be six thousand dollars per annum."

Mr. PROCTOR. I object.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Objection being made, the amendment cannot be entertained.

Section 6 was read, as follows:

SEC. 6. Until otherwise provided by the Legislature, the apportionment of Senators and Assemblymen in the different counties shall be as follows, to wit: Storey County, four Senators and twelve Assemblymen; Douglas County, one Senator and two Assemblymen; Esmeralda County, two Senators and four Assemblymen; Humboldt County, two Senators and three Assemblymen; Lander County, two Senators and four Assemblymen; Lyon County, one Senator and three Assemblymen; Lyon and Churchill Counties, one Senator jointly; Churchill County, one Assemblyman; Nye County, one Senator and one Assemblyman; Washoe and Reno Counties, two Senators and three Assemblymen; Ormsby County, two Senators and three Assemblymen.

Mr. MURDOCK. I understand from the reading that Lyon County has one Senator and three Assemblymen, and Lyon and Churchill one Senator jointly.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. That is correct; and then Churchill County has one Assemblyman.

Mr. KINKEAD. I move to amend Section 6 by striking out "the Legislature," in the first line, and inserting instead the word "law," so as to read: "until otherwise provided by law."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 7, 8, and 9 were read, as follows:

SEC. 7. All debts and liabilities of the Territory of Nevada, lawfully incurred, and which remain unpaid at the time of the admission of this State into the Union, shall be assumed by, and become the debt of the State of Nevada. Provided, that the assumption of such debt shall not prevent the State from contracting the additional indebtedness, as prescribed in Section 3 of Article IX, of this Constitution.

SEC. 8. The term of State officers, except judicial, elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall continue until the Tuesday after the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until the election and qualification of their successors.

SEC. 9. The Senators to be elected at the first election under this Constitution shall draw lots, so that the term of one-half of the number, as near as may be, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. 1866, and the term of the other half shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. 1868; provided, that in drawing lots for all Senatorial terms, the Senatorial representation shall be allotted so that in the counties having two or more Senators the terms thereof shall be divided, as near as may be, between the long and short terms.

Mr. BANKS. The word "near" occurs in two places in Section 9—"as near as may be." I move to add the syllable "ly," so as to read, "as nearly as may be."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 10 was read, as follows:

SEC. 10. At the general election in A. D. 1866, and thereafter, the term of Senators shall be for four years from the day succeeding such general election, and members of Assembly for two years from the day succeeding such general election, and the terms of Senators shall be allotted by the Legislature in long and short terms, as hereinbefore provided, so that one-half the number, as near as may be, shall be elected every two years.

Mr. BANKS. I suppose the phrase "by law," should be inserted here, in place of "by the Legislature." I would prefer that some other gentleman would move the amendment, as I do not wish to appear so much in the line of these corrections. I will move, however, to strike out "the Legislature," and insert "law," so as to read: "and the terms of Senators shall be allotted by law."

Mr. TAGLIABUE. I object. That is a matter for the Legislature, altogether.

Mr. BANKS. Permit me to make an inquiry of the gentleman. Will not this have to be done by a law? Can the Legislature do it by a resolution? I have not been anxious to secure the incorporation of this phrase "by law" in other provisions, but inasmuch as it has been done in other cases, it seems to me that uniformity is desirable in that respect.

Mr. BROSNAN. Why is it necessary to enact a law for this purpose?

Mr. BANKS. I withdraw the amendment; it can be done by a resolution, I suppose.

Sections 11, 12, and 13 were read, as follows:

SEC. 11. The term of members of the Assembly elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. 1865, and the terms of those elected at the general election in A. D. 1865, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. 1866.

SEC. 12. The first regular session of the Legislature shall commence on the second Monday of December, A. D. 1864, and the second regular session of the same shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1866, and the third regular session of the Legislature shall be the first of the biennial sessions, and shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and the regular sessions of the Legislature shall be held thereafter biennially, commencing on the first Monday of January.

SEC. 13. All county officers, under the laws of the Territory of Nevada at the time when this Constitution shall take effect, whose offices are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Constitution, shall continue in office until the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified; and all township officers shall continue in office until the expiration of their terms of office, and until their successors are elected and qualified. Provided, that the Probate Judges of the several counties respectively, shall continue in office until the election and qualification of the District Judges of the several counties or judicial districts. And further provided, that the term of office of the present county officers of Lander County shall expire on the first Monday of January,

Wednesday,] HAWLEY—NOURSE—BROSNAN—PROCTOR—JOHNSON—MASON—KENNEDY. [July 27.

A. D. 1865, except the Probate Judge of said county, whose term of office shall expire upon the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864. And there shall be an election for county officers of Lander County at the general election in November, A. D. 1864, and the officers then elected shall hold office from the first Monday of January, A. D. 1865, until the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Mr. HAWLEY. I move to amend Section 13, in the first clause, by striking out the words "shall be," after "successors," and inserting the word "are." Then it will read: "and until their successors are elected and qualified."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 14 was read, as follows:

SEC. 14. The Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, and Superintendent of Public Instruction of the Territory of Nevada, shall each continue to discharge the duties of their respective offices after the admission of this State into the Union, and until the time designated for the qualification of the above named officers to be elected under the State Government; and the Territorial Auditor shall continue to discharge the duties of his said office until the time appointed for the qualification of the State Controller; provided, that said officers shall each receive the salaries and be subject to the restrictions and conditions as provided in this Constitution; and provided further, that none of them shall receive to his own use any fees or perquisites for the performance of any duty connected with his office.

Mr. NOURSE. I move to strike out the word "as" after "restrictions and conditions," in the first proviso, so as to read—"and be subject to the restrictions and conditions provided in this Constitution."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 15 was read, as follows:

SEC. 15. The terms of the Supreme Court shall, until provision be made by law, be held at such times as the judges of said court, or a majority of them, may appoint. The first terms of the several District Courts, (except as hereinafter mentioned,) shall commence on the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864. The first term of the District Court in the Fifth Judicial District, shall commence on the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864, in the County of Nye, and shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1865, in the County of Churchill. The terms of the Fourth Judicial District shall, until otherwise provided by law, be held at the county seat of Washoe County, and the first term thereof be held on the first Monday of December, A. D. 1864.

SALARIES OF DISTRICT JUDGES.

Mr. BROSNAN. I ask the unanimous consent of the Convention for the insertion of the two following sections in the Schedule, immediately following the section last read.

SEC. 16. The judges of the several District Courts of this State shall be paid, as hereinbefore provided, salaries at the following rates per annum: First Judicial District, (each judge,) six thousand dollars; Second Judicial District, four thousand dollars; Third Judicial District, five thousand dollars; Fourth Judicial District, five thousand dollars; Fifth Judicial District, thirty-six hundred dollars; Sixth Judicial District, four thousand dollars; Seventh Judicial District, five thousand dollars; Eighth Judicial District, thirty-six hundred dollars; Ninth Judicial District, five thousand dollars.

SEC. 17. The salaries of any Judge of said Judicial Districts may, by law, be altered or changed, subject to the provisions contained in this Constitution.

Mr. PROCTOR. What district is Lander County?

Mr. BROSNAN. It is the seventh; the salary is five thousand dollars.

Mr. JOHNSON. By leave of the Convention, I will read over the provision naming the counties embraced in each district, and the salaries of the judges, so that each member may understand what is proposed to be the compensation of the judge in his district.

The First Judicial District comprises Storey County; six thousand dollars for each of the three judges in that district. The Second District is Ormsby County; four thousand dollars. Third, Lyon County; five thousand dollars. Fourth, Washoe and Roop; five thousand dollars. Fifth, Nye and Churchill; thirty-six hundred dollars. Sixth, Humboldt; four thousand dollars. Seventh, Lander; five thousand dollars. Eighth, Douglas; thirty-six hundred. Ninth, Esmeralda; five thousand dollars.

Mr. PROCTOR. I move to substitute "six" for "five" in the clause fixing the salary of the Judge of the Seventh District, so as to give him a salary of six thousand dollars. My reason for making the motion is this: I think the judge of that district will have more to do than either of the judges of the Storey County District, who are to receive six thousand dollars a year. It will be, from the beginning, the second county in importance in the State, and perhaps in less than two years it may contain more people even than the County of Storey.

Mr. BROSNAN. I would inquire of some member of the Committee on Schedule, which had this subject under consideration whilst the member from Lander (Mr. Warwick) was present, what his views were in regard to the salary of the Judge of that District?

Mr. PROCTOR. I do not think it was under discussion whilst he was present.

Mr. JOHNSON. I spoke to the gentleman from Lander about the matter, some time ago, and he said he would consider it; but he left without making any response.

Mr. MASON. This is a subject which has never been brought up, I believe, till to-day, and I had supposed the understanding was that the District Judges were to make their offices pay by selling decisions. [Merriment.]

Mr. KENNEDY. It was considered in the Committee on Schedule, and it was agreed to report a section similar to this, but by some oversight it was overlooked when the report was prepared. I do not remember what the gentleman from Lander (Mr. Warwick) said on the subject, and I think I only conversed about it with the gentleman from Douglas, (Mr. Hawley,) and the gentleman from Humboldt, (Mr. Dunne.)

The question was taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Proctor, and it was agreed to.

Mr. CHAPIN. I hope the delegates will remember that each county is obliged to foot the bill for its own Judge. In some cases, it seems to me, the salaries are higher than they ought to be, but if the delegates from each of the counties interested are satisfied, I have not a word to say.

Wednesday.]

PROCTOR—JOHNSON—BROSNAN—CROSMAN—DELONG—CHAPIN.

[July 27.]

Mr. PROCTOR. I should not have proposed the amendment in regard to Lander County, if the delegate from that county had been present, but I am satisfied that it will meet his views, and also receive the approval of the people of Lander County.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe it is provided in some part of the Constitution that the Judges are to be paid out of the treasuries of the respective counties.

Mr. BROSNAN. That provision is contained in the Judicial Article.

Mr. JOHNSON. Very well.

Mr. CROSMAN. This new section provides for the Judges' salaries only for the first term, I understand.

Mr. JOHNSON. No, sir: for all time, or until the Legislature shall deem it expedient to make a change. It is left subject to alteration by the Legislature, is it not?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Yes, sir.

Mr. BROSNAN. It is provided in some portion of the Constitution that the Legislature may impose a docket fee, and I believe it was the intention that such fee should be paid over to the Judges, as a portion of their salaries. This, it strikes me, would be a proper place to provide for that; otherwise, unless some provision is made, it will necessarily go into the general fund.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe the language is explicit enough. It occurs in Section 16 of the article on Judicial Department.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I think it only provides that the money shall be accounted for and paid over.

Mr. BROSNAN. They are to pay it over, and then it is to be applied as provided by law. Let the section be read.

The SECRETARY read Section 16 of the article entitled Judicial Department, as follows:

Sec. 16. The Legislature, at its first session, and from time to time thereafter, shall provide by law that upon the institution of each civil action and other proceedings, and also upon the perfecting of an appeal in any civil action or proceeding in the several Courts of Record in this State, a special court fee or tax shall be advanced to the clerks of said courts respectively by the party or parties bringing such action or proceeding, or taking such appeal; and the money, so paid in, shall be accounted for by such clerks, and applied towards the payment of the compensation of the Judges of said courts, as shall be directed by law.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. That is all right; the whole ground is covered by that section.

Mr. CHAPIN, and others, demand'd the yeas and nays on the adoption of the two new sections proposed by Mr. Brosnan, as amended.

The question was taken by yeas and nays, and the vote was—yeas, 21; nays, none—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Bunks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crawford, Crosman, DeLong, Folsom, Gibson,

Hawley, Kennedy, Kinkead, Mason, McClinton, Nourse, Parker, Proctor, Tagliabue, Wetherill, and Mr. President—21.

Nays—None.

So the sections were adopted.

THE SCHEDULE—CONTINUED.

The SECRETARY read Section 18, (as re-numbered,) as follows:

Sec. 18. The Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Controller, Attorney-General, Surveyor-General, Clerk of the Supreme Court, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, to be elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall each be qualified and enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the first Monday of December succeeding their election, and shall continue in office until the first Tuesday after the first Monday of January, A. D. 1867, and until the election and qualification of their successors respectively.

Mr. JOHNSON. I think "shall each qualify," would read better than "shall each be qualified," in this section. I move to make that change.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Section 19 was read, as follows:

Sec. 19. The Judges of the Supreme Court, and District Judges, provided to be elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall be qualified and enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the first Monday of December succeeding their election.

Mr. JOHNSON. That requires the same amendment; strike out "be qualified," and insert "qualify."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Sections 20 and 21 were read, as follows:

Sec. 20. All officers of State, and District Judges, first elected under this Constitution, shall be commissioned by the Governor of this Territory, which commission shall be countersigned by the Secretary of the same, and shall qualify before entering upon the discharge of their duties before any officer authorized to administer oaths under the laws of this Territory; and also the State Controller and State Treasurer shall each respectively, before they qualify and enter upon the discharge of their duties, execute and deliver to the Secretary of the Territory of Nevada, an official bond, made payable to the people of the State of Nevada, in the sum of thirty thousand dollars, to be approved by the Governor of the Territory of Nevada; and shall also execute and deliver to the Secretary of State such other or further official bond or bonds as may be required by law.

Sec. 21. Each county, town, city, and incorporated village, shall make provision for the support of its own officers, subject to such regulations as the Legislature may prescribe.

Mr. JOHNSON. I move to amend Section 21, by striking out the words "the Legislature may prescribe," and inserting "may be prescribed by law;" so that it will read: "Subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by law."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. CROSMAN. I will ask, while I think of it, how the District Judge of the Fifth District is to get his pay?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Out of the treasuries of the two counties.

Wednesday.] CROSMAN—HAWLEY—KENNEDY—BROSNAN—BANKS—PROCTOR—CHAPIN. [July 27.

Mr. CROSMAN. I think some arrangement to apportion it between them should be made.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. That may be done by law.

Sections 22, 23, and 24 were read, as follows:

SEC. 22. In case the office of any Justice of the Supreme Court, District Judge, or other State officer shall become vacant before the expiration of the regular term for which he was elected, the vacancy may be filled by appointment by the Governor, until it shall be supplied at the next general election, when it shall be filled by election, for the residue of the unexpired term.

SEC. 23. All cases, both civil and criminal, which may be pending and undetermined in the Probate Courts of the several counties, at the time when under the provisions of this Constitution said Probate Courts are to be abolished, shall be transferred to and determined by the District Courts of such counties respectively.

SEC. 24. At the first regular session of the Legislature, to convene under the requirements of this Constitution, provision shall be made by law for paying for the publication of six hundred copies of the proceedings of this Convention, in book form, to be disposed of as the Legislature may direct; and the Hon. J. Neely Johnson, President of this Convention, shall contract for, and A. J. Marsh, Official Reporter of this Convention, under the direction of the President, shall supervise the publication of such proceedings. Provision shall be made by law, at such first session of the Legislature, for the compensation of the Official Reporter of this Convention, and he shall be paid in coin, or its equivalent. He shall receive for his services, in reporting the debates and proceedings, fifteen dollars per day during the session of the Convention, and seven and one-half dollars additional for each evening session, and thirty cents per folio of one hundred words for preparing the same for publication; and for supervising and indexing such publication, the sum of fifteen dollars per day during the time actually engaged in such service.

Mr. HAWLEY. I move to amend the section last read, by inserting before the word "proceedings," where it first occurs, the words "debates and;" so as to read, "provision shall be made by law for paying for the publication of six hundred copies of the debates and proceedings of this Convention," etc.

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. KENNEDY. I understood this section was to be placed last in the article.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The Secretary will so number it.

The SECRETARY. That was so: it will be numbered Section 26.

LIMITATION OF TAXATION, ETC.

Section 24, (as renumbered,) was read, as follows:

SEC. 24. For the first three years after the adoption of this Constitution the Legislature shall not levy a tax, for State purposes, exceeding one per cent. per annum on the taxable property in the State, nor shall any appropriations be made out of the revenue arising from said tax, except in the following order, to wit: First, for paying interest upon the public debt; second, for salaries of State officers; third, for State Prison expenses; fourth for educational purposes; fifth, for legislative and miscellaneous expenses. Provided, the Legislature may levy a special tax not exceeding one-fourth of one per cent. per annum, which shall be appropriated to the payment of the indebtedness of the Territory of Nevada, assumed by the State of Nevada, and for that purpose only, until all of said indebtedness is paid.

Mr. BROSNAN. It seems to me, Mr. President, that that section, as it now reads, is in conflict—apparently so, at all events, if it does not come in actual conflict—with Section 2 of Article IX, which provides that the Legislature shall levy such amount of tax as may be sufficient to defray the annual expenses of the State Government, and that in case there shall be a deficit in any year, a tax shall be levied for the ensuing year, sufficient not only to meet the expenses of that year, but also to cover the balance remaining unpaid from the previous year.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. Does the gentleman make any motion?

Mr. BROSNAN. I scarcely know how to get at it; but it seems to me to be very manifest that one of these provisions may run counter to the other. If we retain the provision in the section just read, it appears to me there must necessarily be some modification of that contained in Section 2 of Article IX, so that no conflict may arise hereafter, in the event of this tax of one and one-fourth per cent. proving to be insufficient. In the first place, by Section 2 of Article IX, we give the Legislature scope and verge enough to raise all the money that shall be necessary; and in the second place, in the section now under consideration, we leave the Legislature in a "cribbed, cabled, and confined" condition, in which it may be unable to raise the requisite amount by taxation. In case of a conflict of that nature, one or the other of these provisions must yield, and I do not think we should place in our Constitution provisions which stand in such an antagonistic attitude in relation to each other. I would like to hear the views of other members of the Convention on the subject, so as to learn whether the difficulty is as apparent to them as it certainly is to me.

Mr. BANKS. As the gentleman from Storey calls for the views of other members, although my own may not be worth much, I will say that in my judgment it is clearly necessary either to change this section in the Schedule, or the former one to which he has alluded, so as to prevent a conflict. I hope, therefore, that the gentleman will submit a motion for that purpose.

Mr. PROCTOR. Would not a motion be in order to reconsider the vote by which the Convention adopted this section of the Schedule?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. I think the section was passed to-day; a motion to reconsider would therefore be in order.

Mr. PROCTOR. I voted for the section, and I now make a motion to reconsider the vote by which it was adopted.

The question was taken, and the motion to reconsider was agreed to.

Mr. PROCTOR. I move that the section be stricken out altogether.

Mr. CHAPIN. I hope no such motion as

Wednesday.] CHAPIN—BANKS—NOURSE—KENNEDY—BROSNAN—JOHNSON—HAWLEY. [July 27.]

that will prevail. I ask for the reading of the section.

The SECRETARY again read Section 24.

Mr. CHAPIN. I offer an amendment to the motion of the gentleman from Nye. (Mr. Proctor.) I move to strike out all after the provision that the Legislature shall not levy a tax exceeding one per cent. per annum for State purposes. Then, if gentlemen desire, they can move to make it one and one-fourth per cent., so as to include the provision for the Territorial debt.

Mr. BANKS. Let us have a division of that question. How will the section read with the proposed amendment?

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The Chair understands that the motion is to strike out all after the word "State," so that the section will read:

"For the first three years after the adoption of this Constitution, the Legislature shall not levy a tax for State purposes exceeding one per cent. per annum on the taxable property in the State."

Mr. NOURSE. That limits the Legislature, then, to a tax of one per cent.

Mr. KENNEDY. I shall object to striking out that proviso, because I think there ought to be a special tax to pay the indebtedness of the Territory.

Mr. BROSNAN. I call for a division of the question.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. A division being called for, the question will be first on striking out so much of the section as relates to the order of appropriations, and second, on striking out the proviso authorizing the Legislature to levy a tax of one-fourth of one per cent., for the payment of the Territorial indebtedness. The Secretary will read that portion which refers to the order of appropriations.

The SECRETARY read, as follows:

"Nor shall any appropriation be made out of the revenue arising from said tax, except in the following order, to wit: First, for paying interest on the public debt. Second, for salaries of State officers. Third, for State Prison expenses. Fourth, for educational purposes. Fifth, for Legislative and Miscellaneous expenses."

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The question is first on striking out that portion just read.

The question was taken, and the portion of the section last read was stricken out.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The question is next on striking out the proviso. The Secretary will read it.

The SECRETARY read the proviso, as follows:

"Provided, the Legislature may levy a special tax, not exceeding one-fourth of one per cent. per annum, which shall be appropriated to the payment of the indebtedness of the Territory of Nevada, assumed by the State of Nevada, and for that purpose only, until all of the said indebtedness is paid."

Mr. CHAPIN, and others, demanded the yeas and nays on the motion to strike out the proviso.

The question was taken by yeas and nays, and the vote was—yeas, 9; nays, 12—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Banks, Chapin, Collins, DeLong, Folsom, McClinton, Proctor, Wetherill, and Mr. President—9.

Nays—Messrs. Belden, Brosnan, Crawford, Crossman, Gibson, Hawley, Kennedy, Kinkead, Mason, Nourse, Parker, and Tagliabue—12.

So the Convention refused to strike out the proviso.

Mr. JOHNSON. Allow me a few words in explanation of my vote. I have voted for the motion to strike out this proviso, because I am in favor of striking out the whole section. I do not think this is the proper place for such a provision. If we adopt a State Government we must necessarily pay such taxes as are required, to support that State Government, whether it be the ordinary expenses accruing from year to year, or our present Territorial indebtedness, which the State assumes, as it is in honor compelled to do. We must pay taxes sufficient to defray all the expenses necessary to be incurred, of whatever character, and, as I have heretofore had occasion to show, it is impossible, at this time, to make even an approximate estimate of these expenses. I think it must be quite apparent to every member, that this section is in conflict with the Constitutional provision which we have previously adopted, and therefore I have voted against the proviso, and shall vote to strike out the entire section.

Mr. HAWLEY. I ask the Convention to bear with me one moment upon a question of privilege. I merely wish to state—and I had intended to call the attention of the Reporter of the Virginia Union to the fact before this time—that he has made a serious mistake in his telegram, as it appears in the paper of this morning. He represents that this section limits the tax to one per cent. instead of one and one-quarter per cent., as it really does. I trust that the necessary correction will be made, so that our action may not be misunderstood.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. The question now recurs upon the motion of the gentleman from Nye, (Mr. Proctor,) to strike out the entire section, as it has been amended.

Mr. NOURSE. If I understand it correctly, the section, as it now stands, limits the rate of taxation to one per cent. per annum.

The PRESIDENT pro tem. As it stands now, taxation is limited to one and one-fourth per cent. per annum.

Mr. NOURSE. Well, it is all the same, because the one-fourth is for the territorial indebtedness. Now, sir, I cannot believe that we have an aggregate amount of taxable property exceeding twenty-five millions of dollars, and a tax of one per cent. upon that would only amount to two hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year, from which must be deducted one-quarter, or one-third of that amount for delinquencies, etc., leaving only from one hundred and fifty to two hundred thousand dollars net revenue. I believe that such a restriction would certainly be ruinous, because it would result in running our scrip down to about fifteen cents on the dollar, and therefore I hope that the whole section will be stricken out, and that we shall leave the Legislature free to levy such taxes as may be found necessary for the support of the government.

Wednesday.]

CHAPIN—BANKS—JOHNSON.

[July 27.

Mr. CHAPIN. I would like to remind the gentleman from Washoe that provision has heretofore been made by which the State is authorized to borrow money to the amount of three hundred thousand dollars, which will give one hundred thousand dollars a year for the three years, in addition to the revenue from taxation. Now, if we cannot run the State on that amount, for my part, I am going home to oppose a State Government, and I can get hundreds, and possibly thousands of other men to do the same thing. I am not in favor of opening the floodgates of taxation upon the people, as I am inclined to think, though I do not know it, that it is perhaps the policy of some gentlemen to do, in order to defeat the Constitution before the people, and therefore I am strenuously opposed to striking out this section.

Mr. BANKS. The gentleman from Storey has stated precisely my position. I believe that by the exercise of such economy as people would naturally exercise in their own private affairs, a State Government can be administered upon the revenue derived from a tax of even less than one per cent. If I find it cannot be, however, then I am going to exert my influence, whatever it may be worth, against the adoption of the Constitution. I want either a cheap State Government, or none at all. As I have said heretofore, if we limit the State Legislature to a certain amount, the result will be the same as in the case of an individual who is restricted to a given amount of expenditure, beyond which he cannot be allowed to go. A man will always accommodate himself to his income, if he is obliged to do it, and we all know that the man who has an income of only one thousand dollars a year gets along just about as comfortably as the man who has ten thousand, the difference being that the former lives in a less expensive style, whilst the latter feels that he can afford more of the luxuries of life.

Mr. JOHNSON. I would like to ask the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Chapin) a question, to see if I understood him aright. Did he state that if this section shall be stricken out, he was going to oppose the State Government? Is that the position he takes?

Mr. CHAPIN. No, sir. I say that unless I can have such assurances as will satisfy me that we can rely upon having an economical administration of our State Government, I certainly will go home and labor against it with all my might. And I tell you, Mr. President, that a majority of the people of this Territory will go against it, unless we put in some kind of a safeguard of this character. If with a taxable property of forty millions, including the proceeds of the mines, as well as the surface property—for I believe we shall have that amount, and with the privilege of borrowing three hundred thousand dollars, in addition, we cannot support a State Government upon a taxation of one per cent. for State purposes, and one-fourth of one per cent. for the Territorial debt, assumed by the State—then we had better let it alone, remain a little longer in our present tadpole condition, and thus avoid ruinous taxation.

Mr. JOHNSON. Suppose the taxable property should amount to no more than twenty millions of dollars? Could the Legislature still reduce the expenditures so as to come within the amount of revenue derived from the taxable property, with the proposed limited rate of taxation?

Mr. CHAPIN. Then, if the State were cut down to that sum, I would have it do as the young man is required to do when his old father sends him out into the world with his portion of the patrimony. Whether it be five hundred, or five thousand, or ten thousand dollars, he has to go to work, and make his plans, and shape his business accordingly, and our new State will have to do the same thing.

Mr. JOHNSON. The trouble is this, that we have already provided what the expenses of the State shall be. In the first place, we have framed that part of our Constitution which prescribes the amount of the expenditures of the State Government, and then we have undertaken to shape the sources of income accordingly, and therefore it will not be possible for the Legislature to reduce the expenditures to correspond with a reduced income. We have prescribed in the Constitution that certain expenses shall be borne, it matters not how little or how much may be the receipts of the public treasury, and now we must make provision for the payment of those expenses, by designating the sources whence the money is to be derived. We have provided that certain Territorial indebtedness shall be paid, or in other words, we have in the Constitution contracted a certain amount of indebtedness, which must be discharged, and therefore it is not possible for us to limit the amount or rate of taxation, unless we have more authentic data than any member on this floor can present, upon which to base an estimate, as to what the per-centage of taxation ought to be.

We have had evidence heretofore of the variance and diversity of views and opinions existing among the members of the Convention as to what the valuation of property will prove to be, and what the revenue derived from a specified rate of taxation would amount to, and the difference in the estimates of members of the Convention, apparently equally well informed, ranges as high as one hundred per cent. If we were all agreed that the taxable property of the State will amount to a given sum, we might then with some degree of certainty approximate to an estimate, and upon such estimate we could with propriety fix a limit upon the taxation to be levied by the Legislature; but as there are diversities and differences of opinion existing, some gentlemen asserting that the basis of revenue will not exceed twenty or twenty-five millions of dollars, whilst others, as sanguine as the gentleman from Storey who last spoke, (Mr. Chapin,) place it as high as forty millions, I repeat that we cannot fix, and have it not in our power to fix upon any rate of taxation.

Wednesday.]

KENNEDY—JOHNSON—PROCTOR.

[July 27.]

We have created, by prescribing salaries, and other State expenditures, and by assuming the Territorial debt, a certain amount of annual indebtedness, which must be met. How? By taxation, evidently. There is no other way. But, says the gentleman from Storey, "we have fixed the rate of taxation so as to cover that indebtedness." That may be true, if his hypothesis be correct, but if my hypothesis, or those of other gentlemen be true, that rate of taxation certainly will not suffice for the indebtedness we have already, and that which we must necessarily create. Nevertheless we have provided for a public debt, and it must be paid, else the plighted honor and faith of the Territory and State, and of the members of this Convention, must go for nought—else that debt is repudiated. We have already declared that a given amount of money shall be paid as salaries of the Judges, the Governor, and other State officers, so much as per diem and mileage of the members of the Legislature, other amounts, or whatever shall be necessary, for the expenses of the State Prison, and for the incidental expenses of the Legislature and other departments of the Government. And all this is indebtedness which we have created by the Constitution. But after we have said that these payments shall be made, thus and so, we now turn around, and say in this section, to these officers, and others to whom we have promised such payments: "You shall be paid thus and so, according to our promise, provided a rate of taxation of one per cent. shall be enough to raise a sufficient amount of money." And if it is not enough, what is the alternative? Why, they will not be paid.

Now, sir, do we want to cheat anybody? Do we desire to delude men into taking office under our State Government, by holding out on the one hand a declaration and promise that they shall be paid a specified salary, whilst at the same time we annex a qualification that they shall only be paid that salary if a taxation of one per cent. will raise money enough for the purpose? No, sir. Is it not the wiser policy, and the only proper course for us to pursue, to leave the rate of taxation to be fixed by the Legislature from year to year, in accordance with what may be, from time to time, the necessities of the State?

Gentlemen have presented estimates and calculations of what they conceive may be the annual expenditures of the State Government, and the income from taxation, and others have prepared like estimates which they are ready to present. In most of these estimates, gentlemen have far exceeded my calculations in respect to the probable revenue. But I find no fault on that account. It is a mere difference of judgment and opinion, since none of us have any reliable data to be governed by. In respect to the compensation that shall be paid for public services, the majority of the Convention has also exceeded in many instances that which my judgment and vote stand recorded in favor of. I do not deny their right to fix the compensation at higher rates than in my judgment was warranted, but at the same time I claim the right to insist that when they do that, it shall not be made a delusion and a snare; that the promise shall be carried out in good faith. I protest against the bad faith which will be exhibited by putting in a prohibitory section like the one under consideration, which will probably prevent our officers to be elected from receiving the amount of salary promised them.

I cannot conceive that there is any necessity for this limitation in order to prevent the Legislature from making extravagant appropriations, as I do not believe that any member present really thinks it possible for the State to raise money enough to pay anything more than the absolutely necessary current expenses of the Government. What object can there be, then, for the Legislature to make extravagant appropriations?

Mr. KENNEDY. The gentleman's time is up. ["Leave, leave!"]

Mr. JOHNSON. I regret that my friend from Lyon should take occasion to call me to order before the Chair finds it necessary.

Mr. KENNEDY. The gentleman from Ormsby has himself expressed his wish to have the rule strictly enforced, and I am only carrying out his own doctrine.

Mr. JOHNSON. I care nothing about it, if gentlemen are unwilling to hear the truth spoken—if they refuse to listen to facts which they will be compelled to realize hereafter. I have no objection to conforming to the wishes of the Convention as expressed by its rules, and in conclusion will only add, that I oppose this section with no factious design, but with a sincere desire to harmonize our action. I trust that the vote of the majority by which the section was originally adopted, does not evince a fixed determination on the part of the Convention to insist upon the provision, when it is shown that it may come in direct conflict with other provisions of the Constitution which we have adopted.

Mr. PROCTOR. It seems to me that in framing this Constitution, from beginning to end, we have guarded as closely and completely as it is possible for us to do, against any abuses in the shape of expensive and extravagant legislation. We have restricted the State debt to three hundred thousand dollars, and I do not see that it is necessary to make any further limitation or restriction, so far as that is concerned. Now this provision introduced in the Schedule by the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. Chapin,) will most certainly conflict with the spirit and intent of our Constitution, and I think the figures will show it. For instance, from the gentleman from Ormsby, (Mr. Kinkead,) and from the report of the Auditor, which was quoted from the other day, we learn that there is a Territorial debt upon which we will have to pay about eighty thousand dollars a year. Is that correct?

Wednesday.] COLLINS—PROCTOR—JOHNSON—GIBSON—KINKEAD—NOURSE—CHAPIN. [July 27.

Mr. COLLINS. What was that?

Mr. PROCTOR. That the State has to pay, on account of the Territorial debt, an amount of about eighty thousand dollars a year. Is that it?

Mr. COLLINS. No, sir; not exactly.

Mr. JOHNSON. The State will be compelled to pay the interest on a debt far exceeding that amount.

Mr. GIBSON. The interest and principal to be paid amounted, I believe it was stated, to eighty-three thousand dollars a year for four or five years.

Mr. KINKEAD. The statement was made by my colleague, (Mr. Johnson,) and I think the estimate he made was correct, namely, that during the first three years we shall be required to pay about eighty-three thousand dollars a year, of principal and interest on the Territorial debt.

Mr. JOHNSON. The average amount to be paid during the next four and a half years, of principal and interest on the present Territorial indebtedness, is eighty-three thousand and some odd dollars a year. That was my statement. The debt must all be paid, principal and interest, within the next four years and a half.

Mr. PROCTOR. Then under the limitation in this section, we can only raise a tax of one-fourth of one per cent., to be applied for the purpose of paying the interest on that indebtedness, and the principal as it becomes due; and if we have only twenty-five millions of taxable property, the tax will not yield a revenue for that purpose exceeding sixty thousand dollars a year. Yet the Constitution expressly provides that we shall pay upwards of eighty thousand dollars a year. How are we going to pay eighty thousand dollars a year when we can only collect sixty thousand out of which to pay it?

Mr. KINKEAD. We expect to have more taxable property.

Mr. PROCTOR. But we must base our State Government on what we have got, and not upon what we may expect to have in the future. And so far as having a cheap government is concerned, I think if we retain this section the result will be that the expense, for example, of supporting the State Prison, will be paid, not out of the State Treasury, but out of the credit of the State, which, under such a provision, will not be worth more than in the neighborhood of fifteen cents on the dollar, so that the State will have to pay about ten dollars in State credit for every dollar's worth of supplies furnished. And there will be the same condition of things in every department of the State Government.

[The PRESIDENT in the chair.]

Mr. NOURSE. I do not know as I understand exactly what the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Chapin) meant when he referred to the three hundred thousand dollars to be raised. Was it anything more than a three hundred thousand dollar loan?

Mr. CHAPIN. Shall I answer the gentleman?

Mr. NOURSE. I would like to understand it.

Mr. CHAPIN. The State is authorized to create a debt to the amount of three hundred thousand dollars, and no more, and I stated that the money thereby raised could, if necessary, be used in the first, second, and third years, giving one hundred thousand dollars a year in addition to the amount derived from taxation.

Mr. NOURSE. Then I say, shame on us if we provide that the State shall, the very first thing, plunge into debt for its current expenses. It is all well enough to allow the State to borrow money in order to pay its way before the taxes come in, but to deliberately plan it, to provide for raising a tax which we know will not be large enough to pay the current expenses for two or three years, with the expectation that the State will run in debt in order to make up the deficiency, it seems to me would be a shame and a disgrace. I do not believe in incurring any debt, unless it is absolutely necessary. I do not believe in undertaking to carry on a State Government, unless we are able to do it, and if the people do not believe themselves to be able to support their State Government without running into debt, then it seems to me the people ought to vote against a State Government. Now I am desirous of limiting the expenditures as much as possible, as my votes will bear witness, all the way through the Convention, but I insist that whatever tax it may be necessary for the Legislature to levy, in order to pay expenses, that tax it should be left at liberty to impose, so as to furnish the means of paying such expenses as must be incurred. The Legislature should not be allowed to call on future generations to help pay the current expenses of the State. I do not believe in adopting any ruinous policy of that sort. The cheapest way to pay the current expenses necessary to be incurred in running a State Government, is to levy a tax at once, heavy enough to pay everything in cash, because when you levy so small a tax that you begin to get behind-hand, that moment the State scrip, or Auditor's certificates, begin to depreciate, and as soon as the State scrip depreciates to seventy-five cents on the dollar, of course the State has to pay four dollars for every three, and when it gets down to fifty cents the State must pay at the ruinous

Wednesday.]

DELONG—NOURSE.

[July 27.]

rate of two dollars for one. Therefore the cheapest way is to take the bull by the horns at the start; to look the thing square in the face; to leave the Legislature authority to collect money enough by taxation to pay all the necessary bills in cash, whenever they become due.

There is no doubt that at the best our expenditures must be very heavy. The alarming increase of crime which has been witnessed in the past few months, admonishes us that our State Prison will be very expensive. If the laws are faithfully administered, and we do not always have a Governor who will pardon criminals out of the State Prison as fast as they go into it, there will be some permanent boarders in that institution. Why, sir, look at the number of convicts in the California State Prison—some four or five hundred at the present time.

Mr. DELONG. But California is not good authority with the gentleman.

Mr. NOURSE. It was to the authority of the Supreme Court of California that I objected.

Mr. DELONG. Well, there is some resemblance between the State Prison and the Supreme Court. [Merriment.]

Mr. NOURSE. If the gentleman thinks so, I do not object. As I was saying, California has now some four or five hundred prisoners in the State Prison, and we know that those desperadoes who commit crimes always flock to the newer and more flourishing mining regions. As soon, therefore, as we get over the present depression, which we hope is only of a temporary character, and begin to enjoy flush times again, we must expect to have great numbers of that class amongst us. The increase of crime will be enormous, and consequently, if our officers do their duty, our State Prison expenses will also be enormous.

If we could positively know that one per cent. would be a sufficient tax to support the Government, then for my part I would cheerfully vote to limit the tax to one per cent., for, as gentlemen well know, I have voted all along to limit and restrict the Legislature, whenever it could properly be done. But what I complain of is, that whilst we cannot possibly foresee the extent of our State expenses, it is proposed to limit the income without any possibility of limiting the expenditures. We cannot know what the future will bring forth; we are all afloat in regard to this matter. We cannot say, even approximately, how much the annual expenditures will be, and we cannot agree within five, ten, fifteen, or even twenty millions of dollars, as to the probable amount of the taxable property of the State. Therefore, it seems to me, with all respect to the gentlemen who favor the pending proposition, that it is simply absurd in us to undertake to say what shall be the limit of taxation. That is the way it looks to me.

Mr. DELONG. Now, sir, we have once had in this Convention a long, protracted fight in regard to this very same matter, and I thought we had then settled it; but it seems that such was not the case. What reason gentlemen have for backing and filling, and chopping around in regard to this question, I do not know, and I do not much care. I will start in with this declaration of opinion, upon which I propose to act, namely, that if we are not safe in attempting to carry on a State Government on a tax of one per cent., we had better not go into it.

Mr. NOURSE. It would be safe if you would tax everything equally.

Mr. DELONG. That is the very point. Up to the time when the matter of taxation was settled, the gentleman from Washoe wanted to restrict the Legislature in everything; but the very moment the article on Taxation was finally adopted, he seems to have abandoned that policy, and it looks to me as if the only care he has about the Constitution is to get in something which will damn it before the people.

Mr. NOURSE. Allow me to explain. I say if all the property in the State were subject to taxation equally, one per cent. would in my opinion be ample to raise a revenue sufficient to pay the bills, but as it is now, I am satisfied that one per cent. will not be enough, and for that reason I am opposed to the restriction.

Mr. DELONG. Is the gentleman from Washoe in favor of the adoption of the Constitution?

Mr. NOURSE. Personally, I would desire that the Constitution should be adopted, but I cannot conscientiously, and shall not vote for it, as a representative of the people.

Mr. DELONG. Now we know where the difficulty is with the gentleman. He is trying to make an instrument which he can go before the people and defeat. That is his statement.

Mr. NOURSE. I have not said so. I have said that personally I desired a State Government, and by what authority does the gentleman from Storey assert that I desire to defeat it? I say the adoption of the State Government will be for my advantage, personally, but in view of my position I cannot recommend its adoption, and I cannot conscientiously vote for its adoption, for the reason that it puts the State upon an unjust and unequal basis, by making an odious and unjust discrimination between different kinds of property.

Mr. DELONG. I understood the gentleman before as I do now, and I say again that he is in a Convention assisting to frame a Constitution which he intends to defeat—which he says he cannot vote for, and does not believe ought to be adopted.

Mr. NOURSE. And yet I have said I desire its adoption personally. So far as my own interest goes, I desire it, and if other people are fools enough to vote for and carry it, I shall be very glad of it.

Mr. DELONG. Having drawn from the gentleman exactly the acknowledgment of his position which I wanted, I again insist, and I do not wish to do any gentleman injustice, that he is here engaged in framing a Constitution to be

Wednesday,]

NOURSE—DELONG—BROSNAN.

[July 27.

defeated. And I will say further, that I believe nearly every member of this Convention who is earnestly in favor of having this Constitution adopted, and who intends to go before the people and ask their support for it, is in favor of retaining in the instrument this restrictive clause. And I say again, that if, without including the Territorial debt, a tax of one per cent., added to the right to borrow three hundred thousand dollars in the course of three years, will not be sufficient to pay the expenses of the State Government, then I am opposed to adopting a State Government, with any kind of Constitution. But I believe, and am confident, that it will do it.

Gentlemen on this floor have been clamoring against it in the face of figures which are incontrovertible, and have been putting propositions to other gentlemen as to what should be done if the taxable property amounted to only twenty millions, when they know that we have twenty-five millions of surface property, and have the proceeds of the mines besides, making, according to a fair statistical showing, an aggregate of taxable property in this Territory, now, of not less than forty millions of dollars. There is no getting around that, and it is increasing all the time. And yet, with that knowledge before them, simply because the old iron rankles in the wound, because the mines, whether property or not property, were not put into the schedule of property to be taxed, gentlemen get up here, and in opposing this restriction insist that one per cent. is not sufficient, because we have not more than twenty or twenty-five millions of taxable property. Thence alone comes this opposition, in my opinion.

Now, Mr. President, I hope to see this section retained right where it is. I believe that we have got forty millions of property now, and I believe it is not the fault of the law, but rather of the officers of the law, that taxes were not collected on fifteen millions of dollars, as the proceeds of the mines, last year. I expect that difficulty to be remedied hereafter, and I expect the proceeds of the mines to be taxed in good faith. And I tell gentlemen, here and elsewhere, when they express a desire to retain the present form of Government, because, as they say, more money will be derived from the taxation of the mines under the Territorial laws, than will be if we adopt a State Government, that they will see a Legislature sent here next winter, with our full and hearty concurrence, willing and ready to tax all the legitimate proceeds of the mines. And in doing that, we go as far as you can reasonably ask us, when you are looking to us for everything—when you depend upon us for every manner and description of business.

Sir, we do not want to see this eleventh hour manifestation of hostility. If gentlemen cannot support the Constitution we have framed, and do not intend to support it, let them not prevent us from making it as nearly perfect as we can. Act in good faith in regard to it, or do not act at all. When it was proposed to tax all classes of mines indiscriminately, I proposed to leave the Convention, for the reason that I could not, with an honest heart, say to the people that I recommended them to support such an instrument. I will not stay in this Convention, or in any other, and take part in the framing of an instrument which I intend to oppose.

Mr. NOURSE. I wish to rise to a question of privilege, because my position and motives have been misrepresented and assailed—my personal position and my personal motives. I wish to say this, in regard to the last remark of the gentleman from Storey, (Mr. DeLong,) that what time I have been in the Convention since its action on the subject of taxation, has only been, I believe, when I have been brought here by the Sergeant-at-Arms. But be that as it may, I have not deemed it necessary nor incumbent on me to withdraw from the Convention, as the gentleman from Storey threatened, if he could not carry out his wishes.

Mr. DELONG. That is not so; I never threatened it.

Mr. NOURSE. Well, it sounded so much like it that I thought it was a threat. If the gentleman thinks it was not, very well.

Mr. BROSNAN. I rise to a question of order. The gentleman from Washoe has spoken once on this question.

Mr. NOURSE. I am speaking to a question of privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman having risen to a question of privilege, is at liberty to proceed.

Mr. NOURSE. In regard to my position on the adoption of the Constitution, I only say this, that personally it is for my advantage that the State Constitution shall be adopted. If I had an elastic conscience, I should probably vote for it very readily, because it will be money in my pocket to have it adopted. It will bring business to me in my profession. And I have stated, that notwithstanding I cannot vote for it myself, yet if the people shall be foolish enough to vote for and adopt it, I shall personally be very glad of it. The responsibility will then be theirs, not mine. It seems to me that when I have made that statement my position is clear enough. Whilst I cannot vote for the Constitution myself, whilst I think it is not for the interest of the people to adopt it, yet if the people shall deliberately take it upon themselves to adopt the Constitution and State Government, either with or without the taxation clause, I shall be satisfied with the result. I think I have shown, therefore, that my motives personally are to make the Constitution as acceptable, and as little injurious to the people, as possible. That is what I claim, and it is what my position shows in this matter, and if the gentleman from Storey still wishes to continue to impugn my motives, and to throw personal flings at me, why it only

Wednesday,]

COLLINS.

[July 27.

shows the weakness of the cause for which he argues, when he has to abandon the fair, open ground of argument, to indulge in such personal flings.

Mr. COLLINS. This question has assumed perhaps a little more importance at the present time than it is entitled to. Still I will say that I cannot but sympathize with my colleagues from Storey County, when they affirm that if they cannot have a State Government which can be maintained, independent of the present indebtedness which we have provided that the State shall assume, upon a tax of one per cent. on all the taxable property of the State, then they are not in favor of a State Government. For one, I take the same position, and I think it is safe for me to say that in giving utterance to that sentiment I represent the opinion and feeling of a great many thousand voters among my constituents in Storey County. And, sir, I have been very much astonished to find that gentlemen who have been opposed, or at least who seemed to be opposed to this Constitution, and who have not been willing to make a positive declaration that they will support it, should seem to be disposed to saddle upon the Constitution that which will inevitably give it great unpopularity before the people.

Now so far as our present debt is concerned, about which we have heard so much, let us see what it amounts to. The sum total of the existing debt of the Territory is about $225,000. There is due to Reese, of San Francisco, $15,000; there is due to Parrott & Co., for bonds recently issued, $150,000; there is a balance due on the Curry bonds for the State Prison of $60,000. And these, together with the interest, make the amounts payable as follows: In 1865, the amount payable will be $59,500; in 1866, the amount payable will be $92,500; and in 1867, the amount payable will be $81,500. The sum total, of principal and interest, which must be paid in the three years is, therefore, $233,500, which leaves a considerable balance of the $300,000 of the indebtedness which the State has a right to contract.

And I maintain that the State is fully authorized to contract that indebtedness in order to pay the debt of the Territory, which it has assumed. The State is not bound to discharge at once, in its infancy, the entire debt which the Territory has been accumulating in the past, but may properly pay the interest only, leaving the principal until a future time, when the State shall become financially stronger. That, in my opinion, would be just and proper. Then, assuming that the State borrows $300,000, and pays the Territorial indebtedness, there will be a balance remaining of $66,500, and I ask if with that, and this proposed tax of one and a quarter per cent., there is not likely to be an ample amount of funds for carrying on the State Government? If that is not enough, let us remain in our present Territorial condition until we shall have grown sufficiently to be able to support our Government.

I have been astonished also to hear gentlemen depreciating the value of the taxable property of this Territory. It has been assumed that for the year 1865, the taxable property of the Territory will not exceed twenty-five millions of dollars, but when gentlemen look over the Territory, and see the rapid increase of property that is going on, the erection of mills, the taking up and improvement of ranches, the building of houses and fences, and all the various appurtenances and appliances of civilized life, the opening up of our mines, and their rapidly increasing development; when they see the amount of bullion, the proceeds of our mines, which is daily shipped out of the State, they must be convinced that our taxable property is steadily and rapidly increasing, and to me it is, to say the least, a matter of astonishment to hear men of intelligence express the opinion that it will not have reached an aggregate of more than twenty-five millions in 1865. Sir, I am confident that in the year 1865, the taxable property of the Territory, or State, as the case may be, including the tax on the proceeds of the mines, will not amount to less than forty millions, and I shall be very greatly disappointed if, as early as 1867, it does not exceed fifty millions of dollars. And upon a taxable basis of forty millions, this rate of taxation of one and one-quarter per cent. will yield, allowing twenty-five per cent. for losses and cost of collecting, a revenue of $375,000 a year.

I ask, in Heaven's name, is not that enough? It seems to me it should suffice to satisfy even those who entertain the most extravagant ideas in regard to the cost of our State Government. I say, let us have a cheap Government. Let us tie the Legislature, and pin it down to a certain point of expenditure, and if the Legislature cannot economize so as to live within that limit, then let us not have a State Government. Why, sir, look at the difference between the expenditures of this Convention and those of the Convention of last year. Then we had an appropriation from the State, and of course it was all expended. This year we had nothing from the State Government, nor from the Federal Government, and still we get along with scarcely any expense. But suppose that Congress in passing the Enabling Act had given us twenty thousand dollars; does anybody doubt that we would have spent every dollar of it? And would we have finished our labors any sooner, or would we have had any better Constitution to submit to the people than we have now prepared? I think not. A man will always accommodate his expenses to his income, if he has common sense, and a legislative body will do the same. If we give our Legislature two hundred thousand dollars a year, and say it must run the State Government upon that amount, the thing will be accomplished; and on the other hand, if we should give the Legislature half a million or a million a year, it would be likely to spend the whole amount.

Wednesday.]

DE LONG—COLLINS—MCCLINTON.

[July 27.]

So if we were to bring the Legislature down to a hundred and fifty, or even a hundred and twenty thousand dollars a year, I have no doubt it would come to about the same thing in the end.

I repeat that I sympathize with my colleague, (Mr. Chapin,) and my other colleague, (Mr. DeLong,) when they tell the Convention that if a tax of one and one-fourth per cent. is not going to be adequate to support the State Government, then we had better remain in the Territorial condition, and if that can be shown to be a fact, then for one I am willing to canvass the Territory in favor of defeating the Constitution.

Mr. DE LONG. I rise to a question of privilege. The gentleman from Washoe (Mr. Nourse) says that I have impugned his motives, and accused him personally, and I now take occasion to deny the charge. The extent and summing up of all I said in relation to him is this: that, as I understood him, he is in the Convention helping and taking an active part in framing a Constitution which he intends to oppose. And in that I have done him no wrong, because he says so himself. He avows his intention to vote against the Constitution, although he will be glad if the people shall vote for it. And then I said, and I did not apply it to him at all, but only to myself, that according to my ideas of what would be proper action on my own part, I thought my duty was, whenever I found that I could not conscientiously vote for the instrument which the Convention is engaged in framing, to take part no longer in the creation of that instrument. I said that I had taken that view on a previous occasion, and the gentleman is in error when he says that I ever made a threat to leave the Convention if I could not have my peculiar views engrafted into the Constitution. I never did make such a threat, but I proposed to do just what I thought the gentleman from Washoe ought to have done heretofore: that is, when any provision was engrafted into the Constitution making it such an instrument that he could not vote for or recommend it, that moment I think he should have withdrawn.

Mr. COLLINS. I do not.

Mr. DE LONG. It was simply my own idea of what would be my own personal action, and I did not indulge in any "fling," or throw it out in that way at all. I merely said what my course of action was to have been on a previous occasion, and I should have followed out that course. I did not set up my example for the gentleman from Washoe, nor refer my remarks to him.

Now in regard to the section under consideration, I say this, that if we shall strike it out, at this last moment, that action will necessarily be regarded as the final expression of the opinion of this Convention, that we cannot support a State Government on a tax of one dollar and a quarter on each one hundred dollars of taxable property. And the people, with that understanding, knowing that their representatives, after having framed the instrument and carefully figured upon and considered it, had deliberately decided and determined that to limit the Legislature to a rate of annual taxation of one and one-quarter per cent., would be to establish a limit at so small a sum that it would be insufficient to meet the current expenses of the Government—the people, I say, under such circumstances, will vote down your Constitution almost unanimously, and I would not blame them. They will say that our own figures show that a tax of one and a quarter per cent. will not pay expenses, and they cannot stand under any heavier burden of taxation than that.

I do not think that there is any conflict between this section and the section in the article on Finance, to which reference has been made. We say in the general framework of the Constitution, that the Legislature shall levy certain taxes, sufficient for certain specified purposes. Then in the Schedule we say that for so many years the tax for State purposes shall not exceed a given rate per cent. The latter provision qualifies the former, and there can be no conflict at all.

Mr. McCLENTON. If I did not believe, honestly and conscientiously, that we can support the State Government on a tax of one and one-fourth per cent., levied upon the amount of property which we already have in the Territory, saying nothing of what we expect to have in the State hereafter—if I did not believe that would be amply sufficient, and more than sufficient, I should most undoubtedly vote against this proposition. But I have thoroughly canvassed the matter in my mind; I have turned it over and over, in every possible light, endeavoring to satisfy myself whether there is or is not so much property in the Territory now as will suffice, upon a tax of one dollar and a quarter on each one hundred dollars' worth of property, to raise a revenue sufficient for the support of the State Government, and for the liquidation of all the claims which will be brought against the State on account of the debts contracted by the Territory of Nevada, and assumed by the State; and I have convinced myself, fully and fairly, I believe, that we have sufficient resources, and more than sufficient, at that rate of taxation, to meet all demands against us. I shall therefore vote to retain the section under consideration.

I believe there is no man in the Convention more anxious for the adoption of a State Government than I am, although I am not, like my friend from Washoe, (Mr. Nourse,) interested personally. It is true that I have an interest to some extent, as every citizen has, but I mean to say, I am not aware that I shall be able, if I may use a rather common expression, to "make my bread and butter" any more easily in consequence of the adoption of the State Government, than I otherwise would. On the contrary, I do not know but I shall be really

Wednesday.]

HAWLEY—CROSMAN—PRESIDENT—NOURSE.

[July 27.]

a little out of pocket by it, for I may have to pay heavier taxes than I do now; but if that is the case I shall pay those taxes cheerfully, because I believe the State Government will be a benefit and a blessing to the people at large. In my judgment, the people of this Territory will be found almost unanimously in favor of a State Government, provided they can be convinced that it will not burden them with expenses greatly exceeding in amount those which they now bear, in supporting the Territorial form of Government. And I maintain that the Constitution which we have framed, and are about to adopt in this Convention, makes ample provision for carrying on this State Government on such an economical principle that our expenses will be scarcely perceptibly increased, if at all, beyond what they now are.

I am strongly of the opinion, sir, that the taxable property of the Territory, even at the present day, is not one farthing less, in the aggregate amount, than forty millions of dollars. But if it were less than that, suppose it to reach only thirty-two millions, including the proceeds of the mines, still I contend that a tax of one dollar and a quarter on every one hundred dollars worth of property, would provide an ample revenue for the support of the State Government, and also for the payment of the principal and interest of the Territorial debt. I am tired of this rat-trap of a Territorial Government, sir. I want a government of a more substantial character—one which will encourage the development of our rich mines and all our resources. I want to see the numerous valuable mines which are now locked up by litigation, unworked, and developed as they should be, in order that their hidden stores of wealth may be brought forth and cast upon the commerce of the world. I want to see the two thousand men now idle in Storey County, as it has been stated, and scarcely possessing the wherewithal to obtain a living, once more in constant employment, and to accomplish that end I desire to see the Judiciary so reformed that the numerous causes now in litigation may be promptly disposed of, and the mining claims unworked, and allowed to be developed. Then those strong men, now idle, can be put to work in the mines, earning their four dollars a day, and so obtaining an honest and honorable livelihood.

I can vote conscientiously against the proposition now before the Convention to strike out this section, for the reason that I am firmly convinced that the proposed rate of taxation will yield a revenue amply sufficient, and more than sufficient, to support the State Government. If I believed it would be no more than sufficient, rather than take the risk, I should vote against the restriction; but I believe it will be more than sufficient, leaving a fair margin for those expenditures which we cannot estimate with certainty, and therefore I shall vote to retain the section.

The PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Nye (Mr. Proctor) to strike out the entire section. The Secretary will again read it, as now amended.

The SECRETARY read the section, as amended, as follows:

SEC. 24. For the first three years after the adoption of this Constitution the Legislature shall not levy a tax, for State purposes, exceeding one per cent. per annum on the taxable property in the State. Provided, the Legislature may levy a special tax not exceeding one-fourth of one per cent. per annum, which shall be appropriated to the payment of the indebtedness of the Territory of Nevada, assumed by the State of Nevada, and for that purpose only, until all of said indebtedness is paid.

The question was taken by yeas and nays, and the vote was—yeas, 7; nays, 14—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Crawford, Kinkead, Mason, Nourse, Proctor, Tagliabue, and Mr. President—7.

Nays—Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crosman, DeLong, Folsom, Gibson, Hawley, Kennedy, McClinton, Parker, and Wetherill—14.

So the Convention refused to strike out the section.

During the voting—

Mr. HAWLEY. I ask leave to explain my vote—only a moment. ["Leave, Leave!"] Upon the proposition to levy a tax of one dollar and a quarter upon each one hundred dollars of taxable property, for the purpose of carrying on this State Government, I find that the constituency I represent, or any one of them, would be required to pay taxes amounting in the aggregate to twenty-six dollars for each one thousand dollars worth of taxable property that he may possess. And that does not include the Federal tax. I am very certain that my action would meet with no approval from my constituents, if I were to give my consent to any proposition which, even by implication, would allow the Legislature to levy a State tax exceeding one dollar and a quarter on each one hundred dollars, for the next two or three years, in addition to the heavy taxes which we already have to pay in our county. I therefore cast my vote in the negative.

The result of the vote having been announced, as above given—

Mr. CROSMAN. I now move that the section be adopted.

The PRESIDENT. The section came up by a reconsideration. I am of opinion that the failure of the motion to strike out is equivalent to a vote to adopt. The motion should properly have been, I think, to adopt the section rather than to strike it out.

Mr. NOURSE. The refusal to strike out, I believe, is the adoption of the section.

The PRESIDENT. The vote may as well be taken, if there is no objection. The question is on the adoption of the section, as amended.

The question was taken, and the section was adopted.

The SECRETARY read Section 25, as follows:

SEC. 25. The County of Roop shall be attached to the

Wednesday,]

DELONG—PRESIDENT—COLLINS.

[July 27.

County of Washoe for judicial, legislative, revenue, and county purposes, until otherwise provided by law.

No amendment was proposed.

The PRESIDENT. The final revision of the Schedule is now completed; what is the pleasure of the Convention?

Mr. DELONG. I move that the Convention adjourn.

The PRESIDENT. We shall be unable to assemble a quorum to-morrow, and the Election Ordinance remains to be read.

Mr. DELONG. We can finish before ten o'clock in the morning; however, I withdraw the motion.

ELECTION ORDINANCE.

The Convention took up, on final revision, the Election Ordinance, providing for the election by the people upon the Constitution, and the voting of volunteers in the service of the United States at certain elections.

The SECRETARY read the preamble, and Sections 1 to 6, inclusive, as follows:

WHEREAS, The Enabling Act passed by Congress, and approved March 21st, A. D. 1864, requires that the Convention charged with the duty of framing a Constitution for a State Government "shall provide by ordinance for submitting said Constitution to the people of the Territory of Nevada for their ratification or rejection," on a certain day prescribed therein; therefore, this Convention, organized in pursuance of said Enabling Act, do establish the following

ORDINANCE.

SECTION 1. The Governor of the Territory of Nevada is hereby authorized to issue his proclamation for the submission of this Constitution to the people of said Territory, for their approval or rejection, on the day provided for such submission by Act of Congress, and this Constitution shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said Territory, in the several counties thereof, for their approval or rejection; and further, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, A. D. 1864, there shall be a general election in the several counties of said Territory for the election of State officers, Supreme and District Judges, Members of the Legislature, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential Electors.

SEC. 2. All persons qualified by the laws of said Territory to vote for Representatives to the General Assembly on the said twenty-first day of March, including those in the army of the United States, both within and beyond the boundaries of said Territory, and also all persons who may by the aforesaid laws be qualified to vote on the — day of —, A. D. 1864, including those in the aforesaid army of the United States, within and without the boundaries of said Territory, may vote for the adoption or rejection of said Constitution on the day last above-named. In voting upon this Constitution, each elector shall deposit in the ballot-box a ticket, whereon shall be clearly written or printed "Constitution Yes," or "Constitution No," or such other words that shall clearly indicate the intention of the elector.

SEC. 3. All persons qualified by the laws of said Territory to vote on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, A. D. 1864, including those in the army of the United States, within and beyond the boundaries of said Territory, may vote on the day last above-named for State officers, Supreme and District Judges, Members of the Legislature, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential Electors to the Electoral College.

SEC. 4. The elections provided in this ordinance shall be holden at such places as shall be designated by the Boards of Commissioners of the several counties in said Territory. The Judges and Inspectors of said elections shall be appointed by said Commissioners, and the said elections shall be conducted in conformity with the existing laws of said Territory in relation to holding the general elections.

SEC. 5. The Judges and Inspectors of said elections shall carefully count each ballot, immediately after said elections, and forthwith make duplicate returns thereof to the Clerks of the said County Commissioners of their respective counties; and said Clerks, within fifteen days after said elections, shall transmit an abstract of the votes, including the soldiers' vote, as herein provided, given for State officers, Supreme and District Judges, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential electors, inclosed in an envelope, by the most safe and expeditious conveyance, to the Governor of said Territory, marked "Election Returns."

SEC. 6. Upon the receipt of said returns, including those of the soldiers' vote, or within twenty days after the election, if said returns be not sooner received, it shall be the duty of the Board of Canvassers—to consist of the Governor, United States District Attorney, and Chief Justice of said Territory, or any two of them—to canvass the returns, both civil and military, in the presence of all who may wish to be present, and if a majority of all the votes given upon this Constitution shall be in its favor, the said Governor shall immediately publish an abstract of the same and make proclamation of the fact, in some newspaper in said Territory, and certify the same to the President of the United States, together with a copy of the Constitution and ordinances. The said Board of Canvassers, after canvassing the votes of the said November elections, shall issue certificates of election to such persons as were elected State officers, Judges of the Supreme and District Courts, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential electors. When the President of the United States shall issue his proclamation declaring this State admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States, this Constitution shall thenceforth be ordained and established as the Constitution of the State of Nevada.

The PRESIDENT. Are those words, "civil and military," necessary, in Section 6? It provides for canvassing the returns, "both civil and military."

Mr. COLLINS. I presume they are not required. I move to strike out the words "both civil and military."

The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Mr. DELONG. There is considerable noise on this side of the room, and as I take an interest in this matter, I will ask to have Section 1 read again.

The SECRETARY again read Section 1.

The PRESIDENT. This section is not complete. It is necessary to insert "on the day provided by Act of Congress," or some words of like import, at the end of the first clause, before the words "and further." That will be a substitute for the date which we have heretofore stricken out.

Mr. COLLINS. Read it again, slowly.

The SECRETARY again read Section 1.

The PRESIDENT. I suggest that we insert the words, "at the time provided by such Act of Congress." Then it will read:

"And this Constitution shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said Territory, in the several counties thereof, for their approval or rejection, at the time provided by such Act of Congress."

Mr. COLLINS. I will offer that amendment. The amendment was agreed to by unanimous consent.

Wednesday.]

PRESIDENT—PROCTOR—CHAPIN—BROSNAN—DELONG.

[July 27.]

The remaining sections of the Ordinance were read, as follows :

SEC. 7. For the purpose of taking the vote of the electors of said Territory who may be in the army of the United States, the Adjutant-General of said Territory shall, on or before the fifth day of August next following, make out a list in alphabetical order, and deliver the same to the Governor, of the names of all the electors, residents of said Territory, who shall be in the army of the United States, stating the number of the regiment, battalion, squadron, or battery to which he belongs, and also the county or township of his residence in said Territory.

SEC. 8. The Governor shall classify and arrange the aforesaid returned list, and shall make therefrom separate lists of the electors belonging to each regiment, battalion, squadron, and battery from said Territory in the service of the United States, and shall, on or before the fifteenth day of August following, transmit, by mail or otherwise, to the commanding officer of each regiment, battalion, squadron, and battery, a list of electors belonging thereto, which said list shall specify the name, residence, and rank of each elector and the company to which he belongs, if to any, and also the county and township to which he belongs, and in which he is entitled to vote.

SEC. 9. Between the hours of nine o'clock, A. M., and three o'clock, P. M., on each of the election days hereinbefore named, a ballot-box or suitable receptacle for votes shall be opened under the immediate charge and direction of three of the highest officers in command, for the reception of votes from the electors whose names are upon said list, at each place where a regiment, battalion, squadron, or battery of soldiers from said Territory in the army of the United States may be on that day ; at which time and place said electors shall be entitled to vote for all officers for which by reason of their residence in the several counties in said Territory they are authorized to vote, as fully as they would be entitled to vote in the several counties or townships in which they reside, and the votes so given by such electors, at such time and place, shall be considered, taken, and held to have been given by them in the respective counties and townships in which they are resident.

SEC. 10. Each ballot deposited for the adoption or rejection of this Constitution, in the army of the United States, shall have distinctly written or printed thereon, "Constitution—Yes," or "Constitution—No;" or words of a similar import; and further, for the election of State officers, Supreme and District Judges, members of the Legislature, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential Electors, the name and office of the person voted for shall be plainly written or printed on one piece of paper. The name of each elector voting as aforesaid shall be checked upon the said list at the time of voting by one of the said officers having charge of the ballot-box. The said officers having charge of the election shall count the votes, and compare them with the checked list, immediately after the closing of the ballot-box.

SEC. 11. All the ballots cast, together with the said voting list checked as aforesaid, shall be immediately sealed up and sent forthwith to the Governor of said Territory, at Carson City, by mail or otherwise, by the commanding officer, who shall also make out and certify duplicate returns of votes given according to the forms hereinafter described, seal up and immediately transmit the same to the said Governor at Carson City, by mail or otherwise, the day following the transmission of the ballots and the voting list herein named. The said commanding officer shall also immediately transmit to the several County Clerks in said Territory an abstract of the votes given at the general election in November, for county officers, marked "Election Returns."

SEC. 12. The form of returns of votes to be made by the commanding officer to the Governor and County Clerks of said Territory, shall be in substance as follows, viz :

Returns of soldiers' votes in the (here insert the regiment, detachment, battalion, squadron, or battery.)
(For first election—On the Constitution.)

I, ———, hereby certify that on the ——— A. D. 1864, the electors belonging to the (here insert the name of the regiment, detachment, battalion, squadron, or battery,) cast the following number of votes for and against the Constitution for the State of Nevada, viz :

For Constitution—(number of votes written in full and in figures.)

Against Constitution—(number of votes written in full and in figures.)

(Second election—For State and other officers:)

I, ———, hereby certify that on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1864, the electors belonging to the (here insert as above,) cast the following number of votes for the several officers and persons hereinafter named, viz :

For Governor—(names of persons voted for, number of votes for each person voted for written in full, and also in figures, against the name of each person.)

For Lieutenant-Governor—(name of candidates, number of votes cast for each written out, and in figures, as above.)

(Continue as above until the list is completed.)

Attest: I. A. B.,
Commanding officer of the (here insert regiment, detachment, battalion, squadron, or battery, as the case may be.)

SEC. 13. The Governor of this Territory is requested to furnish each commanding officer within and beyond the boundaries of said Territory, proper and sufficient blanks for said returns.

SEC. 14. The provisions of this ordinance in regard to the soldiers' vote shall apply to future elections under this Constitution, and be in full force until the Legislature shall provide by law for taking the votes of citizens of said Territory in the army of the United States.

No further amendment was proposed.

The PRESIDENT. Has the gentleman from Nye (Mr. Proctor) any report to make from the Governor, concerning the day of voting on the Constitution?

Mr. PROCTOR. Not yet.

PUBLICATION OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Mr. CHAPIN. While we are waiting for information from the Governor, I desire to offer a resolution which I think is necessary, inasmuch as a committee has been appointed to take charge of the official publication of the Constitution.

The resolution was read, as follows :

Resolved, That the Committee on Re-enrollment be directed to furnish the Committee on Publication and Distribution, with a certified copy of the Constitution, as soon as the same can be prepared.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted.

ENROSSMENT OF THE JOURNAL.

Mr. BROSNAN. I believe it is customary to provide for the preservation of the Journals of Conventions of this kind, and I therefore offer the following resolution :

Resolved, That in the event of the adoption of this Constitution, the Secretary of this Convention be, and he is hereby directed to engross, on Supreme Court paper, the Journals of this Convention, in order that they may be bound, and that for such services, as well as for engrossing copies of the Constitution provided to be transmitted to Washington, he shall receive — cents per folio, to be paid in the same manner as the salaries of the attaches of this Convention.

Mr. DELONG. I move to insert the word "hide," before "bound." [Laughter.]

Wednesday.] NOURSE—COLLINS—BANKS—BROSNAN—PROCTOR—DELONG—HAWLEY, ETC. [July 27.

Mr. NOURSE. I want to insert a proviso that the Secretary's compensation shall not exceed one per cent. of all the taxable property of the State. [Laughter.] Would the Secretary do the work for — bonds?

Mr. COLLINS. Do not let us make nonsense of it.

Mr. BANKS. We must fill the blank, I suppose. The price paid for enrolling, I understand, is thirty cents per folio.

Mr. BROSNAN. I will insert in the blank the word "thirty."

The question was taken, and the resolution, as modified, was adopted.

THE ELECTION ORDINANCE—AGAIN.

Mr. BANKS. Has the Election Ordinance been finally considered?

The PRESIDENT. It was passed some time ago.

Mr. BANKS. I did not hear the final vote taken; were any corrections made?

The PRESIDENT. Yes, sir; in the usual manner; there being no objection.

Mr. BANKS. Has any reply been received to the telegrams sent by the Governor relative to the day of the election on the Constitution?

The PRESIDENT. I have made inquiry, and learn that at the time of the meeting of the Convention this evening, the Governor had received no reply. Some blanks were necessarily left in the Election Ordinance, as it was passed on a previous day, and we have provided in Section 1, that the Constitution shall be submitted at the time designated by Act of Congress. That is all the Convention can do in regard to the matter.

FINAL ADOPTION OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Mr. PROCTOR. Before the reading of the Journal of to-day's proceedings, should we not take a final vote on the adoption of the Constitution as a whole, as now amended?

Mr. DELONG. I think the suggestion is a good one. I move the adoption of the entire Constitution, Resolution, and Ordinances, as a whole, and ask for the yeas and nays.

The question was taken by yeas and nays, and the vote was—yeas, 19; nays, 2—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Banks, Belden, Brosnan, Chapin, Collins, Crossman, DeLong, Folsom, Gibson, Hawley, Kennedy, Kinkad, Mason, McClinton, Parker, Proctor, Tagliabue, Wetherill, and Mr. President—19.

Nays—Messrs. Crawford and Nourse—2.

So the Constitution, Resolution, and Ordinances, were finally adopted by the Convention.

Mr. HAWLEY. Now I call for the reading of the Journal.

The Journal of to-day's proceedings, up to the present time, was read and approved.

Several facetious motions and resolutions were submitted, producing considerable merriment.

EXTRA SERVICE OF SECRETARY.

Mr. KINKEAD. There will necessarily be a day or two, perhaps more, after the adjournment, that the Secretary will be occupied in writing up his Journal, and attending to various matters connected with his duties. I will therefore submit a motion that he be allowed, for such time as may be necessary, the same per diem as during the session, to be certified by the President.

The PRESIDENT. A certified copy of the Constitution, as enrolled, has to be furnished to the printer.

Mr. BROSNAN. Is not the copy we have been using sufficient, as it has to be re-enrolled? Compositors, as is well known, can read almost anything.

Mr. KINKEAD. I think so; that copy has to be used for the re-enrollment.

The PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Ormsby, (Mr. Kinkad.) The Secretary will read it.

The SECRETARY read, as follows:

Resolved, That the Secretary be allowed the same per diem, for such number of days as he shall be necessarily engaged in writing up the Journals, to be certified to by the President, as is prescribed by the resolution fixing the pay of the attaches.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted.

EXTRA PAY.

Mr. BANKS. I move to reconsider the vote by which the Convention increased the compensation of certain officers and attaches of the Convention, and I will state my reasons very briefly. I might with propriety say a great deal in commendation of the manner in which the duties of their various positions have been performed, but nevertheless I regret exceedingly that in the starting out of our new State Government we should establish so bad a precedent. I know the motion is not altogether parliamentary, perhaps, and it may not be acceptable to many gentlemen who are friends of the officers and attaches, nor to themselves, but for one I cannot consent, if I can help it, to allow this Convention to set so pernicious an example.

The question was taken on the motion to reconsider, and on a division the vote was—yeas, 7; nays, 12. So the Convention refused to reconsider.

THANKS TO THE PRESIDENT.

[Mr. COLLINS in the chair.]

Mr. HAWLEY offered the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, The second Constitutional Convention of the Territory of Nevada is now about to adjourn. Therefore, be it unanimously

Resolved, That the thanks of the members of this Convention are hereby tendered to the Hon. J. NEELEY JOHNSON, President of the Convention, for the able, impartial, and courteous manner in which he has discharged the duties of his position.

Wednesday,] HAWLEY—KINKEAD—DELONG—BANKS—CROSMAN—PRESIDENT.

[July 27.

Resolved, That the members of this Convention take leave of the President with the kindest memories of their past intercourse, and their warmest wishes for his future prosperity.

Mr. HAWLEY. I feel that nothing I can say would add strength or force to those resolutions, which are offered in a spirit of the profoundest sincerity. I earnestly hope and trust that they will meet with the unanimous approval of the gentlemen composing this Convention. By their adoption we shall only be doing justice to ourselves, as well as justice—in part, at least—to the distinguished gentleman who has presided so ably over our deliberations. [Applause.]

The question was taken, and the preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted.

THANKS TO OFFICERS AND ATTACHES.

[The PRESIDENT in the chair.]

Mr. KINKEAD offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the members of this Convention hereby return their thanks to the Secretary and other attaches of this Convention, for the faithful discharge of the duties of their several offices.

Mr. DELONG. How is that; "the Secretary and other attaches?" That requires some modification.

Mr. BANKS. It is a matter perhaps of no great consequence; still, if I occupied the position of the "others," I would like to be designated a little more plainly. I understand that the Secretary, and the Assistant Secretary of the Convention, and also the Official Reporter, are included among the officers of the Convention, and then the others may be designated as attaches. I would like to get the resolution in proper form, and the attaches are not usually classed with the other officers. I suggest that the resolution be amended so as to specify the Secretary, Assistant Secretary, and Official Reporter, and then the others as attaches.

Mr. KINKEAD. I will accept the amendment with great pleasure.

Mr. BANKS. After examining the resolution, I will move to amend it so as to read: "the officers and attaches of this Convention," instead "of the Secretary and other attaches;" that will include them all. The resolution will then read as follows:

Resolved, That the members of this Convention hereby return their thanks to the officers and attaches of this Convention, for the faithful discharge of the duties of their several offices.

Mr. KINKEAD. I accept the amendment.

The question was taken, and the resolution, as modified, was adopted unanimously.

The journal of this evening's session was read and approved.

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE.

Mr. CROSMAN. I move that the Convention adjourn, sine die, inasmuch as our labors are completed.

The question was taken, and the motion was agreed to.

Before announcing the result of the vote—

CLOSING REMARKS OF THE PRESIDENT.

The PRESIDENT. Gentlemen of the Convention:—The time has arrived when, having concluded the important labors for which we were convened, we are about to separate, and return to our several homes. Anxiously as we have desired this moment, it nevertheless brings with it feelings of sadness, for we are about to part, probably never, all of us, again to meet together on earth.

When I entered upon the duties of your presiding officer, gentlemen, I promised you that I would endeavor to discharge the duties of that trust with impartiality, and I can conscientiously say, that during the sessions of our body I have earnestly sought to discharge those duties. And I feel that I can receive the very flattering resolution of thanks which you have adopted, as at least an earnest and sincere expression of your judgment as to the manner in which I have fulfilled your expectations, and my promise. In discharging the exacting duties of this position, I have labored under much embarrassment. I brought to the position but little of parliamentary knowledge or legislative experience, and, having no written rules for the government of our Convention, we have been compelled to rely upon the manual which was adopted as our guide, and which was not at all times strictly applicable to the varied questions which necessarily arose in the Convention. Hence I have oftentimes found myself perplexed, and in some instances have unquestionably made rulings which did not receive the approval of your judgment. Be that as it may, I have been at all times actuated solely by a desire to make no rulings but such as would be in conformity with the usages and practice of parliamentary bodies.

During our proceedings we have had much to congratulate ourselves upon, and but little, if anything at all, to recur to at this time with regret. We have passed through the few weeks of our deliberations, without the angel of death having entered the portals of the Convention, and with an absence even of any serious illness, such as visited the preceding Convention. For these mercies we should return our grateful thanks to a beneficent Providence.

It is to be regretted that we have not had a full attendance of members, owing to circumstances which we could not control, but nevertheless, in much less time than that consumed by members of the former Convention, we have prepared with exceeding great care a Constitution to be submitted to the people of this Territory, for their approval or rejection—a Constitution which, in my opinion, in all its essential features, will commend itself to the favorable judgment of the people. And even should their judgment be adverse at this time to its adoption, we shall have this upon which

Wednesday.]

PRESIDENT.

[July 27.

to congratulate ourselves, that although the result of our labors be not now adopted, it will nevertheless serve as a basis for the action of some future Convention, as the labors of our predecessors have served as the basis of our action.

Gentlemen, in bidding you good-bye, allow me to say that you carry with you, each and every one, my cordial sympathies in your future welfare, my sincere wishes for your continued prosperity. And I join with you, gentlemen, in the ardent hope that the labors which have brought us together, and which are now happily ended, may culminate in the advantage of the people of the new State of Nevada, for the government of which we have laid the foundation.

Gentlemen, I now declare this Convention adjourned sine die.

Accordingly, at five minutes past twelve o'clock, midnight, the Convention adjourned, sine die.

CONSTITUTION

OF THE

STATE OF NEVADA,

AS ADOPTED IN CONVENTION, AND RATIFIED BY THE PEOPLE.

CONSTITUTION.

PRELIMINARY ACTION.

WHEREAS, The Act of Congress, approved March twenty-first, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, "To Enable the People of the Territory of Nevada to form a Constitution and State Government, and for the admission of such State into the Union on an equal footing with the original States," requires that the members of the Convention for framing said Constitution shall, after organization, on behalf of the people of said Territory, adopt the Constitution of the United States, therefore, be it

Resolved. That the members of this Convention, elected by the authority of the aforesaid Enabling Act of Congress, as assembled in Carson City, the Capital of said Territory of Nevada, and immediately subsequent to its organization, do adopt, on behalf of the people of said Territory, the Constitution of the United States.

ORDINANCE.

In obedience to the requirements of an Act of the Congress of the United States, approved March twenty-first, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, to enable the people of Nevada to form a Constitution and State Government, this Convention, elected and convened in obedience to said Enabling Act, do ordain as follows—and this ordinance shall be irrevocable, without the consent of the United States and the people of the State of Nevada :

First—That there shall be in this State neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, otherwise than in the punishment for crimes, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

Second—That perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and no inhabitant of said State shall ever be molested, in person or property, on account of his or her mode of religious worship.

Third—That the people inhabiting said Territory do agree and declare, that they forever disclaim all right and title to the unappropriated public lands lying within said Territory, and that the same shall be and remain at the sole and entire disposition of the United States ; and that lands belonging to citizens of the United States, residing without the said State, shall never be taxed higher than the land belonging to residents thereof ; and that no taxes shall be imposed by said State on lands or property therein belonging to, or which may hereafter be purchased by, the United States.

PREAMBLE.

We, the People of the State of Nevada, grateful to Almighty God for our freedom, in order to secure its blessings, insure domestic tranquillity, and form a more perfect Government, do establish this

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. All men are, by nature, free and equal, and have certain inalienable rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty ; acquiring, possessing, and protecting property, and pursuing and obtaining safety and happiness.

SEC. 2. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security, and benefit of the people ; and they have the right to alter or reform the same whenever the public good may require it. But the paramount allegiance of every citizen is due to the Federal Government, in the exercise of all its constitutional powers, as the same have been, or may be, defined by the Supreme Court of the United States, and no power exists in the people of this or any other State of the Federal Union to dissolve their connection therewith, or perform any act tending to impair, subvert, or resist the supreme authority of the Government of the United States. The Constitution of the United States confers full power on the Federal Government to maintain and perpetuate its existence, and whensoever any portion of the States, or the people thereof, attempt to secede from the Federal Union, or forcibly resist the execution of its laws, the Federal Government may, by warrant of the Constitution, employ armed force in compelling obedience to its authority.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

SEC. 3. The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all, and remain inviolate forever ; but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all civil cases, in the manner to be prescribed by law ; and in civil cases, if three-fourths of the jurors agree upon a verdict, it shall stand, and have the same force and effect as a verdict by the whole jury ; provided, the Legislature, by a law passed by a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each branch thereof, may require a unanimous verdict, notwithstanding this provision.

SEC. 4. The free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship, without discrimination or preference, shall forever be allowed in this State ; and no person shall be rendered incompetent to be a witness on account of his opinions on matters of his religious belief ; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of this State.

SEC. 5. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless, when in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require its suspension.

SEC. 6. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed ; nor shall cruel or unusual punishments be inflicted ; nor shall witnesses be unreasonably detained.

SEC. 7. All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties ; unless for capital offenses, when the proof is evident, or the presumption great.

SEC. 8. No person shall be tried for a capital or other infamous crime, (except in cases of impeachment, and in cases of the militia when in actual service, and the land and naval forces in time of war, or which this State may keep with the consent of Congress in time of peace, and in cases of petit larceny, under the regulation of the Legislature,) except on presentment or indictment of a grand jury ; and in any trial in any court whatever, the party accused shall be allowed to appear and defend in person, and with counsel, as in civil actions. No person shall be subject to be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense ; nor shall he be compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself ; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law ; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation having been first made or secured, except in cases of war, riot, fire, or great public peril, in which case compensation shall be afterward made.

SEC. 9. Every citizen may freely speak, write, and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right ; and no law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech or of the press. In all criminal prosecutions, and civil actions for libels, the truth may be given in evidence to the jury, and if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true, and was published with good motives, and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted or exonerated.

SEC. 10. The people shall have the right freely to assemble together to consult for the common good, to instruct their representatives, and to petition the Legislature for redress of grievances.

SEC. 11. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power. No standing army shall be maintained by this State in time of peace, and in time of war no appropriation for a standing army shall be for a longer time than two years.

SEC. 12. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, except in the manner to be prescribed by law.

RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.

SEC. 13. Representation shall be apportioned according to population.

SEC. 14. The privilege of the debtor to enjoy the necessary comforts of life shall be recognized by wholesome laws, exempting a reasonable amount of property from seizure or sale for payment of any debts or liabilities hereafter contracted; and there shall be no imprisonment for debt, except in cases of fraud, libel, or slander, and no person shall be imprisoned for a militia fine in time of peace.

SEC. 15. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, shall ever be passed.

SEC. 16. Foreigners who are, or who may hereafter become, bona fide residents of this State, shall enjoy the same rights in respect to the possession, enjoyment, and inheritance of property as native-born citizens.

SEC. 17. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, unless for the punishment of crimes, shall ever be tolerated in this State.

SEC. 18. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable seizures and searches, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but on probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place or places to be searched, and the person or persons, and thing or things to be seized.

SEC. 19. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against it, adhering to its enemies, or giving them aid and comfort. And no person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

SEC. 20. This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to impair or deny others retained by the people.

ARTICLE II.

RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.

SECTION 1. Every white male citizen of the United States, (not laboring under the disabilities named in this Constitution.) of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, who shall have actually and not constructively resided in the State six months, and in the district or county thirty days next preceding any election, shall be entitled to vote for all officers that now are or hereafter may be elected by the people, and upon all questions submitted to the electors at such election; provided, that no person who has been or may be convicted of treason or felony in any State or Territory of the United States, unless restored to civil rights, and no person who, after arriving at the age of eighteen years, shall have voluntarily borne arms against the United States, or held civil or military office under the so-called Confederate States, or either of them, unless an amnesty be granted to such by the Federal Government, and no idiot or insane person shall be entitled to the privilege of an elector.

SEC. 2. For the purpose of voting, no person shall be deemed to have gained or lost a residence by reason of his presence or absence while employed in the service of the United States, nor while engaged in the navigation of the waters of the United States, or of the high seas; nor while a student of any seminary of learning; nor while kept at any almshouse or other asylum, at public expense; nor while confined in any public prison.

SEC. 3. The right of suffrage shall be enjoyed by all persons otherwise entitled to the same who may be in the military or naval service of the United States; provided, the votes so cast shall be made to apply to the county and township of which said voters were bona fide residents at the time of their enlistment; and, provided further, that the payment of a poll tax or a registration of such voters shall not be required as a condition to the right of voting. Provision shall be made by law regulating the manner of voting, holding elections, and making returns of such elections, wherein other provisions are not contained in this Constitution.

SEC. 4. During the day on which any general election shall be held in this State, no qualified elector shall be arrested by virtue of any civil process.

SEC. 5. All elections by the people shall be by ballot, and all elections by the Legislature, or by either branch thereof, shall be viva voce.

SEC. 6. Provision shall be made by law for the registration of the names of the electors within the counties of which they may be residents, and for the ascertainment, by proper proofs, of the persons who shall be entitled to the right of suffrage, as hereby established, to preserve the purity of elections, and to regulate the manner of holding and making returns of the same; and the Legislature shall have power to prescribe by law any other or further rules or oaths as may be deemed necessary, as a test of electoral qualification.

DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS—LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 7. The Legislature shall provide by law for the payment of an annual poll tax of not less than two nor exceeding four dollars from each male person resident in the State, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, (uncivilized American Indians excepted,) one half to be applied for State, and one half for county purposes; and the Legislature may, in its discretion, make such payment a condition to the right of voting.

SEC. 8. All persons qualified by law to vote for representatives to the General Assembly of the Territory of Nevada on the twenty-first day of March, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, and all other persons who may be lawful voters in said Territory on the first Wednesday of September next following, shall be entitled to vote directly upon the question of adopting or rejecting this Constitution.

ARTICLE III.

DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

SECTION 1. The powers of the Government of the State of Nevada shall be divided into three separate departments—the Legislative, the Executive, and the Judicial; and no person charged with the exercise of powers properly belonging to one of these departments shall exercise any functions appertaining to either of the others, except in the cases herein expressly directed or permitted.

ARTICLE IV.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The Legislative authority of this State shall be vested in a Senate and Assembly, which shall be designated "The Legislature of the State of Nevada," and the sessions of such Legislature shall be held at the seat of government of the State.

SEC. 2. The sessions of the Legislature shall be biennial, and shall commence on the first Monday of January next ensuing the election of members of the Assembly, unless the Governor of the State shall, in the interim, convene the Legislature by proclamation.

SEC. 3. The members of the Assembly shall be chosen biennially, by the qualified electors of their respective districts, on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, and their term of office shall be two years from the day next after their election.

SEC. 4. Senators shall be chosen at the same time and places as members of the Assembly, by the qualified electors of their respective districts, and their term of office shall be four years from the day next after their election.

SEC. 5. Senators and members of the Assembly shall be duly qualified electors in the respective counties and districts which they represent, and the number of Senators shall not be less than one-third nor more than one-half of that of the members of the Assembly.

SEC. 6. Each House shall judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its own members, choose its own officers, (except the President of the Senate,) determine the rules of its proceedings, and may punish its members for disorderly conduct, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected, expel a member.

SEC. 7. Either House, during the session, may punish, by imprisonment, any person not a member who shall have been guilty of disrespect to the House by disorderly or contemptuous behavior in its presence; but such imprisonment shall not extend beyond the final adjournment of the session.

SEC. 8. No Senator or member of Assembly shall, during the term for which he shall have been elected, nor for one year thereafter, be appointed to any civil office of profit under this State which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased during such term, except such office as may be filled by elections by the people.

SEC. 9. No person holding any lucrative office under the Government of the United States, or any other power, shall be eligible to any civil office of profit under this State; provided, that Postmasters whose compensation does not exceed five hundred dollars per annum, or Commissioners of Deeds, shall not be deemed as holding a lucrative office.

SEC. 10. Any person who shall be convicted of the embezzlement or defalcation of the public funds of this State, or who may be convicted of having given or offered a bribe to procure his election or appointment to office, or received a bribe to aid in the procurement of office for any other person, shall be disqualified from holding any office of profit or trust in this State; and the Legislature shall, as soon as practicable, provide by law for the punishment of such defalcation, bribery, or embezzlement, as a felony.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 11. Members of the Legislature shall be privileged from arrest on civil process during the session of the Legislature, and for fifteen days next before the commencement of each session.

SEC. 12. When vacancies occur in either House, the Governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancy.

SEC. 13. A majority of all the members elected to each House shall constitute a quorum to transact business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each House may prescribe.

SEC. 14. Each House shall keep a journal of its own proceedings, which shall be published, and the yeas and nays of the members of either House on any question shall, at the desire of any three members present, be entered on the journal.

SEC. 15. The doors of each House shall be kept open during its session, except the Senate while sitting in Executive Session; and neither shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which they may be holding their sessions.

SEC. 16. Any bill may originate in either House of the Legislature, and all bills passed by one may be amended in the other.

SEC. 17. Each law enacted by the Legislature shall embrace but one subject and matter properly connected therewith, which subject shall be briefly expressed in the title; and no law shall be revised or amended by reference to its title only; but, in such case, the act as revised, or section as amended, shall be re-enacted and published at length.

SEC. 18. Every bill shall be read by sections on three several days in each House, unless in case of emergency two-thirds of the House where such bill may be pending shall deem it expedient to dispense with this rule; but the reading of a bill by sections, on its final passage, shall in no case be dispensed with, and the vote on the final passage of every bill or joint resolution shall be taken by yeas and nays, to be entered on the journals of each House: and a majority of all the members elected to each House shall be necessary to pass every bill or joint resolution, and all bills or joint resolutions so passed shall be signed by the presiding officers of the respective Houses, and by the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly.

SEC. 19. No money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law. An accurate statement of the receipts and expenditures of the public money shall be attached to and published with the laws at every regular session of the Legislature.

SEC. 20. The Legislature shall not pass local or special laws in any of the following enumerated cases, that is to say:

Regulating the jurisdiction and duties of Justices of the Peace and of Constables:

For the punishment of crimes and misdemeanors:

Regulating the practice of Courts of Justice:

Providing for changing the venue in civil and criminal cases:

Granting divorces:

Changing the names of persons:

Vacating roads, town plots, streets, alleys, and public squares:

Summoning and empanneling grand and petit juries and providing for their compensation:

Regulating county and township business:

Regulating the election of county and township officers:

For the assessment and collection of taxes for State, county, and township purposes:

Providing for opening and conducting elections of State, county, or township officers, and designating the places of voting:

Providing for the sale of real estate belonging to minors or other persons laboring under legal disabilities.

SEC. 21. In all cases enumerated in the preceding section, and in all other cases where a general law can be made applicable, all laws shall be general and of uniform operation throughout the State.

SEC. 22. Provision may be made by general law for bringing suit against the State, as to all liabilities originating after the adoption of this Constitution.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 23. The enacting clause of every law shall be as follows: "The People of the State of Nevada, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows;" and no law shall be enacted except by bill.

SEC. 24. No lottery shall be authorized by this State, nor shall the sale of lottery tickets be allowed.

SEC. 25. The Legislature shall establish a system of county and township government, which shall be uniform throughout the State.

SEC. 26. The Legislature shall provide by law for the election of a Board of County Commissioners in each county, and such County Commissioners shall, jointly and individually, perform such duties as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 27. Laws shall be made to exclude from serving on juries, all persons not qualified electors of this State, and all persons who shall have been convicted of bribery, perjury, forgery, larceny, or other high crimes, unless restored to civil rights; and laws shall be passed regulating elections, and prohibiting, under adequate penalties, all undue influence thereon from power, bribery, tumult, or other improper practice.

SEC. 28. No money shall be drawn from the State Treasury as salary or compensation to any officer or employé of the Legislature, or either branch thereof, except in cases where such salary or compensation has been fixed by a law in force prior to the election or appointment of such officer or employé, and the salary or compensation so fixed shall neither be increased nor diminished so as to apply to any officer or employé of the Legislature, or either branch thereof, at such session; provided, that this restriction shall not apply to the first session of the Legislature.

SEC. 29. The first regular session of the Legislature, under this Constitution, may extend to ninety days, but no subsequent regular session shall exceed sixty days, nor any special session, convened by the Governor, exceed twenty days.

SEC. 30. A homestead, as provided by law, shall be exempt from forced sale under any process of law, and shall not be alienated without the joint consent of husband and wife, when that relation exists; but no property shall be exempt from sale for taxes, or for the payment of obligations contracted for the purchase of said premises, or for the erection of improvements thereon; provided, the provisions of this section shall not apply to any process of law obtained by virtue of a lien given by the consent of both husband and wife; and laws shall be enacted providing for the recording of such homestead within the county in which the same shall be situated.

SEC. 31. All property, both real and personal, of the wife, owned or claimed by her before marriage, and that acquired afterward by gift, devise, or descent, shall be her separate property; and laws shall be passed more clearly defining the rights of the wife in relation, as well to her separate property as to that held in common with her husband. Laws shall also be passed providing for the registration of the wife's separate property.

SEC. 32. The Legislature shall provide for the election, by the people, of a Clerk of the Supreme Court, County Clerks, County Record-ers—who shall be, ex officio, County Auditors—District Attorneys, Sheriffs, County Surveyors, Public Administrators, and other necessary officers, and fix, by law, their duties and compensation. County Clerks shall be, ex officio, Clerks of the Courts of Record, and of the Boards of County Commissioners, in and for their respective counties.

SEC. 33. The members of the Legislature shall receive for their services, a compensation to be fixed by law, and paid out of the public treasury; but no increase of such compensation shall take effect during the term for which the members of either House shall have been elected; provided, that an appropriation may be made for the payment of such actual expenses as members of the Legislature may incur for postage, express charges, newspapers, and stationery, not exceeding the sum of sixty dollars for any general or special session, to each member; and, furthermore provided, that the Speaker of the Assembly, and Lieutenant-Governor as President of the Senate, shall each, during the time of their actual attendance as such presiding officers, receive an additional allowance of two dollars per diem.

SEC. 34. In all elections for United States Senators, such elections shall be held in joint convention of both Houses of the Legislature. It shall be the duty of the Legislature which convenes next preceding the expiration of the term of such Senator to elect his successor. If a vacancy in such Senatorial representation, from any cause occur, it shall be the duty of the Legislature then in session, or at the succeeding session thereof, to supply such vacancy. If the Legislature shall, at any time as herein provided, fail to unite in a joint convention within twenty days after the commencement of the session of the Legislature, for the election of such Senator, it shall be the duty of the Governor, by proclamation, to convene the two Houses of the Legislature in joint convention within not less than five days, nor exceeding ten days, from the publication of his proclamation; and the joint convention, when so assembled, shall proceed to elect the Senator as herein provided.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 35. Every bill which may have passed the Legislature shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor. If he approve it, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the House in which it originated, which House shall cause such objections to be entered upon its journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, it again pass both Houses by yeas and nays, by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each House, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the Governor's objections. If any bill shall not be returned within five days after it shall have been presented to him, (Sunday excepted,) exclusive of the day on which he received it, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Legislature, by its final adjournment, prevent such return; in which case it shall be a law, unless the Governor, within ten days next after the adjournment, (Sundays excepted,) shall file such bill, with his objections thereto, in the office of the Secretary of State, who shall lay the same before the Legislature at its next session, in like manner as if it had been returned by the Governor; and if the same shall receive the vote of two thirds of the members elected to each branch of the Legislature, upon a vote taken by yeas and nays, to be entered upon the journals of each House, it shall become a law.

ARTICLE V.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The supreme executive power of this State shall be vested in a Chief Magistrate, who shall be Governor of the State of Nevada.

SEC. 2. The Governor shall be elected by the qualified electors at the time and places of voting for members of the Legislature, and shall hold his office for four years from the time of his installation, and until his successor shall be qualified.

SEC. 3. No person shall be eligible to the office of Governor who is not a qualified elector, and who, at the time of such election, has not attained the age of twenty-five years, and who, except at the first election under the Constitution, shall not have been a citizen resident of this State for two years next preceding the election.

SEC. 4. The returns of every election for Governor, and other State officers voted for at the general election, shall be sealed up, and transmitted to the seat of government, directed to the Secretary of State; and on the third Monday of December succeeding such election, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and the Associate Justices, or a majority thereof, shall meet at the office of the Secretary of State, and open and canvass the election returns for Governor and all other State officers, and forthwith declare the result and publish the names of the persons elected. The persons having the highest number of votes for the respective offices shall be declared elected; but in case any two or more have an equal and the highest number of votes for the same office, the Legislature shall, by joint vote of both houses, elect one of said persons to fill said office.

SEC. 5. The Governor shall be Commander-in-Chief of the military forces of this State, except when they shall be called into the service of the United States.

SEC. 6. He shall transact all executive business with the officers of the government, civil and military, and may require information in writing from the officers of the executive department, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

SEC. 7. He shall see that the laws are faithfully executed.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 8. When any office shall, from any cause, become vacant, and no mode is provided by the Constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, the Governor shall have the power to fill such vacancy by granting a commission, which shall expire at the next election and qualification of the person elected to such office.

SEC. 9. The Governor may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the Legislature, by proclamation, and shall state to both houses, when organized, the purpose for which they have been convened; and the Legislature shall transact no legislative business except that for which they were specially convened, or such other legislative business as the Governor may call to the attention of the Legislature while in session.

SEC. 10. He shall communicate, by message, to the Legislature, at every regular session, the condition of the State, and recommend such measures as he may deem expedient.

SEC. 11. In case of a disagreement between the two houses, with respect to the time of adjournment, the Governor shall have power to adjourn the Legislature to such time as he may think proper; provided, it be not beyond the time fixed for the meeting of the next Legislature.

SEC. 12. No person shall, while holding any office under the United States Government, hold the office of Governor, except as herein expressly provided.

SEC. 13. The Governor shall have the power to suspend the collection of fines and forfeitures, and grant reprieves for a period not exceeding sixty days, dating from the time of conviction, for all offenses, except in cases of impeachment. Upon conviction for treason, he shall have power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the Legislature at its next meeting, when the Legislature shall either pardon, direct the execution of the sentence, or grant a further reprieve. And if the Legislature shall fail or refuse to make final disposition of such case, the sentence shall be enforced at such time and place as the Governor, by his order, may direct. The Governor shall communicate to the Legislature, at the beginning of every session, every case of fine or forfeiture remitted, or reprieve, pardon, or commutation granted, stating the name of the convict, the crime of which he was convicted, the sentence, its date, and the date of the remission, commutation, pardon, or reprieve.

SEC. 14. The Governor, Justices of the Supreme Court, and Attorney-General, or a major part of them, of whom the Governor shall be one, may, upon such conditions and with such limitations and restrictions as they may think proper, remit fines and forfeitures, commute punishments, and grant pardons, after convictions, in all cases, except treason and impeachments, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons.

SEC. 15. There shall be a seal of this State, which shall be kept by the Governor, and used by him officially, and shall be called "The Great Seal of the State of Nevada."

SEC. 16. All grants and commissions shall be in the name and by the authority of the State of Nevada, sealed with the Great Seal of the State, signed by the Governor, and countersigned by the Secretary of State.

SEC. 17. A Lieutenant-Governor shall be elected at the same time and places, and in the same manner as the Governor, and his term of office, and his eligibility shall also be the same. He shall be President of the Senate, but shall only have a casting vote therein. If, during a vacancy of the office of Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor shall be impeached, displaced, resign, die, or become incapable of performing the duties of the office, or be absent from the State, the President pro tempore of the Senate shall act as Governor, until the vacancy be filled or the disability cease.

SEC. 18. In case of the impeachment of the Governor, or his removal from office, death, inability to discharge the duties of the said office, resignation, or absence from the State, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant-Governor for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall cease. But when the Governor shall, with the consent of the Legislature, be out of the State in time of war, and at the head of any military force thereof, he shall continue Commander-in-Chief of the military forces of the State.

SEC. 19. A Secretary of State, a Treasurer, a Controller, a Surveyor-General, and an Attorney-General, shall be elected at the same time and places, and in the same manner as the Governor. The term of office of each shall be the same as is prescribed for the Governor. Any elector shall be eligible to either of said offices.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 20. The Secretary of State shall keep a true record of the official acts of the Legislative and Executive Departments of the Government, and shall, when required, lay the same, and all matters relative thereto, before either branch of the Legislature.

SEC. 21. The Governor, Secretary of State, and Attorney-General shall constitute a Board of State Prison Commissioners, which Board shall have such supervision of all matters connected with the State Prison as may be provided by law. They shall also constitute a Board of Examiners, with power to examine all claims against the State, (except salaries or compensation of officers fixed by law,) and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law. And no claim against the State (except salaries or compensation of officers fixed by law) shall be passed upon by the Legislature, without having been considered and acted upon by said "Board of Examiners."

SEC. 22. The Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Controller, Surveyor-General, Attorney-General, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE VI.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The Judicial power of this State shall be vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, and in Justices of the Peace. The Legislature may also establish Courts for municipal purposes only, in incorporated cities and towns.

SEC. 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum; provided, that the Legislature, by a majority of all the members elected to each branch thereof, may provide for the election of two additional Associate Justices, and if so increased, three shall constitute a quorum. The concurrence of a majority of the whole Court shall be necessary to render a decision.

SEC. 3. The Justices of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State at the general election, and shall hold office for the term of six years from and including the first Monday of January next succeeding their election; provided, that there shall be elected, at the first election under this Constitution, three Justices of the Supreme Court, who shall hold office from and including the first Monday of December, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, and continue in office thereafter two, four, and six years, respectively from and including the first Monday of January next succeeding their election. They shall meet as soon as practicable after their election and qualification, and at their first meeting shall determine, by lot, the term of office each shall fill, and the Justice drawing the shortest term shall be Chief Justice, and after the expiration of his term, the one having the next shortest term shall be Chief Justice, after which the senior Justice in commission shall be Chief Justice. And in case the commission of any two or more of said Justices shall bear the same date, they shall determine by lot who shall be Chief Justice.

SEC. 4. The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction in all cases in equity; also, in all cases at law in which is involved the title or right of possession to, or the possession of, real estate or mining claims, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, or in which the demand, (exclusive of interest,) or the value of the property in controversy exceeds three hundred dollars; also, in all other civil cases not included in the general sub-division of law and equity, and also, on questions of law alone, in all criminal cases in which the offense charged amounts to felony. The Court shall also have power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, quo warranto, and habeas corpus, and, also, all writs necessary or proper to the complete exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. Each of the Justices shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of the State, upon petition by, or on behalf of, any person held in actual custody, and may make such writs returnable before himself or the Supreme Court, or before any District Court in the State, or before any Judge of said Courts.

SEC. 5. The State is hereby divided into nine Judicial Districts, of which the County of Storey shall constitute the first; the County of

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Ormsby the second ; the County of Lyon the third ; the County of Washoe the fourth ; the Counties of Nye and Churchill the fifth ; the County of Humboldt the sixth ; the County of Lander the seventh ; the County of Douglas the eighth ; and the County of Esmeralda the ninth. The County of Roop shall be attached to the County of Washoe for judicial purposes, until otherwise provided by law. The Legislature may, however, provide by law for an alteration in the boundaries or divisions of the districts herein prescribed, and also for increasing or diminishing the number of the Judicial Districts and Judges therein. But no such change shall take effect, except in case of a vacancy, or the expiration of the term of an incumbent of the office. At the first general election, under this Constitution, there shall be elected in each of the respective districts, (except as in this section hereafter otherwise provided,) one District Judge, who shall hold office from and including the first Monday of December, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, and until the first Monday of January, in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-seven ; after the said first election, there shall be elected at the general election which immediately precedes the expiration of the term of his predecessor, one District Judge in each of the respective Judicial Districts, (except in the first district, as in this section hereinafter provided.) The District Judges shall be elected by the qualified electors of their respective districts, and shall hold office for the term of four years, (excepting those elected at said first election,) from and including the first Monday of January next succeeding their election and qualification ; provided, that the First Judicial District shall be entitled to, and shall have, three District Judges, who shall possess co-extensive and concurrent jurisdiction, and who shall be elected at the same times, in the same manner, and shall hold office for the like terms, as herein prescribed, in relation to the Judges in other Judicial Districts. Any one of said Judges may preside on the empanneling of grand juries, and the presentment and trial on indictments, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by law.

Sec. 6. The District Courts in the several Judicial Districts in this State shall have original jurisdiction in all cases in equity ; also, in all cases at law which involve the title or the right of possession to, or the possession of, real property or mining claims, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, and in all other cases in which the demand (exclusive of interest) or the value of the property in controversy, exceeds three hundred dollars ; also, in all cases relating to the estates of deceased persons, and the persons and estates of minors and insane persons, and of the action of forcible entry and unlawful detainer ; and also, in all criminal cases not otherwise provided for by law. They shall, also, have final appellate jurisdiction in cases arising in Justices' Courts, and such other inferior tribunals as may be established by law. The District Courts and the Judges thereof shall have power to issue writs of mandamus, injunction, quo warranto, certiorari, and all other writs proper and necessary to the complete exercise of their jurisdiction ; and, also, shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus on petition by or on behalf of any person held in actual custody in their respective districts.

Sec. 7. The times of holding the Supreme Court, and District Courts, shall be as fixed by law. The terms of the Supreme Court shall be held at the seat of government, and the terms of the District Courts shall be held at the county seats of their respective counties ; provided, that in case any county shall be hereafter divided into two or more districts, the Legislature may, by law, designate the places of holding Courts in such districts.

Sec. 8. The Legislature shall determine the number of Justices of the Peace to be elected in each city and township of the State, and shall fix, by law, their powers, duties, and responsibilities ; provided, that such Justices' Courts shall not have jurisdiction of the following cases, viz : First—Of cases in which the matter in dispute is a money demand or personal property, and the amount of the demand, (exclusive of interest,) or the value of the property, exceeds three hundred dollars. Second—Of cases wherein the title to real estate, or mining claims, or questions of boundaries to land, is or may be involved ; or of cases that in any manner shall conflict with the jurisdiction of the several Courts of Record in this State. And, provided further, that Justices' Courts shall have such criminal jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law; and the Legislature may confer upon said courts jurisdiction, concurrent with the District Courts, of actions to enforce mechanics' liens, wherein the amount (exclusive of interest) does not exceed three hundred dollars; and, also, of actions for the possession of lands and tenements, where the relation of landlord and tenant exists, or when such possession has been unlawfully or fraudulently obtained or withheld. The Legislature shall also prescribe, by law, the manner, and determine the cases in which appeals may be taken from Justices' and other Courts. The Supreme Court, the District Courts, and such other courts as the Legislature shall designate, shall be Courts of Record.

IMPEACHMENT AND REMOVAL FROM OFFICE.

SEC. 9. Provision shall be made, by law, prescribing the powers, duties, and responsibilities of any Municipal Court that may be established in pursuance of Section 1 of this Article; and also fixing, by law, the jurisdiction of said court, so as not to conflict with that of the several Courts of Record.

SEC. 10. No judicial officer, except Justices of the Peace and City Recorders, shall receive, to his own use, any fees or perquisites of office.

SEC. 11. The Justices of the Supreme Court and the District Judges shall be ineligible to any office, other than a judicial office, during the term for which they shall have been elected; and all elections or appointments of any such Judges, by the people, Legislature, or otherwise, during said period, to any office other than judicial, shall be void.

SEC. 12. Judges shall not charge juries in respect to matters of fact, but may state the testimony and declare the law.

SEC. 13. The style of all process shall be "The State of Nevada," and all prosecutions shall be conducted in the name and by the authority of the same.

SEC. 14. There shall be but one form of civil action, and law and equity may be administered in the same action.

SEC. 15. The Justices of the Supreme Court and District Judges shall each receive, quarterly, for their services, a compensation to be fixed by law, and which shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which they shall have been elected, unless in case a vacancy occurs, in which case the successor of the former incumbent shall receive only such salary as may be provided by law at the time of his election or appointment; and provision shall be made by law for setting apart from each year's revenue a sufficient amount of money to pay such compensation; provided, that District Judges shall be paid out of the County Treasuries of the counties composing their respective districts.

SEC. 16. The Legislature, at its first session, and from time to time thereafter, shall provide, by law, that upon the institution of each civil action, and other proceedings, and also upon the perfecting of an appeal in any civil action or proceeding in the several Courts of Record in this State, a special court-fee or tax shall be advanced to the clerks of said courts, respectively, by the party or parties bringing such action or proceeding, or taking such appeal; and the money so paid in shall be accounted for by such clerks, and applied towards the payment of the compensation of the Judges of said courts, as shall be directed by law.

SEC. 17. The Legislature shall have no power to grant leave of absence to a judicial officer, and any such officer who shall absent himself from the State for more than ninety consecutive days, shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

SEC. 18. No judicial officer shall be superseded, nor shall the organization of the several courts of the Territory of Nevada be changed, until the election and qualification of the several officers provided for in this article.

ARTICLE VII.

IMPEACHMENT AND REMOVAL FROM OFFICE.

SECTION 1. The Assembly shall have the sole power of impeaching. The concurrence of a majority of all the members elected shall be necessary to an impeachment. All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate, and when sitting for that purpose, the Senators shall be upon oath or affirmation to do justice, according to law and evidence. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall preside over the Senate while sitting to try the Governor or Lieutenant-Governor, upon impeachment. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the Senators elected.

SEC. 2. The Governor and other State and Judicial officers, except Justices of the Peace, shall be liable to impeachment for misdemeanor or malfeasance in office; but judgment in such case shall not extend further than removal from office, and disqualification to hold any office of honor, profit, or trust, under this State. The party, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

MUNICIPAL AND OTHER CORPORATIONS—FINANCE AND STATE DEBT.

SEC. 3. For any reasonable cause, to be entered on the journals of each House, which may or may not be sufficient grounds for impeachment, the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, and Judges of the District Courts, shall be removed from office on the vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the Legislature, and the Justice or Judge complained of shall be served with a copy of the complaint against him, and shall have an opportunity of being heard in person or by counsel, in his defense; provided, that no member of either branch of the Legislature shall be eligible to fill the vacancy occasioned by such removal.

SEC. 4. Provision shall be made by law for the removal from office of any civil officer, other than those in this article previously specified, for malfeasance or nonfeasance in the performance of his duties.

ARTICLE VIII.

MUNICIPAL AND OTHER CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 1. The Legislature shall pass no special Act in any manner relating to corporate powers, except for municipal purposes; but corporations may be formed under general laws; and all such laws may, from time to time, be altered or repealed.

SEC. 2. All real property, and possessory rights to the same, as well as personal property in this State, belonging to corporations now existing, or hereafter created, shall be subject to taxation the same as property of individuals; provided, that the property of corporations formed for municipal, charitable, religious, or educational purposes, may be exempted by law.

SEC. 3. Dues from corporations shall be secured by such means as may be prescribed by law; provided, that corporators in corporations formed under the laws of this State shall not be individually liable for the debts or liabilities of such corporation.

SEC. 4. Corporations created by or under the laws of the Territory of Nevada, shall be subject to the provisions of such laws until the Legislature shall pass laws regulating the same, in pursuance of the provisions of this Constitution.

SEC. 5. Corporations may sue and be sued in all courts, in like manner as individuals.

SEC. 6. No bank notes, or paper of any kind, shall ever be permitted to circulate as money in this State, except the Federal currency, and the notes of banks authorized under the laws of Congress.

SEC. 7. No right of way shall be appropriated to the use of any corporation, until full compensation be first made or secured therefor.

SEC. 8. The Legislature shall provide for the organization of cities and towns by general laws, and restrict their powers of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts, and loaning their credit, except for procuring supplies of water.

SEC. 9. The State shall not donate or loan money or its credit, subscribe to, or be interested in the stock of any company, association, or corporation, except corporations formed for educational or charitable purposes.

SEC. 10. No county, city, town, or other municipal corporation, shall become a stockholder in any joint stock company, corporation, or association whatever, or loan its credit in aid of any such company, corporation, or association, except railroad corporations, companies, or associations.

ARTICLE IX.

FINANCE AND STATE DEBT.

SECTION 1. The fiscal year shall commence on the first day of January in each year.

SEC. 2. The Legislature shall provide by law for an annual tax, sufficient to defray the estimated expenses of the State for each fiscal year; and whenever the expenses of any year shall exceed the income, the Legislature shall provide for levying a tax sufficient, with other sources of income, to pay the deficiency, as well as the estimated expenses of such ensuing year or two years.

SEC. 3. For the purpose of enabling the State to transact its business upon a cash basis, from its organization, the State may contract public debts; but such debts shall never, in the aggregate, exclusive of interest, exceed the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, except for the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenses, as hereinafter mentioned. Every such debt shall be authorized by law for some purpose, or purposes, to be distinctly specified therein; and every such law shall provide for levying an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest semi-annually, and the principal within twenty years from the passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of said taxes to the payment of said principal and interest; and such appropriation shall not be repealed, nor the taxes be postponed or diminished, until the principal and interest of said debts shall have been wholly paid. Every contract of indebtedness entered into, or assumed, by or on behalf of the State, when all its debts and liabilities amount to said sum before-mentioned, shall be void and of no effect, except in cases of money borrowed to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, defend the State in time of war, or, if hostilities be threatened, provide for the public defense.

TAXATION—EDUCATION.

SEC. 4. The State shall never assume the debts of any county, town, city, or other corporation whatever, unless such debts have been created to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or to provide for the public defense.

ARTICLE X.

TAXATION.

SECTION 1. The Legislature shall provide by law for a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation, and shall prescribe such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property, real, personal, and possessory, excepting mines and mining claims, the proceeds of which alone shall be taxed, and, also, excepting such property as may be exempted by law for municipal, educational, literary, scientific, religious, or charitable purposes.

ARTICLE XI.

EDUCATION.

SECTION 1. The Legislature shall encourage, by all suitable means, the promotion of intellectual, literary, scientific, mining, mechanical, agricultural, and moral improvements; and also, provide for the election, by the people, at the general election, of a Superintendent of Public Instruction, whose term of office shall be two years from the first Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-five, and until the election and the qualification of his successor, and whose duties shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. The Legislature shall provide for a uniform system of common schools, by which a school shall be established and maintained in each school district at least six months in every year, and any school district neglecting to establish and maintain such a school, or which shall allow instruction of a sectarian character therein, may be deprived of its proportion of the interest of the public school fund during such neglect or infraction, and the Legislature may pass such laws as will tend to secure a general attendance of the children in each school district upon said public schools.

SEC. 3. All lands, including the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections in every township, donated for the benefit of the public schools in the Act of the Thirty-Eighth Congress, to enable the people of Nevada Territory to form a State Government, the thirty thousand acres of public lands granted by an Act of Congress, approved July second, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-two, for each Senator and Representative in Congress, and all proceeds of lands that have been, or may hereafter be, granted or appropriated by the United States to this State, and also the five hundred thousand acres of land granted to the new States, under the Act of Congress distributing the proceeds of the public lands among the several States of the Union, approved A. D. eighteen hundred and forty-one; provided, that Congress make provisions for, or authorizes such diversion to be made for the purpose herein contained, all estates that may escheat to the State, all of such per cent. as may be granted by Congress on the sale of land, all fines collected under the penal laws of the State, all property given or bequeathed to the State for educational purposes, and all proceeds derived from any or all of said sources, shall be and the same are hereby solemnly pledged for educational purposes, and shall not be transferred to any other fund for other uses; and the interest thereon shall, from time to time, be apportioned among the several counties in proportion to the ascertained numbers of the persons between the ages of six and eighteen years in the different counties, and the Legislature shall provide for the sale of floating land warrants to cover the aforesaid lands, and for the investment of all proceeds derived from any of the above-mentioned sources, in United States bonds, or the bonds of this State; provided, that the interest only of the aforesaid proceeds shall be used for educational purposes, and any surplus interest shall be added to the principal sum; and, provided further, that such portions of said interest as may be necessary may be appropriated for the support of the State University.

MILITIA—PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

SEC. 4. The Legislature shall provide for the establishment of a State University, which shall embrace departments for agriculture, mechanic arts, and mining, to be controlled by a Board of Regents, whose duties shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 5. The Legislature shall have power to establish normal schools, and such different grades of schools, from the primary department to the university, as in their discretion they may deem necessary, and all professors in said university, or teachers in said schools, of whatever grade, shall be required to take and subscribe to the oath as prescribed in Article Fifteenth of this Constitution. No professor or teacher who fails to comply with the provisions of any law framed in accordance with the provisions of this section, shall be entitled to receive any portion of the public moneys set apart for school purposes.

SEC. 6. The Legislature shall provide a special tax of one-half of one mill on the dollar of all taxable property in the State, in addition to the other means provided for the support and maintenance of said university and common schools; provided, that at the end of ten years they may reduce said tax to one-quarter of one mill on each dollar of taxable property.

SEC. 7. The Governor, Secretary of State, and Superintendent of Public Instruction shall, for the first four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, constitute a Board of Regents, to control and manage the affairs of the university, and the funds of the same, under such regulations as may be provided by law. But the Legislature shall, at its regular session next preceding the expiration of the term of office of said Board of Regents, provide for the election of a new Board of Regents, and define their duties.

SEC. 8. The Board of Regents shall, from the interest accruing from the first funds which come under their control, immediately organize and maintain the said mining department in such manner as to make it most effective and useful; provided, that all the proceeds of the public lands donated by Act of Congress, approved July second, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-two, for a college for the benefit of agriculture, the mechanic arts, and including military tactics, shall be invested by the said Board of Regents in a separate fund, to be appropriated exclusively for the benefit of the first named departments to the university, as set forth in Section Four above, and the Legislature shall provide that if, through neglect or any other contingency, any portion of the fund so set apart shall be lost or misappropriated, the State of Nevada shall replace said amount so lost or misappropriated in said fund, so that the principal of said fund shall remain forever undiminished.

SEC. 9. No sectarian instruction shall be imparted or tolerated in any school or university that may be established under this Constitution.

ARTICLE XII.

MILITIA.

SECTION 1. The Legislature shall provide by law for organizing and disciplining the militia of this State, for the effectual encouragement of volunteer corps, and the safe keeping of the public arms.

SEC. 2. The Governor shall have power to call out the militia to execute the laws of the State, or to suppress insurrection or repel invasion.

ARTICLE XIII.

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

SECTION 1. Institutions for the benefit of the insane, blind, and deaf and dumb, and such other benevolent institutions as the public good may require, shall be fostered and supported by the State, subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. A State Prison shall be established and maintained in such manner as may be prescribed by law, and provision may be made by law for the establishment and maintenance of a House of Refuge for juvenile offenders.

SEC. 3. The respective counties of the State shall provide, as may be prescribed by law,

BOUNDARY—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

for those inhabitants who, by reason of age and infirmity, or misfortunes, may have claim upon the sympathy and aid of society.

ARTICLE XIV.

BOUNDARY.

SECTION 1. The boundary of the State of Nevada shall be as follows: Commencing at a point formed by the intersection of the thirty-eighth degree of longitude west from Washington with the thirty-seventh degree of north latitude; thence due west along said thirty-seventh degree of north latitude to the eastern boundary line of the State of California; thence in a north-westerly direction along the said eastern boundary line of the State of California to the forty-third degree of longitude west from Washington; thence north along said forty-third degree of west longitude and said eastern boundary line of the State of California to the forty-second degree of north latitude; thence due east along the said forty-second degree of north latitude to a point formed by its intersection of the aforesaid thirty-eighth degree of longitude west from Washington; thence due south down said thirty-eighth degree of west longitude to the place of beginning. And whensoever Congress shall authorize the addition to the Territory or State of Nevada of any portion of the territory on the easterly border of the foregoing defined limits, not exceeding in extent one degree of longitude, the same shall thereupon be embraced within and become a part of this State. And, furthermore provided, that all such territory lying west of and adjoining the boundary line herein prescribed, which the State of California may relinquish to the Territory or State of Nevada shall thereupon be embraced within and constitute a part of this State.

ARTICLE XV.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

SECTION 1. The seat of government shall be at Carson City; but no appropriation for the erection or purchase of capitol buildings shall be made during the next three years.

SEC. 2. Members of the Legislature, and all officers, executive, judicial, and ministerial, shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe to the following oath, or affirmation: "I, _____, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support, protect, and defend the Constitution and Government of the United States, and the Constitution and Government of the State of Nevada, against all enemies, whether domestic or foreign; and that I will bear true faith, allegiance and loyalty to the same, any ordinance, resolution, or law of any State, Convention, or Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding; and, further, that I do this with a full determination, pledge, and purpose, without any mental reservation or evasion whatsoever. And I do further solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have not fought a duel, nor sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel, nor been a second to either party, nor in any manner aided or assisted in such duel, nor been knowingly the bearer of such challenge or acceptance, since the adoption of the Constitution of the State of Nevada, and that I will not be so engaged or concerned, directly or indirectly, in or about any such duel, during my continuance in office. And, further, that I will well and faithfully perform all the duties of the office of _____, on which I am about to enter; (if an oath,) so help me God; (if an affirmation,) under the pains and penalties of perjury."

SEC. 3. No person shall be eligible to any office who is not a qualified elector under this Constitution. No person who, while a citizen of this State, has, since the adoption of this Constitution, fought a duel with a deadly weapon, sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel with a deadly weapon, either within or beyond the boundaries of this State, or who has acted as second, or knowingly conveyed a challenge, or aided or assisted in any manner in fighting a duel, shall be allowed to hold any office of honor, profit, or trust, or enjoy the right of suffrage under this Constitution. The Legislature shall provide, by law, for giving force and effect to this section.

SEC. 4. No perpetuities shall be allowed except for eleemosynary purposes.

SEC. 5. The general election shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November.

SEC. 6. The aggregate number of members of both branches of the Legislature shall never exceed seventy-five.

SEC. 7. All county officers shall hold their offices at the county seat of their respective counties.

SEC. 8. The Legislature shall provide for the speedy publication of all statute laws of a general nature, and such decisions of the Supreme Court as it may deem expedient; and all laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person; provided, that no judgment of the Supreme Court shall take effect and be operative until the opinion of the Court in such case shall be filed with the Clerk of said Court.

SEC. 9. The Legislature may, at any time, provide by law for increasing or diminishing the salaries or compensation of any of the officers whose salary or compensation is fixed in this Constitution; provided, no such change of salary or compensation shall apply to any officer during the term for which he may have been elected.

SEC. 10. All officers, whose election or appointment is not otherwise provided for, shall be chosen or appointed, as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 11. The tenure of any office, not herein provided for, may be declared by law; or, when not so declared, such office shall be held during the pleasure of the authority making the appointment; but the Legislature shall not create any office, the tenure of which shall be longer than four years, except as herein otherwise provided in this Constitution.

SEC. 12. The Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Controller, and Clerk of the Supreme Court, shall keep their respective offices at the seat of government.

SEC. 13. The enumeration of the inhabitants of this State shall be taken under the direction of the Legislature, if deemed necessary, in A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-five; A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-seven; A. D. eighteen hundred and seventy-five, and every ten years thereafter; and these enumerations, together with the census that may be taken under the direction of the Congress of the United States in A. D. eighteen hundred and seventy, and every subsequent ten years, shall serve as the basis of representation in both houses of the Legislature.

SEC. 14. A plurality of votes given at an election by the people shall constitute a choice, where not otherwise provided by this Constitution.

ARTICLE XVI.

AMENDMENTS.

SECTION 1. Any amendment or amendments to this Constitution may be proposed in the Senate or Assembly; and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be entered on their respective journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the Legislature then next to be chosen, and shall be published for three months' next preceding the time of making such choice. And if, in the Legislature next chosen, as aforesaid, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, then it shall be the duty of the Legislature to submit such proposed amendment or amendments to the people, in such manner and at such time as the Legislature shall prescribe; and if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments by a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the Legislature voting thereon, such amendment or amendments shall become a part of the Constitution.

SEC. 2. If, at any time, the Legislature, by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house, shall determine that it is necessary to cause a revision of this entire Constitution, they shall recommend to the electors, at the next election for members of the Legislature, to vote for or against a Convention; and if it shall appear that a majority of the electors voting at such election shall have voted in favor of calling a Convention, the Legislature shall, at its next session, provide by law for calling a Convention, to be holden within six months after the passage of such law; and such Convention shall consist of a number of members not less than that of both branches of the Legislature. In determining what is a majority of the electors voting at such election, reference shall be had to the highest number of votes cast at such election for the candidates for any office or on any question.

ARTICLE XVII.

SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. That no inconvenience may arise by reason of a change from a Territorial to a permanent State government, it is declared that all rights, actions, prosecutions, judgments, claims, and contracts, as well of individuals as of bodies corporate, including counties, towns, and cities, shall continue as if no change had taken place; and all process which may issue under the authority of the Territory of Nevada previous to its admission into the Union as one of the United States, shall be as valid as if issued in the name of the State of Nevada.

SCHEDULE.

SEC. 2. All laws of the Territory of Nevada, in force at the time of the admission of this State, not repugnant to this Constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or be altered or repealed by the Legislature.

SEC. 3. All fines, penalties, and forfeitures, accruing to the Territory of Nevada, or to the people of the United States in the Territory of Nevada, shall inure to the State of Nevada.

SEC. 4. All recognizances heretofore taken, or which may be taken before the change from a Territorial to a State government, shall remain valid, and shall pass to, and may be prosecuted in the name of the State; and all bonds executed to the Governor of the Territory, or to any other officer or court in his or their official capacity, or to the people of the United States in the Territory of Nevada, shall pass to the Governor, or other officer or court, and his or their successors in office, for the uses therein respectively expressed, and may be sued on, and recovery had accordingly; and all property, real, personal, or mixed, and all judgments, bonds, specialties, choses in action, claims, and debts, of whatsoever description, and all records and public archives of the Territory of Nevada, shall issue to and vest in the State of Nevada, and may be sued for and recovered in the same manner, and to the same extent, by the State of Nevada, as the same could have been by the Territory of Nevada. All criminal prosecutions and penal actions which may have arisen, or which may arise before the change from a Territorial to a State government, and which shall then be pending, shall be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the name of the State. All offenses committed against the laws of the Territory of Nevada before the change from a Territorial to a State government, and which shall not be prosecuted before such change, may be prosecuted in the name and by the authority of the State of Nevada, with like effect as though such change had not taken place, and all penalties incurred shall remain the same as if this Constitution had not been adopted. All actions at law, and suits in equity, and all other legal proceedings which may be pending in any of the courts of the Territory of Nevada at the time of the change from a Territorial to a State government, shall be continued and transferred to, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution in any court of the State which shall have jurisdiction of the subject matter thereof; and all books, papers, and records, relating to the same, shall be transferred in like manner to such court.

SEC. 5. For the first term of office succeeding the formation of a State government, the salary of the Governor shall be four thousand dollars per annum; the salary of the Secretary of State shall be three thousand six hundred dollars per annum; the salary of the State Controller shall be three thousand six hundred dollars per annum; the salary of the State Treasurer shall be three thousand six hundred dollars per annum; the salary of the Surveyor-General shall be one thousand dollars per annum; the salary of the Attorney-General shall be two thousand five hundred dollars per annum; the salary of the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be two thousand dollars per annum; the salary of each Judge of the Supreme Court shall be seven thousand dollars per annum; the salaries of the foregoing officers shall be paid quarterly out of the State treasury. The pay of State Senators and Members of Assembly shall be eight dollars per day for each day of actual service, and forty cents per mile for mileage going to and returning from the place of meeting. No officer mentioned in this section shall receive any fee or perquisites, to his own use, for the performance of any duty connected with his office, or for the performance of any additional duty imposed upon him by law.

SEC. 6. Until otherwise provided by law the apportionment of Senators and Assemblymen in the different counties shall be as follows, to wit: Storey County, four Senators and twelve Assemblymen; Douglas County, one Senator and two Assemblymen; Elmore

SCHEDULE.

County, two Senators and four Assemblymen ; Humboldt County, two Senators and three Assemblymen ; Lander County, two Senators and four Assemblymen ; Lyon County, one Senator and three Assemblymen ; Lyon and Churchill Counties, one Senator, jointly ; Churchill County, one Assemblyman ; Nye County, one Senator and one Assemblyman ; Ormsby County, two Senators and three Assemblymen ; Washoe and Roop Counties, two Senators and three Assemblymen.

SEC. 7. All debts and liabilities of the Territory of Nevada, lawfully incurred, and which remain unpaid at the time of the admission of this State into the Union, shall be assumed by and become the debt of the State of Nevada ; provided, that the assumption of such indebtedness shall not prevent the State from contracting the additional indebtedness, as provided in section three of article nine of this Constitution.

SEC. 8. The term of State officers, except judicial, elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall continue until the Tuesday after the first Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, and until the election and qualification of their successors.

SEC. 9. The Senators to be elected at the first election under this Constitution shall draw lots, so that the term of one half of the number, as nearly as may be, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and the term of the other half shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-eight ; provided, that in drawing lots for all Senatorial terms, the Senatorial representation shall be allotted so that in the counties having two or more Senators, the terms thereof shall be divided, as nearly as may be, between the long and short terms.

SEC. 10. At the general election in A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and thereafter, the term of Senators shall be for four years from the day succeeding such general election, and members of Assembly for two years from the day succeeding such general election ; and the terms of Senators shall be allotted by the Legislature in long and short terms, as hereinbefore provided, so that one half the number, as nearly as may be, shall be elected every two years.

SEC. 11. The term of the members of the Assembly elected at the second general election under this Constitution, shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-five ; and the terms of those elected at the general election in A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-five shall expire on the day succeeding the general election in A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-six. .

SEC. 12. The first regular session of the Legislature shall commence on the first Monday of December, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four ; and the second regular session of the same shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-six ; and the third regular session of the Legislature shall be the first of the biennial sessions, and shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-seven ; and the regular sessions of the Legislature shall be held thereafter biennially, commencing on the first Monday of January.

SEC. 13. All county officers, under the laws of the Territory of Nevada, at the time when the Constitution shall take effect, whose offices are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Constitution, shall continue in office until the first Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, and until their successors are elected and qualified ; and all township officers shall continue in office until the expiration of their terms of office, and until their successors are elected and qualified ; provided, that the Probate Judges of the several counties, respectively, shall continue in office until the election and qualification of the District Judges of the several counties or judicial districts ; and, provided further, that the term of office of the present county officers of Lander County shall expire on the first Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-five, except the Probate Judge of said county, whose term of office shall expire upon the first Monday of December, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four ; and there shall be an election for county officers of Lander County at the general election in November, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four ; and the officers then elected shall hold office from the first Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-five, until the first Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

SCHEDULE.

SEC. 14. The Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, and Superintendent of Public Instruction of the Territory of Nevada, shall each continue to discharge the duties of their respective offices after the admission of this State into the Union, and until the time designated for the qualification of the above named officers to be elected under the State Government; and the Territorial Auditor shall continue to discharge the duties of his said office until the time appointed for the qualification of the State Controller; provided, that the said officers shall each receive the salaries and be subject to the restrictions and conditions provided in this Constitution; and, provided further, that none of them shall receive to his own use any fees or perquisites for the performance of any duty connected with his office.

SEC. 15. The terms of the Supreme Court shall, until provision be made by law, be held at such times as the Judges of the said Court, or a majority of them, may appoint. The first terms of the several District Courts, (except as hereinafter mentioned,) shall commence on the first Monday of December, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four. The first term of the District Court in the Fifth Judicial District shall commence on the first Monday of December, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, in the County of Nye, and shall commence on the first Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-five, in the County of Churchill. The terms of the Fourth Judicial District Court shall, until otherwise provided by law, be held at the county seat of Washoe County, and the first term thereof commence on the first Monday of December, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four.

SEC. 16. The Judges of the several District Courts of this State shall be paid, as hereinbefore provided, salaries at the following rates per annum: First Judicial District, (each Judge,) six thousand dollars; Second Judicial District, four thousand dollars; Third Judicial District, five thousand dollars; Fourth Judicial District, five thousand dollars; Fifth Judicial District, thirty-six hundred dollars; Sixth Judicial District, four thousand dollars; Seventh Judicial District, six thousand dollars; Eighth Judicial District, thirty-six hundred dollars; Ninth Judicial District, five thousand dollars.

SEC. 17. The salary of any Judge in said

Judicial Districts may, by law, be altered or changed, subject to the provisions contained in this Constitution.

SEC. 18. The Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Controller, Attorney-General, Surveyor-General, Clerk of the Supreme Court, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, to be elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall each qualify and enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the first Monday of December succeeding their election, and shall continue in office until the first Tuesday after the first Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, and until the election and qualification of their successors respectively.

SEC. 19. The Judges of the Supreme Court and District Judges, to be elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall qualify and enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the first Monday of December succeeding their election.

SEC. 20. All officers of State, and District Judges, first elected under this Constitution, shall be commissioned by the Governor of this Territory, which commission shall be countersigned by the Secretary of the same, and shall qualify before entering upon the discharge of their duties, before any officer authorized to administer oaths under the laws of this Territory; and also the State Controller and State Treasurer shall each respectively, before they qualify and enter upon the discharge of their duties, execute and deliver to the Secretary of the Territory of Nevada an official bond, made payable to the people of the State of Nevada, in the sum of thirty thousand dollars, to be approved by the Governor of the Territory of Nevada; and shall also execute and deliver, to the Secretary of State, such other or further official bond or bonds as may be required by law.

SEC. 21. Each county, town, city, and incorporated village, shall make provision for the support of its own officers, subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 22. In case the office of any Justice of the Supreme Court, District Judge, or other State officer, shall become vacant before the expiration of the regular term for which he was elected, the vacancy may be filled by appointment by the Governor until it shall be supplied at the next general election, when it shall be filled by election for the residue of the unexpired term.

ELECTION ORDINANCE.

SEC. 23. All cases, both civil and criminal, which may be pending and undetermined in the Probate Courts of the several counties at the time when, under the provisions of this Constitution, said Probate Courts are to be abolished, shall be transferred to and determined by the District Courts of such counties respectively.

SEC. 24. For the first three years after the adoption of this Constitution, the Legislature shall not levy a tax for State purposes exceeding one per cent. per annum on the taxable property in the State; provided, the Legislature may levy a special tax not exceeding one-fourth of one per cent. per annum, which shall be appropriated to the payment of the indebtedness of the Territory of Nevada, assumed by the State of Nevada, and for that purpose only, until all of said indebtedness is paid.

SEC. 25. The County of Hoop shall be attached to the County of Washoe for judicial, legislative, revenue, and county purposes, until otherwise provided by law.

SEC. 26. At the first regular session of the Legislature, to convene under the requirements of this Constitution, provision shall be made by law for paying for the publication of six hundred copies of the debates and proceedings of this Convention, in book form, to be disposed of as the Legislature may direct; and the Hon. J. Neely Johnson, President of this Convention, shall contract for, and A. J. Marsh, Official Reporter of this Convention, under the direction of the President, shall supervise the publication of such debates and proceedings. Provision shall be made by law, at such first session of the Legislature, for the compensation of the Official Reporter of this Convention, and he shall be paid in coin, or its equivalent. He shall receive for his services, in reporting the debates and proceedings, fifteen dollars per day during the session of the Convention, and seven and one-half dollars additional for each evening session, and thirty cents per folio of one hundred words for preparing the same for publication; and for supervising and indexing such publication, the sum of fifteen dollars per day during the time actually engaged in such service.

ELECTION ORDINANCE.

WHEREAS, The Enabling Act passed by Congress, and approved March twenty-first, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, requires that the Convention charged with the duty of framing a Constitution for a State Government, "shall provide by ordinance for submitting said Constitution to the people of the Territory of Nevada, for their ratification or rejection," on a certain day prescribed therein; therefore, this Convention, organized in pursuance of said Enabling Act, do establish the following

ORDINANCE:

SECTION 1. The Governor of the Territory of Nevada is hereby authorized to issue his proclamation for the submission of this Constitution to the people of said Territory, for their approval or rejection, on the day provided for such submission by Act of Congress; and this Constitution shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said Territory, in the several counties thereof, for their approval or rejection, at the time provided by such Act of Congress; and further, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, there shall be a general election in the several counties of said Territory for the election of State officers, Supreme and District Judges, members of the Legislature, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential Electors.

SEC. 2. All persons, qualified by the laws of said Territory to vote for Representatives to the General Assembly, on the said twenty-first day of March, including those in the army of the United States, both within and beyond the boundaries of said Territory, and also all persons who may, by the aforesaid laws, be qualified to vote on the first Wednesday of September, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, including those in the aforesaid army of the United States, within and without the boundaries of said Territory, may vote for the adoption or rejection of said Constitution, on the day last above named. In voting upon this Constitution, each elector shall deposit in the ballot-box a ticket, whereon shall be clearly written or printed, "Constitution—Yes," or "Constitution—No;" or such other words that shall clearly indicate the intention of the elector.

ELECTION ORDINANCE.

SEC. 3. All persons qualified by the laws of said Territory to vote on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, including those in the army of the United States, within and beyond the boundaries of said Territory, may vote on the day last above named, for State officers, Supreme and District Judges, members of the Legislature, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential Electors to the Electoral College.

SEC. 4. The elections provided in this ordinance shall be holden at such places as shall be designated by the Boards of Commissioners of the several counties in said Territory. The judges and inspectors of said elections shall be appointed by said Commissioners, and the said elections shall be conducted in conformity with the existing laws of said Territory in relation to holding the general election.

SEC. 5. The judges and inspectors of said elections shall carefully count each ballot immediately after said elections, and forthwith make duplicate returns thereof to the clerks of the said County Commissioners of their respective counties; and said clerks, within fifteen days after said elections, shall transmit an abstract of the votes, including the soldiers' vote, as herein provided, given for State officers, Supreme and District Judges, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential Electors, enclosed in an envelope, by the most safe and expeditious conveyance, to the Governor of said Territory, marked "Election Returns."

SEC. 6. Upon the receipt of said returns, including those of the soldiers' vote, or within twenty days after the election, if said returns be not sooner received, it shall be the duty of the Board of Canvassers, to consist of the Governor, United States District Attorney, and Chief Justice of said Territory, or any two of them, to canvass the returns in the presence of all who may wish to be present; and if a majority of all the votes given upon this Constitution shall be in its favor, the said Governor shall immediately publish an abstract of the same, and make proclamation of the fact, in some newspaper in said Territory, and certify the same to the President of the United States, together with a copy of the Constitution and Ordinance. The said Board of Canvassers, after canvassing the votes of the said November elections, shall issue certificates of election to such persons as were elected State officers, Judges of the Supreme and District Courts, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential Electors. When the President of the United States shall issue his proclamation declaring this State admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States, this Constitution shall thenceforth be ordained and established as the Constitution of the State of Nevada.

SEC. 7. For the purpose of taking the vote of the electors of said Territory who may be in the army of the United States, the Adjutant-General of said Territory shall, on or before the fifth day of August next following, make out a list, in alphabetical order, and deliver the same to the Governor, of the names of all the electors, residents of said Territory, who shall be in the army of the United States, stating the number of the regiment, battalion, squadron, or battery, to which he belongs, and also the county or township of his residence in said Territory.

SEC. 8. The Governor shall classify and arrange the aforesaid returned list, and shall make therefrom separate lists of the electors belonging to each regiment, battalion, squadron, and battery, from said Territory, in the service of the United States, and shall, on or before the fifteenth day of August following, transmit, by mail or otherwise, to the commanding officer of each regiment, battalion, squadron, and battery, a list of electors belonging thereto, which said list shall specify the name, residence, and rank of each elector, and the company to which he belongs, if to any, and also the county and township to which he belongs, and in which he is entitled to vote.

SEC. 9. Between the hours of nine o'clock, A. M., and three o'clock, P. M., on each of the election days hereinbefore named, a ballot-box, or suitable receptacle for votes, shall be opened under the immediate charge and direction of three of the highest officers in command, for the reception of votes from the electors whose names are upon said list, at each place where a regiment, battalion, squadron, or battery of soldiers from said Territory, in the army of the United States, may be on that day; at which time and place said elector shall be entitled to vote for all officers for which, by reason of their residence in the several counties in said Territory, they are authorized to vote, as fully as they would be entitled to vote in the several counties or townships in which they reside, and the votes so given by such electors, at such time and place, shall be considered, taken and held to have been given by them in the respective counties and townships in which they are resident.

ELECTION ORDINANCE.

SEC. 10. Each ballot deposited for the adoption or rejection of this Constitution, in the army of the United States, shall have distinctly written or printed thereon "Constitution—Yes," or "Constitution—No," or words of a similar import; and, further, for the election of State officers, Supreme and District Judges, members of the Legislature, Representative in Congress, and three Presidential Electors, the name and office of the person voted for shall be plainly written or printed on one piece of paper. The name of each elector voting, as aforesaid, shall be checked upon the said list, at the time of voting, by one of the said officers having charge of the ballot-box. The said officers having charge of the election shall count the votes and compare them with the checked list immediately after the closing of the ballot-box.

SEC. 11. All the ballots cast, together with the said voting list checked as aforesaid, shall be immediately sealed up and sent forthwith to the Governor of said Territory, at Carson City, by mail or otherwise, by the commanding officer, who shall make out and certify duplicate returns of votes given, according to the forms hereinafter prescribed, seal up and immediately transmit the same to the said Governor, at Carson City, by mail or otherwise, the day following the transmission of the ballots and the voting list herein named. The said commanding officer shall also immediately transmit to the several County Clerks in said Territory, an abstract of the votes given at the general election in November, for county officers, marked "Election Returns."

SEC. 12. The form of returns of votes to be made by the commanding officer to the Governor and County Clerks of said Territory shall be in substance as follows, viz:

Returns of soldiers' vote in the (here insert the regiment, detachment, battalion, squadron, or battery.)

(For first election—on the Constitution:)

I,—, hereby certify that on the first Wednesday of September, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, the electors belonging to the (here insert the name of the regiment, detachment, battalion, squadron, or battery) cast the following number of votes for and against the Constitution for the State of Nevada, viz:

For Constitution—(number of votes written in full and in figures.)

Against Constitution—(number of votes written in full and in figures.)

Second election—for State and other officers:)

I,—, hereby certify that on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-four, the electors belonging to the (here insert as above) cast the following number of votes for the several offices and persons hereinafter named, viz:

For Governor—(names of persons voted for, number of votes for each person voted for, written in full, and also in figures, against the name of each person.)

For Lieutenant-Governor—(name of candidates, number of votes cast for each written out, and in figures, as above.)

Continue as above till the list is completed.

Attest:

I. A. B.

Commanding officer of the (here insert regiment, detachment, battalion, squadron, or battery, as the case may be.)

SEC. 13. The Governor of this Territory is requested to furnish each commanding officer, within and beyond the boundaries of said Territory, proper and sufficient blanks for said returns.

SEC. 14. The provisions of this Ordinance in regard to the soldiers' vote shall apply to future elections under this Constitution, and be in full force until the Legislature shall provide by law for taking the votes of citizens of said Territory in the army of the United States.

ELECTION ORDINANCE.

twenty-eighth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, and of the Independence of the United States the eighty-ninth, and signed by the Delegates.

Done in Convention, at Carson City, the

J. NEELY JOHNSON,

President of the Convention, and Delegate from Ormsby County.

WM. M. GILLESPIE, Secretary.

- HENRY B. BRADY.....Delegate from Washoe County.
- E. F. DUNNE.....Delegate from Humboldt County.
- J. G. McCLINTON.....Delegate from Esmeralda County.
- G. N. FOLSOM.....Delegate from Washoe County.
- F. H. KENNEDY.....Delegate from Lyon County.
- W. W. BELDEN.....Delegate from Washoe County.
- F. M. PROCTOR.....Delegate from Nye County.
- ALBERT T. HAWLEY.....Delegate from Douglas County.
- GEORGE L. GIBSON.....Delegate from Ormsby County.
- F. TAGLIABUE.....Delegate from Nye County.
- WILLIAM WETHERILL.....Delegate from Esmeralda County.
- JOHN A. COLLINS.....Delegate from Storey County.
- JAMES A. BANKS.....Delegate from Humboldt County.
- J. S. CROSMAN.....Delegate from Lyon County.
- SAMUEL A. CHAPIN.....Delegate from Storey County.
- C. M. BROSANAN.....Delegate from Storey County.
- JOHN H. KINKEAD.....Delegate from Ormsby County.
- GEORGE A. HUDSON.....Delegate from Lyon County.
- ISRAEL CRAWFORD.....Delegate from Ormsby County.
- A. J. LOCKWOOD.....Delegate from Ormsby County.
- H. G. PARKER.....Delegate from Lyon County.
- J. H. WARWICK.....Delegate from Lander County.
- C. E. DELONG.....Delegate from Storey County.
- LLOYD FRIZELL.....Delegate from Storey County.
- GEORGE A. NOURSE.....Delegate from Washoe County.
- B. S. MASON.....Delegate from Esmeralda County.
- ALMON HOVEY.....Delegate from Storey County.
- THOMAS FITCH.....Delegate from Storey County.
- J. W. HAINES.....Delegate from Douglas County.

I N D E X

O F

DEBATES AND PROCEEDINGS.

INDEX OF DEBATES.

A

	Page.
ABSENCE from State, of Judicial officers . . .	678
ABSENCE, leave of. [See leave of absence.]
ABSENT members, resolution relative to delegates casting vote of. [See proxies.]
ACTIONS at Law, transfer of from Territorial to State Courts	631
ADDITIONAL compensation of officers and employés of the Convention . . . 273, 274, 804, 806, 827

Remarks of

Mr. Banks	805, 827
Brosnan	274, 804
Chapin	804, 805, 806
Collins	805
Crawford	274
DeLong	273, 804, 805, 806
Dunne	273
Fitch	273, 274
Gibson	804, 805, 806
Johnson	804, 805
Kinthead	806, 827
Mason	804, 805
Parker	804, 805
Sturtevant	774
Warwick	273
Wetherill	805

ADDRESS to the People, appointment of Committee to prepare	698, 699
--	----------

Remarks of

Mr. Banks	699
Chapin	699
DeLong	698, 699
Johnson	699
Proctor	699

	Page.
ADJOURNMENT, in honor of Independence Day, 3

Remarks of

Mr. Ball	3
Frizell	3
Gibson	3
Nourse	3
Sturtevant	3
Tozer	3

ADJOURNMENT of Legislature from time to time	142
--	-----

Remarks of

Mr. Fitch	142
Warwick	142

ADJOURNMENT of Legislature by Governor, 158
ADJOURNMENT over of Convention, 175, 387, 436, 639

Remarks of

Mr. Brady	639
Brosnan	175
Chapin	639
DeLong	175
Dunne	639
Hawley	387

ADJOURNMENT sine die of Convention, pre-arranged and resolutions for	9, 10, 274
---	------------

Remarks of

Mr. Banks	11, 12, 274
Brosnan	10, 274
Chapin	13
Collins	11
Crosman	12, 13
DeLong	10-13
Dunne	9-12, 274
Earl	13

ASSEMBLY.

	Page.		Page.
Mr. Fitch.....	11, 13	APPOINTMENT of officers not specified.....	613
Gibson.....	12, 13	APPORTIONMENT of representation to be accord-
Hawley.....	11, 12	ing to population.....	66
Johnson.....	12, 13	APPORTIONMENT of representation in Legis-
Kinkead.....	13	lature.....	632-638, 812
Nourse.....	11, 13, 14
Parker.....	11	Remarks of
Tozer.....	11, 12, 13	Mr. Banks.....	634, 637
ADJOURNMENT sine die of Convention..	828, 829	Chapin.....	634, 638
Remarks of		Collins... 632, 633, 634, 636, 637, 638
Mr. Johnson.....	828, 829	DeLong.....	812
ADMISSION to State University. [See State		Dunne.....	632-635, 637
University.]		Frizell.....	635, 636
AFFIRMATION, provision for. [See oath of office.]		Johnson.....	634, 635, 637
AGRICULTURAL Department. [See State Univer-		Kennedy.....	632, 633, 635
sity.]		Mason.....	635, 636, 637
AID of State to corporations prohibited..	166	Murdock.....	812
[See Pacific Railroad.]		Warwick.....	635, 636
ALLEGIANCE. [See paramount allegiance.]		Wetherill.....	637
AMENDATORY Bills, provisions concerning,..	143	APPROPRIATIONS, limitation of. [See Taxa-
AMENDMENTS, Article on—		tion and Appropriations.]
Referred to Committee of the Whole..	466	APPROPRIATIONS of public lands for school
Considered in Committee of the Whole,		purposes. [See public lands.]
526, 532		APPROPRIATIONS for standing army in time
Considered in Convention.....	540	of war limited.....	65
Amended on report of Committee on		APPROPRIATIONS, no money to be drawn
Phraseology and Arrangement....	583	from treasury except upon.....	146
Final revision of.....	810, 811	ARMY, standing, not to be maintained in
Remarks of		time of peace.....	65
Mr. Banks.....	526-333	ARMY appropriations for in time of war
Brosnan.....	527-531	limited.....	65
Chapin.....	529	ARRANGEMENT of Articles in Constitution,
Collins.....	526	79, 80, 230
DeLong.....	810, 811	Remarks of
Dunne.....	528, 531, 532	Mr. Banks.....	79
Earl.....	531	Chapin.....	80
Frizell.....	527, 529	Hawley.....	79
Gibson.....	527, 532	Johnson.....	79, 80
Hawley.....	811	[See phraseology and arrangement.]
Lockwood.....	527, 529	ARREST, qualified electors exempt from on
Mason.....	531, 532	election day.....	111
McClinton.....	530, 531, 532	ARREST, members of the Legislature privi-
Nourse.....	526, 527, 528, 811	leged from.....	142
Proctor.....	810	ASHIM, Master G., admitted to seat as ama-
Warwick.....	526	teur phonographic reporter.....	74
AMENDMENTS, resolution (substitute) requiring		ASSEMBLE, right of the people to.....	63
members to hand in.....	21, 22, 24	ASSEMBLING of Convention on first day of
ANNO DOMINI, initials of ("A. D.") to be insert-		session.....	1
ed wherever a year is mentioned as a		ASSEMBLY, members of, when chosen. [See date.....	810	election.]
APPOINTMENT of Committees. [See Committees.]		ASSEMBLY, rules of last Territorial, adopted,	7

BANKS.

	Page.
ASSEMBLYMEN, qualifications of.....	140
ASSEMBLYMEN, terms of.....	695

Remarks of

Mr. Crosman.....	695
DeLong.....	695
Dunne.....	695
Frizell.....	695

ASSISTANT Secretary. [See Secretary.]
ASSUMPTION of municipal debts. [See municipal indebtedness.]
ASSUMPTION of Territorial debts, by State. [See Territorial debts and liabilities.]
ATTAINDER, bill of, not to be passed.....	66
ATTENDANCE of members of Legislature may be compelled.....	142
ATTENDANCE on Schools. [See compulsory attendance.]
ATTORNEY General, salary of.....	600
AUDITOR of State. [See State Controller.]
AUDITORS of Counties. [See County Auditors.]
AYES and Noes, "Yeas and Nays" substituted for.....	789, 796

B

BALL, NATHANIEL A. H.

Appointed on special committee on number and compensation of subordinate officers of Convention.....	6
Credentials of.....	3
Granted leave of absence.....	447
Made report from special committee on number of subordinate officers of Convention, and their compensation.....	7
Moved adjournment in honor of Independence Day.....	3
Moved appointment of special committee on number and compensation of subordinate officers of Convention.....	6
Offered resolution concerning subordinate officers, and their compensation.....	6

Remarks upon

Adjournment in honor of Independence Day.....	3
Declaration of Rights.....	64
Officers of Convention, and their compensation.....	6, 8
Preamble, and name of State.....	33, 35
Privileges and immunities.....	64
Special legislation.....	64

	Page.
Taxation.....	421, 431, 443
BAIL, excessive not to be required.....	59
BAILABLE, all persons to be, except in certain cases.....	59
BALLOT, all elections to be by.....	111
BALLOT, for Secretary of Convention.....	5
BANKING System.....	163-165, 202, 451-458

Remarks of

Mr. Banks.....	163, 164, 165, 453
Brosnan.....	451, 453
Collins.....	451, 453, 455, 456, 457
Crosman.....	451 452, 453
DeLong.....	451-454, 456, 457, 458
Dunne.....	457
Earl.....	163, 164, 454
Fitch.....	164, 165
Folsom.....	451
Hawley.....	453
Hovey.....	163, 202
Johnson.....	164, 165, 454
Lockwood.....	164
McClinton.....	454, 455
Nourse.....	163, 164
Parker.....	454
Sturtevant.....	451
Tozer.....	458
Warwick.....	163, 165

BANKS, JAMES A.

Appointed on Committee on Address to the People.....	699
Appointed on Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement.....	84
Appointed on Committee on Rules and Order of Business.....	6
Appointed on Special Committee to amend Section 3 of Article on Miscellaneous Provisions relative to dueling.....	669
Credentials of.....	3
Granted leave of absence.....	193
Made report from Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement.....	583
Made report from Special Committee to amend Section 3 of Article on Miscellaneous Provisions relative to dueling.....	688
Moved evening sessions.....	75, 110
Offered resolution requiring Judiciary Committee to report.....	534
Offered resolution relative to jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace.....	688

BANKS.

	Page.	Page.
BANKS, JAMES A.
Remarks upon
Additional compensation of officers and attaches of Convention	805, 827	Executive Department.	158-161, 798, 799
Address to the people	699	Final enrollment of the Constitution.	725
Adjournment sine die	11, 12, 274	Final passage of bills.	143, 144, 145
Adoption of Jefferson's Manual	38	Final revision of the Constitution.	779
Amendments of the Constitution.	526-530	Finance and State debt.	807
Appointment of Judiciary Committee.	74, 75	Grand Jury system.	774
Apportionment of representation.	634, 637	Granting leave of absence.	639, 698
Banking system	163, 164, 165, 453	Homestead Exemption.	153, 282, 286
Basis of Constitution	23, 24	Impeachment and Removal, 542, 543, 549, 550, 551, 553-557, 564, 806, 807	614, 615, 616
Board of Examiners.	161	Increase or diminution of salaries,	233, 234, 243
Bribery	142	Instructions to Judiciary Committee,	233, 234, 243, 617, 620, 622, 641, 642, 647, 649, 651, 653, 654, 655, 658, 674-677, 680, 681, 688, 689, 691, 701, 702, 703, 713-716, 718, 721, 723-728, 732, 733, 735, 736, 739, 740, 799-803
Business in the hands of Committees.	534	Justice's Courts, 675, 678, 679, 701, 702, 707, 723-728	139, 142-145, 147, 148, 151, 153, 156, 275, 276, 277, 279, 281, 282, 284, 286, 305, 310, 313, 788, 791, 795, 796, 797
Clerks of County Commissioners.	791, 795	Legislative Department,	139, 696
Commencement of terms of Judges.	708	Lieutenant Governor's duties.	160
Compensation of Members of the Leg- islature	281	Limitation of debate.	584
Compensation for private property taken for public use.	60, 62	Limitation of taxation and appropri- ations.	757, 760, 763, 815, 816, 817
Compulsory attendance on schools, 572, 574	574	Memorializing Congress concerning the Judiciary System.	172
Continuation of County Officers.	696	Miscellaneous provisions, 609, 611, 612, 614, 615, 663, 665, 667, 670, 671, 672, 810	40, 41
Corporations, Article on.	162-166, 204, 205, 212, 216, 218, 404, 453, 477, 494, 806	Municipal Courts	732, 733, 799
Corporations created under Territorial laws.	163	Municipal loans.	218
County Courts.	640	Oath of office, 105, 106, 107, 663, 665, 667, 670, 671, 672	246, 254, 257, 268, 270, 487, 489, 490, 492, 493
Court fees	677, 735, 736, 739	Official bonds of State officers.	710
Courts in Storey County, 617, 647, 651, 653, 654, 655, 658, 674, 714, 715	654, 655, 658, 674, 714, 715	Offices of County officers.	611, 612
Day of Election	275, 284	Ordinance concerning slavery, relig- ious toleration, and public lands.	50, 780
Day of Election on the Constitution.	767, 769, 772, 827	Pacific Railroad, 166, 204, 205, 212, 216, 404, 477, 494	41, 42, 52, 53, 57, 781
Declaration of Rights, 41, 42, 52, 53, 59, 60, 62, 63, 465, 774, 778, 781-784	41, 42, 52, 53, 59, 60, 62, 63, 465, 774, 778, 781-784	Paramount allegiance,	41, 42, 52, 53, 57, 781
Disfranchisement of rebels.	91, 96, 97	Pardoning power	159
Distribution of powers.	787	Phraseology and arrangement of arti- cles	79, 230, 231
District Courts and Judges, 651, 653, 654, 655, 658, 714, 715, 716, 718, 721	651, 653, 654, 655, 658, 714, 715, 716, 718, 721
Dueling, 105, 106, 107, 663, 665, 667, 670, 671, 672	105, 106, 107, 663, 665, 667, 670, 671, 672
Education, 448, 572, 574, 577-580, 585, 591, 592, 661	448, 572, 574, 577-580, 585, 591, 592, 661
Election Ordinance, 623, 626-630, 767, 769, 770, 772	623, 626-630, 767, 769, 770, 772
Engrossment	74, 79
Engrossment of Journals of the Con- vention	827
Enrollment.	535, 725, 793, 797
Equity jurisdiction.	676, 728
Evening sessions	75, 76, 77, 95

BILLS.

	Page.
BANKS, JAMES A.
Remarks upon
Poll-Tax	113, 114, 146, 535, 786
Postponement of article on Judicial Department	620, 621, 622
Postponement of Taxation	807
Preamble and name of State	33, 40
Printing Rules of Convention	38
Privileges and immunities	63
Prohibition of Slavery	50, 67, 783
Provisions for School Fund	580
Publication of the Constitution	776
Public Institutions	539
Qualifications of State officers	598
Qualifications of voters upon the Constitution	124, 125, 130, 131, 132
Registry Law	785
Religious toleration	59
Residence of voters	70, 71, 108, 785
Resolution of thanks to officers, etc., of Convention	828
Right of defending in person	782
Right of suffrage, 70, 71, 91, 96, 97, 105-109, 113, 114, 124, 125, 130, 131, 132, 146, 246, 254, 259, 268, 270, 467, 487, 489, 490, 492, 493, 535, 785, 786
Right of way	163
Salaries, 506-509, 521, 522, 595, 598, 599, 600, 604
Salaries of Judges	600, 803
Salary of Secretary of State	598
Schedule, 634, 637, 696, 705-708, 710, 757, 760, 763, 812, 815, 816, 817
Seat of Government	609
Sectarian Instruction in Public Schools, 577, 579, 661
Seizures and searches	784
Sessions of the Legislature	139, 696, 788
Slander and libel	778
Soldiers voting	109, 467
Sole Traders	276, 277
Special legislation	63, 147, 148, 151, 279
Special School Tax	591, 592
State Seal	160
State University	585
Substitution of "yeas and nays" for "ayes and noes"	796
Supreme Court	641, 642, 649, 713, 740, 810
Taxation, 222-225, 358, 359, 360, 371, 383, 385, 386, 410, 417, 420, 422, 423, 427, 431, 432, 436, 444, 446, 447, 449, 450, 513, 515, 518, 520

	Page.
Taxation of Corporations	162
Time of first session of the Legislature	305, 310
Time of maintaining District Schools, 577, 578, 579
Terms of Courts	675, 705, 706, 707, 721
Terms of Senators	812
Trial by jury	53, 57
Vacancies in office	158, 702, 703, 705
Veto power	313, 797
BASIS of Constitution, as adopted	24-33
Read by title	41
Resolution to adopt as basis the Constitution framed by former Convention	9, 14-24
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	23, 24
Brosnan	23
Chapin	14, 16, 22
Collins	19
Crosman	22
DeLong	14, 15, 16, 20, 21, 22
Dunne	16
Earl	21, 22, 23
Fitch	17, 21, 22, 23
Hawley	22
Johnson	17, 22
Nourse	14, 18, 22
Tozer	18
BELDEN, W. W.
Appointed on Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement	84
Appointed on Committee on Schedule	447
Credentials of	4
Granted leave of Absence	128, 193, 447
Moved to amend rules so as to limit speeches to fifteen minutes	37
Offered resolution limiting speeches to fifteen minutes	36
Remarks upon
Limitation of speeches	36
Taxation	333, 417, 425
BIENNIAL SESSIONS. [See Sessions of the Legislature.]
BILLS, final passage of	143, 144, 145, 789, 790
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	143, 144, 145
Chapin	144
DeLong	790
Dunne	144

BROSAN.

	Page.		Page
Mr. Fitch	144, 145	Mr. Gibson	794
Johnson	144	Johnson	793, 794, 795
Proctor	144	Kinhead	794
Sturtevant	144	Lockwood	794
Proctor	144	Proctor	794
Warwick	144
BILLS, may originate in either house of the Legislature	143	BRADY, H. B.
BILLS, provisions concerning	143	Appointed on Committee on Phrase- ology and Arrangement	84
BOARD of Examiners	161	Credentials of	4
Remarks of		Granted leave of absence	639, 742
Mr. Banks	161	Moved adjournment over	639
Brosnan	161	Remarks upon
Collins	161	Adjournment over	639
DeLong	161	Leave of absence	742
Johnson	161	BRIBERY	141, 142
Lockwood	161	Remarks of
BOARD of Pardons. [See Pardoning Power.]		Mr. Banks	142
BOARD of Regents	580, 588, 589	Brosnan	141
Remarks of		Hovey	142
Mr. Brosnan	589	Johnson	141
Chapin	588, 589	Lockwood	141
Collins	589
Dunne	589	BROSAN, CORNELIUS M.
Frizell	589	Appointed to prepare an introduc- tion to volume of Debates and Pro- ceedings, embracing a brief outline history of Territory of Nevada	746
Hawley	589	Appointed on Committee on Address to the People	699
Nourse	588, 589	Appointed on Committee on Judiciary	75
BOARD of State Prison Commissioners	161	Appointed on Committee on Phrase- ology and Arrangement	84
BONDS of State Officers. [See Official Bonds.]		Appointed on Special Committee to draft voters' oath	268
BOUNDARY, Article on—		Appointed on Special Committee to supervise final enrollment of the Constitution	725
Referred to Committee of the Whole ..	466	Credentials of	3
Considered in Committee of the Whole,	524, 526	Elected President pro tem of the Con- vention	1
Considered in Convention	539, 540	Made report from Judiciary Commit- tee	536, 537
Final revision of	899	Moved adjournment over of Conven- tion	175
Remarks of		Moved to instruct Committee on Rules, etc., to report	7
Mr. Brosnan	525, 540	Offered resolution adding section to schedule attaching Roop County to Washoe for certain purposes	773, 774
Chapin	525, 526, 540
Collins	540
Dunne	525
Johnson	540
Nourse	525, 540
Warwick	525, 526
BOUNDARY Memorial to Congress, intro- duced and passed	793-795
Remarks of
Mr. Chapin	793, 794
Collins	794, 795

BROSNAN.

	Page
BROSNAN, CORNELIUS M.
Offered resolution adding section to schedule relative to transferring cases from Probate Courts.....	741
Offered resolution to appoint Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement.....	84
Offered resolution fixing the hours of daily session.....	36
Offered resolution transferring Article on Salaries to Schedule.....	641
Offered resolution to amend Section 8 of the article on Declaration of Rights in regard to indictments, etc.....	774, 775
Offered resolution to amend Section 14 of the article on Declaration of Rights in regard to slander and libel.....	778
Offered resolution providing for the engrossment of the Journals of the Convention.....	826
Remarks upon
Additional compensation of officers and attaches of the Convention, 274.	804
Adjournment sine die	10, 274
Amendment of the Constitution . . .	527-531
Appointment of Judiciary Committee,	74, 75
Attaching Roop to Washoe County for certain purposes.....	773
Banking system.....	451, 453
Basis of Constitution.....	23
Board of Examiners.....	161
Board of Regents.....	589
Boundary.....	525, 540
Bribery.....	141
Business in the hands of committees..	534
Clerks of County Commissioners.....	791
Commencement of terms of Judges..	708
Compensation of members of the Legislature.....	314, 607
Compulsory attendance on schools...	567
Contingent expenses of the Legislature.....	607
Corporations..167, 207, 389, 404, 405, 449,	451, 453, 477, 806
County Courts.....	648, 706
Court fees.....	677, 814
Courts in Storey County.648, 654-657, 714
Day of Election.....	139, 140, 284

	Page
Day of Election on the Constitution..	768 772, 786
Declaration of Rights...42, 49, 52, 56, 59,	65, 66, 67, 196, 197, 774, 775, 777, 778, 781-784
District Courts and Judges..651, 653-657,	713-721
Dueling...105, 609, 664, 667, 669, 777, 778
Education...566, 567, 568, 577, 579, 586,	589, 590, 592, 660, 661
Election Ordinance.....	768, 770, 772
Engrossment.....	78
Engrossment of the Journals of the Convention.....	826, 827
Enrollment.....	584, 585
Equity jurisdiction.....	676, 728, 729
Evening sessions.....	127, 128
Executive Department..159, 160, 161, 250
Fees of City Recorders.....	739, 775
Finance and State debt.....	807
Grand Jury system.....	196, 197, 774
Granting leave of absence.128, 583, 638, 742
Homestead exemption.....	311, 790
Impeachment and removal from office, 541-	544, 552, 553, 554, 557, 640, 744 807
Increasing Judiciary Committee.....	174
Instructions to Judiciary Committee..	233, 234, 243
Judicial Department, 74, 75, 233, 234, 243,	538, 641, 643, 648, 649, 651, 653-657, 674-677, 679, 680, 685, 686, 690, 691, 700-703, 712-721, 724, 726, 728, 729, 733, 739, 799-803
Justices' Courts..679, 680, 685, 686, 690,	691, 700, 701, 702, 706, 724, 726, 728, 729, 733, 774
Legislative Department.139, 140, 141, 149,	154, 278, 284, 308, 311, 314, 466, 788-791, 796, 797
Limitation of taxation and appropriations.....	764, 793, 807, 815, 816, 821
Memorializing Congress concerning Judiciary system.....	173
Miscellaneous provisions...609, 610, 613,	614, 664, 667, 669, 670, 746, 810
Oath of office..105, 609, 664, 667, 661, 670
Oath prescribed for voters...263, 264, 268	479, 480, 492
Official bonds of State officers...707, 748
Official designation of State Controller	614
Ordinance concerning religious toleration, slavery, and the public lands.	780

CHAPIN.

	Page.
CHAPIN, SAMUEL A.
Appointed on Committee on Publication of the Constitution.....	777
Appointed on Committee on State Seal	75
Appointed on Special Committee to amend schedule relative to limitation of taxation and appropriations	765
Appointed on Special Committee to wait on Judge S. C. Wright	4
Credentials of	3
Granted leave of absence.....	447
Made report from Committee on State Seal	583
Made report from Special Committee appointed to amend schedule respecting limitation of taxation and appropriations.....	765
Moved appointment of Committee on State Seal.....	75
Moved appointment of Committee to wait on Judge S. C. Wright, and request him to administer oath of office to members.....	4
Moved reference of articles passed to Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement	202
Moved election of Secretary.....	5
Moved vote of thanks to Hon. Leland Stanford	300
Nominated Andrew J. Marsh as Official Reporter of the Convention.....	8
Nominated John H. Collins as President of the Convention.....	5
Offered resolution and memorial to Congress concerning boundary of State	494
Offered resolution instructing Committee on Re-enrollment to furnish certified copy of Constitution to Committee on Publication of the Constitution	826
Offered resolution providing for the publication of the Constitution.....	775, 776
Offered resolution relative to contents of volume of debates and proceedings	746
Offered resolution relative to disposition of minutes of the Convention.	746
Offered resolution relative to forwarding Constitution to President of the United States.....	698

	Page.
Offered resolution to adopt Jefferson's Manual for the government of the Convention.....	39
Offered resolution to adopt Constitution framed by former Convention as a basis.....	9, 14
Offered resolution to appoint additional members of Committees....	23
Offered resolution to appoint Committee on Final Enrollment of the Constitution	724
Offered resolution to procure a State seal	698
Remarks upon
Additional compensation of officers and attaches of the Convention, 804, 805, 806
Adjournment in honor of Independence Day.....	3
Adjournment over of Convention....	639
Adjournment sine die	13
Adopting Jefferson's Manual for the government of the Convention....	38
Amendments of the Constitution.....	529
Apportionment of representation.....	634, 638
Arrangement of articles.....	80
Basis of Constitution.....	14, 16, 22
Board of Regents of State University, 588, 589
Boundary.....	525, 526, 540
Boundary Memorial.....	793, 794
Business before committees.....	534, 616
Census.....	744
Compensation of Official Reporter of the Convention.....	751
Compensation of members of the Legislature.....	157
Compulsory attendance on the public schools	567, 572
Contingent expenses of the Legislature.....	157, 607
Corporations.....	162, 165, 166, 170, 206, 207, 208, 402
County Auditors.....	279
Court fees.....	735, 736
Courts in Storey County.....	647, 651, 659
Day of election on Constitution, 766, 767, 768
Declaration of Rights.....	56, 59, 196, 778, 781
Disfranchisement of rebels.....	88
District Courts and Judges.....	651, 659, 715, 716

CHIEF JUSTICE.

	Page.		Page.
CHAPIN, SAMUEL A.		Poll tax.....	121, 272
Remarks upon		Postponement of article on Judicial
Dueling.....	107	Department.....	617, 619, 620
Education...566, 567, 572, 586-590, 661, 662		Preamble and resolution adopting the
Election Ordinance....626, 629, 766, 767,	768, 770	Constitution of the United States..	51
Election returns.....	797	Printing rules of Convention.....	38
Engrossment.....	78, 79	Prohibition of slavery.....	50
Enrollment of the Constitution...202, 585,	724, 725, 741, 743	Publication of Constitution, 775, 776,	826
Evening sessions.....	77, 127, 128	Qualifications of voters upon the Con-
Executive Department...248, 249, 251, 797		stitution.....	134, 138
Final passage of bills....	144	Religious toleration.....	59
Final revision of the Constitution... 779		Resolution relative to forwarding Con-
Finance and State debt.....	807	stitution to President of the United
Grand Jury system... ..	196	States.....	698
Granting leave of absence...539, 638, 697,	799	Right of Suffrage...88, 107, 121, 134, 138,
Homestead exemption.....	288	244, 245, 246, 252, 253, 272, 482, 487
Impeachment and Removal from Office,	547, 807	Rules and order of business.....	6
Increase and diminution of salaries... 616		Salaries...506, 507, 508, 512, 596, 599, 600,	601, 607
Instructions to Judiciary Committee,	242, 243	Salaries of Judges...600, 601, 732, 811-814
Judicial Department...242, 243, 617, 619,		Salary of Secretary of State... ..	596, 599
620, 644, 647, 648, 651, 659, 682, 691,		Schedule...634, 638, 708, 747, 748, 750,
715, 716, 721, 722, 732, 733, 735, 736,	739, 740, 799	751, 753-757, 764, 765, 811, 813, 815,	816, 817, 819
Justices' Courts.....	682, 691	Slander and libel.....	778
Lander County officers.....	747, 750, 751	Soldiers' vote.....	252
Legislative Department...144, 154, 157, 277,	288, 307	Sole traders.....	154, 277
Limitation of debate.....	584	Special school tax.....	587, 588, 661, 662
Limitation of taxation and appropri-		State seal.....	698
ations...753-757, 764, 765, 792, 807, 815,	816, 817, 819	State University.....	586, 590, 661, 662
Memorializing Congress concerning		Supreme Court...644, 648, 740, 811, 812
judicial system.....	173	Surveyor General.....	248, 249, 251
Militia.....	524	Taxation...228, 229, 339, 340, 342, 349, 350,
Miscellaneous Provisions...610, 611, 612,	616, 744, 810	385, 416, 417, 418, 420, 423, 429, 442
Municipal indebtedness.....	165, 166	Taxation of corporations.....	162
Oath of office.....	107	Term of office of State officers...610, 611
Oath prescribed for voters...244, 245, 246,	253, 482, 487	Terms of Courts.....	721, 722, 748
Official bonds of State officers...708, 748		Time of the first session of the Legis-
Offices of county officers.....	612	lature.....	307
Ordinance concerning slavery, relig-		Trial by jury.....	56
ious toleration and public lands... 50		CHAPLAINS, Clergymen resident in Carson
Pacific Railroad...170, 206, 207, 208, 296,	298, 299, 300, 402	City requested to act alternately as	8
Permanent organization.....	4	CHAPLAINS, compensation of....	8
		[See additional compensation.]
		CHAPLAINS notified of invitation.....	9
		CHARGES to juries.....	676
		CHIEF Justice, selection of. [See Supreme Court.]
		CHIEF Justice to preside over Senate in cases of impeachment, etc.....	541
		[See Impeachment and Removal.]

COLLINS.

	Page.		Page.
CITY RECORDERS, fees of.....	739, 775	Introduced Election Ordinance.....	533
Remarks of		Introduced Ordinance concerning slavery, religious toleration and the public lands	50
Mr. Brosnan	739, 775	Made report from Committee on Credentials	3
DeLong	739	Made report from Committee on Education	565
Johnson	775	Made report from Committee on Rules and Order of Business.....	7
CIVIL CASES, verdicts in. [See jury.]		Made report from Special Committee on Election Ordinance.....	741
CLARK, R. G., nominated as candidate for Secretary of the Convention	5	Made report from Special Committee to amend section three of Article on Miscellaneous Provisions in regard to dueling.....	670
CLEMENS, Orion, (Territorial Secretary.)		Moved appointment of Committee on Credentials.....	3
Called rolled of the Convention	1, 2	Moved election by acclamation of J. Neely Johnson, as President of the Convention	5
Made statement concerning stationery for the use of the Convention	7	Moved reconsideration of vote passing the Resolution adopting the Constitution of the United States.....	51
CLERGYMEN. [See Chaplains.]		Moved to invite Rev. A. F. White to open the Convention with prayer..	2
CLERKS of County Commissioners.....	791, 795	Offered preamble and resolution adopting United States Constitution....	6
Remarks of		Offered resolution appointing Committee on Education.....	447
Mr. Banks.....	791, 795	Offered resolution appointing Committee on Rules and Order of Business	6
Brosnan.....	791	Offered resolution relative to Justices of the Peace	683
Collins.....	791, 795	Remarks upon
DeLong.....	791, 795	Additional compensation of officers and attaches of the Convention	805
Frizell.....	791	Adjournment sine die	11
Kennedy.....	791	Adoption of United States Constitution.....	6, 51
Kinkead.....	791, 795	Amendments of the Constitution....	526
McClinton.....	791	Apportionment of representation. 632, 633, 634, 636, 637, 638
CLERKS, resolution authorizing engrossing and enrolling committees to appoint	78	Appropriation of public lands for school purposes.....	580
COAT of Arms. [See State Seal.]		Banking system....	451, 453, 455, 456, 457
COLLINS, JOHN A.		Basis of Constitution.....	19
Appointed on Committee on Address to the People.....	699	Board of Examiners..	161
Appointed on Committee on Credentials	3	Board of Regents.....	589
Appointed on Committee on Education	448	Boundary	540
Appointed on Committee on Judiciary	75	Boundary memorial	794, 795
Appointed on Committee on Publication of the Constitution	777
Appointed on Committee on Rules and Order of Business.....	6
Appointed on Special Committee on Election Ordinance.....	630
Appointed on Special Committee to amend schedule, by adding a section limiting taxation and appropriations	765
Appointed on Special Committee to amend section three of Article on Miscellaneous Provisions in regard to dueling	670
Credentials of.....	3
Declined nomination for President...	5

COLLINS.

	Page.		Page.
COLLINS, JOHN A.		Miscellaneous Provisions.	610, 611, 663, 664, 665, 668, 670, 672. 810
Remarks upon		Oath of office.	107, 610, 653, 664, 665, 668, 670, 672
Business before Committees.	534	Oath of office of members of the Con- vention.	4
Clerks of County Commissioners. 791, 795		Oath prescribed for voters.	241, 253. 263
Compensation of subordinate officers of the Convention.	6, 805	Official bonds of State officers.	708
Compulsory attendance on the public schools.	566, 567, 570, 571, 573, 574	Ordinance concerning slavery, religi- ous toleration, and the public lands,	50, 51, 780
Continuance of rights, actions, etc., 751, 752		Pacific Railroad.	167, 184-189, 293, 296- 299, 395, 396, 397, 469, 470, 497
Corporations.	167, 184-189, 395, 396, 397, 451, 453-456, 469, 470, 497	Paramount allegiance.	59, 781
County Courts.	706, 707	Poll Tax.	145, 146, 786, 787
Court fees.	641, 737, 738, 803	Postponement of Article on Judicial Department.	619, 620
Courts in Storey County. 646, 647, 648, 651		Preamble and name of State.	35
Day of election on the Constitution,	766, 767, 768, 772, 773, 786	Prohibition of slavery.	50
Declaration of Rights, article on.	59, 774 781, 782	Provisions relative to school funds,	580, 586
Declining nomination for President of the Convention.	5	Publication of Constitution.	777
Disfranchisement of rebels.	85, 89, 98-102	Qualifications of State officers.	597, 598
District Courts and Judges.	651, 714	Qualification of voters.	785
Duelling, 107, 610, 663, 664, 665, 668, 670, 672		Qualification of voters upon the Con- stitution. 123, 129, 130, 132, 135, 136, 787	787
Education.	417, 448, 556, 567-571, 573, 574, 576, 577, 580, 581, 582, 585-590, 592 594, 661, 662, 745, 808	Religions toleration.	59
Election Ordinance.	532, 534, 622-630, 766-773, 825	Residence of State Officers.	161
Engrossment of the Journals of the Convention.	827	Residence of voters.	71
Evening sessions.	76	Right of defending in person.	782
Executive Department.	161, 798, 799	Right of Suffrage.	71, 85, 89, 98-102, 107, 123, 129, 130, 132, 134, 135, 136, 145, 146, 244, 255, 263, 785, 786, 787
Finance and State Debt.	220	Rules and Order of Business.	6
Funds for new school districts.	576, 577	Salaries.	507, 510, 511, 596, 597, 599, 600, 601
Grand Jury system.	774	Salaries of Supreme Court Judges. 600, 601
Homestead exemption.	286-289, 310, 311	Salary of Secretary of State.	596, 597
Impeachment and Removal from Office,	546, 547, 559, 560, 561	Salary of State Controller.	599, 600
Instructions to Judiciary Committee,	235, 236, 240	Schedule. 632, 633, 634, 636, 637, 638, 706, 707, 708, 749-752, 757, 763, 764, 819, 822, 823	823
Judicial Department.	235, 236, 240, 619, 620, 641, 646, 647, 648, 651, 679, 684, 682, 683, 685, 687, 690, 694, 700, 702, 714, 737, 738, 803	School funds.	745
Justices of the Peace.	679, 681, 682, 683, 685, 687, 690, 691, 700, 702, 706, 707	Sectarian instruction in the public schools.	568, 569, 577, 661
Legislative Department, 147-150, 286, 287, 288, 306, 310, 311, 788, 791, 795, 796		Senatorial districts.	787
Limitation of debate.	466	Sessions of the Legislature.	788
Limitation of State indebtedness.	220	Special school tax.	588, 592, 591, 662
Limitation of taxation and appropri- ations.	763, 764, 792, 793, 819, 822, 823	Special Legislation.	147-150
		State University.	581, 582, 585, 586, 587, 590, 662, 808

COMPENSATION.

	Page.		Page.
COLLINS, JOHN A.		COMMITTEE (special) to conduct President
Remarks upon		elect to chair, appointment of.....	5
Substitution of "yeas and nays" for		COMMITTEE (special) to draft a voters'
"ayes and noes".....	796	oath, appointment of.....	268
Supreme Court.....	641, 810	COMMITTEES, reports of. [See reports.]
Taxation. 223, 324-327, 341-344, 385, 409,		COMMITTEES, resolution to appoint ad-
410, 417, 418, 422, 429, 444, 515, 518,	519	ditional members of.....	230
Term of office of State officers.....	611	COMMITTEES, standing, resolution (substi-
Terms of Courts.....	706, 707	tute) to appoint.....	16
Territorial indebtedness.....	750	COMPENSATION, additional of officers and
Time of first session of Legislature..	306	attaches of the Convention. [See
Time of maintaining district schools.	577	additional compensation]
Transfer of criminal prosecutions....	632	COMPENSATION for private property taken
Trial by jury.....	59	for public use.....	60, 63
COMMANDER in Chief of military forces... 158		COMPENSATION for right of way.....	165
COMMENCEMENT of terms of Judges. [See		[See right of way.]
terms of Judges.]		COMPENSATION of County officers.....	152, 155
COMMISSIONS and bonds of State officers.		Remarks of
[See official bonds.]		Mr. Earl.....	155
COMMISSIONS to be signed by Governor and		Fitch.....	155
sealed.....	160	Frizell.....	152
COMMITTEE on Address to the People,		Johnson.....	155
appointment of.....	699	COMPENSATION of engrossing and enrolling
COMMITTEE on Credentials, appointment		clerks.....	78
of.....	3	COMPENSATION of Judges. [See salaries of
COMMITTEE on Day of Election on the		Judges.]
Constitution, to wait on the Govern-		COMPENSATION of Jurors.....	152
or concerning, appointment of....	769	Remarks of
COMMITTEE on Education, appointment of,		Mr. McClinton.....	152
447, 448		COMPENSATION of officers and employes of
COMMITTEE on Engrossment, appointment		the Legislature, provisions concern-of.....	74	ing.....	153, 273, 274, 305
COMMITTEE on Enrollment, appointment		Remarks of
of.....	75	Mr. Johnson.....	305
COMMITTEE on Final Enrollment of the		COMPENSATION of the Official Reporter of
Constitution, appointment of.....	725	the Convention.....	8, 704, 705, 751
COMMITTEE on Judicial Department, ap-		[See Reporter.]
pointment of.....	75, 84, 174	COMPENSATION of members of the Legisla-
COMMITTEE on number and compensation		ture....	155-157, 281, 312, 314, 601-608
of the subordinate officers of the		Remarks of
Convention, appointment of.....	7	Mr. Banks.....	281
COMMITTEE on Phraseology and Arrange-		Brosnan.....	314, 607
ment, appointment of.....	84, 230	Chapin.....	157
COMMITTEE on Printing for the Conven-		Crosman.....	156, 157, 281, 604, 606
tion, appointment of.....	39	Dunne.....	312
COMMITTEE on Rules and Order of Busi-		Fitch.....	155, 156, 157, 603
ness, appointment of.....	6	Frizell.....	606
COMMITTEE on Schedule, appointment of,		Hovey.....	607
417, 465
COMMITTEE on State Seal, appointment
of.....	75, 230

CONTINGENT EXPENSES.

	Page.		Page.
Mr. Johnson.....	155, 156, 157, 281, 314, 602-607	CONSTITUTION, day of election on. [See election.]
Kennedy.....	155, 156, 157, 603	CONSTITUTION, final adoption of by Con- vention.....	827
Lockwood.....	156, 281, 601, 603, 604	CONSTITUTION of the United States, Pream- ble and Resolution adopting—
McClinton.....	314	Introduced and passed.....	6
Murdock.....	606, 607	Reconsideration of.....	51
Nourse.....	312, 606	Ordered engrossed.....	80
Sturtevant.....	606	Amended on report of Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement....	230
Tagliabue.....	602	Final revision of.....	779
Warwick.....	155, 156, 603-606
Wetherill.....	603, 604, 606	Remarks of
COMPENSATION of subordinate officers of the Convention.....	7, 8	Mr. Brosnan.....	51
COMPENSATION, Special Committee appoint- ed to fix.....	7	Chapin.....	51
COMPENSATION, report of Special Commit- tee on.....	8	Collins.....	51
Remarks of		Johnson.....	51
Mr. Ball.....	6, 8	Tozer.....	51
Collins.....	6	CONSTITUTION, qualifications of voters upon, 122-125, 129-138, 787
Fitch.....	8	Remarks of
Johnson.....	8	Mr. Banks.....	124, 125, 130, 131, 132
Sturtevant.....	8	Brosnan.....	124, 134, 135, 136
[See additional compensation.]		Chapin.....	134, 138
COMPULSORY attendance on the public schools.....	566, 567, 569, 574	Collins, 123, 129, 130, 132, 135, 136, 787
Remarks of		Crosman.....	122, 123, 134
Mr. Banks.....	572, 574	DeLong.....	123, 124, 125
Brosnan.....	567	Dunne.....	125, 132, 133, 137
Chapin.....	567, 572	Fitch.....	122, 124
Collins.....	566, 567, 570, 571, 573, 574	Frizell.....	133
DeLong.....	567	Hovey.....	138
Dunne.....	566, 567, 569, 570, 572, 573, 574	Johnson ..	122, 123, 124, 129-133, 136 137, 138, 787
Frizell.....	573	Proctor.....	122-125, 134, 136
Hawley.....	566, 567, 569, 574	Warwick.....	137
Johnson.....	572	CONSTITUTION, publication of. [See pub- lication of Constitution.]
Lockwood.....	572, 573	CONSTITUTION, resolution to forward to President of the United States....	698
McClinton.....	571, 572	Remarks of
Warwick.....	571, 572	Mr. Chapin.....	698
CONFEDERATE States, persons in service of so-called disfranchised.....	80	CONTEMPT, either house of Legislature may punish for.....	141
[See disfranchisement of rebels.]		CONTINGENT expenses of the Legislature, 155, 156, 157, 312, 607
CONSENT of Congress asked for the appro- priation of public lands for school purposes. [See public lands.]		Remarks of
CONSTITUTION, basis of, resolution to adopt, 9, 14		Mr. Brosnan.....	607
CONSTITUTION, basis of as adopted.....	24-33	Chapin.....	157, 607
[See basis of Constitution.]		Crosman.....	156, 157

COUNTY.

	Page.
Mr. Dunne	312
Fitch	156, 157, 312
Gibson	607
Johnson	155, 156, 157, 607
Kennedy	156, 157
Lockwood	156
CONTINUANCE of Courts and Judicial officers	678
CONTINUANCE of rights, actions, etc.	631, 751
Remarks of
Mr. Collins	751, 752
Dunne	751
Johnson	752
CONTINUANCE of Territorial laws	631
CONTINUANCE of Territorial officers	704
CONTRACTS, obligation of not to be impaired	66
CONTROLLER of State. [See State Controller.]
CORPORATIONS, Article on Municipal and other—
Referred to Committee of the Whole.	162
Considered in Committee of the Whole,	162-172, 175-192
Considered in Convention	268, 318, 387-405, 448, 449, 450-464, 495-499
Final revision of	806, 807
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	162-166, 204, 205, 212, 216, 218, 318, 404, 453, 477, 494, 806
Brosnan	167, 207, 389, 404, 405, 449, 451, 453, 806
Chapin	162, 165, 166, 170, 206, 207, 208, 402
Collins	167, 184-189, 395, 396, 397, 451, 453-456, 469, 470, 497
Crosman	404, 405, 449, 451, 452, 453, 458, 459, 495, 497, 498
DeLong	162, 178, 180-184, 186, 188, 205, 206, 207, 209, 212, 213, 216, 217, 388, 390-394, 396, 397, 404, 405, 451-458, 470, 495-498
Dunne	162, 163, 188, 203, 402, 403, 456, 463, 464
Earl	163, 164, 165, 188, 190, 191, 192, 391, 392, 397, 398, 404, 449, 454, 464, 498
Fitch	164-168, 170, 189, 192, 203, 205, 207-216, 318, 387-391, 394, 400, 403, 404, 405, 498
Folsom	451
Frizell	207, 470, 471, 472

	Page.
Mr. Gibson	186, 389, 459, 463, 464, 468
Haines	203, 473, 474, 497, 498
Hawley	168, 171, 175-178, 203, 204, 205, 209, 210, 212, 216, 405, 449, 453, 458, 459, 472, 475, 497
Hovey	163, 178, 186, 190, 191, 192, 203, 204, 205, 448, 450, 498
Johnson	164-167, 187, 209, 214, 217, 218, 387, 393, 401, 404, 449, 462, 470, 474, 495, 497, 807
Kennedy	165, 393, 394, 395, 397, 404, 497
Kinkcad	468, 469, 470, 472, 496
Lockwood	164, 167, 171, 191, 192, 475, 476, 477, 497
Mason	405, 458, 459, 460
McClinton	398, 405, 454, 455, 498
Nourse	162, 163, 164, 166-170, 175, 189, 208-214, 389, 390, 391, 394, 398-402, 404, 807
Parker	404, 454, 459, 464, 497
Proctor	162, 166, 495, 497
Starkevart	170, 203, 206, 207, 208, 214, 251, 462, 463, 497
Tozer	399, 403, 404, 454, 458, 461, 462
Warwick	163, 165, 167, 178-180, 214, 215, 217, 218, 268, 392, 393, 399, 401, 405, 460, 461, 462, 464, 472, 473, 474, 476, 477, 495, 496, 497
CORPORATIONS created under the Territorial laws	163
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	163
CORPORATIONS may be formed under general laws	162
CORPORATIONS, municipal may be created by law	162
CORPORATIONS, taxation of	162, 163
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	162
Chapin	162
DeLong	162
Dunne	162, 163
Nourse	162, 163
Proctor	162
CORPORATIONS, what may be exempted from taxation	162
CORPORATORS in corporations not individually liable	163
COUNTY and Township government, system of, to be established	152

CRIMINAL CASES.

	Page.		Page.
COUNTY Auditors	278-281
Remarks of		Mr. Banks	677, 735, 736, 739
Mr. Chapin	279	Brosnan	677, 814
Dunne	278, 280	Chapin	735, 736
Frizell	280, 281	Collins	641, 737, 738, 803
Johnson	278, 279	DeLong	648, 677, 678, 733-739, 814
Tozer	279	Frizell	736
COUNTY Commissioners, election of	153	Hawley	737, 738
COUNTY Courts	616, 617, 648, 653, 706, 707	Johnson	641, 733-738, 803, 814
Resolution in regard to abolishing	639, 640	Kinkead	803
Remarks of		Lockwood	677
Mr. Banks	640	Mason	737
Brosnan	648, 706	McClinton	736, 739
Collins	706, 707	Nourse	677, 678
Crosman	639, 640	Wetherill	678, 735, 737
DeLong	640	COURTS, continuation of	678
Hovey	616, 617	COURTS, enumeration of	616
Johnson	617, 639, 640	[See Judicial Department.]
Nourse	653	COURTS in Storey County. [See Storey County Courts.]
[See Storey County Courts.]		COURTS of Justices of the Peace. [See Justices' Courts.]
COUNTY Officers, compensation of. [See compensation.]		COURTS, times and places of holding. [See terms of Courts.]
COUNTY Officers, continuation of in office.	696, 697, 708, 709	CRADLEBAUGH, Colonel, invited to a seat within the bar	51, 325
Remarks of		CRAWFORD, ISRAEL.
Mr. Banks	696	Appointed on Committee on Education	448
Crosman	696, 697	Appointed on Committee on Printing for the Convention	39
DeLong	696, 697	Credentials of	3
Dunne	697	Declined appointment on Committee on Publication of the Constitution.	777
Johnson	696, 709	Remarks upon
Kennedy	709	Compensation of officers of the Convention for service at evening sessions	274
Kinkead	708	Duelling	107
Proctor	696, 697	Evening sessions	76
Tagliabue	696	Judicial Department	731
Warwick	709	Oath of office	107
[See Lander County officers.]		Publication of the Constitution	777
COUNTY Officers, offices of	611, 615	Residence of voters	108
Remarks of		Right of suffrage	107, 108, 271
Mr. Banks	611, 612	Taxation	416, 449
Chapin	612	CREDENTIALS, appointment of Committee on	3
Dunne	611, 612, 615	CREDENTIALS, report of Committee on	3
Lockwood	612	CRIMINAL cases, presentment or indictment by Grand Jury required in. [See Grand Jury.]
Proctor	612
Sturtevant	611
Tagliabue	612
Warwick	612
COUNTY Officers, provisions for election of.	155
COUNTY Officers, vacancies in. [See vacancies.]
COURT fees	641, 677, 678, 733-739, 803, 814

DAYS OF SESSION.

	Page.
CRIMINAL prosecutions, transfer of from Territorial to State Courts....	631, 632
Remarks of
Mr. Collins	632
Kennedy	632
Warwick	632
CROSMAN, J. S.
Appointed on Committee on Education	448
Appointed on Committee on Engrossment	74, 711
Credentials of	4
Made reports from Committee on Engrossment	435, 583, 659, 725
Moved adjournment sine die	828
Nominated R. G. Clark for Secretary ..	5
Offered resolution in favor of abolishing County Courts	635
Remarks upon
Adjournment sine die	12, 13
Banking system	451, 452, 453
Basis of Constitution	22
Business in Committee of the Whole ..	541
Compensation of members of the Legislature	156, 157, 281, 604, 606
Contingent expenses of the Legislature	156, 157
Continuation of county officers ..	696, 697
Corporations .. 404, 405, 449, 451, 452, 453, 458, 459, 495, 497, 498
County Courts	639, 540
Courts in Storey	617, 644
Day of election on the Constitution ..	767
Disfranchisement of rebels	94
District Courts and Judges ..	658
Education .. 574, 575, 576, 585, 586, 587, 661, 662
Election Ordinance .. 539, 623, 624, 767, 771
Engrossment	79
Evening sessions	76
Funds for new school districts, 574, 575, 576
Homestead exemption	281
Impeachment and Removal	541
Judicial Department .. 617, 650, 658, 711
Lander County officers	750
Legislative Department .. 140, 156, 157, 275, 276, 281, 283
Limitation of taxation and appropriations	764, 765, 824
Oath prescribed for voters	245, 489

	Page.
Ordinance concerning slavery, religious toleration, and the public lands ..	51
Pacific Railroad .. 404, 405, 449, 458, 459, 495, 497, 498
Permanent organization	5
Poll Tax	121
Publication of the Constitution ..	776
Qualification of voters upon the Constitution	122, 123, 134
Residence of voters	198
Right of Suffrage .. 94, 108, 121, 122, 123, 134, 245, 251, 252, 253, 272, 489
Salaries ..	524, 604, 606
Salaries of Judges	731, 814, 815
Schedule .. 695, 696, 697, 759, 764, 765, 814, 815, 824
Sectarian instruction in public schools ..	661
Special school tax	662
Soldiers' vote .. 251, 252, 253, 274, 272
Sole traders	276, 283
State University .. 585, 586, 587, 662
Taxation .. 228, 336, 353, 354, 384, 386, 405, 407, 423
Terms of office of Assemblymen ..	140, 695
CURRENCY	163-165
[See banking system.]

D

DAILY sessions, resolution fixing hours of, 36, 74, 75, 126, 193, 231
[See evening sessions.]
DAY of election. [See election.]
DAYS of session of the Convention :-
1st day—Monday, July 4th	1-3
2nd day—Tuesday, July 5th	3-36
3rd day—Wednesday, July 6th ..	36-74
4th day—Thursday, July 7th ..	74-126
5th day—Friday, July 8th	126-172
6th day—Saturday, July 9th	172-192
7th day—Monday, July 11th	192-230
8th day—Tuesday, July 12th ..	230-268
9th day—Wednesday, July 13th ..	268-316
10th day—Thursday, July 14th ..	317-383
11th day—Friday, July 15th	383-433
12th day—Saturday, July 16th ..	433-447
13th day—Monday, July 18th	447-464
14th day—Tuesday, July 19th	464-501
15th day—Wednesday, July 20th ..	501-535
16th day—Thursday, July 21st ..	535-586
17th day—Friday, July 22nd	583-638
18th day—Saturday, July 23d	638-697
19th day—Monday, July 25th	697-741

DELONG.

	Page.		Page.
DELONG, CHARLES E.		Election returns.....	797
Moved appointment of Committee on Address to the People.....	699	Engrossment.....	78
Moved appointment of Committee on Enrollment.....	75	Engrossment of the Journals of the Convention.....	827
Moved reconsideration of Article on Right of Suffrage, and reference to special committee for amendment..	467	Equity jurisdiction.....	676, 728, 729
Moved second reading and reference of Article on Declaration of Rights,	41	Evening sessions.....	73-77, 125, 128
Offered resolution for appointment of Committee on Schedule.....	447	Evidence of treason..	67-70, 195, 196
Remarks upon		Executive Department..	159, 160, 161, 248-251, 797
Additional compensation of the officers and attachés of the Convention,	273, 804, 805, 806	Expenses of former Convention..	300, 301
Address to the People.....	698, 699	Final adoption of the Constitution...	827
Adjournment sine lie	10-13	Final passage of bills.....	790
Amendment of the Constitution..	810, 811	Finance and State debt..	219-222, 450, 499, 807
Apportionment of representation....	812	Fiscal year, commencement of...	219, 220
Banking system... 451-454, 456, 457, 458		Grand Jury system.....	199
Basis of Constitution.. 14, 15, 16, 20, 21, 22		Homestead exemption..	283, 285-290, 302, 303, 304, 791
Board of Examiners.....	161	Impeachment and Removal from Office,	557-564, 744, 806, 807
Clerks of County County Commissioners.....	791, 795	Instructions to Judiciary Committee	236-240, 242, 243
City Recorders.....	739	Judicial Department... 236-240, 242, 243,
Compensation for private property taken for public use.....	60, 61, 62	238, 643, 645, 648-653, 655, 656, 658, 674, 676-681, 683, 685, 687-692, 712, 725-740
Compulsory attendance on public schools.....	567	Justices' Courts... 675, 676, 678-681, 683, 685, 687-692, 725-729
Continuation of County officers..	696, 697	Lander County officers....	696, 747, 750
County Courts.....	640	Leave of absence.....	539, 638, 639, 697
Court fees... 648, 677, 678, 733-739, 814		Legislative Department... 247, 275, 276, 277, 283, 285, 286, 287, 289, 290, 302-305, 789, 790, 791, 795, 796, 797
Courts in Storey County... 645, 648, 650, 651, 653, 655, 656, 658		Limitation of debate... 37, 38, 39, 454, 466
Corporations.. 162, 178, 180-184, 186, 188, 205, 206, 207, 209, 212, 213, 216, 217, 292, 294-297, 300, 388, 390-394, 396, 397, 404, 405, 450, 458, 470, 495-499		Limitation of State indebtedness, 220, 221
Day of election.....	247, 275	Limitation of taxation and appropriations..	753, 754, 759, 760, 762, 763, 816, 820, 821, 823
Declaration of Rights... 41, 42, 44, 45, 49, 52, 53, 54, 56, 58-64, 67-70, 195, 196, 199, 201, 465, 783, 784		Memorializing Congress concerning Judiciary system.....	173
Disfranchisement of rebels.. 82, 91, 92, 93, 104		Miscellaneous Provisions... 664, 665, 666, 668, 669, 671, 672, 673, 741, 744, 810
District Courts and Judges.. 650-653, 655, 656, 658		Mode of procedure of the Convention	41
Dueling.. 104-107, 664, 665, 666, 668, 669, 670, 672, 673		Municipal Courts.....	732, 733
Education.....	566, 567	Oath of office.....	104-107, 664, 665, 666, 668-673
Election Ordinance.....	539, 825	Oath prescribed for voters..	244, 264, 269, 478-481, 483, 486, 488, 489, 490, 492, 494
		Official bonds of State officers... 707-710
		Pacific Railroad... 178, 180-184, 186, 188, 205, 206, 207, 209, 212, 213, 216, 217, 292, 294-297, 300, 388, 390-394, 396, 397, 404, 405, 450, 458, 470, 495-499

DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

	Page.		Page
DELONG, CHARLES E.		Terms of State officers.....	160, 706, 707
Remarks upon		Terms of State Senators.....	692-695
Paramount allegiance.....	42, 44, 45, 49, 52, 53, 201	Territorial indebtedness.....	750
Pardoning power.....	159	Treason, evidence of.....	67-70, 195, 196
Perpetuities.....	741	Trial by jury.....	53, 54, 56, 58
Personal explanations.....	318, 454, 485, 486 489, 823	Veto power.....	797
Poll Tax.....	112, 120, 145, 272, 535	DESIGN for State seal. [See State seal.]
Postponement of Article on Judicial Department.....	674	DISFRANCHISEMENT of duelists. [See duel- ing.]
Postponement of taxation.....	807	DISFRANCHISEMENT of rebels.....	80-104
Printing rules of Convention.....	38	Remarks of
Privileges and immunities.....	63, 64	Mr. Banks.....	91, 96, 97
Prohibition of slavery.....	67	Chapin.....	88
Proxies for absent members.....	435	Collins.....	85, 89, 98-102
Qualifications of voters upon the Con- stitution.....	123, 124, 125	Crosman.....	94
Religious toleration.....	59	DeLong.....	82, 91, 92, 93, 104
Residence of State officers.....	161	Dunne.....	80, 82
Residence of voters.....	70, 71, 72, 108	Earl.....	83, 84, 86, 93
Resolution of thanks to officers and attaches.....	828	Fitch.....	102, 103, 104
Right of suffrage.....	70, 71, 72, 82, 91, 92, 93, 104-108, 112, 120, 123, 124, 125, 145, 244, 264, 269, 272, 467, 477-481, 483-486, 488, 489, 490, 492, 494, 535	Frizell.....	97, 98
Salaries of Judges.....	730, 731, 814, 815	Hawley.....	81, 82, 84, 85, 94
Schedule.....	417, 692-697, 705-710, 747, 750, 753, 754, 759, 760, 762, 763, 812, 814, 815, 816, 820, 821, 823	Hovey.....	80, 81
Second reading of preamble.....	39, 40	Johnson.....	87, 88, 89
Seizures and searches.....	783, 784	Kennedy.....	88, 91, 93, 95, 100, 102
Soldiers' vote.....	478	Lockwood.....	94, 95
Sole traders.....	275, 276, 277	Mason.....	104
Special legislation.....	63, 64	Nourse.....	83, 84, 85, 89, 90, 91, 96
State scrip.....	222	Tozer.....	94, 95
State seal.....	160	Warwick.....	80, 81, 84, 95, 104
Substitution of "yeas and nays" for "ayes and noes".....	789, 796	DISLOYAL persons not entitled to vote....	80
Supreme Court.....	643, 648, 649, 650, 712, 740, 810	[See disfranchisement of rebels.]
Taxation.....	222, 223, 224, 226, 227, 319-324 330, 333-338, 340, 345-350, 352, 353, 367, 371, 373-383, 384, 385, 387, 405, 406, 408, 409, 410, 412, 415, 418-421, 423, 426, 428, 429, 431, 432, 433, 436, 437, 440, 441, 413, 416, 449, 450, 500, 501	DISQUALIFICATION of voters. [See voters.]
Taxation of corporations.....	162	DISQUALIFICATIONS for holding office.....	141
Terms of Assemblymen.....	695	[See bribery.]
Terms of Courts.....	675, 705	DISTRIBUTION of Powers, Article on—
		Referred to Committee of the Whole.....	128
		Considered in Committee of the Whole.....	158
		Ordered engrossed.....	115
		Read third time and passed.....	246, 247
		Final revision of.....	787
		Remarks of
		Mr. Banks.....	787
		DISTRICT Courts and Judges.....	650-653, 713-721
		Remarks of
		Mr. Banks.....	651, 653, 654, 655, 658, 714, 715, 716, 718, 721
		Brosnan.....	651, 653-657, 713-721
		Chapin.....	651, 659, 715, 716
		Collins.....	651, 714

DUNNE.

	Page.
Mr. Crosman	658
DeLong.....650-653, 655, 656, 658
Dunne....651, 653, 658, 659, 714, 715
Frizell.....	650
Johnson.....651-654, 656, 657, 658,
713-721
Kennedy.....	713
Nourse, 650, 651, 653, 654, 655, 657, 658
Parker.....	713
Proctor	715, 716
Warwick.....	655
DISTRICT Courts, terms of. [See terms of Courts.]
DISTRICT Judges, commencement of terms of. [See terms of Judges.]
DISTRICT Judges, resolution instructing Judiciary Committee concerning, 231-243 [See Judicial Department.]
DISTRICT Schools, provisions for maintain- ing. [See Education.]
DISTRICT Schools, time of maintaining... 577, 578, 579
Remarks of
Mr. Banks.....	577, 578, 579
Brosnan.....	577, 579
Collins.....	577
Dunne.....	578
Frizell.....	578
Hawley.....	577
Johnson.....	577, 578
McClinton	577
DUELING...104-107, 609, 610, 663-673, 777, 778
Remarks of
Mr. Banks...105, 106, 107, 663, 665, 667, 670, 671, 672
Brosnan...105, 609, 664, 667, 669, 777, 778
Chapin	107
Collins...107, 610, 663, 664, 665, 668, 670, 672
Crawford	107
DeLong...104-107, 664, 665, 666, 668, 669, 670, 672, 673
Dunne.....	668, 669, 771, 742
Fitch	106
Frizell	668, 671
Hawley	106, 666, 667, 669, 673
Johnson.....	610, 667, 668, 670-673
Kennedy.....	104-107
Mason	666

	Page.
Mr. Nourse	665, 666, 667, 670, 672
Parker.....	665
Proctor.....	669
Warwick.....	104, 107, 667, 778
DUNNE, E. F.
Appeared and sworn in.....	7
Appointed on Committee on Judiciary	75
Appointed on Committee on Schedule	417
Appointed on Special Committee to amend Section 19 of Article on Decla- ration of Rights, relative to evi- dence of treason.....	196
Appointed on Special Committee to draft an oath for voters.....	268
Credentials of.....	3
Granted leave of absence.....	710
Made report from Schedule Committee on Election Ordinance.....	622
Made reports from Schedule Commit- tee on Schedule.....	630, 673
Made minority report from Schedule Committee on apportionment of rep- resentation	631
Made minority report from Schedule Committee on Article on Miscella- neous Provisions.....	538
Made report from Special Committee amending Article on Declaration of Rights (under instructions) in re- spect to evidence of treason	201
Moved to amend rules so as to change order of business	77
Moved to amend rules so as to limit speeches to fifteen minutes.....	37
Offered preamble and resolutions for adjournment of the Convention sine die	9
Offered resolution appointing commit- tees on the several Articles of the Constitution.....	16
Offered resolutions limiting debate...39, 74
Offered resolution providing for even- ing sessions, and fixing hours of daily sessions	193
Offered resolution referring various Articles of the Constitution to com- mittees	466
Offered resolution to incorporate a sec- tion in Article on Miscellaneous Pro- visions, prohibiting perpetuities... 741

DUNNE.

	Page.	Page.
DUNNE, E. F.
Offered resolution to memorialize Congress in regard to the Judiciary system	172	Governor's term of office.....157, 248
Offered resolution to give officers of Convention additional compensation for evening sessions.....	273	Granting leave of absence..638, 697, 710, 742
Offered resolution to postpone evening sessions	231	Homestead exemption.....310, 311
Remarks upon		Impeachment and Removal from Office 541, 547-550, 552, 553, 554, 556, 640
Adjournment over of the Convention.	639	Increase and diminution of salaries.. 615
Adjournment sine die9-12,	274	Increasing the Judiciary Committee.. 174
Amendments of the Constitution	528, 531, 532	Instructions to Judiciary Committee 231, 232, 238, 239
Apportionment of representation, 632-635	637	Judicial Department...231, 232, 238, 239, 618, 619, 648, 649, 651 653, 658, 677, 714, 715, 732
Banking system.....	457	Lander County officers.....747, 749, 750
Basis of Constitution.....	16	Legislative Department...139, 144, 247, 274, 275, 278, 279, 280, 284, 305, 308, 310-314
Board of Regents.....	589	Limitation of debate..36, 37, 39, 466, 584
Boundary	528	Limitation of taxation and appropriations
Business before committees..534, 584,	616	752, 754
Census	614	Memorializing Congress concerning judiciary system.....172, 173
Compensation of members of the Legislature	312	Miscellaneous Provisions...611, 612, 614, 615, 663, 668-671, 740, 741, 746
Compensation of officers of the Convention for evening sessions.....	273	Oath of office.....668, 669, 671
Compulsory attendance on the public schools..566, 567, 569, 570, 572, 573, 574		Oath prescribed for voters..245, 253-256, 261, 266, 268, 269, 270, 484, 485, 492, 493, 494
Contingent expenses of the Legislature	312	Offices of county officers....611, 612, 615
Continuance of County officers... ..	697	Official bonds of State officers..... 748
Continuance of rights, actions, etc...	751	Pacific Railroad...188, 203, 402, 403, 463, 464
Corporations..162, 163, 188, 203, 402, 403,	463, 464	Paramount allegiance.....200, 201
County Auditors	278, 280	Perpetuities
Courts in Storey County.....	658, 659	740, 741, 746
Day of election.....139, 247, 274, 284		Personal explanations..317, 383, 485, 710, 742
Declaration of rights...194, 199, 200, 201		Postponement of Article on Judicial Department
Disfranchisement of rebels.....	80, 82	618, 119
District Courts and Judges..651, 653, 658, 659, 714, 715		Preamble and name of State..... 33
Dueling.....668, 669, 671, 742		Probate Judges..... 697
Education...447, 566, 567, 569, 570, 572, 573, 574, 579, 587, 588, 589, 591, 594, 595, 745		Provisions in regard to school fund, 587, 589, 745
Election Ordinance	626, 629, 630	Qualifications of voters upon the Con- stitution.....125, 132, 133, 137
Enrollment of the Constitution.....	585	Registry Law..... 111
Evening sessions...127, 128, 193, 231, 534		Right of Suffrage...80, 82, 104, 111, 125, 132, 133, 137, 245, 251, 253-256, 261, 266, 268-272, 484, 485, 492, 493, 494
Evidence of treason.....	194	Salaries...501, 511, 512, 523, 524, 595, 597, 599, 602, 752
Executive Department..157, 158, 160, 161, 248		Salaries, increase and diminution of. 615
Final passage of bills	144

EDUCATION.

	Page.
DUNNE, E. F.
Remarks upon
Salaries of Judges.....	732
Salary of Secretary of State.....	597, 599
Salary of State Controller.....	599
Schedule.	447, 632-635, 637, 638, 692, 693, 695, 696, 697, 704, 747-752, 754
Separate property of the wife.....	279
Sessions of the Legislature.....	696
Soldiers' vote.....	271, 272
Special school tax.....	588, 591, 594
State University.....	579, 587
Supreme Court.....	649
Taxation.	230, 346, 360-363, 418, 419, 428, 444, 500
Taxation of Corporations.....	162, 163
Terms of Assemblymen.....	695
Terms of Courts.....	704, 748
Terms of State officers.....	161, 692
Terms of State Senators.....	692, 693
Time of first session of the Legislature,	305, 308
Time of maintaining district schools..	578
Treason, evidence of.....	194
Trial by jury.....	199, 200
Vacancies in office.....	158
Veto power.....	313, 314

E

EARL, JOSIAH.
Appointed on Committee on State Seal.....	75
Credentials of.....	3
Granted leave of absence.	539, 583, 638
Offered resolution limiting debate....	454
Offered resolution to ask Congress for a change in the Judiciary system. and to adjourn the Convention sine die	13
Offered resolution (substitute) requiring members to hand in proposed amendments to Constitution	21, 22, 24
Remarks upon
Adjournment sine die	13
Amendments of the Constitution.....	531
Banking system.....	163, 164, 454
Basis of Constitution.....	21, 22, 23
Compensation of County officers.....	155
Corporations.	163, 164, 165, 188, 190, 191, 192, 391, 392, 397, 398, 404, 449, 464, 498
Declaration of Rights	44, 47, 54, 58, 64, 65, 66

	Page.
Disfranchisement of rebels.	83, 84, 86, 93
Elegibility of Governor.....	157
Evening sessions.....	76
Executive Department.....	157
Homestead exemption	302, 303, 304, 310, 311
Legislative Department.	155, 302, 303, 304, 310, 311
Limitation of debate.....	454, 466
Memorializing Congress concerning Judiciary system.....	173
Municipal indebtedness.....	165
Oath prescribed for voters.....	481, 488
Pacific Railroad.	188, 190, 191, 192, 296, 391, 392, 397, 398, 404, 449, 464, 498
Paramount allegiance.....	44, 47, 55, 58
Poll Tax.	111, 112, 114, 116, 117, 119, 121, 122
Privileges and immunities.....	64, 65
Prohibition of slavery.....	66
Residence of voters.....	73
Right of Suffrage.	73, 83, 84, 86, 93, 109, 111, 112, 114, 116, 117, 119-122, 481, 488
Salaries.....	505, 508
Soldiers' vote.....	109
Special legislation.....	64, 65
Taxation.	337, 342, 345, 364, 373, 406, 416, 419, 420, 422, 428, 439, 444, 500, 515, 517, 518
Trial by jury.....	55, 58

EDUCATION, appointment of committee upon,	447, 448
---	----------

EDUCATION, Article on—
Referred to Committee on Education.	466
Reported from Committee on Education.....	565
Considered in Committee of the Whole,	566-582, 585-595
Considered in Convention.	595, 659-662
Amended on report of Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement, 743, 745	746
Final revision of.....	808, 809

Remarks of

Mr. Banks.	448, 572, 574, 577-580, 585, 591, 592, 661
Brosnan	566, 567, 568, 577, 579, 586, 589, 590, 592, 660, 661
Chapin, 566, 567, 572, 586-590, 661, 662

ELECTION.

	Page.		Page.
Mr. Collins...	447, 448, 566-571, 573, 574, 576, 577, 580, 581, 582, 585-590, 592, 594, 661, 662, 745, 808	Mr. Johnson...	766-769, 772, 773, 786, 826, 827
Crosman...	574, 575, 576, 585, 586, 587, 661, 662	Kinkead.....	769
DeLong.....	566, 567	McClinton.....	767
Dunne...	447, 566, 567, 569, 570, 572, 573, 574, 579, 587, 588, 589, 591, 594, 595, 745	Proctor.....	766, 769, 826
Frizell...	573, 578, 580, 587-590, 592	Tagliabue.....	766
Hawley...	448, 566-569, 574-577, 579, 580, 585, 587, 589, 590, 591, 593, 595, 661, 769	Warwick.....	766, 767
Johnson...	447, 566, 567, 568, 572, 574, 578, 580, 581, 582, 585, 586, 660, 662, 745, 746	ELECTION, day of, resolution appointing committee to wait on Governor concerning.....	769
Kinkead.....	745	ELECTION, day of, reports of committee to wait on Governor concerning... 771, 773
Lockwood.....	572, 573, 587	ELECTION of United States Senators, provision concerning.....	156
McClinton, 568, 569, 571, 572, 577, 745, 746, 808		Remarks of
Nourse... 581, 582, 585, 586, 588, 589, 592, 593, 594		Mr. Banks.....	156
Sturtevant.....	591, 595	ELECTION of judges. [See Judicial Department.]
Tagliabue.....	580	ELECTION Ordinance—
Warwick... 447, 568, 569, 571, 572, 577, 581, 582, 591, 593, 594		Introduced.....	533
ELECTION, by plurality.....	614	Referred to Committee on Schedule..	534
ELECTION, day of... 139, 140, 274, 275, 284, 610		Motion to print.....	539
Remarks of		Reported from Schedule Committee..	622
Mr. Banks.....	275, 284	Considered in Committee of the Whole,	622-630
Brosnan.....	139, 140, 284,	Referred to special committee of one.	630
Crosman.....	140	Reported from special committee of one.....	741
DeLong.....	247, 275	Considered in Convention.....	766-773
Dunne... 139, 247, 274, 284		Final revision of.....	825, 826
Fitch.....	275	Remarks of
Johnson... 139, 140, 275, 284		Mr. Banks. 623, 626-630, 767, 769, 770, 772
Kennedy.....	275, 284	Brosnan.....	768, 770, 772
Sturtevant.....	274, 275	Chapin... 626, 629, 766, 767, 768, 770
Warwick.....	275	Collins, 532, 534, 622-630, 766-773, 825
ELECTION, day of, on Constitution, 766-769, 772, 773, 786, 826, 827		Crosman.....	539, 623, 624, 767, 771
Remarks of		DeLong.....	539, 825
Mr. Banks.....	767, 769, 772, 827	Dunne.....	626, 629, 630
Brosnan.....	768, 772, 786	Frizell.....	625, 627, 769, 771
Chapin.....	766, 767, 768	Gibson.....	629
Collins... 766, 767, 768, 772, 773, 786		Hawley... 623, 624, 625, 627, 629, 630,	769
Crosman.....	767	Hovey.....	534, 625, 626
Frizell.....	769	Johnson... 539, 622, 623, 625, 626, 628,	629, 630, 766-773, 825, 826
Hawley.....	769	Kennedy.....	771, 773
		Kinkead.....	769
		Lockwood.....	534
		Mason.....	623, 626, 629
		McClinton.....	767, 770, 771

EVENING SESSIONS.

	Page.		Page.
Mr. Murdock.....	629	ENROLLMENT of Constitution—
Proctor...625, 626, 766, 769, 771, 826		Appointment of Committee upon....	75
Sturtevant.....	623	Appointment of Committee upon Final
Tagliabue.....627, 766, 771		Enrollment.....	725
Warwick.....623, 766, 767		Reports of Enrolling Committee, 465, 535,
Wetherill.....	629	793, 795, 797, 799, 804
ELECTION returns.....	157, 158, 797	Resolution authorizing Enrolling Committee to employ a clerk.....	78
Remarks of		Resolution to appoint a committee on
Mr. Chapin.....	797	final enrollment.....	724
DeLong.....	797
Johnson.....	797	Remarks of
Kinkead.....	797	Mr. Banks.....535, 725, 793, 797
McClinton.....	158	Brosnan.....584, 585
ELECTIONS. [See Right of Suffrage.]		Chapin...202, 585, 724, 725, 741, 743
ELECTIONS, laws to be passed regulating...	153	Dunne.....	585
ELECTORS exempt from arrest on election		Gibson.....	743
days.....	111	Hawley..202, 535, 584, 585, 698, 743,
ELECTORS, qualifications of. [See qualifica-		773, 779, 793, 795, 797, 804
tions of electors.]		Johnson..585, 724, 725, 743, 744, 773,
ELIGIBILITY of Governor.....	157	793
		Kennedy.....	743
Remarks of		Kinkead.....743, 799
Mr. Earl.....	157	Sturtevant.....	535
ENACTING clause.....	152	Tagliabue.....725, 744
ENGRASSMENT of Articles—		ENUMERATION of Courts. [See Judicial
Appointment of committee on.....	74	power.]
Reports of committee on...230, 535, 583,		EQUITY jurisdiction.....676, 728, 729
659, 711, 725
Resolution authorizing committee on		Remarks of
to appoint a clerk.....	78	Mr. Banks.....676, 728
		Brosnan.....676, 728, 729
Remarks of		DeLong.....676, 728, 729
Mr. Banks.....74, 79		Kennedy.....676
Brosnan.....78		Johnson.....728, 729
Chapin.....78, 79		ESTABLISHMENT of schools, provisions for..	587
Crosman.....79
DeLong.....78		Remarks of
Hawley.....77, 78, 79		Mr. Lockwood.....587
Johnson.....74, 78, 79		EVENING sessions, compensation of officers
Nourse.....78		of Convention for. [See compensa-
Tozer.....74, 78, 79		tion.]
Warwick.....78		EVENING sessions of Convention, motions
ENGRASSMENT of Journals of the Convention,		and resolutions providing for, 73, 74, 75,
	826, 827	110, 126, 193, 231
Remarks of		Remarks of
Mr. Banks.....827		Mr. Banks.....75, 76, 77
Brosnan.....826, 827		Brosnan.....127, 128
Collins.....827		Chapin.....77, 127, 128
DeLong.....826		Collins.....76
Nourse.....827		Crawford.....76
		Crosman.....76

FINANCE.

	Page.		Page.
Mr. DeLong.....	73-77, 110, 125, 128	EXPENSES of former Convention..	274, 300, 301
Dunne.....	127, 128, 193, 231, 534	Remarks of
Earl.....	76	Mr. DeLong	300, 301
Fitch.....	73, 74	Kennedy	300, 301
Frizell.....	128	Sturtevant	274, 300, 301
Johnson.....	126, 127	EX POST FACTO law prohibited	66
Kennedy.....	75, 126, 127	EXPULSION of a member of the Legislature,
Lockwood.....	76	provision for	140
Nourse.....	75, 76, 77	F
Tozer.....	76, 77, 127, 128	FEES and perquisites of Judicial officers
Warwick.....	97	prohibited.....	676, 739, 775
EVIDENCE of treason. [See treason.]		FINAL adoption of Constitution.....	827
EXAMINERS. Board of. [See Board of Examiners.]		Remarks of
EXECUTIVE Department, Article on—		Mr. DeLong	827
Referred to Committee of the Whole..	146	Proctor	827
Considered in Committee of the Whole	157-162	FINAL enrollment of Constitution. [See
Considered in Convention.....	247-251	Enrollment.]
Final revision of....	797-799	FINAL revision of Constitution, motion to
Remarks of		proceed to	779
Mr. Banks	158-161, 798, 799	Remarks of
Brosnan.....	159, 160, 161, 250	Mr. Banks	779
Chapin	248, 249, 251, 797	Chapin	779
Collins	161, 798, 799	Hawley	779
DeLong... 159, 160, 161, 248-251, 797		Johnson	779
Dunne..... 157, 158, 160, 161, 248		Kennedy	779
Earl.....	157	FINANCE and State Debt, Article on—
Fitch.....	248	Referred to Committee of the Whole. 162
Frizell.....	158	Considered in Committee of the Whole,
Hawley.....	798	219-222, 499
Hovey.....	159	Considered in Convention... 448, 450, 499
Johnson... 158-161, 250, 251, 797, 798		Final revision of.....	807, 808
Kennedy.....	250, 251	Remarks of
Kinkead	797	Mr. Banks.....	807
Lockwood.....	160, 161	Brosnan.....	807
McClinton	158, 798	Chapin	807
Nourse... 158, 159, 160, 248, 249, 250		Collins.....	220
Proctor	160	DeLong..... 219-222, 450, 499, 807
EXECUTIVE Department, officers of, to report to the Governor.....	158	Fitch.....	222
EXEMPTION of homestead from execution, etc. [See Homestead Exemption.]		Frizell	219, 220
EXEMPTION of Indians from poll tax. [See poll tax.]		Gibson.....	448, 450
EXEMPTION of Indigent Sick from poll tax. [See poll tax.]		Hawley	222
EXEMPTION of Property from seizure for debt.....	66	Hovey	219
EXEMPTION from arrest of electors on election days.....	111	Johnson	219, 220, 221, 448, 808
		Kinkead	219, 448, 807
		Proctor	807
		Sturtevant	448
		Tozer.....	448
		Warwick	221, 222

FITCH.

	Page.
FINES, excessive, not to be imposed.....	59
FIRST session of Legislature, time of....	153, 305-310
Remarks of
Mr. Banks.....	305, 310
Brosnan.....	308
Chapin.....	307
Collins.....	306
Dunne.....	305, 308
Fitch.....	305, 306, 308, 309
Hawley.....	307
Hovey.....	306, 310
Johnson.....	305-310
Kennedy.....	306
Nourse.....	308
Proctor.....	307, 309
Sturtevant.....	307, 308
FISCAL year, time of commencement of..	219-220, 807
Remarks of
Mr. Brosnan.....	807
DeLong.....	219, 220
Frizell.....	219, 220
Hovey.....	219
Johnson.....	219, 220
Kinhead.....	219
FITCH, THOMAS.
Appointed on Committee on Printing for the Convention.....	39
Credentials of.....	3
Granted leave of absence.....	447
Moved adoption of preamble.....	35
Moved evening session.....	73
Moved omission of certain proceed- ings from official report of Conven- tion.....	317
Moved second reading of Preamble..	39
Remarks upon
Adjournment of the Legislature from time to time.....	142
Adjournment sine die	11, 13
Banking system.....	164, 165
Basis of Constitution.....	17, 21, 22, 23
Compensation of county officers.....	155
Compensation of officers of the Con- vention.....	8, 273, 274
Compensation of members of the Leg- islature.....	155, 156, 157, 312
Contingent expenses of the Legisla- ture.....	156, 157, 312

	Page.
Corporations..	164-168, 170, 189, 192, 203, 205, 207-216, 318, 387-391, 394, 400, 403, 404, 405, 498
Day of election.....	275
Declaration of Rights..	41-44, 47, 49, 52, 53, 54, 56, 57, 59, 60, 67, 68, 69, 195, 196, 199
Disfranchisement of rebels.....	102-104
Dueling.....	106
Evening sessions.....	73, 74
Evidence of treason..	67, 68, 69, 195, 196
Executive Department.....	248
Final passage of bills.....	144, 145
Finance and State debt.....	222
Grand Jury system.....	59, 60, 199
Homestead exemption..	281, 283, 287, 311
Instructions to Judiciary Committee,	232, 241
Judicial Department.....	232, 241
Legislative Department, 141, 142, 144, 145, 147, 149, 152-157, 280, 281, 283, 287, 305-309, 311, 312
Memorializing Congress relative to Judiciary system.....	172, 173, 174
Municipal indebtedness.....	165, 166
Oath of office.....	106
Oath prescribed for voters..	244, 245, 246, 254, 267, 268
Offices of profit.....	141
Organization of the Convention.....	5, 8
Pacific Railroad..	166, 167, 168, 170, 189, 192, 203, 205, 207-216, 292-295, 387-391, 394, 400, 403, 404, 405, 498
Paramount allegiance... ..	41-44, 47, 49, 52
Personal explanation... ..	317, 318
Poll tax.....	117
Preamble and name of State.....	33, 38
Printing rules of the Convention.....	38
Qualifications of jurors.....	153
Qualifications of voters upon the Con- stitution.....	122, 124
Residence of voters.....	72, 73
Right of Suffrage... ..	72, 73, 102, 103, 104, 117, 122, 124, 244, 245, 246, 254, 267, 268
Rules of Convention.....	8
Salaries..	501, 502, 504, 505, 506, 508, 509, 510, 512, 513
Second reading of preamble.....	39, 40
Sole traders.....	154
Special legislation.....	147, 149, 152, 280
State scrip.....	222

FRIZELL.

	Page.		Page.
FITCH, THOMAS.		Clerks of County Commissioners	791
Remarks upon.		Compensation of county officers	152
Taxation . . . 226, 227, 228, 321, 322, 324, 333,		Compensation of members of the Leg-
345, 348, 363, 369, 375, 381, 383, 384, 385.		islature	606
386, 409, 417, 420, 422, 423, 428, 437, 439,		Compulsory attendance on the public
440, 441, 444, 446, 447, 501		schools	573
Term of office of Governor	248	Corporations	207, 470, 471, 472
Time of first session of the Legisla-		County Auditors	280, 281
ture	305, 306, 308, 309	Court fees	736
Treason, evidence of . . . 67, 68, 69, 195, 196		Courts in Storey County	645, 650
Trial by jury	53, 54, 56, 57	Day of election on the Constitution . .	769
FOLSOM, GILMAN N.		Declaration of Rights	201, 202
Appointed on Committee on Educa-		Disfranchisement of rebels	97, 98
tion	448	District Courts and Judges	650
Appointed on Committee on State Seal	75	Dueling	668, 671
Credentials of	4	Education	573, 578, 580
Granted leave of absence	583	Election Ordinance	625, 627, 769, 771
Remarks upon		Evening sessions	128
Banking system	451	Executive Department	158
Corporations	451	Finance and State debt	219, 220
Taxation	224, 333	Fiscal year, commencement of . . .	219, 220
FORCIBLE entry and unlawful detainer,		Granting leave of absence	128
jurisdiction of. [See Justices of the		Homestead exemption	303, 304
Peace.]		Impeachment and Removal from office,	547, 556
FOREIGNERS to enjoy same property rights		Instructions to Judiciary Committee,
as native born	66	241, 242, 243
FORFEITURE of School Funds. [See School		Judicial Department . . . 241, 242, 243, 619,
Funds.]		645, 650, 675, 684-687, 589, 690, 691,
FRANCHISE, special. [See privileges and		721, 729, 732, 736, 740
immunities, also special leg slation.]		Justices' Courts . . . 684-687, 689, 690, 691
FREEDOM of speech and the press	63	Legislative Department 147, 152, 154,
FRIZELL, LLOYD.		280, 303, 304, 791
Appointed on Committee on Engross-		Limitation of taxation and appropria-
ment	74	tions	765
Appointed on Committee on Judiciary	174	Miscellaneous Provisions	668, 671
Appointed on Committee on Publica-		Oath of Office	668, 671
tion of the Constitution	777	Oath prescribed for voters . . . 244, 257, 258,
Appointed on Committee to conduct		259, 261, 490, 491, 492
President elect to the chair	5	Ordinance concerning slavery, relig-
Credentials of	3	ious toleration, and the public lands, 780
Granted leave of absence . . . 268, 792, 804		Pacific Railroad	207, 470, 471, 472
Remarks upon		Paramount allegiance	201, 202
Adjournment in honor of Independ-		Postponement of article on Judicial
ence Day	3	Department	619
Amendments of the Constitution . 527, 529		Provisions for school funds	580
Apportionment of representation . 635, 636		Publication of Constitution	775
Appropriation of the public lands for		Qualifications of State officers	598
school purposes	580	Qualifications of voters upon the Con-
Board of Regents	589	stitution	133
		Residence of voters	71, 107, 108

HAWLEY.

	Page.	Page.
Mr. Hovey.....	197	Offered resolution to adjourn over... 387
Johnson.....	196-199, 774	Offered resolution to print 100 copies of the rules of the Convention... 36, 38
McClinton.....	198	Remarks upon
Nourse.....	59, 196, 197, 198, 774	Adjournment over of the Convention 387
Proctor.....	60, 196, 197	Adjournment sine die 11, 12
Tozer.....	198	Amendments of the Constitution.... 811
GREAT seal of State. [See State Seal.]		Arrangement of Articles..... 79
H		Attaching Roop County to Washoe County for certain purposes..... 774
HABEAS CORPUS, writ of, when to be sus- pended	59	Banking system..... 453
Remarks of		Basis of the Constitution..... 22
Mr. Proctor.....	59	Board of Regents..... 589
HAINES, J. W.		Compensation for private property taken for public use..... 61
Appeared and qualified.....	201	Compulsory attendance on the public schools..... 566, 567, 569, 574
Appointed on Committee on Phrase- ology and Arrangement.....	230	Court fees..... 737, 738
Appointed on Committee on Schedule	447	Corporations... 168, 171, 175-178, 203, 204, 205, 209, 210, 212, 216, 405, 449, 453, 458, 459, 472, 475
Credentials of.....	3	Day of election on Constitution.... 769
Granted leave of absence.....	268	Declaration of Rights... 45, 48, 53, 54, 57, 61, 465, 774, 782
Remarks upon		Disfranchisement of rebels, 81, 82, 84, 85, 94
Corporations.....	203, 473, 474, 497, 498	Dueling..... 106, 666, 667, 669, 673
Oath prescribed for voters... 262, 483-486, 491		Education, 448, 566-569, 574-577, 579, 580, 585, 587, 589, 590, 591, 593, 595, 661, 769
Pacific Railroad... 203, 473, 474, 497, 498		Election Ordinance... 623, 624, 625, 627, 629, 630, 769
Personal explanation.....	485, 486	Engrossment..... 77, 78, 79
Right of Suffrage	262, 483-486, 491	Enrollment... 202, 535, 584, 585, 698, 743, 773, 779, 793, 795, 797, 804
Taxation	223, 224, 227, 228, 411, 412, 413, 416, 422, 423, 428, 429, 449, 500, 501, 515, 517, 518	Executive Department..... 798
HAWLEY, ALBERT T.		Final revision of the Constitution... 779
Appointed on Committee on Educa- tion.....	448	Finance and State debt..... 222
Appointed on Committee on Enroll- ment.....	75	Funds of the Treasury..... 608
Appointed on Committee on Judiciary	84	Funds for new school districts, 574, 575, 576
Credentials of.....	3	Grand Jury system.... 774
Made reports from Committee on En- rollment, 465, 535, 793, 795, 797, 799, 804		Granting leave of absence..... 742
Moved admission to seats of amateur phonographic reporters.....	73	Increasing Judiciary Committee.... 174
Moved appointment of additional mem- bers of the Judiciary Committee... 174		Instructions to Judiciary Committee... 232, 233
Moved appointment of Engrossing Clerk.....	78	Judicial Department... 232, 233, 619, 620, 692, 703, 727, 728, 737, 738, 799-803
Moved election of subordinate officers of the Convention.....	8	Justices' Courts..... 692, 727, 728
Moved to invite Colonel Cradlebaugh to a seat within the bar of the Con- vention.....	51	Legislative Department... 147, 148, 307, 313, 314
		Limitation of debate..... 37
		Limitation of taxation and appropria- tions
		816, 824

HOVEY.

	Page.
HAWLEY, ALBERT T.
Remarks upon
Memorializing Congress concerning the judiciary system	174
Miscellaneous Provisions	666, 667, 669, 673
Oath of office	106, 666, 667, 669, 673
Oath prescribed for voters	244, 246, 265, 492, 493, 494
Ordinance concerning slavery, religious toleration, and the public lands	780
Organization of the Convention	4, 5, 6, 8
Pacific Railroad	168, 171, 175-178, 203, 204, 205, 209, 210, 212, 216, 295, 405, 449, 458, 459, 472, 475, 497
Paramount allegiance	45, 48, 53, 54, 57
Personal explanation	769
Phraseology and arrangement of the Constitution	230
Poll tax	111, 112, 113, 120, 121, 146, 535
Postponement of Article on Judicial Department	619, 620
Printing rules of the Convention	36, 38, 39
Provisions in regard to school fund	580, 589
Publication of Debates and Proceedings of the Convention	815
Publication of the Constitution	775
Registry law	111
Residence of voters	108
Resolution of thanks to the President of the Convention	828
Right of defending in person	782
Right of Suffrage	81, 82, 84, 85, 94, 106, 108, 111, 112, 113, 120, 121, 146, 244, 246, 265, 492, 493, 494, 535
Salaries	596, 608
Salaries of Judges	803
Schedule	774, 813, 815, 816, 824
Sectarian instruction in public schools	568, 661
Special legislation	147, 148
Special school tax	591, 593, 769
State scrip	222
State University	579, 585, 586, 590
Supreme Court	800, 801
Taxation	222, 223, 225, 226, 229, 318, 336-339, 349, 365, 381, 415, 422, 431, 442, 443, 444, 520
Time of first session of the Legislature	307

	Page.
Time of maintaining district schools	57
Trial by jury	53, 54, 57
Vacancies in office	703
Veto power	313, 314
HOMESTEAD, exemption of, provisions concerning.	153, 281-290, 310, 311, 314, 315, 790, 791

Remarks of

Mr. Banks	153, 282, 286
Brosnan	311, 790
Chapin	288
Collins	286-289, 310, 311
Crosman	281
DeLong	283, 285-290, 302, 303, 304, 791
Dunne	310, 311
Earl	302, 303, 304, 310, 311
Fitch	281, 283, 287, 311
Frizell	303, 304
Johnson	153, 282, 283, 287, 288, 289, 310, 311, 314, 315
Kennedy	153, 283, 301, 302, 303
Kinkead	791
Lockwood	303
McClinton	314, 315
Nourse	304, 310, 311, 315
Tagliabue	311
Tozer	283, 284, 288, 289
Warwick	281, 282, 283
House of Refuge	524
[See Public Institutions.]

HOVEY, ALMON.

Appointed on Committee on Enrollment	75
Credentials of	3
Granted leave of absence	128
Nominated Andrew Whitford as Assistant Secretary	9

Remarks upon

Banking system	163, 202
Bribery	142
Compensation of members of the Legislature	607
Corporations	163, 178, 186, 190, 191, 192, 203, 204, 205, 298, 448, 498
County Courts	616, 617
Courts in Storey County	617
Declaration of Rights	197
Disfranchisement of rebels	80, 81
Election Ordinance	534, 625, 626

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

	Page.
HOVEY, ALMON.
Remarks upon
Executive Department.....	159
Filling vacancies in the Legislature..	143
Finance and State debt.....	219
Fiscal year, commencement of.....	219
Grand Jury system.....	197
Judicial Department...616, 617, 619,	620
Legislative Department...142, 148,	152,
275, 280, 306, 310, 314
Miscellaneous Provisions.....	614
Oath prescribed for voters..245, 256,	270,
273
Official designation of State Control- ler	614
Pacific Railroad..178, 186, 190, 191,	192,
203, 204, 205, 298, 448, 498
Pardoning power	159
Personal explanations.....	202, 441
Poll tax.....	120
Postponement of Article on Judicial Department.....	617, 619, 620
Qualification of voters upon the Con- stitution	138
Right of Suffrage..80, 81, 120, 138, 245,	256, 270, 273
Salaries.....	521, 596, 607, 608
Salary of Secretary of State.....	596
Secret sessions.....	142
Special legislation.....	148, 152, 280
Taxation...223, 347, 349, 406, 441, 444,	500, 515
Time of first session of the Legisla- ture	306, 310
Veto power	314
HUDSON, GEORGE A.
Appointed on Committee on State Seal	75
Appointed on Special Committee to Wait on Judge S. C. Wright and re- quest him to administer oath of office to members.....	4
Credentials of.....	4
Granted leave of absence, 193, 583, 638,	697
I
IDIOTS, not entitled to right of suffrage... 80
IMPEACHMENT and Removal from Office, Article on—
Referred to Judiciary Committee....	162
Reported from Judiciary Committee..	537, 538

	Page.
Considered in Committee of the Whole	541-554
Considered in Convention...554-565,	640
Amended on report of Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement....	745
Final revision of	806, 807
Remarks of
Mr. Banks, 542, 543, 549, 550, 551, 553-557,	564, 806, 807
Brosnan..541-544, 552, 553, 554, 557,	640; 743, 744, 807
Chapin	547, 807
Collins	546, 547, 559, 560, 561
Crosman	541
DeLong.....	557-564, 744, 806, 807
Dunne...541, 547-550, 552, 553, 554,	556, 640
Frizell	547, 556
Johnson..541, 544, 545, 546, 549-554,	557, 560-564
Kennedy	554
Kincaid	744
Lockwood	555, 556
McClinton	564
Nourse...541, 542, 543, 548, 549, 552,	553, 554
Parker	806, 807
Warwick.....	546, 556, 557
Wetherill	553
IMPRISONMENT for debt prohibited.....	66
IMPRISONMENT for militia fine prohibited..	66
INCREASE of Judiciary Committee.....	174
Remarks of
Mr. Brosnan.....	174
Dunne.....	174
Hawley	174
Johnson	174
Tozer.....	174
INDEBTEDNESS of cities and towns restricted, 16- [See Municipal Indebtedness.]
INDEBTEDNESS of Territory. [See Territo- rial Debts.]
INDEPENDENCE Day, adjournment in honor of.....	3
Remarks of
Mr. Ball	3
Chapin	3
Frizell.....	3
Gibson	3

JOHNSON.

	Page.
Mr. Nourse	3
Sturtevant	3
Tozer	3
INDEXING Debates and Proceedings. [See Debates and Proceedings.]
INDIANS, exemption of from poll tax. [See Poll Tax.]
INDICTMENT or presentment by Grand Jury required in criminal cases. [See Grand Jury system.]
INDIGENT sick, exemption of from poll tax. [See Poll Tax.]
INELIGIBILITY of Judges to other than ju- dicial offices.	676
INSANE persons, not entitled to right of suf- frage	80
INSTRUCTIONS to Judiciary Committee con- cerning Judiciary system	231-243
[See Judicial Department.]
INTEREST on money.....	152
- Remarks of
Mr. Johnson.....	152
J
JEFFERSON'S Manual, adoption of as rules of the Convention.....	38, 39
Remarks of
Mr. Banks.....	38
Chapin	38, 39
Nourse	39
JEFFERSON'S Manual, resolutions explana- tory of.....	75
JOHNSON, J. NEELY.
Appointed on Committee on Address to the People	699
Appointed on Committee on Creden- tials.....	3
Appointed on Committee on Educa- tion ..	447
Appointed on Committee on Judiciary	174
Appointed on Committee on Schedule	447
Appointed to contract for and super- vise publication of debates and pro- ceedings	704
[See last section of Schedule.]
Called Convention to order on first day of session.....	1
Credentials of.....	3
Elected President of the Convention.	5

	Page.
Granted leave of absence....	450, 583
Moved that C. M. Brosnan be President pro tem.	1
Moved that C. W. Tozer be Secretary pro tem.	1
Moved that Orion Clemens, Secretary of the Territory, call roll of dele- gates elected to Convention.....	1
Moved that per diem of Chaplains be increased	804
Offered resolutions instructing Judici- ary Committee in regard to judicial system.....	231, 243
Remarks upon
Additional compensation of officers and attaches of the Convention, 804,	805
Address on taking chair as President,	5
Address on the final adjournment of the Convention..	828, 829
Address to the People	699
Adjournment sine die , resolution for, 12,	13
Arrangement of Articles.....	79, 80
Assumption of municipal debts.....	22
Apportionment of representation....	634, 635, 637
Appropriation of public lands for school purposes.....	580
Attaching Roop County to Washoe County for certain purposes....	773, 774
Banking system.....	164, 165, 454
Basis of Constitution.....	17, 22
Board of Examiners.....	161
Boundary	540
Boundary memorial to Congress..	793, 794,
	795
Bribery	141
Business before Committees.....	616
Business in Committee of the Whole..	541
Calling Convention to order first day of session.....	1
Calling roll of delegates to the Con- vention	1
Closing address	828, 829
Commencement of terms of Judges..	708
Compensation for private property taken for public use.....	60, 62
Compensation of Chaplains....	8, 804, 805
Compensation of county officers.....	155
Compensation of officers of the Legis- lature	305

JOHNSON.

	Page.	Page.
JOHNSON, J NEELY.
Remarks upon
Compensation of Official Reporter of the Convention.....	704, 751
Compensation of members of the Legislature..	155, 156, 157, 281, 314, 602-607
Compensation of State officers.....	251
Compulsory attendance on the public schools.....	572
Constitution of the United States, resolution adopting.....	51
Contingent expenses of the Legislature.....	155, 156, 157, 607
Continuance of county officers.....	696, 707
Continuance of rights, actions, etc....	752
Corporations..	164-167, 187, 209, 214, 217, 218, 387, 393, 401, 404, 449, 462, 470, 474, 495, 497, 807
County Auditors.....	278, 279
County Courts.....	617, 639, 640
Court fees.....	641, 733-738, 803, 814
Courts in Storey County, 617, 648, 653-658, 714, 715
Day of election.....	139, 140, 275, 284
Day of election on the Constitution	766-769, 772, 773, 786, 826, 827
Debates and Proceedings.....	746
Declaration of Rights..	45, 60, 62, 64, 66, 196-199, 465, 774, 775, 781-785
Disfranchisement of rebels.....	87, 88, 89
District Courts and Judges..	651-654, 656, 657, 658, 713-721
Dueling.....	610, 667, 668, 670-673
Duties of Secretary of State.....	160
Education. Article on..	447, 566, 567, 568, 572, 574, 578, 580, 581, 582, 585, 586, 660, 662, 745, 746
Election Ordinance..	539, 622, 623, 625, 626, 628, 629, 630, 766-773, 825, 826
Election returns.....	797
Engrossment.....	74, 78, 79
Enrollment..	585, 724, 725, 743, 744, 773, 793, 795
Equity jurisdiction.....	728, 729
Evening sessions.....	126, 127
Executive Department..	158-161, 250, 251, 797, 798
Fees of City Recorders.....	775
Final passage of bills.....	144
Final revision of the Constitution....	779
Finance and State debt..	219, 220, 221, 448, 808
Fiscal year, commencement of....	219, 220
Funds of the treasury.....	608
Grand Jury system.....	196-199, 774
Granting leave of absence..	638, 639, 697, 698, 742
Homestead exemption..	153, 282, 283, 287, 288, 289, 310, 311, 314, 315
Impeachment and Removal from office, article on..	541, 544, 546, 549-554, 557, 560-564
Increase or diminution of Salaries..	614, 615
Increasing the Judiciary Committee...	174
Instructions to the Judiciary Committee.....	231-235, 238, 239, 240, 243
Interest on money.....	152
Judicial Department..	231-235, 238, 239, 240, 243, 538, 617, 618, 620, 621, 641-644, 648, 649, 651-658, 674-677, 681, 682, 685, 686, 687, 690, 691, 692, 699-703, 711-723, 728-740, 799-803
Justices' Courts..	682, 685, 687, 690, 691, 692, 699-702, 723, 728, 729
Lander County officers..	696, 709, 747, 749, 750, 751
Legislative Department, 139-144, 149-157, 275-284, 288, 289, 305-315, 466, 787, 788, 789, 796
Limitation of debate..	36, 37, 38, 466, 584
Limitation of State indebtedness....	221
Limitation of taxation and appropriations..	752, 754-759, 763, 792, 793, 808, 816-819, 824
Miscellaneous Provisions...	608-611, 613, 614, 663, 667, 671, 672, 673, 741, 809, 810
Mode of procedure of the Convention,	40, 41
Municipal Courts.....	732
Municipal loans.....	218
Oath of office.....	610, 667, 668, 670-673
Oath of office of members of the Convention.....	4
Oath prescribed for voters..	244, 254, 260, 261, 268, 270, 478-481, 486, 488, 489, 492
Offices of profit.....	141, 789
Official bonds of State officers..	707, 708, 710, 748
Official designation of State Controller,	613, 614
Ordinance concerning slavery, religious toleration, and the public lands,	50, 780
Organization of the Convention.....	8

JOHNSON.

	Page.	Page.
JOHNSON, J. NEELY.
Remarks upon
Pacific Railroad	166, 167, 187, 209, 214, 217, 295, 296, 298, 299, 387, 393, 401, 404, 448, 449, 462, 470, 474, 495, 497, 807
Paramount allegiance	45, 54, 58, 781
Pardoning power	159
Perpetuities	159
Personal explanation	318
Phraseology and arrangement	230, 231
Poll tax	112-116, 145, 146, 786
Postponement of Article on Judicial Department	617, 618, 620, 621, 674
Preamble and name of State	34
Privileges and immunities	64
Prohibition of slavery	50, 66, 783
Provisions for School Fund	580
Proxies for absent members of the Con- vention	433-436
Publication of the Constitution	775, 776, 777
Publication of debates and proceed- ings of the Convention	705
Publication of laws and Judicial de- cisions	613
Qualifications of jurors	153
Qualifications of State officers	160, 596, 597
Qualifications of voters upon the Con- stitution	122, 123, 124, 129-133, 136, 137, 138, 787
Reference of articles	466
Registry law	111
Residence of State officers	161
Residence of voters	108
Resolution adopting Constitution of the United States	51
Right of defending in person	782
Right of Suffrage	87, 88, 89, 106, 108-116, 122, 123, 124, 129-133, 136, 137, 138, 145, 146, 244, 252, 254, 260, 261, 268, 270, 271, 467, 478-481, 486, 488, 489, 492, 786, 787
Rules of the Convention	8
Salaries	502, 503, 504, 506, 508-513, 596, 597, 599, 600-608, 641, 752
Salaries of Judges	600, 601, 677, 729-732, 803, 813, 814
Salary of Secretary of State	596, 597, 599
Salary of State Controller	599
Schedule	634, 635, 637, 693-696, 704-710, 747-752, 754-759, 763, 773, 774, 812, 813, 814, 816-819, 824
Seat of Government	608, 609
Second reading of preamble	40
Secret sessions of Legislature	142, 143
Seetarian instruction in the public schools	660
Seizures and searches	783, 784, 785
Senatorial Districts	788
Separate property of the wife	154, 279, 312
Sessions of the Legislature	139, 695, 787, 788
Soldiers' vote	109, 110, 252, 271
Sole traders	283, 284
Special legislation	64, 65, 149, 150, 151, 280, 466
Special school tax	662
State Seal	706
State University	580, 581, 582, 585, 586, 662, 745
Stationery for the use of the Conven- tion	7
Substitution of "yeas and nays" for "ayes and noes"	796
Superintendent of Public Instruction, 566, 567, 568
Supreme Court	600, 601, 617, 641-644, 649, 652, 711, 712, 713, 740, 800
Surveyor General	250
Taking chair as President	5
Taxation	223, 229, 318, 319, 321-324, 329, 332, 340, 342, 350, 355, 362, 363, 366, 372, 376, 377, 380, 381, 382, 384, 385, 386, 406, 407, 408, 412-420, 422, 423, 424, 427-431, 436, 437, 441-446, 449, 515, 517, 518, 520
Term of office of State officers	610, 611, 707
Terms of Courts	674, 675, 704-707, 721, 722, 723
Terms of office of State Senators	140, 693, 694, 695
Territorial indebtedness	750
Time of first session of the Legislature, 305-310
Time of maintaining district schools, 577, 578
Trial by jury	54, 58
Vacancies in office	158, 702, 703, 705
Veto power	157, 313, 314

JUDICIAL POWER.

	Page.		Page.
JONES, WILLIAM HENRY.		Crosman.....	617, 650, 658, 711
Credentials of.....	3	Crawford.....	731
[Did not attend the Convention.]		DeLong. 236-239, 240, 242, 243, 538,
JOURNAL of Convention, resolution pro-		643, 645, 648-653, 655, 656, 658, 674, viding for engrossment of.....	826	676-681, 683, 685, 687-692, 712, 725-	740
JOURNAL of Convention, resolution relative		Dunne... 231, 232, 238, 239, 618, 619, to disposition of official minutes of.	746	648, 649, 651, 653, 658, 677, 714,
JOURNALS of Legislature to be kept and		715, 732
published.....	142	Fitch.....	232, 241
JUDGES, compensation of. [See salaries of		Frizell... 241, 242, 243, 619, 645, 650,
Judges.]		675, 684-687, 689, 690, 691, 721, 729,	732, 736, 740
JUDGES ineligible to other than Judicial		Gibson.....	648
offices.....	676	Hawley... 232, 233, 619, 620, 692, 703,
JUDGES, vacancies in office of. [See va-		727, 728, 737, 738, 799-803
cancies.]		Hovey.....	616, 617, 619, 620
JUDICIAL decisions, publication of. [See		Johnson... 231-235, 238, 239, 240, 243,
Publication.]		538, 617, 618, 620, 621, 641-644, 648,
JUDICIAL Department. Article on—		649, 651-658, 674-677, 681, 682, 685,
Committee appointed upon....	75, 84, 174	686, 687, 690, 691, 692, 699-703,
Referred to Judiciary Committee....	162	711-723, 728-738, 740, 799-803
Resolution instructing Judiciary Com-		Kennedy... 618, 619, 620, 644, 645, 646, mittee concerning.....	231-243	674, 676, 677, 690, 691, 702, 703, 713,	729, 736
Resolution requiring Committee upon		Kinkead.....	732, 799-803
to report.....	534	Lockwood.....	644, 677
Reported from Judiciary Committee,		Mason.....	617, 621, 647, 737, 740
536, 537, 538		McClinton... 703, 712, 713, 722, 723,
Considered in Committee of the Whole,		726, 729, 731, 732, 733, 736, 739, 802
616-619, 641-659, 674-692, 699-703		Murdoch.....	619, 680, 683, 684
Considered in Convention.....	619, 622,	Nourse... 239, 241, 644, 647, 648, 650,
711-740		651, 653, 654, 655, 657, 658, 659,	674-679, 801, 802
Amended on report of Committee on		Parker.....	646, 648, 713, 722
Phraseology and Arrangement, 752, 753		Proctor... 618, 619, 649, 702, 703, 715,
Final revision of.....	799-803	716, 799, 802
Remarks of		Sturtevant.....	243, 648
Mr. Banks. 74, 75, 233, 234, 243, 617, 620		Tagliabue.....	803
622, 641, 642, 647, 649, 651, 653, 654,		Warwick.....	241, 644, 655, 675
655, 658, 674-677, 680, 681, 688, 689,		Wetherill... 620, 621, 644, 650, 678,
691, 701, 702, 703, 713-716, 718, 721,		687-690, 726, 735, 737
723-728, 732, 733, 735, 736, 739, 740,		JUDICIAL Districts.....	650
799, 801, 802, 803		[See District Courts and Judges.]
Brosnan... 74, 75, 233, 240, 241, 538,		JUDICIAL Officers, continuance of from Ter-
611, 643, 648, 649, 651, 653-657, 674-		ritorial to State organization.....	678
677, 679, 680, 685, 686, 690, 691, 700-		JUDICIAL Officers, impeachment and re-
703, 712-721, 724, 726, 728, 729, 733,		moval of. [See Impeachment and
739, 740, 799, 801, 802, 803		Removal.]
Chapin... 242, 243, 617, 619, 620, 644,		JUDICIAL Officers, leave of absence of... 678, 739
647, 648, 651, 659, 691, 715, 716, 721,		JUDICIAL power, distribution of.....	616, 648
722, 732, 733, 735, 736, 739, 740, 799
Collins... 235, 236, 240, 619, 620, 641,
646, 647, 648, 651, 679, 681, 682, 683,
685, 687, 690, 691, 700, 702, 714, 737,
738, 803

KENNEDY.

	Page.
JUDICIARY system, resolution to memorialize Congress concerning.....	172-174
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	172
Brosnan	173
Chapin.....	173
DeLong.....	173
Dunne.....	172, 173
Earl.....	173
Fitch.....	172, 173, 174
Hawley ..	173
Tozer.....	173
JURIES, charges to.....	676
JURIES, three-fourths verdict of, allowed in civil cases.....	53, 199, 200
[See Verdict.]
JURISDICTION of Courts. [See Judicial Department.]
JURORS, qualifications of. [See Qualifications of Jurors.]
JURY, power of to determine law and fact,	63
Remarks of
Mr. Nourse.....	63
JURY, trial by.....	53-59, 199, 200
Remarks of
Mr. Banks.....	53, 57
Brosnan	56
Chapin	56
Collins	59
DeLong.....	53, 54, 56, 58
Dunne.....	199, 200
Earl.....	55, 58
Fitch.....	53, 54, 56, 57
Hawley	53, 54, 57
Johnson	54, 58
Nourse	56, 58
Warwick.....	55, 57
JUSTICES' Courts.....	675, 676, 678-692, 679-702, 706, 707, 723-729, 733, 777
Remarks of
Mr. Banks... 675, 680, 681, 688, 689, 691
701, 702, 707, 723-728
Brosnan .. 679, 680, 685, 686, 690, 691,
700, 701, 702, 706, 724, 726, 728, 729,
733, 774
Chapin	682, 691
Collins .. 679, 681, 682, 683, 685, 687,
690, 691, 700, 702, 706, 707

	Page.
Mr. DeLong.. 675, 676, 678-681, 683, 685,
687-692, 725-729
Frizell.....	684-687, 689, 690, 691
Hawley.....	692, 727, 728
Johnson .. 682, 685, 686, 687, 690, 691,
692, 699-702, 723, 728, 729
Kennedy.....	676, 690, 691
McClinton	726, 733
Murdock	680, 683, 684
Nourse.....	675, 678, 679, 774
Warwick.....	675
Wetherill.....	687-690, 726
JUSTICES of the Supreme Court. [See Supreme Court.]

K

KENNEDY, FRANCIS H.

Appointed on Committee on Address to the People.....	699
Appointed on Committee on Credentials.....	3
Appointed on Committee on Judiciary	75
Appointed on Committee on Rules and Order of Business.....	6
Appointed on Special Committee to amend Article on Right of Suffrage	467
Appointed on Special Committee to draft a voters' oath.....	268
Credentials of.....	4
Granted leave of absence.....	128, 800
Made report from Special Committee amending Article on Right of Suffrage (under instructions), by incorporating a voters' oath.....	268
Nominated J. Neely Johnson for President of the Convention.....	5
Offered resolution limiting debate....	584
Offered resolution for evening sessions	126
Remarks upon
Apportionment of representation, 632,	633, 635
Clerks of County Commissioners. ...	791
Compensation of Official Reporter of the Convention.....	751
Compensation of members of the Legislature	155, 156, 157, 603
Compensation of State officers.....	251
Contingent expenses of the Legislature	156, 157
Continuance of county officers.....	709

KINKEAD.

Page.	Page.
KENNEDY, F. H.
Remarks upon
Corporations, Article on	165, 393, 394, 395, 397, 404, 497
Courts in Storey County	644, 645, 646
Day of election	275, 284
Declaration of Rights	783, 784
Disfranchisement of rebels	88, 91, 93, 95, 100, 102
District Courts and Judges	713
Duelling	104-107
Election Ordinance	771, 773
Enrollment	743
Equity jurisdiction	676
Evening sessions	75, 126, 127
Executive Department	250, 251
Expenses of former Convention	300, 301
Final revision of the Constitution	779
Homestead exemption	153, 282, 283, 301, 302, 303
Impeachment and Removal from office	554
Judicial Department	618, 819, 620, 644, 645, 646, 674, 676, 677, 690, 691, 702, 703, 713, 729, 736
Justices of the Peace	676, 690, 691
Legislative Department, 141, 153, 155, 156, 157, 283, 284, 301, 302, 303, 306, 789, 791
Limitation of debate	584
Limitation of taxation and appropriations	752, 757, 765, 816, 818
Municipal indebtedness	165
Oath of office	104-107
Oath prescribed for voters	245, 246, 253, 268, 490
Offices of profit	141, 789
Organization of the Convention	5
Pacific Railroad, 393, 394, 395, 397, 404, 497
Personal explanation	300, 301
Poll tax	117, 118, 119, 146, 272
Postponement of Article on Judicial Department	618, 619, 620, 674
Prohibition of Slavery	783
Publication of the Constitution	776
Right of Suffrage	88, 91, 93, 95, 100, 102, 104-107, 117, 119, 146, 245, 246, 251, 253, 272, 490
Salaries	598, 601, 603, 608, 752
Salaries of Judges	677, 729, 813
Salary of Secretary of State	598
Salary of Supreme Court Judges, 600, 601 Schedule	632, 633, 635, 638, 707, 709, 751, 752, 757, 765, 813, 815, 816, 818
Seizures and searches	784
Soldiers' vote	251
Surveyor General	250
Taxation	406, 407, 408, 420, 423, 428, 429, 436, 441, 442, 444
Term of State officers	707
Time of first session of the Legislature	306
Transfer of criminal cases	632
Vacancies in office	702
KINKEAD, JOHN H.
Appointed on Committee on Final Enrollment of the Constitution	725
Appointed on Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement	84
Appointed on Committee on Rules and Order of Business	6
Appointed on Committee on Schedule	447
Appointed on Special Committee to conduct the President elect to the chair	5
Credentials of	3
Granted leave of absence	501
Made reports from Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement	230, 465, 743, 752
Moved to notify resident clergymen of invitation to officiate alternately as Chaplains	9
Nominated William E. Skeene as porter of the Convention	9
Offered resolution allowing Secretary additional per diem for writing up journals of the Convention	827
Offered resolution referring Article on Taxation to a special committee	336
Offered resolution thanking officers and attachés of the Convention	828
Remarks upon
Additional compensation of the officers and attachés of the Convention, 806, 827
Adjournment sine die	13
Boundary memorial	794
Clerks of County Commissioners	791, 795
Continuance of County officers	708
Corporations, Article on	468, 469, 470, 472, 496
Court fees	803

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

	Page.
KINKEAD, JOHN H.
Remarks upon
Day of election on the Constitution ..	769
Declaration of Rights.....	783, 784
Education, Article on.....	745
Election Ordinance.....	769
Election returns.....	797
Enrollment.....	743, 799
Executive Department.....	797
Finance and State debt.....	219, 448, 807
Fiscal year, commencement of.....	219
Homestead exemption.....	791
Impeachment and Removal from office	744
Judicial Department.....	732, 799-803
Legislative Department.....	788-791, 795, 796, 797
Limitation of taxation and appropri- ations.....	756, 765, 766, 819
Miscellaneous Provisions.....	744, 746, 810
Municipal Courts.....	799
Oath prescribed for voters.....	491
Official bonds of State officers.....	708, 748
Organization of the Convention.....	6
Pacific Railroad.....	295, 297, 448, 468, 469, 470, 472, 496
Perpetuities.....	746
Resolution of thanks to officers and attaches of the Convention.....	828
Right of Suffrage, Article on.....	786, 791
Rules and Order of Business.....	6
Salaries of Judges.....	803
Schedule, 708, 750, 765, 766, 811, 812,	819
School funds.....	745
Seizures and searches.....	783, 784
Sessions of the Legislature.....	788
Substitution of "yeas and nays" for "ayes and noes".....	789, 796
Supreme Court.....	740, 800
Taxation.....	336, 337, 349, 559, 369, 370
Territorial indebtedness.....	750
Veto power.....	796, 797

L

LANDER County, officers of.....	696, 705, 709, 747-751
--	-------------------------------

Remarks of

Mr. Chapin.....	747, 750, 751
Crosman.....	750
DeLong.....	696, 747, 750
Dunne.....	747, 749, 750
Gibson.....	749

	Page.
Mr. Johnson.....	696, 709, 747, 749, 750, 751
Proctor.....	696, 747
Tagliabue.....	749
Warwick.....	705, 709, 747-751
LANDLORD and tenant, jurisdiction involv- ing relations of. [See Justices of the Peace.
LANDS, public, ordinance concerning, etc., 50 [See Ordinance.]
LAWS, publication of. [See Publication.]
LAWS, to be enacted only by bill.....	152
LAWS, to be general and uniform.....	152
LEAVE of absence granted to—
Mr. Ball.....	447
Banks.....	193
Belden.....	128, 193, 447
Brady.....	639, 742
Chapin.....	447
DeLong.....	230, 583
Dunne.....	710
Earl.....	539, 583, 638
Fitch.....	447
Folsom.....	583
Frizell.....	268, 792, 804
Haines.....	268
Hovey.....	128
Hudson.....	193, 583, 638, 697
Johnson.....	450, 583
Kennedy.....	128, 800
Kinkead.....	501
McClinton.....	447, 583, 639
Murdock.....	128
Nourse.....	447
Proctor.....	521
Tozer.....	447, 539
Warwick.....	172, 799
LEAVE of absence granted to Mr. DeLong reconsidered.....	639
LEAVE of absence, granting, 128, 447, 539, 583, 638, 639, 697, 698, 742, 710, 799

Remarks of

Mr. Banks.....	639, 698
Brady.....	742
Brosnan.....	128, 583, 638, 742
Chapin.....	539, 638, 697, 799
DeLong.....	539, 638, 639, 697
Dunne.....	638, 697, 710, 742
Frizell.....	128
Hawley.....	742
Johnson.....	638, 639, 697, 698, 742

LIMITATION.

	Page.		Page.
Mr. Mason.....	583, 683, 742	Mr. Kennedy..	141, 153, 155, 156, 157, 283, 284, 301, 302, 303, 306, 789, 791
McClinton.....	447, 742	Kinhead.....	788-791, 795, 796, 799,
Murdock.....	128	Lockwood.....	141, 281, 303, 796
Nourse.....	539	McClinton....	152, 313, 314, 315, 789, 790, 791
Sturtevant.....	639	Murdock.....	796
Tozer.....	128	Nourse.....	304, 308, 310, 311, 312, 315
Warwick.....	128, 583, 538, 799	Proctor..	142, 143, 144, 153, 307, 309, 312, 313, 314, 789, 797
Wetherill.....	742	Sturtevant....	140, 143, 144, 153, 154, 274, 275, 277, 279, 307, 308, 314
LEAVE of absence of Judicial officers,	678, 739	Tagliabue.....	311
LEGAL proceedings, transfer of.....	631	Tozer.....	279, 283, 284, 288, 289
LEGISLATIVE Department, Article on—		Warwick..	140, 142, 144, 155, 156, 275, 277, 281, 282, 283
Referred to Committee of the Whole.	128	Wetherill.....	154
Considered in Committee of the Whole.		LEGISLATIVE sessions. [See Sessions.]
138-145, 146-157, 274, 275		LEGISLATURE, adjournment of by Governor,	158
Considered in Convention...247, 275-290, 301-316		LEGISLATURE, compensation of members of. [See Compensation.]
Final passage of.....	316	LEGISLATURE, first session of. [See First Session.]
Amended on report of Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement....	466	LEGISLATURE, members of privileged from arrest.....	142
Final revision of.....	787-791, 795-797	LEGISLATURE, number of members limited,	610
Remarks of		LEGISLATURE, special sessions of. [See Special Sessions.]
Mr. Banks...139, 142-145, 147, 148, 151, 153, 156, 275, 276, 277, 279, 281, 282, 284, 286, 305, 310, 313, 788, 791, 795, 796, 797		LEGISLATURE, terms of members of.....	140
Brosnan..139, 140, 141, 149, 154, 278, 284, 308, 311, 314, 466, 788-791, 796, 797		LEWIS, Master —. admitted to seat as ama- teur photographic reporter.....	74
Chapin...144, 154, 157, 277, 288, 307		LIBEL. [See Slander and Libel.]
Collins...147-150, 286, 287, 288, 306, 310, 311, 788, 791, 795, 796		LIBEL, the truth may be given in evidence in cases of.....	63
Crosman.....140, 156, 157, 275, 276, 281, 283		LIEN by both husband and wife. [See Homestead.]
DeLong..247, 275, 276, 277, 283, 285, 286, 287, 289, 290, 302-305, 789, 790, 794, 795, 796, 797		LIEUTENANT Governor, compensation of. [See Compensation of members of the Legislature.]
Dunne..139, 144, 247, 274, 275, 278, 279, 280, 281, 305, 308-310, 314		LIEUTENANT Governor, election, eligibil- ity, term of office and duties of....	160
Earl.....155, 302, 303, 304, 310, 311		Remarks of
Fitch...141, 142, 144, 145, 117, 149, 152-157, 280, 281, 283, 287, 305- 309, 311, 312		Mr. Banks.....	160
Frizell...147, 152, 154, 280, 303, 304, 791		Nourse.....	160
Gibson.....	307	LIMITATION of indebtedness. [See State In- debtedness.]
Hawley.....117, 148, 307, 313, 314		LIMITATION of number of members of the Legislature.....	610
Hovey...112, 148, 152, 275, 280, 306, 310, 314		LIMITATION of speeches. [See debate.]
Johnson..139-144, 149-157, 275-284, 288, 289, 305-315, 466, 787, 788, 789, 769		LIMITATION of taxation and appropriations. [See taxation and appropriations.]

MASON.

	Page.
LOCAL officers, support of	710
Remarks of
Mr. Brosnan	710
LOCAL or special laws, prohibition of. [See special legislation.]
LOCKWOOD, A. J.
Appointed on Committee on Enrollment	75
Appointed on Committee on Schedule	447
Credentials of	3
Excused from service on Committee on Schedule	465
Remarks upon
Amendments of the Constitution, 527, 529
Banking system	164
Board of Examiners	161
Boundary Memorial	794
Bribery	141
Business before Committees	534
Compensation of members of the Legislature	156, 281, 601, 603, 604
Compulsory attendance on the public schools	572, 573
Contingent expenses of the Legislature	156
Corporations, Article on	164, 167, 171, 191, 192, 475, 476, 477, 497
Court Fees	677
Courts in Storey County	644
Declaration of Rights	781, 783, 784
Disfranchisement of rebels	94, 95
Education, Article on	572, 573, 587
Election Ordinance	534
Establishment of schools by law	587
Evening sessions	76
Executive Department	160, 161
Homestead, exemption of	303
Impeachment and Removal from office,	555, 556
Judicial Department	644, 677
Legislative Department	141, 281, 303, 796
Limitation of taxation and appropriations	762, 763, 792
Miscellaneous Provisions	612
Oath prescribed for voters	269, 270, 490
Offices of county officers	612
Pacific Railroad	167, 171, 191, 192, 475, 476, 477, 497
Paramount allegiance	781
Poll tax	119, 146, 272

	Page.
Residence of voters	108
Right of Suffrage, Article on	94, 95, 108, 119, 146, 269, 270, 272, 490
Rules and order of business	6
Salaries	508, 510, 511, 601, 603, 604
Schedule	762, 763
Seizures and searches	783, 784
State University	587
Substitution of "yeas and nays" for "ayes and noes"	796
Taxation	355-359, 431, 443, 445, 450, 520
Terms of State officers	160
LOTTERIES prohibited	152
LOYALTY, oath of. [See oath.]
LUCRATIVE offices. [See offices of profit.]

M

MARSH, Andrew J., elected Official Reporter of the Convention	8
[See Reporter.]

MASON, B. S.

Appeared and sworn as a delegate	37
Appointed on Committee on Enrollment	75
Appointed on Special Committee to amend Article on Right of Suffrage	467
Credentials of	4
Offered resolution to increase the compensation of officers and attaches of the Convention	804

Remarks upon

Additional compensation of officers and attaches of the Convention, 804, 805
Amendments of the Constitution, 531, 532
Apportionment of representation	635, 636, 637
Corporations, Article on, 405, 458, 459, 460
Court fees	737
Courts in Storey County	647
Disfranchisements of rebels	104
Dueling	666
Election Ordinance	623, 626, 629
Granting leave of absence	583, 638, 742
Judicial Department	617, 621, 647, 737, 740
Limitation of taxation and appropriations	761, 762
Miscellaneous Provisions, Article on	666
Oath of office	666
Oath prescribed for voters	255, 256, 259

MILITIA.

	Page.	Page.
MASON, B. S.
Remarks upon
Pacific Railroad.....	405, 458, 459, 460
Postponement of Article on Judicial Department.....	617, 621
Right of Suffrage, Article on.....	104, 255, 256, 259
Salaries of Judges.....	813
Schedule.....	635, 636, 637, 761, 762, 813
Supreme Court.....	740
Taxation.....	327, 328, 333, 356, 377
McCLINTON, J. G.
Appeared and sworn as a delegate...	110
Appointed on Committee on Address to the People.....	699
Appointed on Committee on Education.....	448
Appointed on Committee on State Seal.....	230
Appointed on Special Committee to amend Article on Schedule relative to taxation and appropriations....	765
Credentials of.....	4
Granted leave of absence....	447, 583, 639
Remarks upon
Absence of Mr. Wellington.....	172
Amendment of the Constitution, 530, 531, 532
Banking system.....	454, 455
Business before Committees.....	534
Clerks of County Commissioners....	791
Commencement of terms of Judges... 708
Compensation of Jurors.....	152
Compensation of members of the Legislature.....	314
Compulsory attendance on the public schools.....	571, 572
Corporations.....	398, 405, 454, 455, 498
Court fees.....	736, 739
Day of election on the Constitution... 767
Declaration of Rights, Article on....	198, 782-785
Education, Article on... 568, 569, 571, 572, 577, 745, 746, 808
Election Ordinance.....	767, 770, 771
Election returns.....	158
Executive Department.....	158, 798
Grand Jury system.....	198
Granting leave of absence.....	447, 742
Homestead, exemption of.....	314, 315
Impeachment and Removal from Office, 564
Judicial Department... 703, 712, 713, 722, 723, 726, 729, 731, 732, 733, 736, 739, 802
Justices' Courts.....	726, 733
Legislative Department....	152, 313, 314, 315, 789, 790, 791
Limitation of taxation and appropriations.....	757, 823, 824
Miscellaneous Provisions, Article on. 810
Municipal Courts.....	732
Oath prescribed for voters... 254, 259, 262, 269, 484, 489, 494
Offices of profit.....	789
Official bonds of State officers, 707, 708, 710
Pacific Railroad.....	398, 405, 498
Publication of the Constitution... 775, 776, 777
Right of defending in person.....	782
Right of Suffrage, Article on... 254, 259, 262, 269, 271, 272, 484, 489, 494
Salaries.....	522
Salaries of Judges.....	729, 731, 732
Schedule... 693, 704, 707, 708, 710, 746, 757, 823, 824
Sectarian instruction in the public schools.....	568, 569, 577
Seizures and searches.....	783, 784, 785
Slander and libel.....	782, 783
Soldiers' vote.....	271, 272
State University.....	745, 746, 808
Supreme Court.....	712, 713
Taxation.....	324, 354, 445, 516
Terms of Courts.....	704, 722, 723
Terms of State officers.....	707
Terms of State Senators.....	693
Time of maintaining district schools. 577
Vacancies in office.....	703
Veto power.....	313
MECHANIC ARTS. [See State University.]
MECHANICS' LIENS. jurisdiction of. [See Justices' Courts.]
MEMORIAL to Congress concerning boundary.....	793-795
[See Boundary Memorial.]
MESSAGE, Governor to communicate to Legislature by.....	158
MILITARY forces, Governor to be Commander-in-Chief of.....	158
MILITARY tactics. [See State University.]
MILITARY to be subordinate to civil power 65
MILITIA, Article on—
Referred to Committee of the Whole. 466

MURDOCK.

Page.	Remarks of	Page.
MILITIA, Article on—
Considered in Committee of the Whole, 524	Mr. Banks	40, 41
Considered in Convention. 539	DeLong	41
Amended on report of Committee on	Johnson	40, 41
Phraseology and Arrangement. 583	MORSE, E. A.
Final revision of. 809	Credentials of	3
MILITIA fine, imprisonment for prohibited. 66	[Did not attend the Convention.]
MINES and Mining Property, taxation of.	MUNICIPAL and other Corporations, Article
[See Taxation.]	on. [See Corporations.]
MINING School Department. [See State	MUNICIPAL Courts. 648, 676, 732, 733, 799
University.]
MINUTES of the Convention. [See Journal.]	Remarks of
MISCELLANEOUS Provisions, Article on—	Mr. Banks	732, 733, 799
Referred to Committee on Schedule. . 466	DeLong	732, 733
Reported from Committee on Schedule 538	Johnson	732
Considered in Committee of the Whole,	Kinkead	799
608-615	McClinton	732
Considered in Convention. 615, 616,	Proctor	799
662-673, 740, 741	MUNICIPAL indebtedness	165, 166, 221
Amended on report of Committee on
Phraseology and Arrangement. . 743-746	Remarks of
Final revision of. 809, 810	Mr. Chapin	165, 166
Remarks of	Earl	165
Mr. Banks . . . 609, 611, 612, 614, 615, 616,	Fitch	165, 166
663, 665, 667, 670, 671, 672, 810	Johnson	221
Brosnan . . 609, 610, 613, 614, 664, 667,	Kennedy	165
669, 670, 746, 810	Warwick	165
Chapin . . . 610, 611, 612, 616, 744, 810	MUNICIPAL loans	218
Collins . . . 610, 611, 663, 664, 665, 668,
670, 672, 810	Remarks of
DeLong. . . 664, 665, 666, 668, 669, 671,	Mr. Banks	218
672, 673, 741, 744, 810	Johnson	218
Dunne, 611, 612, 614, 615, 663, 668-671,	MURDOCK, NELSON E.
740, 741, 746	Appointed on Committee on Phrase-
Frizell 668, 671	ology and Arrangement.	84
Hawley 666, 667, 669, 673	Appointed on Committee on Schedule 447
Hovey 614	Appointed on Special Committee on
Johnson. . . 608-611, 613, 614, 663, 667,	number and compensation of officers
671, 672, 673, 741, 809, 810	of the Convention.	7
Kinkead 744, 746, 810	Credentials of	3
Lockwood 612	Granted leave of absence.	128
Mason 666	Nominated Thos. Carson as Sergeant-
McClinton 810	at-Arms of the Convention.	8
Nourse, 610-615, 665, 666, 667, 670, 672
Parker 665, 669, 670, 671, 809	Remarks upon
Proctor 610, 612, 669, 809	Apportionment of representation.	812
Sturtevant 610, 611	Compensation of members of the Leg-
Tagliabue 612	islature	606, 607
Warwick 608, 609, 612-615, 667	Election Ordinance.	629
MODE of procedure of the Convention. . . 40, 41	Judicial Department. . . 619, 680, 683, 684
	Justices' Courts.	680, 683, 684
	Leave of absence.	128

NOURSE.

	Page.		Page.
MURDOCK, NELSON E.		Adjournment sine die	11, 13, 14
Remarks upon		Adopting Jefferson's Manual.....	39
Legislative Department.	796	Amendment of the Constitution	526, 527, 528, 811
Limitation of taxation and appropri- ations	757	Banking system.....	163, 164
Oath prescribed for voters.....	268	Basis of the Constitution.....	14, 18, 22
Poll tax.....	118, 119, 120, 786, 787	Board of Regents.....	588, 589
Postponement of Article on Judicial Department.....	619	Boundary, Article on.....	525, 540
Right of Suffrage, Article on....	118, 119, 120, 268, 786, 787	Census.....	614
Salaries.....	606, 607	Compensation for private property taken for public use.....	60, 61, 62
Schedule.....	757, 112	Compensation of members of the Leg- islature.....	312, 606
Substitution of "yeas and nays" for "ayes and noes".....	796	Corporations, Article on....	162, 163, 164, 166-170, 175, 189, 208-214, 389, 390, 391, 394, 398-402, 404, 807
Taxation..	367, 368, 369, 424, 425, 426, 429, 430, 445	County Courts.....	653
		Court fees.....	677, 678
N		Courts in Storey County, 644, 647, 650, 651, 654, 655, 657, 658, 674
NAME of State.....	33-35	Declaration of Rights, Article on... 42, 46, 47, 56, 58-64, 66, 69, 195-198, 200, 201, 774, 778
[See Preamble and name of State.]		Disfranchisement of rebels..	83, 84, 85, 89, 90, 91, 96
NEW School Districts, funds for.....	574-577	District Courts and Judges..	650, 651, 653, 654, 655, 657, 658
Remarks of		Dueling.....	665, 666, 667, 670, 672
Mr. Collins.....	576, 577	Duties of Lieutenant Governor.....	160
Crosman.....	574, 575, 576	Education, Article on... 581, 582, 585, 586, 588, 589, 592, 593, 594
Hawley.....	574, 575, 576	Engrossment....	78
NIMS, Rev. Mr., officiated as Chaplain of the Convention	74, 193, 317, 433, 447, 465, 535, 583, 742	Evening sessions.....	75, 76, 77
NORMAL Schools. [See establishment of schools.]		Evidence of treason.....	69, 195, 196
NOURSE, GEORGE A.		Executive Department	158, 159, 160, 248, 249, 250
Appointed on Committee on the Ju- diciary.....	75	Finance and State debt.....	807
Appointed on Special Committee to amend Article on Declaration of Rights, relative to evidence of trea- son.....	196	Grand Jury system	59, 196, 197, 198, 774
Appointed on Special Committee to amend Article entitled Miscellane- ous Provisions relative to dueling..	669	Homestead, exemption of, 304, 310, 311, 315
Credentials of.....	4	Inpeachment and removal from office, 541, 542, 543, 548, 549, 552, 553, 554
Granted leave of absence.....	417	Increase and diminution of salaries..	615
Moved reconsideration of vote adopt- ing rules of last Territorial House of Representatives	39	Instructions to Judiciary Committee, 239, 241
Offered resolution explanatory of Jef- ferson's Manual.....	75	Judicial Department..	239, 241, 644, 647, 648, 650, 651, 653, 654, 655, 657, 658, 659, 674-679, 801, 802
Remarks upon		Justices of the Peace... 675, 678, 679, 774,
Adjournment in honor of Indepen- dence Day.....	3	Leave of absence.....	539
		Legislative Department.....	304, 308, 310, 311, 312, 315

OATH.

	Page.
NOURSE, GEORGE A.
Remarks upon
Limitation of Debate.....	37
Limitation of taxation and appropriations.....	816, 819, 820, 821, 824
Miscellaneous Provisions, Article on, 610-615, 665, 667, 670, 672
Oath of office.....	610, 665, 666, 667, 670, 672
Oath prescribed for voters.....	245, 267
Pacific Railroad, 166-171, 175, 189, 208-214, 293, 297-300, 389, 390, 391, 394, 398-402, 404, 807
Paramount allegiance.....	42, 46, 47, 200, 201
Personal explanations.....	318, 821
Poll tax.....	114, 118, 120, 535
Power of juries to judge of law and fact.....	63
Privileges and immunities.....	63, 64
Prohibition of slavery.....	66
Provisions in regard to school funds.....	586
Publication of the Constitution.....	775
Publication of the laws and judicial decisions.....	612, 613
Qualifications of State officers.....	597
Residence of voters.....	71, 72, 73
Right of Suffrage, Article on, 71, 72, 73, 83, 84, 85, 89, 90, 91, 96, 109, 110, 114, 118, 120, 245, 251, 252, 267, 535
Rules and order of business.....	37, 39, 75, 76, 77
Salaries.....	505, 506, 508, 509, 523, 597, 601, 606
Salaries of Judges.....	601, 648, 676, 677
Salary of Secretary of State.....	597
Schedule.....	813, 816, 819, 820, 821, 824
Second reading of Preamble.....	40
Separate property of the wife.....	312
Slander and libel.....	778
Soldiers' vote.....	109, 110, 251, 252
Special legislation.....	63, 64
Special school tax.....	592, 593, 594
State Seal.....	160
State University.....	581, 582, 585, 586
Supreme Court.....	801
Surveyor General.....	248, 249, 250
Taxation.....	224, 226, 227, 228, 329-332, 334, 335, 336, 338, 339, 340, 353, 359, 370-374, 378, 379, 382-385, 387, 405, 406, 417-420, 423, 424, 429, 430, 431, 433, 437, 438, 439, 441, 442, 413, 445, 446, 447, 515, 516, 518, 520, 808

	Page.
Taxation of corporations.....	162
Tenure of office.....	613
Terms of Courts.....	674
Terms of office of State officers.....	610, 611
Time of first session of the Legislature.....	308
Treason, evidence of.....	69, 195, 196
Trial by jury.....	56, 58
Vacancies in office.....	158
Veto power.....	312

O

OATH administered to all members of Convention in attendance.....	4
To Mr. Dunne.....	7
Mason.....	37
McClinton.....	110
Warwick.....	41
Wetherill.....	7
To officers elect of Convention.....	9
OATH of office.....	104-107, 609, 610, 744

Remarks of

Mr. Banks.....	105, 106, 107, 663, 665, 667, 670, 671, 672
Brosnan.....	105, 609, 664, 667, 669, 670
Chapin.....	107
Collins.....	107, 610, 663, 664, 665, 668, 672
Crawford.....	107
DeLong, 104-107, 664, 665, 666, 668-673
Dunne.....	668, 669, 671
Fitch.....	106
Frizell.....	668, 671
Hawley.....	106, 666, 667, 669, 673
Johnson.....	610, 667, 668, 670-673
Kennedy.....	104-107
Mason.....	666
Nourse.....	610, 665, 666, 667, 670, 671
Parker.....	665, 669, 670, 671
Proctor.....	669
Sturtevant.....	610
Warwick.....	104, 107, 667

OATH of members of the Convention.....	4
--	---

Remarks of

Mr. Collins.....	4
Johnson.....	4
Sturtevant.....	4
OATH prescribed for teachers in public schools.....	587
OATH prescribed for voters. [See voters.]
OATH relative to dueling. [See dueling.]

PACIFIC RAILROAD.

	Page.		Page.
OFFICE, disqualification to hold. [See bribery.]		ORDINANCE concerning certain elections.
OFFICE of Governor, term of. [See Governor.]		[See Election Ordinance.]
OFFICE of members of the Legislature,		ORDINANCE concerning slavery, religious terms of.....	140, 692-695, 812	toleration, and the public lands—
Remarks of		Introduced.....	50
Mr. Banks.....	812	Considered in Committee of the Whole	51
Brosnan.....	812	Considered in Convention.....	80, 193
Crosman.....	140, 695	Amended on report of Committee on
DeLong.....	692-695	Phraseology and Arrangement ...	230
Dunne.....	692, 693, 695	Final revision of.....	779, 780
Frizzell.....	695	Remarks of
Johnson.....	140, 693, 694, 695	Mr. Banks.....	50, 780
McClinton.....	693	Brosnan.....	780
Sturtevant.....	140	Chapin.....	50
Tagliabue.....	812	Collins.....	50, 51, 193, 780
Warwick.....	140	Crosman.....	51
OFFICE of State officers, terms of. [See State		Frizzell.....	780
officers.]		Hawley.....	780
OFFICES of County officers. [See County		Johnson.....	50, 780
officers.]		Sturtevant.....	51
OFFICES of profit, ineligibility to.....	141, 789	Tagliabue.....	780
Remarks of		Warwick.....	780
Mr. Brosnan.....	789	ORGANIZATION of the Convention.....	1-9
Fitch.....	141	Remarks of
Johnson.....	141, 789	Mr. Ball.....	6, 8
Kennedy.....	141, 789	Chapin.....	4, 5, 8, 9
McClinton.....	789	Collins.....	5, 6
Proctor.....	789	Crosman.....	4, 5
OFFICES of State officers. [See State officers.]		DeLong.....	6
OFFICERS of Convention. [See organization.]		Fitch.....	5, 8
OFFICERS of Convention, compensation of.		Hawley.....	4, 8
[See compensation.]		Johnson.....	8
OFFICERS not specified, appointment or elec-		Kennedy.....	5
tion of.....	613	Kinkead.....	6
OFFICIAL bonds of State officers..	707, 708, 709, 749	Sturtevant.....	4-8
Remarks of		Tozer.....	4
Mr. Banks.....	710
Brosnan.....	707, 748	P
Chapin.....	708, 748	PACIFIC Railroad, State aid to..	166-171, 175-
Collins.....	708	192, 203-248, 268, 290-300, 387-405, 448,
DeLong.....	707-710	449, 458-464, 467-477, 494-499, 807
Dunne.....	748	Remarks of
Johnson.....	707, 708, 710, 748	Mr. Banks....	166, 204, 205, 212, 216, 404,
Kinkead.....	708, 748	477, 494
McClinton.....	707, 708, 710	Brosnan... ..	167, 207, 389, 404, 405, 449
OFFICIAL Reporter of the Convention. [See		Chapin.. ..	170, 206, 207, 208, 296, 298,
Reporter.]		299, 300, 402
ORDER of business, amendment of.....	77	Collins... ..	167, 184-189, 293, 296-299,
[See Rules and Order of Business.]		395, 396, 397, 469, 470, 497

PARKER.

	Page.
Mr. Crosman	404, 405, 449, 458, 459, 495, 497, 498
DeLong	178, 180-184, 186, 188, 205, 206, 207, 209, 212, 213, 216, 217, 292, 294-297, 300, 388, 390-394, 396, 397, 404, 405, 450, 458, 470, 495-499
Dunne	188, 203, 402, 403, 463, 464
Earl	188, 190, 191, 192, 296, 391, 392, 397, 398, 404, 449, 464, 498
Fitch	166, 167, 168, 170, 189, 192, 203, 205, 207-216, 292-295, 387-391, 394, 400, 403, 404, 405, 498
Frizell	207, 470, 471, 472
Gibson	186, 389, 448, 450, 459, 463, 464, 468
Haines	203, 473, 474, 497, 498
Hawley	168, 171, 175-178, 203, 204, 205, 209, 210, 212, 216, 295, 405, 449, 458, 459, 472, 475, 497
Hovey	178, 186, 190, 191, 192, 203, 204, 205, 298, 448, 498
Johnson	166, 167, 187, 209, 214, 217, 295, 296, 298, 299, 387, 393, 401, 404, 448, 449, 462, 470, 474, 495, 497, 807
Kennedy	393, 394, 395, 397, 404, 497
Kinhead	295, 297, 448, 468, 469, 470, 472, 496
Lockwood	167, 171, 191, 192, 475, 476, 477, 497
Mason	405, 458, 459, 460
McClinton	398, 405, 498
Nourse	166-171, 175, 189, 208-214, 293, 297-300, 389, 390, 391, 394, 398-402, 404, 807
Parker	295, 404, 459, 464, 497
Proctor	166, 300, 495, 497
Stanford, Leland [by invitation of the Convention].	290-300
Sturtevant	170, 203, 206, 207, 208, 214, 448, 462, 463, 497
Tozer	293, 300, 399, 403, 404, 448, 461, 462
Warwick	167, 168, 178-180, 214, 215, 217, 218, 268, 290, 292, 392, 393, 399, 401, 405, 460, 461, 462, 464, 472, 473, 474, 476, 677, 495, 496, 497
PAGE of the Convention—
Master George Richards elected as	8
Compensation of	8
[See additional compensation.]

	Page
PAPER money. [See banking system.]
PARAMOUNT allegiance	41, 49, 51-53, 200, 201, 781
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	41, 42, 52, 781
Brosnan	42, 49, 52, 781
Collins	781
DeLong	42, 44, 45, 49, 52, 53, 201
Dunne	200, 201
Earl	44, 47
Fitch	41-44, 47, 49
Frizell	201, 202
Hawley	45, 48
Johnson	45, 781
Lockwood	781
Nourse	42, 46, 47, 200, 201
Proctor	42, 44, 48, 202
PARDONING power	159, 160
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	159
Brosnan	159
DeLong	159
Hovey	159
Johnson	159
Nourse	159
PARKER, H. G.
Appeared and sworn in	4
Appointed on Committee on Phraseology and Arrangement	84
Credentials of	4
Moved adjournment over	336
Remarks upon
Additional compensation of officers and attaches	804, 805
Adjournment sine die	11
Banking system	454
Corporations, Article on	404, 454, 459, 464, 497
Courts in Storey County	646, 648
Declaration of Rights, Article on	195, 783, 784
District Courts and Judges	713
Dueling	665
Evidence of treason	195
Impeachment and Removal from office,	806, 807
Judicial Department	646, 648, 713, 722
Limitation of debate	466, 467
Miscellaneous Provisions, Article on,	665, 669, 670, 671, 809

PORTER.

	Page.		Page.
PARKER, H. G.		Mr. Johnson.....	230, 231
Remarks upon		Tozer.....	230
Oath of office.....	665, 669, 670, 671	PLURALITY, election by.....	614
Pacific Railroad ...	295, 404, 459, 464, 497	POLL tax...108, 111-122, 145, 145, 146, 272, 535,	786, 787
Poll tax.....	786
Right of Suffrage, Article on.....	252	Remarks of
Rules and order of business.....	466	Mr. Banks.....	113, 114, 146, 535, 786
Schedule.....	706, 710	Brosnan...114, 115, 116, 120, 121, 122,	145, 146, 272
Seizures and searches.....	783, 784	Chapin.....	121, 272
Soldiers' vote.....	252	Collins.....	145, 146, 786, 787
Taxation.....	420, 449, 450	Crosman.....	121
Terms of Courts.....	706	DeLong.....	112, 120, 145, 272, 535
PASSAGE of bills, final. [See Bills.]		Earl.....	111, 112, 114-117, 119-122
PAUPERS. [See Public Institutions.]		Fitch.....	117
PAY of officers, etc., of the Convention.		Hawley...111, 112, 113, 120, 121, 146,	535
[See compensation.]		Hovey.....	120
PER DIEM of members of the Legislature.		Johnson.....	112, 116, 145, 146, 786
[See compensation.]		Kennedy.....	117-120, 146, 272
PERPETUITIES, prohibition of....	740, 741, 746	Kinkead.....	146
Remarks of		Lockwood.....	119, 146, 272
Mr. DeLong.....	741	Murdock.....	118, 119, 120, 786, 787
Dunne.....	740, 741, 746	Nourse.....	114, 118, 120, 535
Johnson.....	741	Proctor.....	786
Kinkead.....	746	Sturtevant.....	272, 535
PERSONAL explanations, 202, 300, 317, 318, 383,		Tozer.....	272
441, 454, 485, 486, 489, 535, 536, 710, 742,		Warwick.....	786
769, 821, 823		POSTPONEMENT of Judicial article..	617-622, 674
Remarks of		Remarks of
Mr. Brosnan.....	535, 536	Mr. Banks.....	620, 621, 622
DeLong...318, 454, 485, 486, 489, 823		Brosnan.....	674
Dunne.....	317, 383, 485, 710, 742	Chapin.....	617, 619, 620
Fitch.....	317, 318	Collins.....	619, 620
Haines.....	485, 486	DeLong.....	674
Hawley.....	769	Dunne.....	618, 619
Hovey.....	202, 441	Frizell.....	619
Johnson.....	318	Hawley.....	619, 620
Kennedy.....	300, 301	Hovey.....	617, 619, 620
Nourse.....	318, 321	Johnson.....	617, 618, 620, 674
Proctor.....	486	Kennedy.....	618, 619, 620, 674
Sturtevant.....	300, 301	Mason.....	617, 621
Tozer.....	454	Murdock.....	619
Warwick.....	485	Proctor.....	618, 619
PHRASEOLOGY and arrangement of articles—		Wetherill.....	620, 621
Appointment of committee on....	84, 230	PORTER of the Convention, compensation
Reports of committee on....	230, 465, 583,	of.....	8
742, 752		William E. Skeene elected as.....	9
Remarks of		[See additional compensation.]
Mr. Banks.....	230, 231
Hawley.....	230

PROCTOR.

	Page.		Page.
PRAYER at opening of the Convention....	2
PREAMBLE, and name of State—
First reading and adoption of... 33, 34, 35
Second reading of..... 39, 40
Third reading and final passage of... 193
Remarks of
Mr. Ball	33, 35	Mr. Ball	64
Banks.....	33, 40	Banks	63
Collins	33	Brosnan.....	65
DeLong.....	39, 40	DeLong.....	63, 64
Dunne.....	33	Earl.....	64, 65
Fitch	33, 39, 40	Johnson.....	64
Johnson.....	34, 40	Nourse	63, 64
Nourse	40	[See Special Legislation.]
Sturtevant.....	34, 40	PRIVILEGE of debtor.....	66
Tozer.....	35	PRIVILEGE, questions of. [See Personal
PRESENTMENT of indictment by Grand Jury		Explanations.]
required in criminal cases.....	59	PROBATE Courts. [See County Courts.]
PRESERVATION of school fund. [See School		PROBATE Courts in Lander County. [See
Fund.]		Lander County officers.]
PRESS, freedom of the.....	63	PROBATE Courts, resolution instructing Ju-
PRESIDENT of the Convention—		diary Committee relative to abol-
Election of J. Neely Johnson as.....	5	ishing.....	231-243
Remarks of upon taking the chair... 5		[See Judicial Department.]
Appointed on Committee on Address		PROBATE Courts, transfer of cases from... 741 to the People.....	699	PROBATE Judges, continuance of..... 697 Appointed on Committee on Education	447	Remarks of
Appointed on Committee on Judiciary 174		Mr. Dunne.....	697
Appointed on Committee on Schedule 447		PROCEDURE. [See Mode of Procedure.]
Appointed to contract for and super-		PROCESS, style of.....	676
vise publication of debates and pro-		PROCTOR, FRANCIS M.
ceedings.....	704	Appointed on Committee on Judiciary 174
[See last section of Schedule.]		Appointed on Committee on Printing
Resolution of thanks to.....	827, 828	for the Convention.....	39
Closing Address of.....	828, 829	Appointed on Committee on Schedule 447
PRINTING for the Convention, Special Com-		Appointed on Special Committee to mittee appointed on.....	39	wait on Governor relative to day of
PRINTING rules of Convention, resolution		election on the Constitution....	769
for	36	Credentials of.....	3
[See Rules.]		Excused from service on Schedule
PRIVATE property, security for.....	60-63	Committee	521
Remarks of		Granted leave of absence.....	521
Mr. Banks.....	60, 62	Made reports from committee to wait
DeLong.....	60, 61, 62	on the Governor relative to day of
Hawley.....	61	election on the Constitution....	774, 773
Johnson.....	60, 62	Offered resolution for appointment of
Nourse.....	60, 61, 62	Committee on Printing for the Con-
PRIVILEGES and immunities, special, not to		vention.....	39
be granted	63-65	Offered resolution for appointment of Special Committee to wait on Governor relative to day of election on the Constitution	769
		Remarks upon
		Address to the people	699

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

	Page.		Page.
PROCTOR, FRANCIS M.		Taxation of corporations.....	162, 163
Remarks upon		Terms of Courts	705, 706
Amendments of the Constitution....	810	Terms of office of State officers.....	610
Boundary memorial.....	794	Time of first session of the Legisla- ture	307, 309
Continuance of county officers...696, 697		Vacancies in office.....	702, 703
Corporations, Article on, 162, 166, 495, 497		Veto power	312, 313, 314, 797
Day of election on the Constitution...766, 769, 826		PROHIBITION of slavery. [See slavery.]
Declaration of Rights, Article on...42, 44, 48, 59, 60, 196, 197, 202		PROPERTY, exemption of from seizure for debt.....	66
District Courts and Judges.....715, 716		PROPERTY, private, security for.....	60-63
Dueling.....	669	[See private property.]
Election Ordinance, 625, 626, 766, 769, 771. 826		PUBLICATION of Constitution, resolution providing for.....	775-777
Executive Department.....	160	Remarks of
Final adoption of the Constitution... 827		Mr. Banks	776
Final passage of bills.....	144	Chapin.....	775, 776, 826
Finance and State debt.....	807	Collins.....	777
Grand Jury system.....60, 196, 197, 202		Crawford	777
Judicial Department...618, 619, 649, 702, 703, 715, 716, 799, 802		Crosman	776
Habeas corpus.....	59	Frizell.....	775
Lander County officers.....	696, 747	Gibson.....	775
Legislative department.142, 143, 144, 153 307, 309, 312, 313, 311, 789, 797		Hawley.....	775
Limitation of taxation...807, 815, 818, 819		Johnson.....	775, 776, 777
Miscellaneous Provisions, Article on. 610, 612, 669, 809		Kennedy.....	776
Municipal Courts.....	799	McClinton.....	775, 776, 777
Oath of office.....	669	Nourse.....	775
Oath prescribed for voters...486, 487, 494		Tagliabue.....	776
Offices of county officers.....	612	Warwick.....	775
Offices of profit.....	789	PUBLICATION of Constitution, resolution that a certified copy be furnished for.....	826
Pacific Railroad.....166, 360, 495, 497		PUBLICATION of Debates and Proceedings of the Convention...704, 705, 746, 751, 815
Paramount allegiance...42, 44, 48, 59, 202		Remarks of
Personal and political explanation... 486		Mr. Brosnan	705
Postponement of Article on Judicial Department.....	618, 619	Hawley.....	815
Qualifications of jurors.....	153	Johnson.....	705, 746
Qualifications of voters upon the Con- stitution.....	122-125, 134, 136	Warwick.....	746
Right of Suffrage, Article on...88, 122-125. 134, 136, 271, 486, 487, 494, 786		PUBLICATION of laws and judicial decisions, 612, 613, 615
Salaries.....	522, 607	Remarks of
Salaries of judges.....	812, 813, 814	Mr. Brosnan.....	613
Schedule...696, 697, 705, 706, 747, 812-815, 818, 819		Johnson.....	613
Secret sessions of Legislature....142, 143		Nourse.....	612, 613
Soldiers' vote.....	271	PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS, Article on—
Supreme Court.....	649, 812	Referred to Committee of the Whole. 466
Surveyor General, office of.....	160	Considered in Committee of the Whole, 524
		Considered in Convention.....	539

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

	Page.		Page.
PUBLIC Institutions, Article on—		RELIGIOUS toleration.....	59
Final revision of.....	809	Remarks of
Remarks of		Mr. Banks.....	59
Mr. Banks.....	539	Brosnan.....	59
Brosnan.....	539	Chapin.....	59
Gibson.....	524	Collins.....	59
PUBLIC lands, appropriation of for school		DeLong.....	59
purposes.....	580	RELIGIOUS toleration, Ordinance concern-
Remarks of		ing.....	50
Mr. Collins.....	580	[See Ordinance.]
Frizell.....	580	REGISTRATION of separate property of the
Johnson.....	580	wife. [See separate property.]
PUBLIC lands, Ordinance concerning, etc..	50	REGISTRY law, provision for.....	111, 785
[See Ordinance.]		Remarks of
PUNISHMENTS, cruel and unusual prohibited,	59	Mr. Banks.....	875
Q		Brosnan.....	111, 785
QUALIFICATION of jurors.....	153	Dunne.....	111
Remarks of		Hawley.....	111
Mr. Fitch.....	153	Johnson.....	111
Johnson.....	153	REMOVAL of judges by the Legislature.
Proctor.....	153	[See Impeachment and Removal.]
Sturtevant.....	153	REPORTER, Official, of the Convention—
QUALIFICATIONS of Senators and Assembly-		Andrew J. Marsh, elected as.....	8
men.....	140	Allowed, by resolution, use of the min-
QUALIFICATIONS of State officers. [See		utes of the Convention.....	746
State officers.]		Appointed to revise and index De-
QUALIFICATIONS of voters.....	70-73, 111-122	bates and Proceedings of the Con-
[See Voters; also, see Poll Tax.]		vention.....	704
QUALIFICATION of voters upon the Consti-		Compensation of.....	8, 273, 704, 705, 751
tution. [See Constitution.]		Remarks of
QUESTION of proxies. [See Proxies.]		Mr. Chapin.....	751
QUESTION of privilege. [See Personal Ex-		Johnson.....	705, 751
planations.]		Kennedy.....	751
QUORUM, necessary in each house of Leg-		[See last section of Schedule.]
islature.....	142	REPORTS of committees—
R		On Credentials.....	3
RAILROADS, aid of cities, counties, etc., to	218	On Education.....	565
[See municipal loans.]		On Engrassment... 230, 535, 583, 659, 711,	725
RAILROADS, aid of State to. [See Pacific		On Enrollment... 465, 535, 793, 795, 797,	799, 804
Railroad.]		On Judiciary.....	536, 537, 538
RAILROADS, special franchises for. [See		On number and compensation of sub-special legislation.]		ordinate officers of the Convention.	8
REBELS. [See disfranchisement of rebels.]		On Phraseology and Arrangement... 230,
RECESS, hours of, resolutions fixing... 36, 127,		465, 583, 743, 752
128, 183		On Rules and order of Business.....	7
RECORDERS, fees of. [See City Recorders.]		On Schedule.....	538, 622, 630, 673
RECORDS, Territorial, transferred to State.	631	On State Seal.....	583

RESOLUTIONS.

	Page.		Page.
REPORTS of committees—		Compensation of Secretary for extra service.....	827
Special, to amend Article on Declaration of Rights, relative to evidence of treason.....	201	Constitution, appointing committee on re-enrollment of.....	724
Special, to amend Election Ordinance, generally.....	741	Constitution, copy of, to be furnished for publication.....	826
Special, to amend Article on Miscellaneous Provisions relative to duelling.....	670	Constitution of the United States, preamble, and resolving adopting....	6
Special, to amend Article on Right of Suffrage.....	268, 477	Constitution, publication of.....	775, 776
Special, to amend Schedule, relative to taxation and appropriations....	765	County Courts, abolition of.....	639
Special, to wait on the Governor relative to the day of election on the Constitution.....	771, 773	Daily sessions of Convention, hours of.....	36, 127, 128, 193, 231
REPRESENTATION, apportionment of. [See Apportionment.]		Day of election on the Constitution, appointing a committee to wait on the Governor concerning.....	769
REPRESENTATION to be apportioned according to population.....	66	Debate, limitation of, 36, 74, 454, 466,	584
RESIDENCE of State Officers. [See State officers.]		Debates and proceedings of Convention, contents of volume of.....	746
RESIDENCE of Voters. [See Voters.]		Education, for the appointment of a committee upon.....	447
RESOLUTIONS offered in relation to—		Evening sessions, postponing.....	231
Absent members, casting votes of by proxy.....	433	Evening sessions, providing for....	73, 74, 126, 193
Adjournment over of the Convention..	387	Indictments, amending Section 8 of Article on Declaration of Rights, respecting.....	774, 775
Adjournment sine die	9, 10, 13, 274	Jefferson's Manual, adopting for the government of the Convention....	39
Amendments of Constitution (substitute) requiring members to hand in, 21, 22, 24		Jefferson's Manual, explanatory of...	75
Basis of Constitution, adopting Constitution framed by former Convention as.....	9, 14	Journal of the Convention, prescribing the disposition to be made of official minutes of.....	746
Boundary memorial to Congress, concerning and accompanying.....	794	Journal of Convention, directing the Secretary to engross.....	826
Clerks, authorizing Engrossing and Enrolling Committees to appoint...	78	Judicial Department, relative to abolishing County Courts.....	639
Committees, for the appointment of...	6, 84, 336, 447, 724, 769	Judicial Department, instructing Judiciary Committee in regard to certain features of.....	231, 243, 683, 688
Committees, (substitute,) for the appointment of on the several articles	16	Judiciary Committee, requiring it to submit report.....	534
Committees, for the appointment of additional members of.....	230	Judiciary system, for memorializing Congress in favor of changes in, 13,	172
Compensation of officers and attaches of Convention, for the appointment of Committee on.....	6	Justices of the Peace, jurisdiction of,	683, 688
Compensation of officers and attaches, additional for evening sessions....	273	Memorializing Congress, respecting boundary.....	794
Compensation of officers and attaches, increase of.....	804	Memorializing Congress for changes in Judiciary system.....	13, 172
		Officers of Convention, appointing committee on number and compensation of.....	6

RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.

	Page.
RESOLUTIONS offered in relation to—
Phraseology and Arrangement, appointing committee on.....	84
Perpetuities, adding section to Article on Miscellaneous Provisions, prohibiting	741
Printing one hundred copies of rules of the Convention.....	36, 38
Proxy, casting votes of absent members by.....	433
Publication of Constitution.....	775, 776
Publication of Constitution, requiring a certified copy to be furnished for,	826
Re-enrollment of Constitution, and correction of clerical errors, appointing committee to supervise...	724
Referring various articles to committees.....	466
Rooop County, adding section to Schedule attaching it to Washoe County for certain purposes.....	773, 774
Rules and order of business, appointing committee on.....	6
Rules of Convention, to print one hundred copies of.....	36, 38
Salaries, transferring Article on to Schedule.....	641
Schedule, appointing committee on...	447
Slander and libel, amending Article on Declaration of Rights in respect to imprisonment for.....	778
State Seal, authorizing the Secretary of the Territory to procure.....	698
Taxation, referring article on to a special committee.....	336
Thanks of Convention to the President	827, 828
Thanks to officers and attachés of Convention	828
Transfer of cases from Probate Courts, adding section to Schedule to provide for.....	741
RETURNS of election. [See Election Returns.]
RICHARDS, Master George, elected page of Convention.....	8
Defined his position on the Union question.....	8
RIGHT of defending in person	59, 782
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	782

	Page.
Mr. Brosnan.....	782
Collins	782
Hawley	782
Johnson.....	782
McClinton.....	782
Warwick.....	782
RIGHT of Suffrage, Article on—
Referred to Committee of the Whole.	70
Considered in Committee of the Whole,
70-73, 80-125, 129-138, 253, 254
Considered in Convention.....	145, 146, 243-246, 251, 253, 254-273, 477-494, 535
Read third time and passed.....	273
Passage reconsidered and referred to Special Committee for amendment.	467
Reported from Special Committee with amendments.....	477
Final passage of.....	494
Final revision of	785, 787
Remarks of
Mr. Banks, 70, 71, 91, 96, 97, 105-109, 113, 114, 124, 125, 130, 131, 132, 146, 246, 254, 259, 268, 270, 467, 487, 489, 490, 492, 493, 535, 785, 786
Brosnan... 73, 105, 108-111, 114, 115, 116, 120, 121, 122, 124, 134, 136, 145, 146, 251, 252, 263, 264, 268, 272, 479, 480, 484, 492, 785, 786
Chapin... 88, 107, 121, 134, 138, 244, 245, 246, 252, 253, 272, 482, 487
Collins... 71, 85, 89, 98-101, 107, 123, 129, 130, 132, 134, 135, 136, 145, 146, 244, 255, 263, 785, 786, 787
Crawford..... 107, 108, 271
Crosman... 94, 108, 121, 122, 123, 134, 245, 251, 252, 253, 272, 489
DeLong... 70, 71, 72, 82, 91, 92, 93, 104-108, 112, 120, 123, 124, 125, 145, 244, 264, 269, 272, 467, 477-481, 483-486, 488, 489, 490, 492, 494, 535
Dunne. 80, 82, 104, 111, 125, 132, 133, 137, 245, 251, 253-256, 261, 266, 268-272, 484, 485, 492, 493, 494
Earl... 73, 83, 84, 86, 93, 109, 111, 112, 114, 116, 117, 119, 120, 121, 122, 481, 488
Fitch... 72, 73, 102-104, 117, 122, 124, 244, 245, 246, 254, 267, 268
Frizell, 71, 97, 107, 108, 133, 244, 257, 258, 259, 261, 490, 491, 492

SALARIES.

	Page.		Page.
Mr. Haines.....	262-483-486, 491	Adoption of reconsidered, and Jefferson's Manual adopted instead.....	39
Hawley.....	81, 82, 84, 85, 94, 106, 108, 111, 112, 113, 120, 121, 146, 244, 246, 265, 492, 493, 494, 535	Motions and resolutions to amend.....	36-39, 74, 75, 77, 110, 126, 193, 231, 454, 466, 584
Hovey, 80, 81, 120, 138, 245, 256, 270, 273		Remarks of
Johnson, 87, 88, 89, 106, 108-116, 122, 123, 124, 129-133, 136, 137, 138, 145, 146, 244, 252, 254, 260, 261, 268, 270, 271, 467, 478-481, 486, 488, 489, 492, 786, 787		Mr. Banks.....	38, 75, 76, 77, 110, 127, 584
Kennedy.....	88, 91, 93, 95, 100, 102, 104-107, 117, 119, 146, 245, 246, 251, 253, 272, 490	Belden.....	36
Kinkead.....	491, 786	Brosnan.....	127, 128, 736,
Lockwood.....	94, 95, 108, 119, 146, 269, 270, 272, 490	Chapin.....	6, 38, 39, 127, 128, 584
Mason.....	104, 255, 256, 259	Collins.....	6, 7, 76, 466
McClinton.....	259, 262, 269, 271, 272, 484, 489, 494	Crawford.....	76
Murdock, 118, 119, 120, 268, 786, 787		Crosman.....	38, 75, 76
Nourse, 71, 72, 73, 83, 84, 85, 89, 90, 91, 96, 109, 110, 114, 118, 120, 245, 251, 252, 267, 535		DeLong.....	37, 38, 39, 73-77, 110, 125, 128, 454, 466
Parker.....	252	Dunne.....	36-39, 74, 75, 77, 127, 128, 193, 231, 466, 584
Proctor.....	88, 122, 123, 134, 136, 271, 486, 487, 494, 786	Earl.....	76, 454, 466
Sturtevant.....	245, 246, 270, 272, 467, 487, 489, 493, 494	Fitch.....	8, 38, 73-76, 110
Tozer.....	94, 95, 245, 254, 272	Frizzell.....	128
Warwick.....	73, 80, 81, 84, 95, 96, 104, 107, 137, 246, 254, 258, 259, 266, 267, 467, 479, 481, 482, 483, 485, 491, 786	Gibson.....	8
Wetherill.....	490	Hawley.....	36-39
RIGHT of way, compensation for.....	165	Johnson.....	8, 36-39, 76, 77, 126, 127, 466, 584
Remarks of		Kennedy.....	75, 126, 127, 584
Mr. Banks.....	165	Kinkead.....	6
RILEY, Rev. Mr., officiated as Chaplain.....	36, 172, 268, 383, 501, 697, 779	Lockwood.....	76
Roop County attached to Washoe County for certain purposes.....	773, 774	Nourse.....	37, 39, 75, 76, 77
Remarks of		Parker.....	466
Mr. Brosnan.....	773	Sturtevant.....	38
Hawley.....	774	Tozer.....	37, 76, 77, 127, 128
Johnson.....	773, 774	Warwick.....	75, 77, 584
Tagliabue.....	773	[See debate, limitation of; also evening sessions.]
RULES and Order of Business—		S
Committee appointed upon.....	6	SALARIES, Article on—
Report of Committee upon.....	7	Referred to Committee of the Whole.....	162
Resolution to print one hundred copies of.....	36, 38	Considered in Committee of the Whole, 501-513, 521-524, 595-607
		Considered in Convention.....	524, 607, 608, 640, 641, 752
		Referred to Committee on Schedule.....	524
		Reported from Committee on Schedule with amendments.....	538
		Transferred to Article on Schedule by resolution.....	641
		Remarks of
		Mr. Banks.....	506-509, 521, 522, 595, 598, 599, 600, 604

SCHEDULE.

	Page.
Mr. Brosnau	508, 513, 521, 522, 524, 598, 601, 607, 640, 641
Chapin	506, 507, 508, 512, 596, 599, 600, 601, 607
Collins	507, 510, 511, 596, 597, 599, 600, 601
Crosman	522, 604, 606
Dunue	501, 511, 512, 523, 524, 595, 597, 599, 602, 752
Earl	505, 508
Fitch, 501, 502, 504, 505, 506, 508, 509, 510, 512, 513
Frizell	598, 606
Gibson	607, 608
Hawley	596, 608
Hovey	521, 596, 607, 608
Johnson	502, 503, 504, 506, 508-513, 596, 597, 599-608, 641, 752
Kennedy	598, 600, 601, 603, 608, 752
Lockwood, 508, 510, 511, 601, 603, 604
McClinton	522
Murdock	606, 607
Nourse	505, 506, 508, 509, 523, 597, 601, 606
Proctor	522, 607
Sturtevant	509, 510, 512, 595, 596, 599, 601, 606
Tagliabue	602
Tozer	513, 521
Warwick	522, 523, 524, 598, 599, 603-606
Wetherill	599, 603, 604, 606
SALARIES, increase or diminution of	613-616
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	614, 615, 616
Chapin	616
Dunne	615
Johnson	614, 615
Nourse	615
SALARIES of Judges	600, 601, 648, 676, 677, 729-732, 803, 811-815
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	600, 803
Brosnan	601, 803, 813, 814
Chapin	600, 601, 732, 811-814
Collins	600, 601
Crawford	731
Crosman	814, 815
DeLong	730, 731, 814, 815
Dunne	732

	Page
Mr. Frizell	729, 732
Hawley	803
Johnson	600, 601, 677, 729-732, 803, 813, 814
Kennedy	600, 601, 677, 729, 813
Kinhead	803
Mason	813
McClinton	729, 731, 732
Nourse	601, 648, 676, 677
Sturtevant	601, 648
Tagliabue	803
Proctor	812, 813, 814
SALARIES of State officers. [See Salaries, Article on.]
SANITARY Fund, donation of fines to	304
SCHEDULE, Article on—
Committee appointed upon	447, 465, 521
Referred to Schedule Committee	466
Reported from Schedule Committee, 630, 673
Considered in Committee of the Whole, 631-638, 692-697, 703-710
Resolutions adding sections to	741, 773, 774
Considered in Convention	746-766, 773, 774
Final revision of	811-825
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	634, 637, 696, 705-708, 710, 757, 760, 763, 812, 815, 816, 817
Brosnan	705-708, 710, 748, 752, 764, 773, 812-816, 821
Chapin	634, 638, 708, 747, 748, 750, 751, 753-757, 764, 765, 811, 813, 815, 816, 817, 819
Collins	632, 633, 634, 636, 637, 638, 706, 707, 708, 749-752, 757, 763, 764, 819, 822, 823
Crosman	695, 696, 697, 750, 764, 765, 814, 815, 824
DeLong	447, 692-697, 705-710, 747, 750, 753, 754, 759, 760, 762, 763, 812, 814, 815, 816, 320, 821, 823
Dunne	447, 632-635, 637, 638, 692, 693, 695, 696, 697, 704, 747-752, 754
Frizell	635, 695, 704, 765
Gibson	749, 819
Hawley	774, 813, 815, 816, 824
Johnson	634, 635, 637, 693-696, 704- 710, 747-752, 754-759, 763, 773, 774, 812, 813, 814, 816-819, 824

SECTARIAN INSTRUCTION.

	Page.		Page.
Mr. Kennedy	632, 633, 635, 638, 707, 709	SECRETARY of State, salary of	596-599
751, 752, 757, 765, 813, 815, 816, 818		Remarks of
Kinkead	708, 750, 765, 766, 811, 812, 819	Mr. Banks	598
Lockwood	762, 763	Brosnan	598
Mason	635, 636, 637, 761, 762, 813	Chapin	596, 599
McClinton, 693, 704, 707, 708, 710, 746,	757, 823, 824	Collins	596, 597, 598
Murdock	757, 812	Dunne	597, 599
Nourse	813, 816, 819, 820, 821, 824	Frizell	598
Parker	706, 710	Hovey	596
Proctor	696, 697, 705, 706, 747, 812-815, 818, 819	Johnson	596, 597, 599,
Tagliabue, 636, 696, 749, 765, 773, 812		Kennedy	597
Warwick, 632, 635, 637, 704, 705, 708,	709, 747-751, 755, 758-762	Nourse	598
Wetherill	637	Sturtevant	599
SCHOOL fund, provisions for, 579, 580, 586, 589,	745	Warwick	598, 599
Remarks of		Wetherill	599
Mr. Banks	580	[See State officers.]
Collins	580, 586, 745	SECRETARY of the Convention—
Dunne	587, 589, 745	C. W. Tozer, elected pro tem	1
Frizell	580	R. G. Clark nominated for	5
Hawley	580, 589	William M. Gillespie nominated for	5
Johnson	580	William Martin Gillespie elected as	5
Kinkead	745	Compensation of	8
Nourse	586	Additional compensation of, for even-
Tagliabue	580	ing sessions	273, 274
SCHOOL fund, forfeiture of, by school dis-		Resolution increasing compensation
tricts as penalty for neglect, etc., 568, 579		of	804, 806
[See district schools; also sectarian in-		Authorized to engross journals of the struction.]		Convention	826
SCHOOL system. [See Education, Article on.]		Allowed per diem for writing up the
SCHOOL tax. [See special school tax.]		journals of the Convention after
SCRIP. [See State Scrip.]		final adjournment	827
SEAL of State. [See State Seal.]		SECRETARY, Assistant, of the Convention—
SEAT of government	608, 609	Andrew Whitford elected as	9
Remarks of		Compensation of	8
Mr. Banks	609	[See additional compensation.]
Johnson	608, 609	SECRET sessions of the Legislature	142, 143
Warwick	608, 609	Remarks of
SEATS of members of the Convention	7	Mr. Hovey	142
Remarks of		Johnson	142, 143
Mr. Fitch	7	Procter	142, 143
Gibson	7	SECTARIAN instruction in the public schools,
SECRETARY of State, duties of	160	568, 569, 577, 579, 660, 661
Remarks of		Remarks of
Mr. Johnson	160	Mr. Banks	577, 579, 661
[See State officers.]		Brosnan	577, 579, 660, 661
		Collins	568, 569, 577, 661
		Crosman	661
		Hawley	568, 661
		Johnson	660

SOLE TRADERS.

	Page.
Mr. McClinton	568, 569, 577
Warwick	568, 569
SECURITY for private property. [See private property.]
SEIZURES and searches	67, 783, 784, 785
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	784
Brosnan	783, 784
DeLong	783, 784
Johnson	783, 784, 785
Kennedy	784
Kincaid	783, 784
Lockwood	783, 784
McClinton	783, 784, 785
Parker	783, 784
Warwick	783, 784
SENATORIAL districts	788
Remarks of
Mr. Brosnan	788
Collins	788
Johnson	788
SENATORS. [See State Senators.]
SENATORS, United States, election of	156
SEPARATE property of the wife	153.
	154, 311, 312
Remarks of
Mr. Dudne	279
Johnson	154, 279, 312
Nourse	312
Sturtevant	154, 279
SERGEANT-AT-ARMS of the Convention—
Thomas Carson elected as	8
Compensation of	8
[See additional compensation.]
SESSIONS, daily of the Convention, resolutions fixing hours of, 36, 74, 75, 126, 193, 231
[See evening sessions.]
SESSIONS of the Legislature, time of	138-139.
	153, 695, 696, 787, 788
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	139, 696, 788
Brosnan	139, 788
Collins	788
Dunne	696
Johnson	139, 695, 787, 788
Kincaid	788

	Page.
SESSIONS of the Legislature, to be open	142
[See secret sessions.]
SKEENE, William E., elected Porter	9
SLANDER and libel	777, 778, 782, 783
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	778
Brosnan	777, 778, 783
Chapin	778
McClinton	782, 783
Nourse	778
Warwick	778
[See Dueling.]
SLAVERY, ordinance concerning, etc. [See Ordinance.]
SLAVERY, prohibition of	50, 66, 67, 783
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	50, 67, 783
Brosnan	66, 783
Chapin	50
Collins	50
DeLong	67
Earl	66
Johnson	50, 66, 783
Kennedy	783
Nourse	66
Warwick	67, 783
SOLDIERS, not to be quartered, etc., in time of peace	65
SOLDIERS' vote, in the United States service, provisions concerning	108, 109, 110, 251, 252, 253, 271, 272, 467, 478, 492
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	109, 467
Brosnan	108, 109, 110, 251, 252, 271
Chapin	252
Crosman	251, 252, 253, 271, 272
DeLong	478
Dunne	271, 272
Earl	109
Johnson	109, 110, 252, 271
Kennedy	251
McClinton	271, 272
Nourse	109, 110, 251, 252
Parker	252
Proctor	271
[See Election Ordinance.]
SOLE traders	154, 275-278, 283
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	276, 277

STATE OFFICERS.

	Page		Page
Mr. Brosnan.....	154, 278	SPECIAL sessions of the Legislature...	153, 158
Chapin.....	154, 277	SPEECH, freedom of. [See Freedom of
Crosman.....	276, 283	Speech, etc.]
DeLong.....	275, 276, 277	SPEECHES, limitation of. [See Debate.]
Fitch.....	154	STATE aid to corporations, etc., prohibited,	166
Frizell.....	154	[See Pacific Railroad.]
Johnson.....	283, 284	STATE census. [See Census.]
Sturtevant.....	154	STATE Controller, official designation of,
Warwick.....	277		613, 614
Wetherill.....	154	Remarks of
SPEAKER of Assembly, compensation of,		Mr. Brosnan.....	614
	155, 156	Hovey.....	614
[See compensation of members of the		Johnson.....	613, 614
Legislature.]		Warwick.....	614
SPECIAL committees. [See Committees.]		STATE Controller, salary of.....	599, 600
SPECIAL court fee. [See Court Fees.]		Remarks of
SPECIAL franchises, prohibition of. [See		Mr. Collins.....	599, 600
Privileges and Immunities; also,		Dunne.....	599
Special Legislation.]		Johnson.....	599
SPECIAL legislation... 63, 64, 65, 146-152, 466		Sturtevant.....	599
Remarks of		STATE debt. [See Finance and State debt.]
Mr. Ball.....	64	STATE indebtedness, limitation of.....	220, 221
Banks.....	63, 147, 148, 151, 279	Remarks of
Brosnan.....	65, 149, 466	Mr. Collins.....	220
Collins.....	147-150	DeLong.....	220, 221
DeLong.....	63, 64	Johnson.....	221
Earl.....	64, 65	STATE officers, bonds of. [See official bonds.]
Fitch.....	147, 149, 152, 280	STATE officers, enumeration of.....	160
Frizell.....	147	STATE officers, offices of, to be kept at seat
Hawley.....	147, 148	of government.....	613
Hovey.....	148, 152, 280	STATE officers, qualifications of.....	596-599
Johnson.....	64, 65, 149, 150, 151, 280,	Remarks of
	466	Mr. Banks.....	598
Nourse.....	63, 64	Collins.....	597, 598
SPECIAL legislation relative to corporate		Frizell.....	598
powers, prohibited.....	162	Johnson.....	596, 597
SPECIAL school tax.....	587, 588, 661, 662	Nourse.....	597
Remarks of		Sturtevant.....	599
Mr. Banks.....	591, 592	Warwick.....	598
Brosnan.....	592	Wetherill.....	599
Chapin.....	587, 588, 661, 662	STATE officers, residence of.....	161
Collins.....	588, 591, 594	Remarks of
Crosman.....	662	Mr. Brosnan.....	161
Dunne.....	588, 591, 594	Collins.....	161
Frizell.....	588, 592	DeLong.....	161
Hawley.....	591, 593, 769	Johnson.....	161
Johnson.....	662	STATE officers, salaries of. [See Salaries,
Nourse.....	592, 593, 594	Article on.]
Sturtevant.....	295
Warwick.....	591, 593, 594

STOREY COUNTY.

	Page.		Page.
STATE officers, terms of, 160, 161, 610, 611, 707,	708	STATE University	579-582, 585, 586, 587, 589, 590, 591, 661, 662, 745, 808
Remarks of		Remarks of
Mr. Brosnan	610, 707	Mr. Banks	585
Chapin	610, 611	Brosnan	586, 589, 590
Collins	611	Chapin	586, 590, 661, 662
DeLong	160, 707	Collins	581, 582, 585, 586, 587, 590, 662, 808
Dunne	161, 692	Crosman	585, 586, 587, 662
Johnson	160, 610, 611, 707	Dunne	579, 587
Kennedy	707	Frizell	587, 590
Lockwood	160	Hawley	579, 585, 586, 590
McClinton	707	Johnson	580, 581, 582, 585, 586, 662, 745
Nourse	610, 611	Lockwood	587
Proctor	610	McClinton	745, 746, 808
STATE Prison Commissioners, Board of	161	Nourse	581, 582, 585, 586
STATE Prison, provisions concerning	524	Sturtevant	591
[See Public Institutions.]		Warwick	581, 582
STATE Scrip	221, 222	STATIONERY for the use of the Convention	7
Remarks of		Remarks of
Mr. DeLong	222	Mr. Johnson	7
Fitch	222	Sturtevant	7
Hawley	222	Orion Clemens (Territorial Secre- tary)	7
Warwick	221, 222	STANFORD, Leland, invited to a seat within the bar of the Convention	282
STATE Seal—		Addressed the Convention by invita- tion, on Pacific Railroad	290-300
Appointment of Committee upon	75, 230	Vote of thanks to	300
Report of Committee upon	583	STOREY County, Courts in	617, 644-648, 650, 651, 653-659, 674, 714, 715
Design for, reported and adopted, 583, 584	160	Remarks of
Required to be kept	698	Mr. Banks	617, 647, 651, 653, 654, 655, 658, 674, 714, 715
Resolution authorizing Secretary of the Territory to procure	698	Brosnan	648, 654-657, 714
Remarks of		Chapin	647, 651, 659
Mr. Banks	160	Collins	646, 647, 648, 651
Brosnan	160	Crosman	617, 644
Chapin	698	DeLong	645, 648, 650, 651, 653, 655, 656, 658
DeLong	160, 706	Dunne	658, 659
Johnson	706	Frizell	645, 650
Nourse	160	Gibson	648
Wetherill	698	Hovey	617
STATE Senators, election, qualifications and numbers of	140	Johnson	617, 648, 653-658, 714, 715
STATE Senators, terms of	140, 692-695, 812	Kennedy	644, 645, 646
Remarks of		Lockwood	644
Mr. Banks	812	Mason	647
Brosnan	812
DeLong	692-695
Dunne	692, 693
Johnson	693, 694, 695
McClinton	693
Tagliabue	812

SUPERINTENDENT.

	Page.		Page.
Mr. Nourse	644, 647, 650, 651, 654, 655, 657, 658, 674	Miscellaneous Provisions, Article on	610, 611
Parker	646, 648	Oath of office	610
Warwick	653	Oath of members of the Convention	4
STOREY County, number of Judges in. [See District Courts and Judges.]		Oath prescribed for voters	245, 246, 270, 487, 489, 493, 494, 535
STURTEVANT, JAMES H.		Offices of County officers	611
Appointed on Committee on Rules and Order of Business	6	Officers of Convention to be elected	6
Appointed on Special Committee to conduct the President elect to the chair	5	Ordinance concerning slavery, religi- ous toleration, and the public lands	51
Credentials of	4	Organization of the Convention	4, 5, 6, 8
Moved appointment of a Special Com- mittee to conduct the President elect to the chair	5	Pacific Railroad	170, 203, 206, 207, 208, 214, 448, 462, 463, 497
Moved election of Sergeant-at-Arms and other officers	5	Personal explanation	300, 301
Moved to proceed to permanent organ- ization of the Convention	4	Poll tax	272, 535
Nominated William Martin Gillespie as Secretary of the Convention	5	Preamble and name of State	34
Remarks upon		Qualifications of Jurors	153
Adjournment in honor of Indepen- dence Day	3	Qualifications of State officers	599
Banking system	451	Right of Suffrage, Article on	245, 246, 270, 272, 467, 487, 489, 493, 494
Calling roll of the Convention	1	Rules and order of business	38
Compensation of officers of Convention for evening sessions	8	Salaries	509, 510, 512, 595, 596, 599, 601, 606, 648
Compensation of officers of Convention for evening sessions	274	Salaries of Supreme Court Judges	601, 648
Compensation of members of the Leg- islature	606	Salary of Secretary of State	599
Corporations, Article on	170, 203, 206, 207, 208, 214, 451, 462, 463, 497	Salary of State Controller	599
Day of election	274, 275	Second reading of preamble	40
Declaration of Rights, Article on	67, 465	Separate property of the wife	154, 279
Education, Article on	591, 595	Sole traders	154
Election Ordinance	623	Special school tax	595
Enrollment of Constitution	535	State University	591
Expenses of former Convention	274, 300, 301	Stationery for the use of the Conven- tion	7
Final passage of bills	144	Taxation, 224, 320, 328, 330, 333, 335, 336, 375, 381, 382, 442, 445, 446, 449, 450, 499, 500, 513, 514, 516, 519
Finance and State debt	448	Term of office of Senators	140
Filling vacancies in the Legislature	113	Time of the first session of the Legis- lature	307, 308
Granted leave of absence	639	Treason, evidence of	67
Instructions to Judiciary Committee	243	Veto power	314
Judicial Department	243, 648	STYLE of process	676
Legislative Department, 140, 143, 144, 153, 154, 274, 275, 277, 279, 307, 308, 314		SCITS against the State, provision to be made for	152
Limitation of debate	38	SUPERINTENDENT of Public Instruction	566, 567, 568
		Remarks of
		Mr. Brosnau	566, 567, 568
		Johnson	566, 567, 568
		SUPERINTENDENT of Public Instruction, sal- ary of	600

TAXATION.

	Page.
SUPPORT of local officers.....	710
[See Local officers.]
SUPREME Court... 617, 641-644, 648, 649, 650, 652, 711, 712, 739, 740, 800, 801, 810, 811, 812
Remarks of
Mr. Banks... 641, 642, 649, 713, 740, 810
Brosnan... 641, 643, 649, 711, 712, 713, 740, 800, 801
Chapin... 644, 648, 739, 740, 811, 812
Collins... 641, 810
DeLong... 643, 648, 649, 650, 712, 740, 810
Dunne... 649
Frizell... 740
Hawley... 800, 801
Johnson... 617, 641-644, 649, 652, 711, 712, 713, 740, 800 801, 810
Kinkead... 740, 800,
Mason... 740
McClinton... 712, 713
Nourse... 801
Proctor... 649, 812
Warwick... 644
Wetherill... 644, 650
SUPREME Court Justices, salaries of... 600, 601, 648
[See Salaries of Judges.]
SURVEYOR General... 160, 248-251
Remarks of
Mr. Brosnan... 250
Chapin... 248, 249-251
DeLong... 248-251
Johnson... 250, 251
Kennedy... 250, 251
Nourse... 248, 249, 250
Proctor... 160
SURVEYOR General, salary of... 600

T

TAGLIABUE, FRANCIS.
Appointed on Committee on number and compensation of officers of the Convention.....	7
Appointed on Committee on Schedule	521
Appointed on Committee on State Seal	75
Credentials of.....	3
Remarks upon
Attaching Roop County to Washoe County for certain purposes.....	773

	Page.
Compensation of members of the Leg- islature	602
Continuation of County officers.....	696
Day of election on the Constitution..	766
Education, Article on.....	580
Election Ordinance..... 627, 766, 771
Enrollment of the Constitution.....	696
Homestead, exemption of.....	311
Judicial Department.....	803
Lander County officers	749
Legislative Department.....	311
Limitation of taxation and appropri- ations.....	765
Miscellaneous Provisions, Article on.	612
Offices of County officers.....	612
Ordinance concerning slavery, religi- ous toleration, and the public lands	780
Provisions for school fund	580
Proxies for absent members of the Convention.....	435
Publication of the Constitution.....	776
Salaries, Article on.....	602
Salaries of Judges.....	803
Schedule, Article on... 633, 696, 749, 765, 773, 812
Taxation, Article on.....	445
Terms of Senators.. .. .	812
TAXATION and appropriations, limitation of..... 752, 755, 792, 807, 808, 815-824

Remarks of

Mr. Banks... 757, 760, 763, 815, 816, 817
Brosnan... 764, 793, 807, 815, 816, 821
Chapin... 753-757, 764, 765, 792, 807, 815, 816, 817, 819
Collins... 763, 764, 792, 793, 819, 822, 823
Crosman... 764, 765, 824
DeLong... 753, 754, 759, 760, 762, 763, 816, 820, 821, 823
Dunne... 752, 754
Frizell... 765
Gibson... 819
Hawley... 816, 824
Johnson... 752, 754-759, 763, 792, 793 808, 816-819, 824
Kennedy... 752, 757, 765, 816, 818
Kinkead... 756, 765, 766, 819
Lockwood... 762, 763, 792
Mason... 761, 762
McClinton... 757, 823, 824

TENURE OF OFFICE.

	Page.		Page.
Mr. Murdock.....	757	Mr. Gibson.....	381, 407
Nourse.....	816, 819, 820, 821, 824	Haines... 223, 224, 227, 228, 411, 412,	413, 416, 422, 423, 428, 429, 449, 500,
Proctor.....	807, 815, 818, 819	501, 515, 517, 518
Tagliabue.....	765	Hawley... 222, 223, 225, 226, 229, 318,	336-339, 349, 365, 381, 415, 422, 431,
Warwick.....	755, 958-762, 792	442, 443, 444, 520
TAXATION, Article on—
Referred to Committee of the Whole, 162		Hovey... 223, 347, 349, 406, 441, 444,	500, 515
Considered in Committee of the		Johnson... 223, 229, 318, 319, 321-324,	329, 332, 340, 342-350, 355, 362, 363,
Whole.....	222-230, 318-383	366, 372, 376, 377, 380, 381, 382, 384,	385, 386, 406, 407, 408, 412-420, 422,
Considered in Convention.....	383-387,	423, 424, 427-431, 436, 437, 441-446,	449, 515, 517, 518, 520
405-433, 436-447, 499, 500, 501, 513-521		Kennedy... 406, 407, 408, 420-423, 428,	429, 436, 441, 442, 444
Final revision of.....	808	Kinhead... 336, 337, 349, 359, 369, 370
Remarks of
Mr. Ball.....	429, 431, 443.	Lockwood... 355-359, 431, 443, 445,	450, 520
Banks... 222-225, 358, 359, 360, 371,		Mason..... 327, 328, 333, 382, 383
383, 385, 386, 410, 417, 420, 422.		McClinton..... 324, 354, 445, 516
423, 427, 431, 432, 436, 444, 446.		Murdock... 367, 368, 369, 424, 425, 426,	429, 430, 445
447, 449, 450, 513, 515, 518, 520		Nourse... 224, 226, 227, 228, 329-332,	334, 335, 336, 338, 339, 340, 353, 359,
Belden.....	333, 417, 425	370-374, 378, 379, 382-385, 387, 405,	406, 417-420, 423, 424, 429, 430, 431,
Brosnan... 351, 352, 378, 406, 411, 412,		433, 437, 438, 439, 441, 442, 445, 445,	446, 447, 515, 516, 518, 520, 808
415, 416, 428, 433, 436, 437, 438, 514,	515	Parker..... 420, 444, 450
Chapin... 228, 229, 339, 340, 342, 349,		Sturtevant, 224, 320, 328, 330, 333, 335,	336, 375, 381, 382, 442, 445, 446, 449,
350, 385, 416, 417, 418, 420, 423.	429, 442	450, 499, 500, 513, 514, 516, 519
Collins... 223, 324-327, 341-344, 385,		Tagliabue..... 445
409, 410, 417, 418, 422, 429, 444, 515,	518, 519	Tozer... 222, 318, 319, 365, 366, 367,	381, 386, 405, 418, 420, 422, 431, 445,
Crawford.....	446, 449.	449, 450, 500, 501
Crosman... 228, 336, 353, 354, 384, 386,		Warwick... 331, 332, 333, 382, 383, 414,	426, 427, 429, 513, 517
405, 407, 423		Wetherill..... 410, 411, 412
DeLong..... 222, 223, 224, 226, 227,		TAXATION of Corporations. [See Corpo-
319-324, 330, 333-338, 340, 345-350,		rations.]
352, 353, 367, 371, 373-385, 387,		TAXATION, postponement of..... 807
405, 406, 408, 409, 410, 412, 415.		Remarks of
418-421, 423, 426, 428, 429, 431,		Mr. Banks.....	807
432, 433, 436, 437, 440, 441, 443,		DeLong.....	807
446, 449, 450, 500, 501		TAXATION, special, for support of schools.
Dunne... 330, 346, 360-363, 418, 419,		[See Special School Tax.]
428, 441, 500		TENURE of office, limitation of..... 613
Earl... 337, 342, 345, 364, 373, 406, 416,
419, 420, 422, 428, 439, 444, 500.	515, 517, 518
Fitch... 226, 227, 228, 321, 322, 324,
333, 345, 348, 363, 369, 375, 381,
383-386, 409, 417, 420, 422, 423,
428, 437, 439, 440, 441, 444, 446,	447, 501
Folsom.....	224, 333
Frizell.....	224, 500, 517-520

TOZER.

	Page.
Remarks of
Mr. Nourse	613
Warwick	613
TERM of office of Governor	157
[See Governor.]
TERMS of Courts, times and places of holding, 674, 675, 704-707, 721, 722, 723, 748
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	675, 705, 706, 707, 721
Brosnan	675, 706, 721
Chapin	721, 722, 748
Collins	706, 707
DeLong	675, 705, 706
Dunne	704, 748
Frizell	675, 704, 721
Johnson	674, 675, 704-707, 721, 722, 723
McClinton	704, 722, 723
Nourse	674
Parker	706, 722
Proctor	705, 706
Warwick	704
TERMS of Judges first elected, commencement of	708
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	708
Brosnan	708
Johnson	708
McClinton	708
Warwick	708
[See Judicial Department.]
TERMS of office of Assemblymen. [See Assemblymen.]
TERMS of office of Senators. [See Senators.]
TERMS of office of State officers. 160, 161, 610, 611
[See State Officers.]
TERRITORIAL Courts and Judges, continuance of	678, 739
TERRITORIAL debts and liabilities, assumption of by the State	638, 750
Remarks of
Mr. Collins	750
DeLong	750
Gibson	750
Johnson	750
Kinkead	750

	Page.
TERRITORIAL laws, etc., continuance of	631
TERRITORIAL officers, continuance of	704
THANKS to President of the Convention, resolution of	827, 828
Remarks of
Mr. Hawley	828
THANKS to the officers and attaches of the Convention, resolution of	828
Remarks of
Mr. Banks	828
DeLong	828
Kinkead	828
THREE-FOURTHS verdict, in civil cases. [See Verdict.]
TIME of daily sessions of the Convention. [See Daily Sessions; also Evening Sessions.]
TIME of maintaining district schools. [See District Schools.]
TOLERATION. [See Religious Toleration.]
TOLL roads, etc. [See special legislation.]
TOWNSHIP governments to be established. 152
TOZER, CHARLES W.
Appointed on Committee on Engrossment	74
Appointed on Committee on number and compensation of officers of the Convention	7
Credentials of	3
Elected Secretary pro tem. of the Convention	1
Granted leave of absence	447, 539
Made reports from Committee on Engrossment	172, 230, 448, 449
Moved appointment of Committee on Engrossment	74
Moved that B. S. Mason be sworn in as a delegate	37
Offered resolution authorizing enrolling and engrossing committees to appoint clerks	78
Remarks upon
Adjournment in honor of Independence Day	3
Adjournment sine die.	11, 12, 13
Banking system	458
Basis of the Constitution	18
Corporations, Article on	399, 403, 404
County Auditors	279

VERDICT.

	Page.		Page.
TOZER, CHARLES W.		TREASURER, salary of	600
Remarks upon.		TREASURY, funds of	608
Declaration of Rights, Article on ..	69, 198	Remarks of
Disfranchisement of rebels	94, 95	Mr. Hawley	608
Engrossment	74, 78, 79	Johnson	608
Evening sessions	76, 77, 127, 128	TRIAL by jury. [See jury ; also verdict.]
Finance and State debt	448	TRUTH, may be given in evidence in cases
Grand Jury system	198	of libel	63
Granting leave of absence	128	U
Homestead exemption .. 283, 284, 288, 289		UNITED STATES Constitution, preamble and
Increasing Judiciary Committee	174	resolution adopting	6
Legislative Department .. 279, 283, 284,		[See Constitution.]
288, 289		UNITED STATES Senators, election of	156
Limitation of debate	37	UNIVERSITY. [See State University.]
Memorializing Congress relative to the		V
Judiciary system	173	VACANCIES in office	158, 702, 703, 705, 710
Oath prescribed for voters	245, 254	Remarks of
Organization of the Convention	4	Mr. Banks	158, 702, 703, 705
Pacific Railroad. 293, 300, 399, 403, 404,		Brosnan	702, 703, 710
448, 461, 462		Dunne	158
Personal explanation	454	Frizell	158
Phrasology and arrangement	230	Hawley	703
Poll tax	272	Johnson	158, 702, 703, 705
Preamble and name of State	34	Kennedy	702
Resolution adopting Constitution of		McClinton	703
the United States	51	Nourse	158
Right of Suffrage, Article on .. 94, 95, 245,		Proctor	702, 703
254, 272		VACANCIES in the Legislature	142, 143
Rules and order of business .. 37, 76, 77,		Remarks of
127, 128		Mr. Johnson	143
Salaries, Article on	513, 521	Sturtevant	143
Taxation, Article on .. 222, 318, 319, 365,		VEEDER, Rev. Mr., officiated as Chaplain ..	638
366, 367, 384, 386, 405, 418, 420, 422, 431,		VENTILATING of hall of Convention	174
445, 449, 450, 513		Remarks of
Treason, evidence of	69	Mr. Fitch	174
TRANSFER of cases from Probate Courts ..	741	Warwick	174
TRANSFER of fines, etc	631	VERDICT of juries in civil cases .. 53, 199, 200
TRANSFER of records, actions, legal pro-		Remarks of
ceedings, criminal prosecutions, etc.	631	Mr. Banks	53, 57
TREASON, evidence of, required, 67-70, 194-196		Brosnan	56, 57
Remarks of		Chapin	53, 56
Mr. Brosnan	67	Collins	59
DeLong	67-70, 195, 196	DeLong	53-56, 58
Dunne	194	Dunne	199, 200
Fitch	67, 68, 69, 195, 196	Earl	55, 58
Nourse	69, 195, 196	Fitch	53, 54, 56, 57
Parker	195
Sturtevant	67
Tozer	69
Warwick	69

WARWICK.

	Page.
Mr. Hawley.....	53, 54, 57
Johnson.....	54, 58
Nourse.....	56, 58
Warwick.....	55, 57

[See Jury, trial by.]

VETO power of Governor...	157, 312, 313, 314, 796, 797
---------------------------	---------------------------------

Remarks of

Mr. Banks.....	313, 797
Brosnan.....	797
DeLong.....	797
Dunne.....	313, 314
Hawley.....	313, 314
Hovey.....	314
Johnson.....	157, 313, 314
Kinkead.....	796, 797
McClinton.....	313
Nourse.....	312
Proctor.....	312, 313, 314, 797
Sturtevant.....	314

VOTE of soldiers. [See Soldiers' Vote.]

VOTERS, oath prescribed for...	243-246, 253-271, 478-494
--------------------------------	------------------------------

Remarks of

Mr. Banks...	246, 254, 257, 268, 270, 487, 489, 490, 492, 493
Brosnan...	263, 264, 268, 479, 480, 492
Chapin...	244, 245, 246, 253, 482, 487
Collins.....	244, 255, 263
Crosman.....	245, 489
DeLong.....	244, 264, 269, 478-481, 483-486, 488, 489, 490, 492, 494
Dunne...	245, 253-256, 261, 266, 268, 269, 270, 484, 485, 492, 493, 494
Earl.....	481, 488
Fitch.....	244, 245, 246, 254, 267, 268
Frizell.....	244, 257, 258, 259, 261, 490, 491, 492
Haines.....	262, 483, 484, 491
Hawley...	244, 246, 265, 492, 493, 494
Hovey.....	245, 256, 270, 273
Johnson...	244, 254, 260, 261, 268, 270, 478-481, 486, 488, 489, 492
Kennedy.....	245, 246, 253, 268, 490
Kinkead.....	491
Lockwood.....	269, 270, 490
Mason.....	255, 256, 259
McClinton...	254, 259, 262, 269, 484, 489, 494
Murdock.....	268

	Page.
Mr. Nourse.....	245, 267
Proctor.....	486, 487, 494
Sturtevant...	245, 246, 270, 487, 489, 493, 494
Tozer.....	245, 254
Warwick...	246, 254, 258, 266, 267, 270, 479, 481, 482, 483, 485, 494
Wetherill.....	490

VOTERS' oath, report of Special Committee upon..... 268

VOTERS, qualifications of.....70-73, 785

VOTERS, qualifications of, upon the Constitution. [See Constitution.]

VOTERS, registration of. [See Registry Law.]

VOTERS, residence of.....70-73, 107, 108, 785

Remarks of

Mr. Banks.....	70, 71, 108, 785
Brosnan.....	73
Collins.....	71, 785
Crowford.....	108
Crosman.....	108
DeLong.....	70, 71, 72, 108
Earl.....	73
Fitch.....	72, 73
Frizell.....	71, 107, 108
Hawley.....	108
Johnson.....	108
Lockwood.....	108
Nourse.....	71, 72, 73
Warwick.....	73

VOTING, payment of poll tax may be required as condition to right of, 111-122

[See Poll Tax.]

W

WARWICK, JAMES H.

Appeared and sworn in as a delegate,	41
Appointed on Committee on the Judiciary.....
Appointed on Committee on Schedule	447
Appointed on Committee on State Seal.....	75
Appointed on Special Committee to amend Article on Miscellaneous Provisions in relation to dueling.....	669
Credentials of.....	3
Granted leave of absence.....	772, 799
Moved to invite Hon. Leland Stanford to address the Convention in regard to the Pacific Railroad.....	290

WARWICK.

	Page.		Page.
WARWICK, JAMES H.		Instructions to the Judiciary Committee	241
Moved to take measures for promoting ventilation of hall of Convention	174	Judicial Department...241, 644, 655, 675
Offered resolution relative to Jefferson's Manual.....	75	Justices' Courts	675
Offered resolution relative to casting votes of absent members of the Convention by proxy.....	433	Lander County officers..705, 709, 747-751
Remarks upon		Legislative Department, 140, 142, 144, 155, 156, 275, 277, 281, 282, 283
Adjournment of the Legislature from time to time.....	142	Limitation of debate.....	584
Amendments of the Constitution....	526	Limitation of taxation and appropriations.....	755, 758-762, 792
Apportionment of representation, 635, 636		Miscellaneous Provisions, Article on, 608, 609, 612-615, 667
Banking system.....	163, 165	Municipal indebtedness.....	165
Boundary.....	525, 526	Oath of office.....	104, 107, 667
Compensation of officers of the Convention for evening sessions.....	273	Oath prescribed for voters...246, 254, 258, 266, 267, 270, 479, 481, 482, 483, 485, 494
Compensation of members of the Legislature.....	155, 156, 603-606	Offices of County officers.....	612
Compulsory attendance on the public schools	571, 572	Official designation of the State Controller.....	614
Continuance of County officers.....	709	Ordinance concerning slavery, religious toleration, and the public lands, 780
Corporations, Article on...163, 165, 167, 178-180, 214, 215, 217, 218, 268, 392, 393, 399, 401, 405, 460, 461, 462, 464, 472, 473, 474, 476, 477, 495, 496, 497		Pacific Railroad...167, 168, 178-180, 214, 215, 217, 218, 268, 290, 292, 392, 393, 399, 401, 405, 460, 461, 462, 464, 473, 474, 476, 477, 495, 496, 497
Courts in Storey County.....	655	Personal explanation.....	485
Day of election.....	275	Poll tax.....	786
Day of election on the Constitution, 766, 767		Prohibition of slavery.....	67, 783
Declaration of Rights, Article on..49, 50, 55, 57, 67, 69, 778, 782, 783, 784		Proxies of absent members of the Convention	433, 434, 435
Debates and proceedings of Convention, publication of.....	746	Publication of the Constitution.....	775
Disfranchisement of rebels..80, 81, 84, 95, 96, 101		Qualifications of State officers.....	598
District Courts and Judges.....	658	Qualifications of voters upon the Constitution	137
Duelling.....	104, 107, 667, 778	Residence of voters.....	73
Education, Article on..447, 568, 569, 571, 572, 577, 581, 582, 591, 593, 594		Right of defending in person.....	682
Election Ordinance.....	623, 766, 767	Right of Suffrage, Article on..73, 80, 81, 84, 95, 96, 104, 107, 137, 246, 254, 258, 259, 266, 267, 467, 419, 481, 482, 483, 485, 494, 786
Engrossment	78	Rules and order of business...75, 77, 584
Evening sessions.....	77	Salaries..522, 523, 524, 598, 599, 603-606, 615
Final passage of bills.....	144	Salary of Secretary of State...598, 599
Finance and State debt.....	221	Schedule..632, 635, 636, 704, 705, 708, 709, 747-751, 755, 758-762
Granting leave of absence..128, 583, 638, 799		Seat of government.....	608, 609
Homestead, exemption of...281, 282, 283		Sectarian instruction in the public schools.....	568, 569
Impeachment and Removal from office, 546, 556, 557		Seizures and searches.....	783, 784
		Slander and libel.....	778

YEAS AND NAYS.

	Page.		Page.
WARWICK, JAMES H.		Postponement of Article on Judicial Department.....	620, 621
Remarks upon		Qualifications of State officers.....	599
Sole traders.....	277	Right of Suffrage, Article on.....	490
Special school tax.....	591, 593, 594	Salaries.....	599, 603, 604, 606
State scrip.....	221, 222	Salary of Secretary of State.....	599
State University.....	581, 582	Schedule.....	637
Supreme Court.....	644	Sole traders.....	154
Taxation, Article on... 331, 332, 333, 382, 883, 414, 426, 427, 429, 513, 517	613	State seal.....	698
Tenure of office.....	613	Supreme Court.....	644, 650
Terms of Courts.....	704	Taxation.....	410, 411, 412
Terms of Judges.....	708	WHITE, Rev. A. F., opened Convention with prayer.....	2
Terms of State Senators.....	140	Officiated as Chaplain.....	3, 126
Transfer of criminal prosecutions....	632	WHITFORD, Andrew, elected Assistant Sec- retary of the Convention.....	9
Treason.....	69	[See Secretary, Assistant.]
Trial by jury.....	55, 57	WIFE, separate property of. [See separate property.]
Ventilation of the the hall of the Con- vention.....	174	WILLIAMS, R. H. Credentials of.....	3
WASHOE, proposition to change name of State to.....	33-35	[Did not attend the Convention.]
[See preamble and name of State.]		WITNESSES not to be unreasonably detained,	59
WATER, cities and towns may contract debts for supplies of.....	165	WRIGHT, S. C., Probate Judge, adminis- tered oath of office to members and officers of the Convention... 4, 7, 9, 37,	41, 110
[See municipal indebtedness.]
WELLINGTON, D. Credentials of.....	4
Explanation relative to absence of... 172 (Did not attend the Convention.)	172
WETHERILL, WILLIAM. Appeared and sworn as a delegate... 7	7
Appointed on Committee on Sched- ule.....	447
Appointed on Committee on State Seal.....	75
Credentials of.....	4
Remarks upon
Additional compensation of officers and attachés of the Convention....	805
Apportionment of representation....	637
Compensation of members of the Leg- islature.....	603, 604, 606
Court fees.....	678, 735, 737
Election Ordinance.....	629
Granting leave of absence.....	742
Impeachment and Removal from office.	553
Judicial Department... 620, 621, 644, 650, 678, 687-690, 726, 735, 737	540
Justices' Courts.....	687-690, 726
Legislative Department.....	154
Oath prescribed for voters.....	490
		Y
		YEAS and nays, on
		Adjournment of the Convention.. 431, 433, 779
		Adjournment sine die	12, 13
		Adjournment sine die , laying on the table, motion to take up resolution for.....	274
		Amendments to Constitution, final pas- sage of Article on.....	540
		Appeal from decision of the Chair by Mr. DeLong.....	437
		Boundary, final passage of Article on,	540
		Chaplains, proposition to increase per diem of.....	806
		Constitution, final adoption of.....	827
		Corporations, municipal and other, final passage of Article on.....	449
		[See yeas and nays on Pacific Railroad.]
		Declaration of Rights, motion to re- commit Article on for amendment relative to evidence of treason....	196

YEAS AND NAYS.

Page.	Page.
YEAS and nays on—
Declaration of Rights, final passage of Article on.....	202
Distribution of powers, final passage of Article on.....	247
Education, final passage of Article on.....	662
Election Ordinance, final passage of..	773
Executive Department, final passage of Article on.....	251
Finance and State debt, final passage of Article on.....	499
Impeachment and Removal from office, amending Section 2 of Article on..	564
Impeachment and Removal, amending Section 4 of Article on, on motion of Mr. Nourse.....	564
Impeachment and Removal, restoring section in Article on, relative to removal of Judges by the Legislature	564
Impeachment and Removal, engrossment and third reading of Article on	565
Impeachment and Removal from office, final passage of Article on.....	640
Judicial Department, amending Section 16 of Article on, relative to Court fees.....	739
Judicial Department, final passage of Article on.....	740
Legislative Department, amendment of Article on, by striking out section relative to sole traders.....	278
Legislative Department, amendment of, in regard to prohibition of certain special legislation.....	280
Legislative Department, final passage of Article on.....	316
Militia, final passage of Article on...	539
Miscellaneous Provisions, amendment to Section 3 of Article on, relative to dueling.....	669
Miscellaneous Provisions, final passage of Article on.....	673
Ordinance concerning slavery, religious toleration, and the public lands, final passage of.....	193
Pacific Railroad, striking out from Article on Corporations provision authorizing State aid to.....	404
Pacific Railroad, inserting proviso offered by Mr. Fitch relative to payment of interest on bonds of.....	405
Pacific Railroad, amendment to clause concerning, in Article on Corporations, proposed by Mr. Kinkead..	497
Pacific Railroad, amendment to clause concerning in Article on Corporations, proposed by Mr. Crosman....	498
Preamble of Constitution, final passage of.....	193
Public Institutions, final passage of Article on.....	539
Right of Suffrage, final passage of Article on.....	273, 494
Right of Suffrage, reconsidering final passage of Article on.....	467
Right of Suffrage, postponing report to amend Article on, relative to voters' oath, etc.....	490
Right of Suffrage, amending Article on, relative to oath prescribed for voters.....	492
Right of Suffrage, adopting report amending Article on.....	493
Salaries, amending Article on, by increasing per diem of members of the Legislature.....	608
Schedule, amending Article on, by recommitment, adding a section limiting taxation and appropriations...	765
Schedule, final passage of Article on.	766
Schedule, adopting additional section of Article on, prescribing salaries of Judges.....	814
Schedule, motion of Mr. Proctor to strike out proviso in Section 24 of Article on, relative to a special tax for the Territorial debt.....	816
Schedule, motion of Mr. Proctor to strike out Section 24 of Article on, limiting taxation and appropriations	824
Taxation, amending Article on by striking out the words "including mines and mining property,".....	406
Taxation, amending Article on by substituting the words "real, personal, and mixed.".....	416
Taxation, amending Article on by a substitute proposed by Mr. Chapin.	420
Taxation, amending Article on by substitutes proposed by Mr. Nourse.	429, 442, 444
Taxation, amending Article on by a substitute proposed by Mr. Murdock,	443

YEAS AND NAYS.

	Page.		Page.
YEAS and Nays on—		YEAS and nays, must be recorded upon amendments of the Constitution. [See Amendments, Article on.]
Taxation, amending Article on by a substitute proposed by Mr. Kennedy.....	446	YEAS and nays, must be recorded upon passage of bills vetoed by Governor. [See Veto.]
Taxation, ordering main question on Article on.....	443	“YEAS and nays,” substitution of for “ayes and noes”.....	789, 796
Taxation, agreeing to report upon Article on as amended.....	446
Taxation, motion to recommit Article on for amendment by substituting the word “bullion”.....	520	Remarks of
Taxation, motion to recommit Article on for amendment by inserting the word “gross”.....	520	Mr. Banks.....	796
Taxation, final passage of Article on.	521	Brosnan.....	796
YEAS and nays, must be taken in Legislature, if demanded by three members	142	Collins.....	796
YEAS and nays, must be taken upon final passage of bills. [See Bills.]		DeLong.....	789, 796
		Johnson.....	796
		Lockwood.....	796
		Kinkead.....	789, 796
		Murdock.....	796

INDEX OF CONSTITUTION.

	Page.		Page.
ABSENCE from State of Judicial officers, penalty for.....	843	APPELLATE Jurisdiction of Supreme Court.....	841
ABSENT MEMBERS of Legislature, attendance of may be compelled.....	837	Of District Courts.....	842
ACTION, civil, to be but one form of.....	843	APPOINTMENTS of officers not otherwise provided for.....	848
ACTION, law and equity may be administered in the same.....	843	APPOINTMENTS, to fill vacancies in office, 837, 840, 851. 852
ACTIONS, continuance of.....	849	APPORTIONMENT of school fund.....	845
ACTIONS for libel. [See Libel.]		APPORTIONMENT of Senators and Assemblymen.....	849, 850
ADDITIONAL indebtedness of State.....	850	To be based upon population.....	848
ADJOURNMENT of Legislature by Governor.....	840	APPROPRIATIONS for Capitol buildings restricted.....	847
From day to day.....	837	No money to be drawn but in consequence of.....	837
From time to time and from one place to another.....	837	To be made for payment of State Indebtedness.....	845
ADMINISTRATORS, public to be elected.....	838	ARCHIVES of Territory transferred to State, 849
ADOPTION of Constitution of the United States.....	833	ARMS, public, safe keeping of.....	846
ADOPTION or rejection of Constitution, election upon by people.		ARMY, appropriations for in time of war limited.....	834
[See Election Ordinance.]		Standing, not to be maintained in time of peace.....	834
AFFIRMATION, provision for.....	847	United States, votes of soldiers in.
AGRICULTURE, college for benefit of, separate fund for.....	846	[See Soldiers' Vote.]
Department of in State University....	846	ARREST, electors exempt from on day of general election.....	835
Improvements in to be encouraged....	845	Members of Legislature privileged from, 837
AID of State to corporations, etc., prohibited.....	844	ASSEMBLY, sole power of impeaching of....	843
[See Corporations.]		[See Legislature.]
AMENDMENTS to Constitution, Article on... 848		ASSEMBLYMEN, apportionment of. 848, 849, 850
How voted upon.....	848	Compensation of.....	849
May be proposed in either branch of the Legislature.....	848	Disqualification of for offices of profit.. 836
To be submitted to the people.....	848	Prohibited receiving fees and perquisites.....	849
Yeas and nays to be taken on in each House.....	848	Qualifications of.....	836
ANNUAL TAX to be levied.....	844	Terms of office of.....	856, 850

CIVIL CASES.

	Page.		Page.
When chosen.....	836	Of Regents.....	846
ASSESSMENT of property. [See Taxation.]		Of State Prison Commissioners.....	841
Powers of by cities and towns restricted.....	844	BONDS, official, of Controller and Treasurer first elected.....	851
ASSOCIATIONS. [See Corporations.]		Of State, School Fund to be invested in.....	846
ASSUMPTION of debts of counties, towns, cities, etc.....	845	Of State, may be sued on.....	849
Of Territorial debts and liabilities.....	849, 850, 852	Of United States, School Fund to be invested in.....	846
ATTAINDER, bill of.....	835	Territorial, continuance of.....	849
ATTENDANCE of absent members of Legislature may be compelled.....	837	BOUNDARY, Article on.....	847
On public schools to be secured by legislation.....	845	Of State defined.....	847
ATTORNEY GENERAL, election of.....	840, 841	Provisions for extending.....	847
First elected, when to enter upon office, 851		BRIBERY, disqualification of for office.....	836, 837
Prohibited receiving fees and perquisites.....	849	Disqualification of jurors for.....	838
Salary of.....	849	Influence of on elections to be prevented.....	838
Terms of office of.....	841, 851	Punishment for.....	837
To be member of Board of Examiners, 841		CANVASS of election returns. [See Election Returns.]
To be member of Board of State Prison Commissioners.....	841	CANVASSERS, Board of.....	853
To be member of Pardoning Board... 840		CAPITAL OFFENSES, persons not bailable for, 834
To perform other duties.....	841	Not to be tried for except on indictment, etc.....	834
ATTORNEYS. [See District Attorneys.]		CAPITOL BUILDINGS, restriction of appropriation for.....	847
AUDITOR, Territorial, continuance of as State Controller.....	851	CARSON CITY, made seat of government... 847
AUDITORS. [See County Auditors.]		CASES in Probate Courts, transfer of.....	852
BAIL, excessive not to be required.....	834	CENSUS, State, may be taken.....	848
BAILABLE, all persons to be unless for capital offenses.....	834	CERTIFICATES of Election.....	853
BALLOT, elections by people to be by.....	835	CHARITABLE CORPORATIONS, aid of State to not prohibited.....	844
BANK NOTES, circulation of as money prohibited.....	844	Property of, may be exempted from taxation.....	844
BASIS of Representation.....	848	CHIEF JUSTICE, how selected.....	841
BENEVOLENT INSTITUTIONS to be fostered... 846		Liable to removal by Legislature... 844
BIENNIAL sessions of Legislature.....	836, 850	When to preside over Senate.....	843
BILLS, may originate in either house... 837		[See Supreme Court.]
May be amended in either house.....	837	CITIES, debts of, State not to assume.....	845
Readings of.....	837	Organization of.....	844
Final passage of.....	837	Not to aid corporations, etc.....	844
By whom signed.....	837	Not restricted as to supplies of water... 844
No law to be enacted, except by.....	838	Restriction of powers of.....	844
Veto of, by Governor.....	839	Support of officers of.....	851
[See Laws.]		CITIZENS, of United States, taxation of lands of.....	833
BLIND, institutions for benefit of to be fostered.....	846	Paramount allegiance of.....	834
BOARD of Canvassers.....	853	CITY RECORDERS, may receive fees.....	843
Of Examiners.....	841	CIVIL CASES, jury trial may be waived in... 834
		Three-fourths verdict in.....	834

CORPORATIONS.

Page.	Page.
CIVIL OFFICE, disqualifications for.....	836	Of Speaker of Assembly.....	838
CIVIL OFFICERS, removal of.....	844	[See Salaries.]
CIVIL PROCESS, members of Legislature priv- ileged from arrest upon.....	837	CONFEDERATE STATES, so-called, disqualifi- cation of persons in service of for voting.....	835
Voters when exempt from arrest upon,	835	CONSCIENCE, liberty of secured.....	834
CLAIMS, continuance of.....	849	CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION, debates of to be published.....	852
Against State to be passed upon by Board of Examiners.....	841	CONSTITUTION of the United States, adop- tion of.....	833
Of Territory transferred to State....	849	Power conferred by on Federal Gov- ernment.....	834
CLERK of Assembly, duty of to sign bills.	837	State, as adopted.....	833-855
Of Supreme Court, election of.....	838	Mode of amending.....	848
Office of to be at seat of govern- ment.....	848	Revision of.....	848
Term of office of.....	851	Submission of to people. [See Elec- tion Ordinance.]
When to enter upon duties.....	851	CONTEMPT, either House of Legislature may punish for.....	836
CLERKS, County, election of.....	838	CONTINGENT expenses of Legislature.....	838
Duties of ex-officio	838	CONTINUANCE of Contracts.....	849
Of Boards of County Commissioners.	838	Of county officers.....	850
COLLEGE, for benefit of agriculture, etc., separate fund for.....	846	Of franchises, etc.....	844
COMMENCEMENT of fiscal year.....	844	Of rights, actions, prosecutions, etc....	849
COMMISSIONERS, County.....	838	Of territorial officers.....	851
Of deeds, not deemed as holding lucra- tive office.....	836	Of territorial laws.....	844, 849
COMMISSIONS, form of, to be signed and sealed.....	840	CONTRACTS, obligation of not to be im- paired.....	835
Of officers and judges first elected....	851	Of indebtedness of State, when void,	845
COMMON SCHOOLS, oath of teachers in....	846	Continuance of.....	849
Penalty for neglect, etc.,.....	845	CONTROLLER, State, election, term, and elig- ibility of.....	840, 841
Sectarian instruction in prohibited,	845, 846	First elected, official bond of.....	851
Special tax for.....	846	When to enter upon duties.....	851
Time of maintaining in each district.	845	Office of to be kept at seat of govern- ment.....	848
Uniform system to be established....	845	Salary of.....	849
[See Schools.]		Prohibited receiving fees, etc.....	849
COMPANIES. [See Corporations.]		CONVENTION, to revise Constitution, how called.....	848
COMPENSATION, for private property taken for public use.....	834	How constituted.....	848
For right of way of corporations....	844	Number of members of.....	848
Increase or diminution of....	838, 843, 848	CONVICTION of treason, evidence required for.....	835
Of Judges of Supreme Court and Dis- trict Judges.....	843	CORPORATE POWERS, special legislation con- cerning prohibited.....	844
How paid.....	843	CORPORATIONS, aid of State to, prohibited..	844
Revenue to be set apart for.....	843	Created by Territory.....	844
Not to be increased or diminished,	843	Dues from, how secured.....	844
Special court fee set apart for..	843	May sue and be sued.....	844
Of Lieutenant Governor.....	838	Municipal and other, Article on.....	844
Of members of the Legislature....	838, 849
Not to be increased during term..	838
Of Official Reporter of Convention....	852
Of officers, etc., of Legislature.....	838
Not to be increased or diminished,	838

DISTRICT JUDGES.

	Page.		Page.
Property of, how taxed.....	814	DEBATES AND PROCEEDINGS of Convention,
Railroad, counties, cities, etc., allowed		publication of, etc.....	852
to take stock in.....	844	DEBT, exemption of property from execution
Right of way of.....	844	for.....	835
Stock in, not to be taken by counties,		Imprisonment for, prohibited.....	835
etc.....	844	Of counties, cities, etc., assumption of,
To be formed under general laws.....	844	by State.....	845
What may be exempted from taxation.....	844	Of State, beyond limitation, to be void.....	845
CORPORATORS not individually liable.....	844	Each to be for a specific purpose.....	845
COUNSEL, right of defending with.....	834	Limitation of.....	844, 845, 850
COUNTIES, apportionment of representation		Special tax for payment of principal of, in Legislature.....	849, 850	and interest of.....	845
Debts of, not to be assumed by State.....	845	Of Territory transferred to and assumed
Not to aid corporations, etc.....	844	by State.....	849, 850
Support of officers of.....	851	Special tax for payment of.....	852
Terms of District Courts in.....	851	Restriction of power of cities and towns
To provide for paupers, etc.....	846, 847	to contract.....	844
COUNTY and township governments to be		DEBTOR, privilege of.....	835
established.....	838	DEAF AND DUMB, institutions for benefit of,
Auditors, election of.....	838	to be fostered.....	846
Clerks, election of.....	838	DECISIONS, judicial publication of.....	848
Commissioners, election of.....	838	Of Supreme Court, publication of.....	848
Clerks of Boards of.....	838	DECLARATION OF RIGHTS, Article on.....	833-835
Duties of.....	838	DEFALCATION, disqualification of.....	836, 837
Officers, of Lander County.....	850	DEFENSE. [See Public Defence.]
Officers, offices of, where held.....	847	DEFICIENCY, tax to be levied to cover.....	844
Officers, Territorial, continuance of.....	850	DEPARTMENTS OF GOVERNMENT.....	836
Of Roop, attached to Washoe for certain		Functions of to be separate.....	836
purposes.....	842, 852	Of State University. [See State Uni-
Recorders, election of.....	838	versity.]
Surveyors, election of.....	838	DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.....	836
COURT FEE, or tax, special.....	843	DISTRICT ATTORNEYS, election of.....	838
COURTS, appeals from.....	841, 842, 843	Courts, cases in Probate Courts trans-
Jurisdiction of.....	841, 842, 843	ferred to.....	852
Enumeration of.....	841	Jurisdiction of.....	842, 852
Municipal.....	843	Terms of, where held.....	842, 851
Of Record.....	843	Times of holding.....	842, 851
Clerks of.....	838	Judges, compensation of, provisions
Terms of.....	851	concerning.....	843, 851
Territorial, organization of, not to be		Election of.....	842
changed.....	843	First elected, when to enter upon
Transfer of books, papers, and rec-		duties.....	851
ords of.....	849	First elected, by whom commis-
CREDIT, power of cities and towns to loan		sioned.....	851
restricted.....	844	Impeachment of.....	843, 844
State not to loan to corporations.....	844	Ineligibility of, to other than judi-
CRIMES, capital or infamous, when tried.....	834	cial office.....	843
Disqualification of jurors for.....	838	Of First District, special provision
CRIMINAL PROSECUTIONS transferred to State.....	839	concerning.....	842
CURRENCY, paper money prohibited as.....	844	Removal of, by Legislature.....	844
Federal, may be circulated.....	844	Salaries of.....	851

GOVERNOR.

Page.	Page.
Terms of office of.....	842	EXEMPTION of Homestead.....	838
Vacancies in office of.....	851, 852	Of property from execution for debt.....	835
DISTRICTS, schools in. [See Common Schools.]		From taxation.....	844, 845
DUELING, disqualification of.....	847	EX POST FACTO law prohibited.....	835
[See oath of office.]		EXPULSION of a member of the Legislature.....	836
DUES OF CORPORATIONS, how secured.....	844	FEDERAL CURRENCY, circulation of.....	844
EDUCATION, Article on.....	845, 846	FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, paramount allegi- ance due to.....	834
EDUCATIONAL CORPORATIONS, aid of State to, not prohibited.....	844	Power of, by whom defined.....	834
Property of may be exempt from taxa- tion.....	844	Right of, to preserve its existence.....	834
ELECTION, general, time of.....	847	To employ armed force.....	834
Electors exempt from arrest on day of.....	835	FEES and perquisites, prohibition of.....	843, 849, 851
On Constitution. [See Election Ordinance.]		FINAL passage of bills, etc.....	837
Of Assemblymen.....	836	FINANCE and State Debt, Article on.....	844, 845
Of Constitutional Convention.....	848	FINES, appropriated to school fund.....	845
Of County officers.....	838	Excessive, not to be imposed.....	834
Of Governor, etc.....	839	Forfeitures, etc., continuance of to State.....	846
Of Lander County officers.....	850	FINES AND FORFEITURES, Governor may sus- pend.....	840
Of officers not otherwise provided for.....	848	Governor to report to Legislature concern- ing.....	840
Of State Senators.....	836	Power of remitting.....	840
Ordinance.....	852-855	FIRST JUDICIAL DISTRICT, special provisions concerning.....	842
Returns of.....	839, 853, 854	FISCAL YEAR, commencement of.....	844
Writs of to be issued by Governor.....	837	FLOATING WARRANTS for school lands.....	846
ELECTIONS by Legislature to be viva voce	835	FOREIGNERS, property rights of.....	835
By people to be by ballot.....	835	FORGERY, disqualification for.....	838
General provisions concerning.....	835	FRAUD, imprisonment for.....	835
Purity of to be preserved.....	835	FREEDOM of religious profession and wor- ship.....	834
To be by plurality.....	848	Of speech and press.....	834
ELECTORAL QUALIFICATIONS, Legislature to provide for.....	836	FUNDS for school purposes to be replaced, if lost or misappropriated.....	846
ELECTORS, exempt from arrest on election day.....	835	GENERAL ELECTION, time of.....	847
Majority of how determined.....	848	Provision for first.....	852
Qualifications of.....	835, 852, 853	Electors not liable to arrest on day of.....	835
Registration of.....	825	GENERAL LAWS required where applicable.....	837
[See Right of Suffrage.]		GOVERNMENT, distribution of powers of.....	836
EMBEZZLEMENT, or defalcation, disqualifica- tion of.....	836, 837	Purposes for which instituted.....	833, 834
Punishment of.....	837	Right of people to alter or reform.....	834
ENACTING CLAUSE.....	838	Seat of, established at Carson City.....	847
ENUMERATIONS of inhabitants, when taken.....	848	Federal, paramount allegiance due to.....	834
EQUITY, administration of.....	843	GOVERNMENTS, county and township, to be established.....	838
ESCHEATED ESTATES appropriated to school fund.....	845	GOVERNOR, duties and powers of, to adjourn Legislature.....	840
EXAMINERS, Board of.....	841	As member of Board of Examin- ers.....	841
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, Article on.....	839-841
Business of to be transacted by Gov- ernor.....	839
EXECUTIVE POWER vested in Governor.....	839
EXECUTIVE SESSIONS of Senate.....	837

JOURNAL.

	Page.		Page.
As member of Board of Regents,	846	HOUSE OF REFUGE	846
As member of State Prison Board,	841	HUSBAND AND WIFE, alienation of homestead
In regard to pardons, etc.	840	by	838
To approve or veto bills.	839	Lien may be created by both	838
To be Commander in Chief.	839	IDIOTS, disqualified from voting.	835
To call Convention for election of		IMPEACHMENT AND REMOVAL FROM OFFICE,
United States Senators.	839	Article on	843, 844
To call out Militia.	846	IMPEACHMENT, Assembly has sole power of.	843
To convene special session of the		Extent of judgment in cases of.	844
Legislature.	836, 840	Grounds of.	843, 844
To communicate to Legislature		Of Governor or Lieutenant Governor,
by message.	840	Chief Justice to preside upon
To execute laws faithfully.	839	trial of.	843
To fill vacancies in office, 840, 851, 852		Senate to try.	843
To grant reprieves, etc.	840	Two-thirds vote necessary for conviction.	843
To issue writs of election.	837	Who liable to.	843
To keep great seal.	840	IMPRISONMENT, for contempt by Legislature,	836
To report to Legislature cases of		For debt.	835
pardon, reprieve, etc.	840	For militia fine	835
To sign grants and commissions.	840	IMPROVEMENTS to be encouraged	845
To suspend fines, etc.	840	INALIENABLE RIGHTS.	833
To transact executive business.	839	INCREASE or diminution of salaries, etc.	848
Election of.	839	INDEBTEDNESS OF STATE. [See debt of State.]
First elected, when to enter upon office,	851	INDEXING DEBATES, etc., of Convention.	853
Term of.	851	INDICTMENT by Grand Jury.	834
Impeachment of.	843	INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY of corporations.	844
Office of to be at seat of government,	848	INFAMOUS CRIMES, trials for	834
Officers under United States Govern-		INSANE, disqualified from voting.	835
ment, disqualified as.	840	Institutions for benefit of, to be fostered,	846
Of Territory, continuance of.	851	INFIRM, counties to provide for.	846, 847
Duty of in respect to election on		INSTITUTIONS. [See Public Institutions.]
Constitution.	852, 853, 854	INSURRECTION, debts for suppression of.	845
To approve bonds of State Con-		Militia may be called out to suppress.	846
troller and Treasurer.	851	INTELLECTUAL IMPROVEMENTS to be encour-
To commission officers, etc., first		aged.	845
elected	851	INTEREST of public school fund only to be
To furnish blanks to commanding		used.	846
officers.	854	On State debts, payment of.	845
To issue proclamations, etc.	852, 853	INVASION, debts incurred for repelling.	845
Prohibited receiving fees and perquis-		Militia may be called out to repel.	846
ites.	849	INVESTMENT of school funds.	846
Qualifications of.	839	JEOPARDY, no person to be twice in for same
Returns of election of.	839	offense.	834
Salary of.	849	JOHNSON, J. Neely, appointed to contract for
Term of office of.	839, 851	and direct publication of de-
GRAND JURY, presentments and indictments		bates, etc., of Convention.	852
by	834	JOURNAL of each house of Legislature to be
GRANTS, form of, how signed and sealed.	840	kept and published.	837
HABEAS CORPUS, suspension of writ of.	834	Yeas and nays to be entered upon, when,
HOMESTEAD, exemption of.	838	837, 839, 848
Provision to be made for recording.	838

LAWs.

	Page.		Page.
JUDGES, District. [See District Judges.]		LAWs, enacting clause of	838
First elected, when to enter upon duties,	851	Governor to see executed	839
Liable to removal by Legislature	844	How revised or amended	837
Salaries of	851	Local or special, when prohibited	837
Vacancies in office of, how filled	851, 852	Must be general and uniform	837
JUDGMENTS, continuance of	849	Must embrace but one subject	837
In case of impeachment, extent of	844	Publication of	848
Of Supreme Court, must be filed	848	Subject of must be expressed in title	837
JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT, Article on	841-843	Territorial, continuance of	844, 849
Districts created and defined	841, 842	To be passed relative to appeals	843
Changes in, when made	842	Appointments of officers	848
Decisions, publication of	848	Attendance on public schools	845
Officers, liable to impeachment	843	Benevolent Institutions	846
Not to receive fees, etc	843	Board of Regents	846
Penalty for absence of	843	Compensation of members of the
Territorial, when suspended	843	Legislature	838
Power, how vested	841	Compensation of Reporter of Con-
JURISDICTION of Supreme Court	841	vention	852
Of District Courts	842	Corporations, existing	844
Of Municipal Courts	843	County Commissioners	838
Of Justices' Courts	842, 843	Court fee, special	843
JURY, charge to	843	Duties of Clerk of Supreme Court	838
Duty of in cases of libel, etc	834	Duties of various county officers	838
Persons excluded from	838	Dueling	847
Right of trial by	834	Education	845
May be waived in civil cases	834	Elections	838
Verdict of in civil cases	834	Floating school land warrants	846
Unanimous may be required by		Homestead, exemption of	838
law	834	Investment of school funds	846
JUSTICES OF THE PEACE, jurisdiction of	842, 843	Judicial districts, alterations in	842
May receive fees, etc	843	Juries, qualifications of	838
Number of, powers, duties, etc	842	Justices of the Peace	842
JUSTICES OF THE SUPREME COURT, liability of		Militia, organizing and disciplin-
to removal	844	ing	846
Prohibited receiving fees, etc	843, 849	Municipal Courts	843
Salaries of	849	Oath of professors and school teach-
To canvass election returns	839	ers	846
[See Supreme Court.]		Organizing cities and towns	844
JUVENILE OFFENDERS, house of refuge for	846	Publication of debates, etc., of Con-
LANDER COUNTY, officers of	850	vention	852
Probate Judge of	850	Punishment of defalcation, bribery,
LANDS belonging to the United States not		and embezzlement	837
taxed	833	Removal of civil officers, etc	844
[See Public Lands.]		Restricting powers of cities and
LARCENY, disqualification for	838	towns	844
Petit may be tried without interven-		Salaries	848
tion of Grand Jury	834	Schools, common	845
LAW and equity may be administered in		Separate property of the wife, etc	838
same action	843	Soldiers' votes	855
LAWs concerning corporations to be general	844	State University	846
May be altered or repealed	844	Support of infirm, etc	846, 847

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

	Page.		Page.
Taxation	844, 845	Commencement of.....	836, 850
Teachers in schools, oath of.....	846	Length of.....	838
Tenure of office.....	848	Special.....	838, 840
LEAVE OF ABSENCE of judicial officers.....	843	Special legislation by, prohibited, 837, 844
LEGAL PROCEEDINGS, transfer and continu-		To provide for compensation of Official
ance of.....	849	Reporter of Convention.....	852
LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY, how vested.....	836	Designation of Courts of record.....	843
Department, Article on.....	836-839	Election of new Board of Regents, 846
LEGISLATURE, action of, upon amendments		Election of United States Senators, 839
of the Constitution.....	848	Election of various officers.....	838
Upon bills.....	837	Electoral qualifications.....	836
Upon bills vetoed.....	839	Encouragement of certain improve-
Upon calling Constitutional Con-		ments	845
vention	848	Establishment of county and town-
Adjournment of, by Governor.....	840	ship governments.....	838
From time to time.....	837	Establishment of municipal Courts, 841
Basis of representation in.....	848	Establishment of normal and other
Compensation of members of.....	838	schools	846
Of officers of.....	838	Establishment of State University, 846
Duty of, in regard to treason.....	840	Increase and diminution of sal-
Each house of, may adjourn from day		aries, etc.	848
to day.....	837	Poll tax.....	836
Amend bills originating in the		Publication of debates, etc., of Con-
other	837	vention	852
Choose its own officers.....	836	Publication of laws and Supreme
Compel attendance of absent mem-		Court decisions.....	848
bers	837	Regulating elections.....	835
Expel a member.....	836	Special tax for Territorial debt.....	852
Judge of qualifications, etc., of its		Special school tax.....	846
members	836	Uniform and equal assessment and
Keep and publish a journal.....	837	taxation	845
Originate bills.....	837	Uniform system of common schools, 845
Prescribe penalties for non-attend-		[See laws to be passed.]
ance.....	837	Vacancies in, how filled.....	837
Punish for disorderly conduct or		LIABILITIES of Territory assumed by State, 850
contempt	836	[See Debt.]
Elections by, to viva voce	835	LIABILITY, individual, of corporations.....	844
Expenses of members of, for stationery,		LIBEL, actions and prosecutions for	834
etc.....	838	Imprisonment for.....	835
Length of sessions of.....	838	LIBERTY of conscience.....	834
Limitation of, in regard to taxation.....	852	Of speech and press.....	834
Number of members of.....	847	No person to be deprived of without
May require unanimous verdict of juries, 834		due process of law.....	834
Members of, not eligible to fill vacancy		LICENTIOUSNESS, acts of, etc, not justified.....	834 created by removal.....	844	LIEN, mechanics', jurisdiction of.....	843
Privileged from arrest.....	837	Upon homestead, how created.....	838
Oath of members of.....	847	LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, compensation of.....	838
Power of, to remove from office.....	844	Duties and powers of, to be President
Quorum of each house of	837	of Senate	840
Sessions of.....	836, 838, 840, 850	To have casting vote.....	840
Biennial.....	836, 850	To sign bills.....	837

OFFICES.

Page.	Page
To succeed to Governor's office,	835
when	846
Election and eligibility of.....	846
First elected, when to enter upon duties, 851	MINES, and mining property, taxation of... 845
Term of.....	MINING, department of, in State University. 846
Impeachment of.....	Improvements to be encouraged..... 845
Term of office of.....	Special provision for organizing, etc... 846
LIFE and Liberty, right of enjoying and	MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS, Article on, 847, 848
defending.....	MONEY, how drawn from State Treasury... 837
No person to be deprived of without	Paper, prohibition of.....
due process of law.....	Restriction as to payment of, to officers,
LIMITATION of jurisdiction of justices of the	etc., of the Legislature.....
Peace	Restriction of power of cities and towns
Of State indebtedness.....	to borrow.....
Proviso concerning.....	Statement of receipts and expenditures
Of State tax.....	of, to be published.....
LITERARY IMPROVEMENTS to be encouraged, 845	MORAL IMPROVEMENTS to be encouraged... 845
LOAN of Credit. [See credit.]	MUNICIPAL, and other corporations, Article
LOCAL LEGISLATION. prohibition of... 837, 844	on.....
Officers, support of.....	Corporations may be created by law... 844
LOTTERIES, prohibition of.....	Property of, may be exempt from
LUCRATIVE office, persons holding under	taxation
United States Government, in-	Restriction of, as to becoming stock-
eligible	holders, etc.....
MAJORITY of electors, how determined... 848	Courts, how established.....
Of members of either house to consti-	Jurisdiction of, not to conflict ... 843
tute a quorum.....	Laws to be passed regulating, etc., 843
Necessary for passage of bills, etc... 837	NAME OF STATE.....
MARSH, Andrew J., appointed to supervise	NAVIGATION, persons engaged in, not to gain and index debates, etc., of Con-	or lose residence.....
vention	NORMAL SCHOOLS, establishment of.....
Compensation of, as Official Reporter. 852	OATH of electors, Legislature to prescribe... 836
MECHANIC ARTS, departments of, in State	Of members of the Legislature and
University.....	State officers
Separate fund for.....	Of Officers first elected, by whom ad-
MECHANICAL IMPROVEMENTS to be encour-	ministered.....
aged.....	Of professors and school teachers.....
MECHANICS' LIENS, jurisdiction of.....	OBLIGATION of contracts not to be impaired, 835
MEMBERS of Legislature. [See Legislature.]	OFFENSES under territorial laws, prosecu-
MESSAGE, Governor to communicate to Leg-	tation of continued.....
islature by	OFFICIAL bonds.....
MILEAGE of members of the Legislature... 849	Reporter.....
MILITARY FORCES, Governor to be Comman-	OFFICE, disqualifications for... 836, 837, 847
der-in-Chief of.....	Of profit, disqualification of Senators
Power, to be subordinate to civil.....	and Assemblymen for.....
Service of United States, right of suf-	Tenure of.....
frage of persons in. [See Sol-	Under United States Government, dis-
diers' vote.]	qualification of for Governor, 840
Tactics to be taught in Agricultural Col-	Vacancies in, how filled.....
lege	837, 840,
MILITIA, Article on.....	851, 852
	OFFICES of county officers, where held.... 847

PROCLAMATION.

	Page.		Page.
Governor and State officers, where held,	848	Elections by, to be by ballot.....	835
OFFICERS, and employés of Legislature,		No power in to secede from Union....	834
compensation of.....	838	Political power inherent in.....	833
Appointment of, not otherwise provided		Right of to alter or reform government, 834
for	848	To assemble, petition, etc.....	834
Civil and military to report in writing		As to seizures, and searches.....	835
to Governor.....	839	[See Declaration of Rights.]
Civil, removal of.....	844	PERJURY, disqualification for.....	838
County, election of.....	838	PERPETUITIES, prohibition of.....	847
State, election of. [See Executive De-		PETIT LARCENY, trial for.....	834
partment.]		PETITION for redress of grievances, right of
First elected, by whom commis-		guaranteed.....	834
sioned.....	851	PLURALITY, election by.....	848
ORDINANCE concerning certain elections,		POLITICAL POWER inherent in the people... 833
852-855		POLL TAX, Legislature to provide for.....	836
Slavery, religious toleration, etc... 833		May be made condition to right of voting, 836
ORGANIZATION of Board of Examiners.... 841		Payment of, not required of persons in
Board of Regents.....	841	United States service.....	835
Board of State Prison Commissioners. 841		POSTMASTERS, offices of, when not lucrative, 836
Board of Pardons, etc.....	840	POWERS of GOVERNMENT, distribution of... 836
Board of County Commissioners..... 838		PREAMBLE.....	833
Cities and towns.....	844	Of Election Ordinance.....	852
Common schools.....	845	Of resolution adopting United States
Constitutional Convention.....	848	Constitution.....	833
Corporations.....	844	PRELIMINARY action.....	833
County and township governments... 838		PRESENTMENTS by Grand Jury.....	834
Courts. [See Judicial Department.]		PRESIDENT of Senate.....	840
Legislature. [See Legislative Department.]		Pro tem of Senate, when to act as Gov-
Militia.....	846	ernor.....	840
Mining Department of University.... 846		United States, proclamation of, admit-
Normal schools.....	846	ing State.....	853
Public institutions.....	846	PRESS, freedom of.....	834
State Prison.....	846	PRINCIPAL of State debts, when to be paid. 845
State University.	846	PRIVILEGE of the debtor.....	835
PARDONS, general provisions concerning... 840		PROBATE COURTS, transfer of cases from to
PAPER MONEY, prohibition of.....	844	District Courts.....	852
PARAMOUNT ALLEGIANCE due to Federal Gov-		Judge of Lander County.....	850
ernment.....	834	Judges, continuance of.....	850
PASSAGE of bills, final.....	837	PROCEEDINGS of the Legislature, journals of,
PAUPERS, support of.....	846, 847	to be kept and published....	837
Not to gain or lose residence.....	835	PROCEEDS of mines and mining claims alone
PAY. [See Compensation.]		to be taxed... ..	845
PENAL ACTIONS, continuance of.....	849	Of public lands. [See Public Lands.]
PENALTIES, continuance of.....	849	PROCESS, continuance of.....	849
PEOPLE, action of, on amending Constitu-		Of law, necessary to deprive of life,
tion.....	848	liberty, etc.....	834
On calling Constitutional Conven-		Style of.....	843
tion.....	848	PROCLAMATION by Governor of Territory,
On final adoption of Constitution.		calling election on Constitu-
[See Election Ordinance.]		tion.....	852
		Announcing result of election on the
		Constitution.....	853

SALARIES.

Page.	Page.
By President of the United States admitting State into the Union,	RAILROADS, counties, cities, etc., not restrict- ed as to aiding.
853	844
PROFESSORS in University, oath of.	RECOGNIZANCES, continuance of.
846	849
PROPERTY, assessment and taxation of.	RECORDERS. [See County Recorders.]
845	RECORDS of courts, etc., transfer of.
Exemption of, from execution for debt, 835	849
From taxation.	Of Territory to vest in State.
844, 845	849
No person to be deprived of without due process.	REGENTS, Board of, provisions concerning.
834	846
None exempt from sale for taxes.	REGISTRATION of separate property of the wife.
838	838
Of corporations, how taxed.	Of voters, provisions concerning.
844	835
What may be exempted.	In United States service not re- quired.
844	835
Private, not to be taken for public use without compensation.	RELIGIOUS BELIEF, no person incompetent as a witness on account of.
834	834
Right of acquiring and protecting.	Corporations, property of may be ex- empt from taxation.
833	844
Rights of foreigners.	Profession and worship, freedom of.
835	834
Separate, of the wife.	Toleration.
838	833
What may be exempted from taxation.	REMOVAL from office by Legis-lature.
838	844
PROSECUTIONS, continuance of.	REPORTER, Official of Convention, appointed to supervise and index debates and proceedings.
849	852
For libels, provisions concerning.	Compensation of.
834	852
To be in name of State.	REPRESENTATION, basis of.
843	835, 848
PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR, election of.	REPRIEVES, power of Governor to grant.
838	840
Arms, safe keeping of.	RESIDENCE of voters.
846	835
Debt. [See debt of State.]	RESOLUTION, adopting Constitution of the United States.
Defense, debts contracted for.	833
845	RETURNS of elections.
Institutions, Article on.	835, 853, 854
846, 847	REVENUE, portion of to be set apart for com- pensation of judges.
Instruction, Superintendent of. [See Superintendent.]	843
Lands donated by Congress set apart for educational purposes.	REVISION of the Constitution.
845	848
Consent of Congress for diversion of.	RIGHT of defending in person and with counsel.
845	834
Devoted to special fund for col- lege, etc.	Of suffrage, Article on.
846	835, 836
Of United States, title to disclaim- ed.	Of the people as to seizures and searches.
833	835
Prison, persons confined in, not to gain or lose residence.	Of trial by jury.
835	834
PUBLICATION of Debates and Proceedings of Convention.	Of way, of corporations, how secured.
852	844
Of laws and decisions.	RIGHTS, continuance of.
848	849
PUNISHMENTS, cruel and unusual, not to be inflicted.	Declaration of.
834	833-835
QUALIFICATION of State and Judicial officers first elected.	Of property of foreigners.
851	835
QUALIFICATIONS of Governor.	Retained by the people.
839	835
Of Jurors.	ROOF COUNTY, attached to Washoe County for certain purposes.
838	842, 852
Of Senators and Assemblymen.	SAFETY and happiness, right of pursuing and obtaining.
836	833
Of voters.	SALARIES, increase or diminution of.
835, 836, 852, 853	843, 848, 851
Of voters on Constitution.	Of District judges.
836, 852	843, 851
QUORUM of either branch of Legislature.
837

STATE.

	Page.		Page.
Of Governor.....	849	SENATE, executive sessions of.....	837
Of Justices of Supreme Court.....	843.	To try impeachments.....	843
	848, 849	[See Legislature.]
Of State officers.....	848, 849	SENATORS, State, apportionment of....	849, 850
Of Territorial officers under State or- ganization.....	851	Compensation of.....	849
[See Compensation.]		Disqualification of, for civil office of profit.....	836
SCHEDULE, Article on.....	848-852	First elected, terms of.....	850
SCHOOL DISTRICTS.....	845	First elected, to draw lots.....	850
Fund, apportionment of interest on... 845		Oath of, when trying impeach- ments.....	843
Escheated estates appropriated to, 845		Prohibited receiving fees, etc....	849
Fines appropriated to.....	845	Proportion of, to Assemblymen... 836
How created.....	845	Qualifications of.....	836
Interest on, forfeiture of by dist- tricts.....	845	Terms of office of.....	836, 850
Interest on only applied to educa- tional purposes.....	846	When chosen.....	836
Investment of.....	846	United States, election of.....	838, 839
Portions of interest of applied for State University.....	816	SEPARATE FUND, for College for Agricul- ture, etc.....	846
Public lands appropriated to....	845	Property of the wife.....	838
Land warrants, floating, sale of....	846	SESSIONS, Executive of Senate.....	837
SCHOOLS, different grades of, to be estab- lished.....	846	Of Legislature, commencement of... 836
Normal, may be established.....	847	Length of.....	838
Oath of teachers in.....	846	Special, may be convened by Gov- ernor.....	836, 840
[See Common Schools.]		Special, what business may be done by.....	840
SEAL OF STATE to be kept.....	840	To be biennial.....	836, 850
SEAT OF GOVERNMENT located at Carson City.....	847	To be open.....	837
Offices of Governor and State officers to be kept at.....	848	Where to be held.....	836
SECESSION from Union, right of Federal Gov- ernment to resist.....	834	SHERIFFS, election of.....	838
SECRETARY OF SENATE, duty of, to sign bills, 837		SLANDER, imprisonment for.....	835
SECRETARY OF STATE, duties of, general... 841		SLAVERY, prohibition of.....	833, 835
As member of Board of Examiners, 841		SOLDIERS, quartering of.....	834
As member of Board of Regents... 846		Votes of, provisions concerning... 835, 853, 854, 855
As member of Board of State Prison Commissioners.....	841	Legislature to provide for by law, 855
Election, eligibility and term of... 840, 841		SPEAKER OF ASSEMBLY, compensation of... 838
First elected, term of.....	851	Duty of to sign bills.....	837
When to enter upon duties.....	851	SPECIAL COURT FEE.....	843
Office of, to be at seat of government, 841		Legislation, prohibition of.....	837, 844
Salary of.....	849	[See Laws.]
SECRETARY OF TERRITORY, continuance of... 851		Sessions of Legislature. [See Sessions.]
To countersign commissions of officers first elected.....	851	Tax for school purposes.....	846
SECTARIAN INSTRUCTION, prohibition of, 845, 846		For territorial debt.....	852
Penalty for.....	845	SPEECH, freedom of.....	854
SEIZURES and searches, unreasonable, pro- hibited.....	835	STATE, aid of to corporations, etc.....	844
		Bonds, school funds to be invested in, 846
		Debt.....	844, 845, 850
		Officers, additional duties of.....	841
		Canvass of election, returns of... 839

TERM OF OFFICE.

	Page.		Page.
Election of.....	840	Duty of, to canvass election re-
Eligibility of.....	841	turns.....	839
First elected, term of.....	850, 851	Election of.....	841
First elected, when to enter upon		First elected, when to enter upon
office.....	851	duties.....	851
First election of.....	852	Impeachment of.....	843, 844
Impeachment of.....	843	Ineligibility of, to other than ju-
Oath of.....	847	dicial office.....	843
Offices of, where kept.....	848	Prohibited receiving fees, etc.....	849
Term of office of.....	841, 850, 851	Removal of by Legislature.....	844
Vacancies in office of, how filled,		Salaries of.....	843, 849
840,		Terms of office of.....	841
851, 852		To draw lots.....	841
Prison, Board of Commissioners of.....	841	Vacancies in office of, how fill d,
To be established.....	846	840, 851, 852
Seal, Governor to keep.....	840	Terms of, when and where held.....	842, 851
Treasury. [See Treasury.]		SUPREME COURT OF UNITED STATES, right of,
University, departments of.....	846	to define powers of Federal
General provisions concerning.....	846	Government.....	834
How controlled.....	846	SURVEYOR GENERAL, election, term, and ele-
Oath of professors in.....	846	gibility of.....	840, 841
Portions of interest on school fund		First elected, when to enter upon office,	851
may be appropriated for.....	846	Prohibited receiving fees, etc.....	849
Sectarian instruction in prohibited.....	846	Salary of.....	849
Special tax for.....	846	Term of office of.....	841, 851
STUDENTS, not to gain or lose residence.....	835	SURVEYORS, County, election, duties, etc.....	838
STYLE of process.....	843	TAX, annual levy of.....	844
SUITS against the State.....	837, 838	Limitation of, for State purposes.....	852
SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION,		Not to be postponed nor diminished.....	845
election of.....	845	Special, for school purposes.....	846
Duties of to be prescribed by law.....	845	For State debts.....	845
First elected, when to enter upon duties,	851	For Territorial debt.....	852
Prohibited receiving fees, etc.....	849	TAXATION, Article on.....	845
Salary of.....	849	Homestead not exempt from.....	838
Term of office of.....	845, 851	Limitation of.....	832
To be member of first Board of Re-		Of lands belonging to United States.....	833
gents.....	846	Of lands of non-resident citizens of
Of Territory, continuance of.....	851	United States.....	833
SUPERVISION of debates, etc., of Convention,	852	Of mines and mining property.....	845
SUPREME COURT, Clerk of, to keep office at		Restriction of cities and towns concern-
seat of government.....	848	ing.....	844
Chief Justice of, how elected.....	841	Special.....	845, 846, 852
To preside over Senate, when.....	843	What property may be exempt from,
Decisions of, to be published.....	848	844, 845
Election of Clerk of.....	838	TEACHERS IN SCHOOLS, oath of.....	846
How constituted.....	841	TENURE OF OFFICE.....	848
Judgments of, to be filed before oper-		TERM OF OFFICE, of Assemblymen.....	836, 850
ative.....	848	District Judges.....	842
Jurisdiction of.....	841	Governor.....	839, 851
Justices, compensation of.....	843, 849	Justices of Supreme Court.....	841, 851
Duties of, as members of Pardon-
ing Board.....	840

VOTERS.

	Page.		Page.
Lieutenant Governor.....	840, 851	TRUTH, may be given in evidence in cases of libel.....	834
State officers.....	841, 851	UNEXPIRED TERMS, to be filled at general election.....	852
State Senators.....	836, 850	UNION, Federal, denial of right to dissolve, Right of Federal Government to preserve.....	834
TERMS OF COURTS.....	842, 851	UNITED STATES, Army, votes of soldiers in, 835, 853, 854, 855
TERRITORY OF NEVADA, assumption of debt of.....	850	Bonds, school funds to be invested in.....	846
Continuance of County officers under.....	850	Constitution, resolution adopting.....	833
Of Courts and Judicial officers of.....	843	Government, authority of, not to be impaired.....	834
Of fines, penalties, and forfeitures.....	849	Disqualifications of persons holding under.....	836, 840
Of laws of.....	844, 849	Lands belonging to not to be taxed.....	833
Of officers of.....	851	Public lands of, title to disclaimed.....	833
Of rights, actions, prosecutions, etc., of.....	849	Senators, election of.....	838, 839
Of township officers under.....	850	Service, persons in not to gain or lose residence.....	835
Debt of, assumed by State.....	849, 850	Right of suffrage of persons in.....	835, 853, 854, 855
Special tax for.....	852	UNIVERSITY. [See State University.]
TITLE, laws not to be revised or amended by.....	837	VACANCY created by removal, members of the Legislature not eligible to fill.....	844
Of laws to express subject matter.....	837	In judicial and State offices, now filled, 851, 852
To public lands to remain in United States.....	833	In Legislature, how filled.....	837
TOLERATION, religious, guaranteed.....	833	In office, modes of filling....	837, 839, 840, 851, 852
TOWNS, debts of, not to be assumed by State.....	845	In office of Governor.....	840
Organization of.....	844	In office of Lieutenant Governor....	840
Powers of, to be restricted.....	844	In United States Senatorial representation.....	839
To provide for support of their own officers.....	851	VERDICT, three-fourths of a jury may render in civil cases.....	834
TOWNSHIP governments to be established, 838, 844		Unanimous may be required.....	834
Officers, continuance of.....	850	VETO POWER OF GOVERNOR.....	839
TREASON, definition of.....	835	VILLAGES, incorporated, support of officers of.....	851
Disqualification of.....	835	VIVA VOCE, elections by Legislature to be by.....	835
Duty of Legislature in cases of conviction of.....	840	VOLENTEER CORPS to be encouraged.....	846
Evidence of.....	835	VOTERS, general provisions concerning....	835
Power of Governor in cases of conviction of.....	840	In United States service not to gain or lose residence.....	835
TREASURER, State, election, term, and eligibility of.....	840, 841	Not liable to arrest on general election day.....	835
First elected, when to enter upon office.....	851	Qualifications of.....	835, 836, 852, 853
Official bond of.....	851
Legislature to prescribe duties of.....	811
Office of, to be at seat of government.....	848
Prohibited receiving fees, etc.....	849
Salary of.....	849
Term of office of.....	841, 851
Territorial, continuance of.....	851
TREASURY, restrictions as to payment of money from.....	837, 838
TRIAL BY JURY.....	831
TRIAL right of accused in, to defend in person and with counsel.....	834

YEAS AND NAYS.

	Page.		Page.
Qualifications of upon the Constitution.....	836, 852, 853	WITNESS, no person compellable to be against himself.....	834
Registration of.....	835	No person incompetent as on account of his religious belief.....	834
VOTES of Soldiers.....	835, 852-855	WITNESSES not to be unreasonably detained, 834
Plurality of to constitute election.....	848	WRIT of HABEAS CORPUS, when suspended. . .	834
VOTING on Constitution. [See Election Ordinance.]		WRITS of election to be issued by Governor, 837
WARRANT, not to issue but on probable cause.....	835	WRITS to be issued by courts. [See Judicial Department.]
WATER, cities and towns unrestricted as to obtaining supplies of.....	844	YEAS AND NAYS to be recorded on journals of Legislature. when, 837, 839, 848
WIFE, consent of required for alienation of homestead.....	838	On amendments to Constitution.....	848
Right of as to property.....	838	On demand of three members.....	837
Separate property of.....	838	On final passage of bills.....	837
		On vetoed bills.....	839

ERRATA.

- Page 2, near bottom of first column, for "The Rev. E. F. White," read "The Rev. A. F. White."
- Page 3, near middle of second column, same correction.
- Page 73, first column, nineteenth line, strike out "Collins" and insert "Banks," so as to read : "The Secretary read the amendment proposed by Mr. Banks," etc.
- Page 80, second column, near the bottom, in the remarks of Mr. Dunne, amend sentence so as to read : "whereas the substitute would not prevent all persons who have voluntarily borne arms from voting, unless convicted of treason," etc.
- Page 133, first column, second line from the bottom, instead of "this Enabling Act," read "these two acts," so that the latter part of the sentence will read : "except what are granted to us in these two acts."
- Page 211, second column, the quotation should read as follows :—
"Suthin's got to be done, there's no use denyin' ;
We're clean out o' money, an' most out o' lyin'."
- Page 222, second column, in first paragraph, under the heading "Taxation," for "Article VII," read "Article X."
- Page 249, second column, fourteenth line, for "N. L. Clark" read "M. L. Cavert." Also, twentieth line, for "Fonrth" read "Fourteenth."
- Page 305, first column, the heading should read, "Compensation of officers of the Legislature," instead of "Compensation of members." Same page, second column, fifth line, for "resolution" read "restriction."
- Page 338, first column, thirteenth line from the bottom, for "implied by," read "impliedly."
- Page 533, first column, tenth line from bottom, for "Board of Commissioners," read "Board of Canvassers."
- Page 537, second column, second line, for "trial to real estate," read "title to real estate."
- Page 538, second column, end of thirteenth amendment to Article on Salaries, for "enjoined upon him by law," read "imposed upon him by law."
- Page 803, second column, in third line of Mr. Hawley's remarks, after the words "first clause," insert "of Section 8."
- Page 823, second column, nineteenth line, insert, after "sought," the word "so," so as to read, "I have earnestly sought so to discharge," etc.
- Page 833, first column, strike out the word "as" in third line of resolution.

This book is DUE on the last date stamped below

JAN 25 1944

JAN 1 1958

TO LIBRARY

MAR 8 1977

AD
OCT 8 1978

DISCHARGE-URL

RECEIVED
OCT 20 1978

DISCHARGE-URL

JAN 19 1979

REC'D LD-URL

APR 9 1979

MAY 8 1979

Form L-0
25m-2, '43 (5205)

JK
8525 Nevada. Con-
1864 stitutional
A1 convention,
1864 -

Official report of the debates and proceedings.

Clay. Dallas

3 1158 00158 0306

JK

UC SOUTHERN REGIONAL LIBRARY FACILITY

AA 001 195 470 8

JK
8525
1864
A1

